Kyrle Bellew comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night in "A Marriage of Reason," a new play by J. Hartley Manners, in which this polished and cosmopolitan star is making the success of his career. Mr. Bellew is a favorite, and undoubtedly he will be given a warm reception in this his newest and most ambitious effort. He comes surrounded by a powerful company. "A Marriage of Reason" is a human document upon the much discussed subject of international marriage. The dramatist takes up the loveless union of an English Earl and a wonderfully beautiful Chicago heiress, and makes the wife win the respect and at last the love of her noble husband. The aim has been to portray the finest type of Englishman, and the best type of American girl, and to show how their marriage must almost inevitably result in the further refinement and development of each.

"The Daughters of Men," Charles Klein's latest and most successful play, will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre on Washington's Birthday, afternoon and night. The play comes here direct from the new Astor theatre, New York, where it played to capacity business for more than 200 nights. "The Daughters of Men" deals with a new and novel theme—capital and labor. Mr. Klein has hauled his subject with great intelligence and skill. He gives us a varied lot of characters from capitalists down to labor leaders and workmen. This play will without doubt be the dramatic event of the local dramatic season.

—Mr. and Mrs. Nelson VanWinkle will move from West End avenue to Essex street on March 1.

—The Fortnightly Whist Club will be entertained on Tuesday night, February 19, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Woodruff, of the borough.

—The annual dinner of the Yale Club, of Plainfield, will be held at the Casino on Friday night, March 8. The committee in charge is now at work on the details, including speakers for the occasion.

—The committee in charge of the arrangements for the annual banquet of Co. K, to be held Monday night, February 25, expects to secure several prominent speakers from various parts of the State, the announcement of which will be made within a short time.

—The Plainfield Operatic Association will meet at the Casino on Monday night. There will be reports concerning the production of "The Chimes of Normandy," and arrangements made for taking up the second opera, "Pinafore," to be given in the spring.

How Much Time and Money do You Lose Every Year

by depending upon a worn out or low grade watch?

Such a watch is worriment, it is a nuisance, it is wasteful to possess such a time piece.

Get a Holt Special Watch.

While the price is only $15, it is as good as a hundred dollar watch. It tells the truth and sticks to it.

Bates lighted me to the stairway, and said as I passed him:

"There's a baked ham for dinner. I should call it extra delicate, Mr. Glenarm. I suppose there's no change in the dinner hour, sir?"

"Certainly not," I said with asperity; for I am not a person to inaugurate a dinner hour one day and change it the next. Bates wished to make conversation—the sure sign of a guilty conscience in a servant,—and I was not disposed to encourage him.

I closed the doors carefully and began a thorough examination of both the sitting-room and the little bedchamber. I was quite sure that my own effects could not have attracted the two men who had taken advantage of my absence to visit my quarters. Bates had helped unpack my trunk and undoubtedly knew every item of my simple wardrobe. I threw open the doors of my three closets and found them all in the good order established by Bates. He had carried my trunks and bags to a store-room, so that everything I owned must have passed under his eye. My money even, the remnant of my fortune that I had drawn from the New York bank, I had placed carelessly enough in the drawer of a chiffonier otherwise filled with collars. It took but a moment to satisfy myself that this had not been touched. And, to be sure, a hammer was not necessary to open a drawer that had, from its appearance, never been locked. The game was deeper than I had imagined; I had scratched the crust without result, and my wits were busy with speculations as I brushed my clothes, pausing frequently to examine the furniture, even the bricks on the hearth.

One thing only I found—the slight scar of a hammer-head on the oak paneling that ran around the bedroom. The wood had been struck near the base and at the top of every panel, for though the mark was not perceptible on all, a test had evidently been made systematically. With this as a beginning, I found a moment later a spot of tallow under a heavy table in one corner. Evidently the furniture had been moved to permit of the closest scrutiny of the paneling.

Glenarm House really promised to prove exciting. I took from a drawer a small revolver, filled its chambers with cartridges and thrust it into my hip pocket, whistling meanwhile Larry Donovan's favorite air, "The Marche Funebre de Marionnettes." My heart went out to Larry as I scented adventure, and I wished him with me; but speculations as to Larry's whereabouts were always profitless, and quite likely he was in jail somewhere.

The ham of whose excellence Bates had hinted was no disappointment. There is, I have always held, nothing better in this world than a properly baked ham, and the specimen Bates placed before me was a delight to the eye,—so adorned was it with spices; so crisply brown its outer coat; and a taste,—that first tentative taste, before the sauce was added,—was like a dream of Lucullus come true. I felt that I could forgive a good deal in a cook with that touch,—anything short of arson and assassination!

"Bates," I said, as he stood forth where I could see him, "you cook amazingly well. Where did you learn the business?"

"I can hardly say I know it, sir. Your lamented grandfather grew very captious, Mr. Glenarm. I had to learn to satisfy him, and I believe I did it, sir, if you'll pardon the conceit."

"He didn't die of gout, did he? I can readily imagine it."

"No, Mr. Glenarm. It was his heart. He had his warning of it."

"Ah, yes; to be sure. The heart or the stomach,—one may as well fail as the other. I believe I prefer to keep my digestion going as long as possible. These grilled sweet potatoes again, if you please, Bates."

The game that he and I were playing appealed to me strongly. It was altogether worth while, and as I ate guava jelly with cheese and toasted crackers, and then lighted one of my own cigars over a cup of Bate's unfailing coffee, my spirit was livelier than at any time since a certain evening on which Larry and I had escaped from Tangier with our lives and the curses of the police.

The day had offered much material for fireside reflection, and I reviewed its history calmly. There was, however, one incident that I found unpleasant in the retrospect. I had been guilty of most unchivalrous conduct toward one of the girls of St. Agatha's. It had certainly been unbecoming in me to sit on the wall, however unwillingly, and listen to the words—few though they were—that passed between her and the chaplain. I forgot the shot through the window; I forgot Bates and the interest my room possessed for him and his unknown accomplice; but the sudden distrust and contempt I had awakened in the girl by my clownish behavior annoyed me increasingly.

I rose presently, found my cap and went out into the moon-flooded wood toward the lake. The tangle was not so great when you knew the way, and there was indeed, as I had found, the faint suggestion of a path. The moon glorified a broad highway across the water; the air was sharp and still. I followed the wall of St. Agatha's to the gate, climbed up and sat down in the shadow of the pillar farthest from the lake. I drew out a cigarette and was about to light it when I heard a sound as of a step on stone. There was, I knew, no stone pavement at hand, but peering toward the lake I saw a man walking boldly along the top of the wall toward me. The moonlight threw his figure into clear relief. Several times he paused, bent down and rapped upon the wall with an object he carried in his hand.

Tap, tap, tap! The man with the hammer was examining the farther side of the gate, and very likely he would carry his investigations beyond it. I drew up my legs and crouched in the shadow of the pillar, revolver in hand. I was not anxious to invite an encounter; I much preferred to wait for a disclosure of the purpose that lay behind this mysterious tapping upon walls.

But the matter was taken out of my own hands before I had a chance to debate it. The man dropped to the ground, sounded the stone base under the gate, likewise the pillars, evidently without results, struck a spiteful crack upon the iron bars, then stood up abruptly and looked me straight in the eyes. It was Morgan, the caretaker of the summer colony.

"Good evening, Mr. Morgan," I said, settling the revolver into my hand.

There was no doubt about his surprise; he fell back, staring at me hard, and instinctively drawing the hammer over his shoulder as though to fling it at me.

"Just stay where you are a moment, Morgan," I said pleasantly, and dropped to a sitting position on the wall for greater ease in talking to him.

He stood sullenly, the hammer dangling at arm's length, while my revolver covered his head.

"Now, if you please, I'd like to know what you mean by prowling about here and rummaging my house!"

"Oh, it's you, is it, Mr. Glenarm? Well, you certainly gave me a bad scare."

His air was one of relief and his teeth showed pleasantly through his beard.

"It certainly is I. But you haven't answered my question. What were you doing in my house to-day?"

He smiled again, shaking his head.

"You're really fooling, Mr. Glenarm. I wasn't in your house to-day; I never was in it in my life!"

His white teeth gleamed in his light beard; his hat was pushed back from his forehead so that I saw his eyes and he wore unmistakably the air of a man whose conscience is perfectly clear. I was confident that he lied, but without appealing to Bates I was not prepared to prove it.

"But you can't deny that you're on my grounds now, can you?" I had dropped the revolver to my knee, but I raised it again.

"Certainly not, Mr. Glenarm. If you'll allow me to explain—"

"That's precisely what I want you to do."

"Well, it may seem strange,"—he laughed, and I felt the least bit foolish to be pointing a pistol at the head of a fellow of so amiable a spirit.

"Hurry," I commanded.

"Well, as I was saying, it may seem strange; but I was just examining the wall to determine the character of the work. One of the cottagers on the lake left me with the job of building a fence on his place, and I've been expecting to come over to look at this all fall. You see, Mr. Glenarm, your honored grandfather, was a master in such matters, and I didn't see any harm in getting the benefit—to put it so—of his experience."

I laughed. He had denied having entered the house with so much assurance that I had been prepared for some really plausible explanation of his interest in the wall.

"Morgan—you said it was Morgan, didn't you?—you are undoubtedly a scoundrel of the first water."

"Men have been killed for saying less," he said.

"And for doing less than fire through windows at a man's head. It wasn't friendly of you."

"I don't see why you center all your suspicions on me. You exaggerate my importance, Mr. Glenarm. I'm only the man-of-all-work at a summer resort."

"I wouldn't believe you, Morgan, if you swore on a stack of Bibles as high as this wall."

"Thanks!" he ejaculated mockingly.

Like a flash he swung the hammer over his head and drove it at me, and at the same moment I fired. The hammer-head struck the pillar near the outer edge and in such a manner that the handle flew around and smote me smartly in the face. By the time I reached the ground the man was already running rapidly through the park, darting in and out among the trees, and I made after him at hot speed.

The hammer-handle had struck my mouth, and the whole lower half of my face stung from the blow. I abused myself roundly for managing the encounter so stupidly, and in my rage fired twice with no aim whatever after the flying figure of the caretaker. He clearly had the advantage of familiarity with the wood, striking off boldly into the heart of it, and quickly widening the distance between us; but I kept on, even after I ceased to hear him threshing through the undergrowth, and came out presently at the margin of the lake about 50 feet from the boat-house. I waited in its shadow for some time, expecting to see the fellow again, but he did not appear.

I found the wall with difficulty and followed it back to the gate. It would be just as well, I thought, to possess myself of the hammer; and I dropped down on the St. Agatha side of the wall and groped about among the leaves until I found it.

Then I walked home, went into the library, alight with its many candles just as I had left it, and sat down before the fire to meditate. I had been absent from the house only forty-five minutes.

RHEUMATIC FOLKS!

Are You Sure Your Kidneys Are Well?

Many rheumatic attacks are due to uric acid in the blood. But the duty of the kidneys is to remove all uric acid from the blood. Its presence there shows the kidneys are inactive. Don't dally with "uric acid solvents." You might go on till doomsday with them, but until you cure the kidneys you will never get well. Doan's Kidney Pills not only remove uric acid, but cure the kidneys and then all danger from uric acid is endede. Here is Plainfield testimony to prove it.

Mrs. C. Rosseter, of 127 Watchung avenue, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Years ago I had backache and headaches, and was troubled also with attacks of rheumatism. On being advised that Doan's Kidney Pills were good for such troubles, I got a supply at Randolph's pharmacy, and found relief soon after I began using them. I now keep them in the house, and use them whenever I feel a twinge of pain in the back or any other symptoms of kidney trouble, and it only requires a few doses to chase the pain away. I especially recommend them from rheumatic pain, for my system seemed to be filled with it before I used your medicine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

COLORED MINISTER ARRESTED FOR FRAUD

W. E. WADE CHARGED WITH GETTING MONEY UNDER FALSE PRETENSES.

W. A. Wade, colored, who describes himself as a minister, with a charge in Newark, was arrested on North avenue, by Chief Kiely this noon, charged with obtaining money under false pretenses. It is alleged that Wade went about the city, among white people, asking for contributions to a church that the police say has no existence.

Complaint was made to Chief Kiely, this morning, and he went out after the colored man with a description that enabled him to recognize his quarry when he sighted it on North avenue. Wade is said to have collected considerable money. He was brought before Judge Runyon at 2:30 o'clock. According to the police, he acknowledged asking for money, pleading drink as his excuse.

Wade claims to have preached here several times, as the assistant of the late Rev. Scott Wallace, at Calvary Baptist church.

MEN'S ASSOCIATION HOLDS LINCOLN DINNER

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTISTS PROVIDED A FINE MENU AND ENTERTAINMENT.

Under the auspices of the Men's Association, of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, a dinner and entertainment was given in the parlors of the church, last night, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Lincoln. The dinner was liberally patronized. The decorations were somewhat unique. Great quantities of Southern moss was used to convey a picture of the Southland.

The members of the Men's Association had full charge of the affair, preparing and serving the dinner and providing the entertainment. The handsomely decorated menu cards were the work of Charles F. Neagle. The menu included oysters on the half-shell, cream of corn soup, fried chicken, mashed potatoes, boiled onions, steamed brown bread, olives, pickles, apple pie, cheese, ice cream, cake, chocolate and coffee.

The programme comprised "An Evening on the Plantation." The platform was enlarged and a typical Southern log cabin occupied one corner, around the doorway and in the yard of which were grouped the old plantation darkies, represented by men of the church, who spent the evening in their favorite pastime of singing and spinning yarns. Their voices were exceedingly pleasing and the old songs rendered in their novel manner made an evening long to be remembered. Benjamin LaVere's cornet solos were a special feature highly enjoyed and fitted admirably with the songs that reminded all of the days that prevailed before the time of the "great emancipator," whose birthday was so generally observed.

The dinner committee comprised Nathan E. Lewis, chairman; William H. Rogers, Charles H. Dunham, Frank J. Hubbard and Asa F. Randolph. O. S. Rogers was the head waiter and his assistants were Chas. F. Neagle, Wendall Mosher, Eston Jarvis, George Clarke, Lewis Crandall, Arthur L. Titsworth, Nathan Wardner, Rollin Williams, Roy Titsworth, Irving Davis. The entertainment committee consisted of J. B. Cottrell, chairman; Arthur L. Titsworth, Dr. Marcus L. Clawson, Dr. O. B. Whitford, Starr Burdick, assisted by Benjamin LaVere, A. C. Matthews, A. J. Spicer, J. W. Davis, N. O. Moore and Charles F. Neagle.

TRIBUTES TO LINCOLN

is history teching by example.' There are a few heroic figures that stand out in bold relief and arrest the attention. I never let an anecdote of Napoleon pass unread; but most of the world's celebrities have been metamorphosed into demi-gods. 'Washington has become a steel engraving,' but Abraham Lincoln is flesh and blood, still with us and of us.

"A great writer has declared that wit and humor are the greatest attributes of the greatest minds; and Jouvenal, Servantes, Shakespeare and Lincoln may be called as witnesses to the truth of this assertion. It is but a step from the sublime to the ridiculous. Man is 'a pendulum between a smile and a tear,' the ludicrous and the serious are closely related; and nowhere is this fact more forcibly illustrated than in the character of the great emancipator. In the oceanic depths of his nature there was a strange blending of comedy and of tragedy, of lights and shades. He was L'Allegro, and Il Penseroso.

"From the cradle to the grave, his life was a struggle; a hand to hand fight. He never knew a truce or an armistice, and yet, in an atmosphere of hate, with a tempest of angry passions surging around him, and with threats upon his life, he could say, 'With malice toward none, with charity for all.' Words that breathe the spirit of Him who said, 'Father forgive them, for they know not what they do.'

"Here was a man who knew no resentment. In his early practice at the Circuit, Salmon P. Chase had treated him with utter contempt and had characterized him as a grinning baboon; he made him a member of his cabinet. Edwin M. Stanton had reviled and ridiculed him; he made him his war secretary. There was marvelous complacency in his humor. He once signed, for a friend, an order upon the Secretary of War. When it was presented Stanton ignored it and denounced the President as a fool for signing it. The bearer returned to the President and reported. 'Did Stanton say I was a fool?' 'Yes, a —— fool.' 'Then,' said Lincoln, with a comical expression on his face, 'If Stanton said I was a —— fool, I must be one for he is nearly always right and generally says what he means. I will just step over and see Stanton.'

"In all things he was for peace. His advice to lawyers is worthy of lasting rememberance. It was this: 'Discourage litigation. Persuade your neighbors to compromise whenever you can. Point out to them how the nominal winner is often the real loser—in fees, expenses, and waste of time. As a peacemaker the lawyer has a superior opportunity of becoming a good man. There will always be enough business. Never stir up litigation. A worse man can scarcely be found than one who does this. Who can be more nearly a friend than he who habitually overhauls the register of deeds in search of defects in titles, whereon to stir up strife and put money in his pocket? A moral tone ought to be infused into the profession which should drive such men out of it.'

"As a story-teller, he stands alone and unrivalled. Listen to this; he is speaking of the taking of slavery into Kansas and Nebraska, and he said: 'If I found a poison snake crawling in the road, I'd kill it with the first thing I could grab, but if I found it in bed with my children, I'd be mighty careful how I touched it, for fear I'd make it bite the children. If I found it in bed with somebody else's children, I'd let them take care of it; but if I found somebody putting a whole batch of young snakes into an empty bed where mine, or anybody's children were going to sleep pretty soon, I'd stop him from doing it if I had to fight him.'

"The narrator said, 'I had heard Abe Lincoln say a hundred times, 'Boys, we must keep slavery out of the Territories, or it will spread everywhere,' but I never understood it till I heard him make that speech. Them snakes done the business for me. I am a Democrat, but I had to vote for 'Old Abe.' He was a consummate master of the whole range of wit and humor. It might be said that in him could be found the 'sky-piercing buffooneries of Aristrophanes, the matchless irony of Lucian; the stern and terrible satire of Juvenal; the fun-drunken extravagance of Rabelais; the self-pleased chuckle of Montaigne; the farcical caricature of Scarron; the glowing and sparkling verse of Dryden; the genial fun of Addison; the scoffing subtilities of Butler; the aerial merriment of Sterne; the hard brilliancy and stinging emphasis of Pope; the patient glitter of Congreve; the teasing mockery of Voltaire; the polished sharpness of Sheridan; the wise dolleries of Sydney Smith! the sly, shy, elusive, ethereal humor of Lamb; the short, sharp, flashing scorn of Macauley; the careless gaiety of Beranger; the humorous sadness of Hood; the summary of mirth by Whipple.

"A great modern orator in his youth purchased a ten volume set of oratory in order to get a single sentence from a single speech. The speech referred to was the one by Pericles on those who had died in the Peloponesian War, and the sentence was this: 'It was for such a country then, that these men nobly resolving not to have it taken from them, fell fighting, and every one of their survivors may well be willing to suffer in its behalf.'

"This has been justly considered one of the finest passages in the annals of oratory. Let me give you a finer. I will venture to say, the finest extant. 'I am loath to close. We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies, though passion my have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic cords of memory stretching from every battle field and patriot grave to every living heart and heartstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better Angels of our nature.' He was a born leader of men. One of his eulogists has aptly said: That the most experienced and accomplished men of the day, were made to stand aside; were sent to the rear; while this fantastic figure was led by unseen hands to the front and given the reins of power.

"It is immaterial whether you were for him or against him, utterly immaterial; the fact that during four years, carrying with them such a weight of responsibility as the world never witnessed before, he filled the vast space alloted to him in the eyes and actions of mankind, is to say that he was inspired of God; for nowhere else could he have acquired the wisdom and the virtue.

"Where did Shakespeare get his genius? Where did Mozart get his music? Whose hand smote the lyre of the Scottish plowman, and staved the life of the German priest? God! God! and God alone! And as surely as these were raised up by God, inspired by God, so was Abraham Lincoln; and a thousand years hence, no drama, no tragedy, no epic poem will be filled with great wonder, or be followed by mankind with deeper feeling, than that which tells the story of his life and death.

"A friend who had known him in life, saw him as he lay in his coffin, and he said that death had not changed the kindly contenance in any line. There was upon it the same sad look that it had worn always, though not so intensely sad as it had been in life. It was as if the spirit had come back to the poor clay, reshaped the wonderfully sweet face, and given it an expression of gladness that he had finally gone where the wicked cease from troubling and the weary are at rest.

"There are two places I would like to visit in this world before I am called into the next. The one is that over which the Star of Bethlehem stood, the other is that where Abraham Lincoln first saw the light."

At the close of the addresses and at the suggestion of Rev. C. E. Herring, pastor of the church, a rising vote of thanks was given to the two speakers. The women who assisted in serving the dinner were Mrs. John S. Johnston, Mrs. Alvin E. Hoagland, Mrs. Freeman Shotwell, Miss Miller, Ricker. During the evening, Elmer D. Cutting sang several selections and told stories of a humorous nature.

By Tom Muir.

Joe Welch, who comes to the New Plainfield, Saturday, in his new play, "The Shoemaker," is one of the few vaudeville performers who has advanced to the legitimate ranks and "made good." His impersonation of the Hebrew who makes his home on New York's great East Side has been familiar to theatregoers for years and he is recognized as the leading artist in this particular line. His act is devoid of the caricaturing that so frequently invades one of this kind and the men who are pictured are among Welch's great admirers. While in vaudeville his salary was never less than $500 a week and when Gus Hill took him under his managerial wing it was stipulated that he should give the specialty in connection with his acting that enabled him to command that amount of money.

Holiday theatregoers will have another big production for their delectation next week when "The Daughters of Men" will be presented in this city on Washington's birthday. This play is the latest from the pen of Charles Klein, who also gave us "The Music Master" and "Tre Lion and the Mouse," both of which have enjoyed the most prosperous runs recorded in the past decade. "The Daughters of Men" is fashioned on lines similar to those running through "The Lion and the Mouse," bringing out in a vivid way the struggle that exists between capital and labor. The cast includes several actors and actresses who are well known to Plainfielders and the production has been given a splendid scenic mounting.

Joe Welch.

Announcement was made yesterday that Percy Williams and Oscar Hammerstein, who have heretofore been conducting their vaudeville house on independent lines, had joined forces with the Keith & Proctoc combine. The move will place nearly all the vaudeville houses under the one management and will bring about some unprecedented changes in the business.

Miss Helen Reed, of Poughkeepsie, is the guest of Miss Ethel Titsworth, of West Fifth street.

VIEWS OF A SOCIALIST

John R. McMahon, Novelist and Dramatist, Warns Capitalist Leaders.

CALLS 'EM OSTRICHES

Tells of the Social Revolution in An Interview Secured By a Daily Press Reporter.

John R. McMahon, the novelist and dramatic writer, who has been living in Scotch Plains for the last year, moves to New York this week, in order to be convenient to the publication of his story, "Toilers and Idlers," in book form. The novel has been running serially in Wilshire's Magazine, has attracted a great deal of attention, and may be published in foreign languages, as well as in English. The Wilshire Book Company will bring it out in the fall. The story has an iron foundry for its industrial background, and contrasts the life of rich and poor in the metropolis.

Mr. McMahon has lived a varied life. He was born 31 years ago in Roy Bareilly, India, of American parents. After going to school in a Western New York seminary, he broke loose and learned type-setting. He set type for a while in metropolitan offices and became a member of Typographical Union No. 6. In the last dozen years he has been a New York newspaper man, a farmer, a soldier, a dramatist and magazine story writer. Several months' work for wages in a foundry and an East Side residence account for the realistic quality of "Toilers and Idlers." In 1898 Mr. McMahon enlisted as a private in the 202d Regiment, N. Y. Volunteers, and spent some months in Cuba on garrison duty. He went to Scotch Plains to live four years ago and remained there a year and a half. He returned to New York, but responded to the lure of the wilds again a year ago. He has a pretty home in a comfortable old house that dates from Colonial times, and leaves it with an artist's regret.

Mr. McMahon's wife is also a writer of note. Her pen name is Margherita Arlina Hamm. She has been war correspondent, traveller, author and nurse. She reported the Chinese-Japanese war for several American papers, and did corresponding for New York and Chicago papers in the Spanish-American war. When she wasn't writing in Cuba, she was at work as a nurse, and acted as inspector of supplies for the government. She is the author of several books, is a member of scientific societies, among them the Royal Geographical Society, of London. She has been around the world a number of times. A series of stories laid in the Egyptian quarter of New York by her is now running in the Century Magazine. Mrs. McMahon is in accord with her husband's views on Socialism. Which means that she is a thoroughgoing Socialist. Mr. McMahon is so strongly imbued with Socialist belief and doctrine that propoganda drips from his pen whenever he tips it toward a virgin sheet of paper.

A Daily Press reporter met the novelist yesterday afternoon and asked him if he would mind giving a few of his Socialistic thoughts for publication. Mr. McMahon took a deep breath and spoke from his heart:

"The only live literature today is Socialistic, and the only writers who amount to anything are compelled to use the Socialistic idea in their work. The individual themes were long ago threadbare. And the petty tales of individualism are almost as old as romances of chivalry. The people today are thirsting for true stories about their lives from the social point of view, and to a limited extent they are getting them. Socialistic art is essentially truthful and realistic; belongs to the present and future, and wastes little time over the past. The great realistic writers of Europe, and especially Russia, are naturally Socialistic. Take Sinclair, in this country, Zola, in France, and Gorky, in Russia. Tolstoy, if he were a little younger, would be the greatest Socialist of them all.

"In this country we see the beneficial effects of even amateur and Utopian Socialism upon writers. But the individualistic writer has practically nothing to say, stands on no scientific truth, is inspired by no great hope, and is condemned to be a mere manufacturer of commercial wares. He lacks vitality, or what life he possesses needs to be discovered by the microscope. He deceives himself into thinking that his negative attitude, his word juggling, and his detail of trifling corners of life, is Art.

"It is a monumental error that a writer has nothing to do with life and must only amuse. At least he should be conscious of the fact that, while doing so, he is the paid jester of the powers that be. It's a fact that writers of that sort are, today,

READING FOR BLIND AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

BOOKS FOR THOSE NOT HAVING EYESIGHT TO BE ON FILE.

A reading club is to be formed at the Plainfield Public Library on Tuesday, the membership to be composed solely of those who, because of eye troubles, are wholly or in part dependent upon others for their reading. While the plan may be modified to suit the wishes of the members, at present it contemplates the reading aloud of stories and live news of the day.

Miss Ella A. Palmer, who gives the readings, has arranged to come to Plainfield regularly on Tuesday of each week and the hours for the club meeting will be from 10 to 12 o'clock in the morning. These readings will be held regardless of weather conditions.

Arrangement has also been made with the New York Public Library by which books and music in the New York Point, Braille, and other types for the blind can be loaned to those in attendance. Lists of these books will be distributed.

It is the desire of those arranging for the formoation of the club that persons having friends who would care to attend these meetings will bring it promptly to their attention so that as large a number as possible of those for whom it is planned may be able to attend the first meeting and co-operate by suggestions and otherwise, toward making the venture a success and of practical benefit. No expense will be attached to the plan and all persons interested are cordially invited to join in the movement.

ART STORE'S STOCK IS SEIZED FOR RENT.

The Landlord Has Prior Claim for $400 Audsley Owes Him.

G. W. V. Moy, Esq., acting for the landlord, Matthew Suydam, of New Brunswick, has had an appraisement made of the art goods in the store formerly occupied by Maurice Audsley, on East Front street. The claim for rent, amounting to about $400, is the first lien on the goods and it is believed that the sum realized from the public sale to be held Thursday morning, February 21, at 10 o'clock, will not much more than meet this claim.

Mr. Audsley decided a week ago to give up business here and to return to his former profession, that of architecture. He has identified himself with a New York firm.

The appraisers of the goods at the local store were L. M. French, Morris C. VanArsdale and Harry C. Marshall, while Constable John Manley is acting in the capacity of a bailiff.

First Free Lenten Recital.

The first of the free Lenten recitals will be given at the Church of the Holy Cross Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, under the direction of Llinton Lee, organist at Trinity chapel, New York. These recitals will be given every Saturday afternoon during Lent, except Holy Week, and each week there will be one or more soloists. This week it is expected that Fred'k Pope will sing. The public is invited to attend the recials and will be made welcome. The rector was particularly anxious for H. Raymond Loder to give the recitals but the latter's business prevented.

C. A. Braider Leaves Opera Co.

Clifford A. Braider, who has been identified with the Plainfield Operatic Association, as secretary and treasurer, since its organization, has resigned, to associate himself with a new male quartette for which he will be the accompanist. The quartette is composed of Mr. Barrett, of St. Thomas' church choir, New York; F. C. Iglehart, Jr., E. Maxwell Honeyman and Elmer D. Cutting. Rehearsals will be held every Monday night in New York. The quartette will give its first concert at Ossining, N. Y., next week.

Will Recommend Building Walls.

It has practically been decided by Freeholders J. Hervey Doane and S. P. T. Wilbur to recommend to the Union County Board that wing walls be built on the city side of the West End avenue bridge, no matter what action may be taken by the Somerset County Board. It is agreed that these walls are necessary, especially so as the city has decided to put the avenue to grade. It is said that the Somerset Freeholders were responsible for the walls not being incorporated in the original contract, fearing the extra expense.

Were In Coasting Accident.

Mrs. George Neff and Miss Laura Woolston, of Fairview avenue, were among those coasting with Albert Steiner on Hyde's hill, Tuesday, and Mrs. Neff received several slight cuts about the face, but nothing serious. Miss Woolston was not injured.

PLAN A MACADAM ROAD

If Approved by State Commission, Somerset Will Build Needed Thoroughfare.

N.B. SMALLEY'S EFFORTS

Borough Mayor Urges Freeholders to Construct Road Through Warren and North Plainfield Townships.

The Somerset County Board of Chosen Freeholders held its regular February meeting yesterday in Somerville and transacted a great amount of business. All the members were in attendance.

In the matter of the claim for damages of David Taylor, by reason of his horse falling through the Washington avenue bridge, in North Plainfield, Mr. Demler reported that the committee had settled the claim for $17.50.

Mr. Demler offered a resolution that as no macadam roads had been built in the townships of Warren and North Plainfield, although their locations warrant such improvements, the State Commissioner of Public Roads be requested to view that part of the road applied for beginning at the bridge at Watchung, thence continuing to Warrenville, thence to the road leading to Coontown, from the road applied for, a distance of about three miles, and if the same meets his approbation that the same be built this present year. Mayor Smalley spoke in favor of the construction of the road. The resolution was unanimously adopted.

Mayor Smalley asked for the construction of abutments to the West End avenue bridge in North Plainfield. The board agreed to meet there at the call of Director Baird to investigate the matter.

BILL IN LEGISLATURE FOR SUNDAY BASEBALL.

If Measure Is Enacted Voters Can Decide Whether to Allow Play.

For the purpose of settling the question of Sunday baseball throughout the State, Assemblyman Baker introduced a bill in the lower house of the Legislature, yesterday, authorizing Sunday baseball playing if at an election in the municipality a majority of the voters shall vote in favor of the proposition. This has been a troublesome question in New Jersey for some time and despite the fact that the laws have prohibited Sunday playing it has been allowed in certain parts, including Elizabeth, Newark, Hoboken and other cities and towns. It has many advocates and it is believed that Assemblyman Baker's bill will practically solve the question for such municipalities that desire Sunday baseball.

Another bill introduced by Assemblyman Baker, yesterday, repeals section 1 of the vice and immoral act, which prohibits work or business on the Sabbath, provided the legal voters of the municipality by a majority of the v otes decide in the affirmative.

Trolley Schedule Not Authorized.

Considerable dissatisfaction has been expressed over the new rule of the Public Service Corporation in operating cars on the Arlington avenue line every half hour after 8 o'clock at night. Especially has this been true during the past two or three weeks when there have been many important events at the Casino. So far as can be learned no official of the city has authorized or agreed to the change in the schedule and the Common Council will probably take some action on the matter at the next meeting. Persons who have been attending the concerts and other entertainments at the Casino have been greatly inconvenienced by the half-hour night schedule and have complained about it.

Patrolman Flynn's Heroic Act.

Patrolman Charles Flynn was called upon at the North Avenue station this morning to end the sufferings of a mongrel dog which was caught in front of the station by the 8:30 New York train. The dog wildly rushed beneath the last coach of the train and his entire right side was terribly mangled. After the train pulled out from the station the animal crawled across the tracks to the eastbound station, yelping pitifully. Officer Flynn's attention was attracted and grabbing the dog by the back of the neck carried him back to the station where he ended his life with one bullet from his revolver.

Captain Benn Will Speak.

Captain George Benn, of the Mission Yacht Association, of Brooklyn, will speak at the First Baptist church Sunday morning, telling of his extensive work among sailors. His work has been a great success. In the afternoon at 4 o'clock he will speak at the W. C. T. U., which organization is directly interested in this work.

MISSIONARY COLLECTOR CHASED FROM TOWN

"REV." W. A. WADE MAKES A CONFESSION AS TO MORNING MEDICINE.

In the absence of specific proof that he was engaged in fraudulent collection of money, W. A. Wade, the colored man who was arrested yesterday in the midst of an effort to get subscriptions from white people for an alleged missionary fund, was released by Judge Runyon, sitting as a State magistrate, this morning. Wade described himself as a minister, with a church in Newark, and insisted that he did not intend to use a cent of the money except for missionary work. The police were convinced that he was engaged in a fake game, but they couldn't prove it. His collection book indicated that he had got about $10 in this city.

Judge Runyon made Wade promise to pack up his things and leave the city, before dismissing the charge. Wade said he was in a hurry to get to Newark anyhow, because he had a revival on there and ten awakened souls were wailing to be wrestled with on the mourners' bench.

"You are a nice exponent of the religion of Jesus Christ," said Judge Runyon. "You've got a breath on you like a glue factory."

"Judge, that's only a medicine the doctor makes me take in the morning," protested Wade.

"What medicine is it—Peruna?" asked the magistrate.

"That sounds like the name, but I ain't sure of it."

"You tell me the truth now," ordered the judge; "what's the name of the dose you take?"

Wade grinned in sudden frankness. "To tell you the truth, judge, it's gin."

Wade said he was a great revivalist. He didn't know of anybody in the revival business that was better. He said he had been hired to open a revival campaign at Mt. Zion A. M. E. church, West Fourth street.

The police say Wade has been coming to this city for several months. It is said his work of collection has been carried on in a number of towns and cities of the State.

WILL GIVE PRIZES TO SHARPSHOOTERS.

Inspector of Rifle Practice Hopes to Reawaken Interest.

General Bird Spencer, State inspector of rifle practice, has just established a new order of prize awards to increase sharpshooting interest among the New Jersey National Guardsmen. Practice shooting in the various armories is to be carried on in a systematic manner.

Prizes will be awarded as follows: To experts who make 90 or more out of a possible 100, a handsome Geneva cross, with the letter "E" within the wreath; to sharpshooters who make 80 or more, a Geneva cross with the letter "S" within the wreath; to marksmen who make 60 or better, a Geneva cross.

Special prizes will be provided for men who make over 40 and for others who make over 50 out of a possible 100.

Lecture On Peru.

An illustrated lecture on "Peru" will be given at the Y. M. C. A. on Tuesday evening, February 26, by Mrs. Harriet Chalmers Adams, a South American traveler. During a three years' journey, Mrs. Adams visited every country in the southern part of the continent, reaching points upon the frontiers of Peru, Bolivia, Paraguay, Brazil and French Guiana, which were before unoknown to any civilized woman. Her story of adventure in Peru, the Land of the Lncas, is illustrated by two hundred color pictures. The proceeds will be used for furnishing the Y. M. C. A. game room.

Miss Neilson's Funeral Today.

Through the efforts of her employer, Mr. McCutcheon, friends of Miss Hannah Neilson, the servant who died from burns received Monday night, were located in New York, yesterday, and the body was sent to that city this morning. She belonged to a Swedish society and the members will have charge of the funeral service to be held this afternoon in the Stephen Merritt Company's undertaking parlors on Twenty-third street. Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon contributed a handsome floral piece and attended to every detail in connection with the case.

Rescue Mission Anniversary.

The anniversary of the Plainfield Rescue Mission will be observed tonight, in the W. C. T. U. on Madison avenue. Howard T. Scheckler, superintendent of the Elizabeth Rescue Mission, with William Cary and John Oakley, will make short addresses.

Miss Ethel Clarkson, of Orchard place, who has been quite ill for the past few weeks, was able to leave her room and go downstairs today for the first.

EXCEPT TO ACCOUNTING

Widow's Guardian Alleges Mrs. McClurg Withheld Rents of the Pound Estate.

DECISION RESERVED

Hearing Before Judge Atwater—Defendant's Counsel Is Sustained On Objection to Question Put By Lawyer.

A hearing took place in Court of Special Sessions at Elizabeth yesterday morning before Judge Atwater on exceptions to the accounting of the estate of the late George R. Pound, taken by the guardian of the widow of Mr. Pound, Charles E. LeFreda. By the will of the testator the homestead was bequeathed to his widow, Josephine L. Pound, for life, together with $300, which was to be paid to her annually. Also she was to receive the benefits of certain property on East Third street, this city, after all taxes, etc., were paid, provision being made for the collection of the rentals on the property.

In 1893 the widow, Josephine L. Pound, was declared insane and was removed to the State Hospital at Morris Plains, where she yet remains, and Charles E. LeFreda was appointed her guardian. The exception taken to the accounting of the administratrix, Mrs. Mary J. McClurg, is on the ground that certain rentals of the East Third street property had been collected and that she had not charged herself with the rents thus collected.

Mrs. McClurg, who was represented by Craig A. Marsh, testified that she had filed her account in the office of the surrogate July 6, 1906, and that down to that time she had paid regularly the money bequeathed to Mrs. Pound, and that likewise all taxes and benefits had been paid. There were no accounts which remained unpaid at that time.

An attempt was made on cross-examination to show that Mrs. McClurg had collected rent from the Third street property which had not been duly credited. Mr. Marsh objected to the question, on the ground that according to the will Mrs. McClurg had no right to collect the rent, as that had been otherwise provided for, and that if the objector desired to hold her for that he would have to proceed in another way to do it. The objection was sustained. Decision was reserved.

TYRRELL NOT GUILTY.

Jury Acquits Plainfield Man of Highway Robbery.

Jesse Tyrrell, of South Plainfield, who was charged with highway robbery by Robert Kyle, also of South Plainfield, and who was indicted by the Grand Jury, was found not guilty at the trial which terminated in the Union County Court at noon today. The trial was begun on Tuesday and was continued until this morning. The jury was out scarcely an hour, when it returned a verdict of not guilty. Mr. Tyrrell was represented by Walter L. Hetfield, Sr.

It was in November that Tyrrell was accused of highway robbery by Kyle. The latter was on his way home and had just left an Arlington avenue trolley car on Park avenue, when, he claimed, that Tyrrell held him up and demanded his money. Tyrrell disappeared at the time, but was arrested a few days later on East Front street by Patrolman Higgins. Then he was held for the Grand Jury and subsequently indicted.

Tale of An Overcoat.

John Emory, a member of the Plainfield Band, played for a dance at Flemington, Tuesday night, and the engagement cost him just one fine overcoat of this season's design. In company with Allen Squier and Charles Fisher, also of this city, Emory dropped into a restaurant after the s oiree and while busy demolishing some Hunterdon county steak, the coat disappeared. One of the three men from Three Bridges, who were in the place and left just ahead of the Plainfielders, is suspected of having taken the garment and Emory has asked the dance committee to do some gum-shoe work around that direction. Even if he gets it back, the loser won't be compensated as those who were out Tuesday night know the thermometer took an awful slump and the foxy Flemington folk are shy about lending Bennies.

Gets His Divorce.

George Voehl has been granted an absolute divorce from his wife, who was Delia Rebecca Frazee before her marriage, on statutory grounds. The custody of the one child, a daughter, is given to the father. The decree was signed by Chancellor Magie, on recommendation of the referee, Special Master John H. Van Winkle, on January 17. It was filed January 31. There was no defense to the action. Francis J. Blatz was the husband's lawyer.

CHILDREN IN PERIL WHEN HORSE RUNS AWAY

ANIMAL PLUCKILY CAPTURED BY FORMER LIEUTENANT WILLIAM CAMPBELL.

At the risk of sustaining personal injury, William Campbell, former lieutenant in the borough fire department, made a heroic capture of a runaway horse on East Fifth street this morning. The animal was attached to a light cutter in which three children were seated, the oldest about eight years old and the youngest a mere baby, and but for Campbell's intervention all three would undoubtedly have been hurt.

The former fireman was driving west on Fifth street near Franklin place when he heard the scream of the children behind him and looking back saw the runaway approaching at full speed. He jumped from his own rig and as the frightened horse came opposite him he made a leap for its neck, by a lucky chance getting a good hold on the bridle. The animal was in a frenzy, however, and Campbell was dragged beyond Washington street before he succeeded in quieting it down. He was pretty well shaken up by the long struggle but escaped with only a bruise or two.

The children were badly frightened by their wild ride and the oldest was inclined to be hysterical. She informed the rescuer that they had been left in the cutter by their coachman while he went into a house near Richmond street and that the horse had taken fright at something. Campbell remained in charge of them until the coachman came running up.

TROUPE DISAPPEARS; BAND'S SHOW CLOSES UP.

Week's Entertainment Brought to Abrupt Close by Non-Appearance of Performance.

The vaudeville entertainment and dance being held in Central Hall under the auspices of the Plainfield Band, abruptly terminated Tuesday night, because of the sudden disappearance of the troupe that was furnishing the entertainment. The band made arrangements with a representative of the company for the entertainment each night, and the affair was well advertised throughout the city.

An entertainment was given Monday night before a fair audience, but sometime Tuesday afternoon the artists left the city and have not been heard from since. According to the contract the band was to get thirty-five per cent of the gross receipts, and the vaudeville company the balance. The company received only its percentage of the first night's receipts when it decided to leave the town. The members of the band then agreed to close the affair and not attempt to continue it during the remaining part of the week even for dancing. It is said that the company was discouraged with the attendance on Monday night and saw slight prospects for making any money on the basis of percentage agreed upon.

Among the features advertised was an offer of $50 for any couple that would agree to be married at Central Hall during the week. Even such a flattering offer failed to bring forth a couple that was anxious to be married in this public manner.

P. H. S. Pupils Visit Trust Co.

The members of the geography, arithmetic and local industry classes of the Plainfield High School visited The Plainfield Trust Company this morning, and through the courtesy of J. Herbert Case, secretary and treasurer, were shown through every department of the banking institution, being made acquainted with many of the minor details. The classes were in charge of J. D. Macnab, instructor. Other visits of a similar nature will be made to the several industrial plants in the city.

Twenty-five Years Wed.

Tax Collector and Mrs. John W. Murray, Jr., of West Fourth street, are observing the twenty-fifth anniversary of their marriage today, in a quiet way. There will be no formal reception owing to the illness of Mr. Murray's sister-in-law, Mrs. James Murray, of New York.

Lecture for Industrial School Benefit.

Dr. Harold D. Corbusier, who has given his illustrated lecture on "The Boxer Uprising in China," in several of the local churches, will repeat it in Grace church parish house Thursday night, February 28, for the benefit of the Grace church colored industrial school.

Morris Abranis Not Interested.

Morris Abrams, of West Front street, states that he is not one of the purchasers of James Manning's property at Central avenue and West Second street. He says that Abram Kunzman was the sole purchaser.

—Plenty of fancy fruits and fresh vegetables at Neuman Brothers. New consignments received every day and sold at prices that are sure to suit.

VOORHEES GETS THE PLUM

Leaders Agreement Carried Out by His Election To State Treasurership.

C. A. REED WITHDREW

By Strict Party Vote "Uncle Dan" is Chosen, Ballot Being 41 for Him and 33 for L. T. Fell.

Daniel S. Voorhees, county clerk of Morris, succeeds United States Senator-elect Frank O. Briggs as State Treasurer, having been elected at a joint session of the Legislature at noon today. He will take office immediately after resigning his present job. "Uncle Dan" received forty-one votes, while the Democratic caucus choice, Lawrence T. Fell, of Essex county, received thirty-three. It was a strict party vote, all the Democrats voting for Fell and all the Republicans for Voorhees. Senators Colby and Brown and Assemblyman Buck were absent.

After a visit to Trenton yesterday afternoon, it is said that former State Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield, found that the cards had been shuffled and that it would be impossible for him to receive any showing should he keep in the fight for the office. He immediately announced his withdrawal. Senators Bradley and Wakelee also announced that they were out of the race. It was commonly known that matters had been fixed by the State leaders so that "Uncle Dan" should get the plum after John F. Dryden had given way for Mr. Briggs to land the Senatorship.

The Democrats held their caucus yesterday afternoon and agreed to support L. T. Fell. As Senators Colby and Frelinghuysen, the latter being the sponsor for Mr. Reed, were not present, the Republicans decided to postpone their caucus until this morning. When they went into caucus this morning, only one name was presented, that of the Morris county mand and he was unanimously agreed upon by those present.

WOMEN'S RELIEF UNION HELD LUNCH-BOX SOCIAL.

Entertainment Also Presented By Local and Out of Town Talent.

The Women's Veteran Relief Union held a lunch-box social and entertainment in Pittis Hall, East Front street, last night. The programme opened with a song of greeting by the members of the union, army songs by Col. Edward E. Townley, violin solo by Master Arthur Dawe. There was a dialogue by Mrs. Emma Cox, Mrs. Adzetta Townley, Mrs. Maria Horton and Miss Sophia Thompson. Mrs. Harriett Gibbons, of Westfield, gave a reading.

Rev. Phil. A. Parsons, of the Christian church, made a patriotic address, and additional recitations were given by Miss Corintha Townley, of Westfield, and Miss Adele Ohl. An instumental solo quartette rendered some fine music. Mrs. William Poke sang a solo and there were zither solos by Miss Parch, of the borough; recitations by Mrs. Maria Horton and songs by Comrade Stephen Seaman, of Elizabeth. Then the lunch boxes were sold and a good sum realized. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Sophia Thompson, Mrs. Adzetta Townley, Mrs. Catharine Perry and Mrs. Elizabeth Naylor.

Trinity People Offended.

A report published in another paper yesterday that at a meeting of Trinity Reformed church's consistory last night the matter of choosing a successor to Rev. Dr. Cornelius Schenck might be considered has caused much indignation on the part of the officers and congregation of the church. No such action was even contemplated by the consistory. At the prayer meeting the matter was considered and a protest made. Later the consistory ordered that a signed statement be sent to the paper denying the fake report.

A Slight Runaway.

The kingbolt of a sleigh owned by U. G. Pierson, the butcher, and driven by Albert Keenan, came out of Carlton avenue, this morning, allowing the shafts to drop on the horse's heels. The animal ran away, throwing Keenan out and scattering orders along the street. H. S. VanFleet, of the local telephone exchange, caught the runaway and assisted Keenan in getting things to rights. The driver was uninjured and the damage otherwise was slight.

To Hear Ministerial Candidates.

A successor to Rev. Frank Fletcher in the pastorate of the New Market Baptist church has not been chosen yet. A candidate will be heard next Sunday and another one the week after.

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The young people are enjoying the finest coasting on Spencer's Hill that they have had a chance to enjoy in a number of years. The roadway is practically all ice and for those who care to take the walk, there is a ride at express train speed of about a mile with just enough dangerous turns in the road to make the sport exciting enough for the most reckless ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Haskard, who have been visiting Mr. Haskard's mother, Mrs. John R. Haskard, of Grand street, have returned to their home in Newark.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard P. Robison, of New York, were the guests over Lincoln's birthday, of Mr. Robison's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Robison, of Forest avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Farrell, who have been occupying the Hollingsworth cottage on Valley road, have rented James H. Buckley's cottage on Stout avenue.

Yesterday being Ash Wednesday, special service was held in All Saints' Episcopal church; the day marked the beginning of Lent.

Smartest Spring Suits.

Some Makers' Samples at 1-3 Less Than Usual.

Forethoughtful women will see in opportunities we present just now the best buying time of the season and they will pick one or more of these pretty suits and save a considerable sum by buying early. Besides, they will have the advantage of being smartly dressed at the very outset of the season when most people are looking frazzled out. Of course, we could not afford to name such prices if we had not secured these sample garments from a couple of makers from whom we buy much of our regular stock.

Folks who are going south will find it decidedly advantageous to select suits from these sample lines. Many charming things are here—suits of dainty plaids and stripes, plain chiffon panamas, broadcloths, voiles and fine serges—and they are cut in the most striking models—Pony Coats, Cutaway Coats, Eton and Pony Etons, with trimmings of plain and fancy silk braid and lace, the skirts beautifully plaited.

There are five lots of these suits, priced as follows:

Women's 19.50 Suits 12.98 Women's 25.00 Suits 16.50
Women's 22.50 Suits 14.50 Women's 29.00 Suits 18.50
Women's 35.00 Suits 22.50

Silk Dresses and Shirtwaist Suits

Selling for One-Half Regular Season Price.

These are particularly handsome suits in newest models and are being shown by New York houses and sold at a price far beyond what he are asking.

The Dresses and Suits are made of new silks in beautiful stripes and plaids as well as in plain colors, with exquisite tuckings, lace trimmed yokes and sleeves and nicely plaited skirts. We count them worth $25, and we are offering them as an early season trade winner at only..... $12.50

New Spring Coats.

Splendid Coats of Broadcloth, Covert, Imported Fancy Plaids and Stripes—all cut in the most distinctive and stylish models—are now offered at prices that certainly will not be duplicated in the height of the season. See how modestly these are priced:

Women's Coats, worth $18.50, at.....$12.50.
Women's Coats, worth $22.50, at.....$18.50.
Women's Coats, worth $37.50, at.....$25.00.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Oscar Runyon, of Dunellen, has taken a position as bookkeeper with The Plainfield Trust Company.

—Alex. Milne, formerly of New York, is now making his home in the borough since opening up a branch office in this city.

—Charles Belknap, of East Front street, has gone west to take a position with a railroad. He was formerly with the New Jersey Central.

—Mr. and Mrs. Willard Martin, who expected to commence housekeeping on East Fifth street, March 1, have changed their plans, and will now probably arrange to take the flat in the Woodhull & Martin building formerly occupied by Charles Belknap.

—F. L. C. Martin, who has leased the second and third floors occupied by him for his automobile business, will commence at once the work of alterations, which will include an elevator to be used in carrying autos from one floor to the others. The contract for the elevator has been given to the Otis Company.

—N. O. Moore, business manager of The Sabbath Recorder, has had his upper lip adornment removed and yesterday when he appeared on the street his friends scarcely recognized him. The operation was performed to permit him to take part in the entertainment at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Tuesday night.

CARE OF CRAZY FELONS DISCUSSED BY EXPERT.

Paterson, Feb. 14.—"The Field of the State: Its Needs and Limitations" was discussed by George B. Wight, State Commissioner of Charities and Corrections, at yesterday's session of the New Jersey Conference of Charities and Correction. Mr. Wight advocated the best possible treatment in the hospitals for the insane for all who seemed to have a chance to recover, but other cases, he contended, could be well, if not better, taken care of in the county hospitals than in the congested state asylums.

"But there is no proper provision for the care of the criminal insane," he said. "I mean by this, not the man who violated the law when in a demented state, who, in fact, is not a criminal, not being responsible for his acts, but the man who was sane when he committed the crime, and became demented afterward. The law provides that such criminal insane are to be removed to the state hospital, but here they are permitted to associate with patients who were esteemed members of society before they lost their reason. The criminal may be a social outcast, his crime may have been of the most flagrant character, but he associates in corridors, wards, recreation grounds and in dining rooms with these honest patients of the state, isolated not because of crime, but in conseqeunce of affliction. This is cruel and unjust, and proper provision ought to be made at the prison for this class."

Miss L. Newhut, of Newark, who is totally blind, read a paper by means of her fingers, in which she made a plea for the blindd, advocating civic interest. She asked that the state provide means by which the blind could educate themselves.

Rabbi Meyers contended that a school for the blind should be established in Newark.

Professor E. F. Johnson read a paper on "The Inadequacy of Our Care of the Feeble Minded." He declared that our institutions did not provide the proper facilities and that the work was not well divided. Captain Charles F. Curie discussed "The Proper Functions of the Insane Asylum." John Cotton Dana, librarian of the Newark free public library, spoke on "The Care of the Adult Blind."

The session will be continued today.

PENSION INCREASES.

726 Private Bills Go Through at One Sitting.

The House of Representatives has broken several records, and the last one consisted of passing 726 private pension bills at one sitting. The members from New Jersey were particularly fortunate in securing a larger number than they have ever had passed at any one sitting, as the following will indicate:

By Congressman Fowler, increasing the pension of Edward Willis from $16 to $30; increasing the pension of Edward Burtch from $12 to $24, and increasing the pension of Adeline Brown from $8 to $25 a month. The Burtch and Willis bills were both reduced $5 a month by the committee, while the Brown bill was reduced from $50, although Mrs. Brown's husband, James M. Brown, served as captain in Company K, Seventh New Jersey Infantry, for ten months, and as a major in the Fifteenth New Jersey Infantry for six months.

By Congressman Wood, increasing the pension of William L. Stewart from $12 to $24, increasing the pension of Minna Y. Field from $25 to $35, and increasing the pension of Richard Prost from $17 to $30. Mrs. Field is a widow of Edward Field, who entered the army in 1861 as second lieutenant, First New Jersey Cavalry. He was transferred to the regular army in 1862, in the same rank, and gradually advanced until he was retired on account of physical disability in 1900, with the rank of colonel. The committee increased the amount named in the bill from $24 to $30.

Rev. Frank Anderson, of Millville, who spoke at Faith chapel, Tuesday night, was the guest of Rev. J. W. Musson, the pastor, while in town. He returned home yesterday.

Plainfield, N. J., February 14, 1907.

SHE SUCCORED MAN NOW HER HUSBAND.

Bride Was First to Aid Man Hurt When Stopping Runaway Horse.

Friends of Miss Mae Kane, of No. 213 First street, Jersey City, and Daniel Ambrose, of York street, an auditor in the Jersey City office of the United States Express Company, will be surprised to learn that they are married. The ceremony was performed last Sunday in St. Stephen's R. C. church on West Twenty-third street, Manhattan, by one of the curates.

The couple have known each other about two years, but never spoke of love until a few weeks ago. Miss Kane was about to leave her home one afternoon, when she saw a runaway horse dash past. It looked as though the animal would trample down a little baby learning to walk that had reached the middle of the street.

A young man was seen to rush at the horse and grab the bridle. This act drove the horse and rig out of its course and saved the baby from probably fatal injury.

The young man hung on to the hourse and was dragged about two hundred feet. He was accidentally kicked and dropped to the pavement apparently lifeless. Miss Kane was the first one at his side, helped to revive him and acted as an escort to his home. There is was she told him of her love and it was agreed to get married.

Mrs. Ambrose is a pretty brunette. She is twenty-one years old and a prominent member of St. Mary's church. She is popular in social circles. Her husband is a member of many clubs. He is twenty-two years old.

HOUSE BILLS.

Important Measures Introduced in Legislature.

The following are among the bills introduced in the House at Trenton yesterday:

Mr. Brady—Authorizes town halls to be erected in towns of this State and appropriates over $100,000 therefor.

Mr. Brady—Provides for the abolition of grade crossings of railroad companies and street or electric railroads, and gives to the Chancellor the right upon application to abolish the same.

Mr. Olwell—Provides that no contract for any public improvement or furnishing materials or supplies to any county, municipality or commission which shall exceed the sum of $1,000 shall be awarded except after two weeks' public advertisement therefor.

Mr. Kleinert—Provides that in every city school district the city Board of Education shall appoint two of its members, and the board in such city having the power to make appropriations of money shall appoint two of its members, these four persons, together with the Mayor, constituting the board of school estimate for said district.

Finds a Petrified Head.

Gettysburg, Pa., Feb. 14.—While George Woodward was running a sawmill in the mountains of Adams county he discovered the petrified head and neck of a human being imbedded in a large oak log. Woodward removed the head and shipped it to Dr. G. W. Tate, of Altoona, for examination. The head was of perfect proportions, the features being preserved to the minutest detail in the body of the wood. Even the lines of the face were plainly visible. The unusual color of the face was the only thing which detracted from its lifelike appearance. The tree was cut near the cave in which once lived Lewis, a robber. It is supposed that the head belonged to one of the victims of this noted outlaw, who in early times was a terror of the mountainside.

in the position of the old court jesters. They glory in writing for "art's sake," and take the pay that the bourgeoise that employs them gives for their pranks of vocabulary. They have become merely the amusement-purveyors of the monied classes.

"It is very unfortunate that our masters are keeping the people in such dense ignorance on the subject of Socialism, which will soon overshadow every other question and issue the world over. We believe that Socialism is bound to come, and whether it comes peacefully or otherwise will depend upon the education of the people in regard to it. The ostrich-like policy of the capitalists and their collegiate and other retainers may some day involve a bitter penalty. A great scientific theory, a deep philosophy, a world-movement, is scarcely at all understood by our most eminent men, and they seem to make every effort to keep the masses from enlightening themselves. They seem to think that the laws of nature will cease operation if they are only well misrepresented or ignored. Of course, hunger and suffering are the great educators of the people, and the Socialiistic movement does not depend for its success on the patronage of eminent men. The eminent men and their retainers can only make the transition painful and difficult, instead of easy and beneficient.

"As a slight instance of the ostrich policy, I might mention the Plainfield Public Library, where, I am informed, there is no addition to the few books on Socialism for fear that it might excite or arouse, or make discontented young workingmen. This statement is made on authority. On the other hand, I found that the library of Princeton University was glad to complete its Socialistic collection and sent for several works which I recommended. But the general ignorance of, and hostility towards, the subject is profound. You see it in the editorial columns of the best newspapers, in the pulpit, the colleges, and the State and National legislatures.

"Can we afford to be ignorant? Yes, if, as some good people think, the social revolution is due to arrive in about 150 years. But the signs are not lacking of a much speedier arrival. There are many thinkers who believe that capitalism will inevitably collapse, and be inevitably succeeded by the co-operative system within the first half of the century. 1912 is fixed as the date by Upton Sinclair in an economic work now being published in Wilshire's Magazine. Mr. Sinclair bases his prophecy on a deep study of present conditions, compared with the conditions which preceded the Civil War. He says that the signs and tokens are the same; there is a similar economic foundation, and the same superficial partisanship, and tangle of interests and confusion of counsels. A few years before Sumter the idea of war seemed absurd, except to a group of fanatic emancipators, who later became heroes. But the revolution of the future will be vastly greater and more important than anything of the kind that has happened before in history. It will be international and world-wide. France is generally conceded to be the leader of the future in substituting co-operation for competition. Europe will naturally be compelled to follow. It is capitalism itself that prepares the way for universal Socialism by everyday linking together more closely the interests of the nation.

"These are things that must come, whether we think we will like them or not. Herbert Spencer said that they must come. If we are wise, we will not quarrel with the inevitable, but will try to prepare ourselves for it.

"Usually our eminent men, such as judges and college presidents, are rabidly to Socialism. It is an exceptional but significant thing when the chief justice of the State of North Carolina, Walter Clark, writes a letter to Wilshire's Magazine, saying 'The trend of the world is in your direction, and when the panic (whose recurrence is inevitable under our present system) shall come, there will be an astounding advance for which the people are being educaed and prepared by many publications. The seed is being sown. But the people will not rouse themselves to act until hard times makes them uncomfortable.

"The chief justice is apparently a good Socialiste, an amazing exception to the rule of justices, who magnify the sacredness of property in the hands of the few, and minimize the sacredness of the human beings who produce it.

"The Socialistic movement can get along without college graduates, lawyers, preachers, and the general tribe of persons of wealth and culture, because it is essentially a movement of the people, of those who work, who are in physical majority, and very likely, also, in a moral and intellectual majority. At the same time, there are rich men, clergymen, and lawyers, who have abdicated their positions and joined the class-conscious workers. There is room for women, as well as men in this party of the people. It makes no distinction as to sex or race. Socialism asks nothing of capitalism. It merely gives warning that if the truth is distorted or withheld there will be a heavy debt of suffering to pay in the future."

"GLYCEROLE OF ARNICA"

For Chapped Hands.

There is no preparation which has given such general satisfaction as Randolph's "Glycerole of Arnica." It has successfully "stood the test" for many years and is a very healing remedy, perfectly absorbed by the skin, without any greasy after effect. Delightfully perfumed with Extract of White Rose.

BOY, NICE AND BRIGHT, IS DREADFULLY BAD.

When in Jail He Stole Pocketbooks and Valuables—Tried to Open Doors of His Prison.

Arthur Fanning, of Washington, ten years old, sent to jail at Belvidere for being incorrigible, seems to be a nice little fellow, is as bright as a button, but dreadfully bad.

The Sheriff and his family took a great notion to the boy and extended all the favors they could. But the lad failed to appreciate their kindness, and watching an opportunity he stole pocketbooks and valuables and concealed them in the beds and steam radiators.

When charged with stealing he denied in the most positive terms any knowledge of the crime, but gradually owned up and returned the valuables.

His next offense was to secure a big bunch of keys and make an effort to unlock the jail door. He said he wanted to let out the prisoners, but fortunately was unequal to the task. The court will dispose of the youthful lawbreaker and he will find a home in the Rahway Reformatory.

For Coal Land Leases.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—President Roosevelt yesterday sent to both houses of Congres a long message calling attention to what he terms the "Urgent need of legislation affecting the different phases of the public land situation in the United States." He advocates the conservation of coal and other fuel resources on lands still belonging to the government, saying that henceforth the nation should retain its title to its fuel resources, urges government control of the Western public land pastures, with a system of small grazing fees, &c., and asks for an appropriation of half a million dollars, immediately available, in addition to present estimates, to aid in detecting and preventing land frauds. He contends for a system of government leasing of its mineral lands and for treating these fuel lands as public utilities.

Would Save Bishops' Law.

In the State Senate at Trenton yesterday petitions against the repeal of the "bishops' law" were presented by Senators Bradley, Avis and Lee.

MEDALS FOR MILITIAMEN

Prizes to Be Presented by Governor at Second Regiment Review.

ON THURSDAY FEB. 21

Regimental Trophy and Collins Medal Both To Go To Company K, of Plainfield.

Lieutenant-Colonel Dungan, commanding the Second Regiment, National Guard; has issued orders for the review by Governor Stokes, February 21, at the headquarters of the regiment, in Trenton. There will be a presentation of 100 per cent. duty medals to many members of Company K.

Prizes competed for will be awarded as follows:

Collins medal for marksmanship, season of 1906, won by Corporal William E. Bond, Company K.

National Rifle Association medal for marksmanship, season of 1906, won by Second Lieutenant Charles F. Sylvester, Company L.

Regimental trophy for marksmanship, season for 1906, won by Company L, Captain Elston H. Bergen, commanding.

Long and faithful services medals will be presented as well.

The review will begin at 8:50 o'clock. The presentations will be made by the Governor.

President Stands Pat.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 14.—There is to be no halt in the investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the operations of Edward H. Harriman in connection with the Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and other railroads. There has been no change in President Roosevelt's attitude regarding corporations or railroads, and there is not likely to be any. Reports that have been sent to Wall street almost every other day about a probable change in the administration's policy have been sent for stock jobbing purposes. At no stage of his career has the President been more impressed with the wisdom of his policies and the justice that can be done to the great American public by their adoption by Congress and the States. He is thoroughly convinced they are going to prevail and he will not alter one jot or tittle of his demands upon Congress.

Gets His Third Black Hand Letter.

Hackensack, Feb. 14.—Justice Morgan, of East Rutherford, who Tuesday received his third Black Hand letter, exhibited it in the sheriff's office here yesterday. It demands that he secure the release of Pasquale Ventimiglia, of Lodi, from the Hackensack jail or suffer death. The prisoner is accused of being the leader of a Black Hand gang and is held under $1,000 bail. At the bottom of the letter are drawings of a stiletto, revolver and two bombs.

Says Councilman Hit Him.

Harry Reilly, better known as "Ash" Reilly, a former scavenger at Montclair, is at Mountainside Hospital, that place, with a broken leg. It is alleged Reilly was knocked down by Thomas P. Alworth, a Councilman from the First ward, Montclair. The men had an argument over snow carting.

GETS THREE "BLACK HAND" LETTERS IN THREE MONTHS.

East Rutherford Justice Commanded to Secure Release of Alleged Dynamiter.

Justice James A. Morgan, of East Rutherford, has received three "Black Hand" letters within as many weeks. Yesterday his mail brought the latest threat. He is ordered to at once secure the release of Giuseppe Ventimiglia from the Hackensack jail or suffer death.

Ventimiglia is the reputed leader of a "Black Hand" band that has been operating in Lodi several months. He was found in possession of tools taken from a building in Lodi that was dynamited by the "Black Hand" because the owner refused to give the band $500.

Justice Morgan says he will not interest himself in Ventimiglia's behalf, no matter what happens.

Blow Changed His Life.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 14.—"Slugged" in Chicago thirteen years ago and "awakening" three days later in Hammond, Ind., minus all the money he possessed and half his clothing, Charles McGee Williams, once a star University of Wisconsin baseball pitcher, a graduate of the Madison Law School, became temporarily a tramp. Given up for dead by his relatives and friends, Williams' whereabouts remained a deep mystery until yesterday, when he was found at Merrillville, Ind., by a friend of his youth. Williams' brother was notified and the family has been reunited. Declaring that his life is a "wreck," caused by recurrent periods of loss of memory, due probably to a blow on the head suffered at the hands of Chicago highwaymen, Williams has remained in obscurity all these years, in spite of the repeated urgings of the wife whom he married in Merrillville that he write to his relatives in Wisconsin and make known his whereabouts.

Democrats Against Machines.

The Morris County Democratic Committee has forwarded to Trenton resolutions condemning the use of voting machines, and asking that the law making them legal be repealed. The committee has elected the following officers: Samuel Brant, Madison, chairman; George E. Webber, Madison, secretary; Eugene S. Burke, Morristown, treasurer, and an executive committee consisting of Eugene S. Burke, Samuel Brant, Augustus Bryant, Elias C. Drake, Mahlon K. Thorpe, E. Philetus Konkle, Thomas H. Hoagland, John P. Walsh and H. M. Chamberlain.

Orange Masons Locked Out.

Orange, Feb. 14.—There is another labor fight in Orange, and again the employers seem to have precipitated trouble. The Master Masons' Association of the Oranges yesterday declared a lock-out against the members of Bricklayers', Masons' and Plasterers' Union No. 5. The lockout is the echo of a strike which lasted some time last summer, and the argument is over the subletting of some work in the Roth Building, in Main street, where the trouble started last year.

Pitney's Resignation Filed.

The resignation of Vice Chancellor Henry C. Pitney was filed in the Court of Chancery at Trenton yesterday. It bears the date of January 17, and is to take effect on April 9, the eighteenth anniversary of the vice chancellor's first appointment. Chancellor Magie filed with the resignation his acceptance, coupled with a minute expressing "sincere regrets."

Feb. 17: "Studies in Christian Experience." (The Divine Purpose For Us.)

By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.

Eph. iv, 11-16; Acts xx, 28-32; Rom. xii, 1, 2; Eph. v, 26, 27.

"Till we all attain * * * * unto the measure of the stature of the fullness of Christ."

"That He might present the church to Himself, a glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle or any such thing."

Christian experience, what does it mean? What do you mean by experience of any sort? Sit down by yourself awhile and think back and see what you have passed through and what you have brought out of all the past. What have you today? What are you now? Different from what you were, to be sure. Have you an idea of what you might have been, different from what you are? Have you any deep wish that you might be sometime and somehow different from what you have been and other than what you now know yourself to be?

How deep that craving after personal betterment does go with us when we allow yourselves to get free from all the false values of life and let the deep and true tones of life sound their notes through the whole being. How deeply we wish we might see some one who was just what we think a true man should be. Oh, yes, we have seen many fine specimens, but none just what we would like. Every one we have met has his limitations, his breaking point, his weaknesses. We have ours. What we want is some one who has none—the true nobleman. He should be our hero, our leader. We would follow him and become like him. We could be noble ourselves if only one were here who was himself all that we would like him to be and he would teach us how to be like himself.

Something of this desire is deep down in every soul if only it could be aroused to active power.

The Master has come. He calleth for thee.

Study the Christ life and character until you can see if they do not meet all your requirements. How would it be if you were like Him?

Then there is a plan of God—ideal, to be sure, but all the more real—of what the whole company of us might be together in developing society. All this is glimpsed in that letter to the Ephesians. What a company we would be if each of us were of the height of Jesus Christ! If we had come up to the full measurements of his life, what a race we would be, what a sight for angels and all heavenly existences!

Well, we can do it. God intends we shall do it. What do you intend? Perhaps you never thought of it before. Better begin now to do some thinking about it. It is really worth your while. Nothing else is worth while until you have done just this thing.

Estimate your own size morally and spiritually. What do you stand for in this God's world, anyhow? What force have you for good and right? What have you ever amounted to? What do you now amount to? Power you have certainly and are using it too. What is its force, and in what direction, and what its results?

Do you want to be somebody worth while? Then go to school to Jesus Christ. Let Him train you until you find yourself daily growing to do and be and to look like Him; stretching up and expanding into something of His fullness; from within, getting bigger in conceptions and intentions and in accomplishment; getting into God's great world purposes and getting them into you.

Ah, that is experience worth having, work worth doing! You can think God's thoughts and join in His purposes and share His blessedness and final joy.

Is it not worth while? Better begin. Best keep on to the end.

Can't Work by Two Lights.

It is said to be almost axiomatic with artists that you "can't work by two lights." If one expects to have the proper effect of light and shade he must have one definite, clear, strong light. Said an artist to me in his studio recently: "My studio is a northern exposure, the northern light always being the softest. I always work by one light." He sets his easel so that the light from the throne of God will be thrown upon his work. He paints the image of Christ on all that he does. If he cannot see the image he is miserable. He sees his profession reflected in everything. We may impart light to others in such a way that we will not have less light, but more light, for we may walk by two lights in place of one. God's first work of creation was to give light to the senses. His last was to enlighten the reason, and His continuous work today is to enlighten the spiritual man. Man must do his work either in the light of God or in the artificial light of Satan. He cannot work by the natural and artificial light combined. The one hinders or eclipses the other. You cannot work by two lights any more than you can serve both God and Mammon. Are you working by the light which giveth life or by the light that lures to destruction?—Christian Work and Evangelist.

Money and the Christian.

The proper gain and use of money is a part of the normal Christian's life. He must have some rules about it; otherwise he will blunder ahead, acquiring and spending blindly to no especial purpose except personal ambition. Wesley's motto lays down three straight tracks toward a right goal:

Make all you can honestly,
Save all you can prudently,
Give all you can possibly.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 17.

By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—An easy life versus a hard one. —II Tim. ii, 1-13.

No human life is wholly one of ease, nor is there one perhaps that is entirely characterized by hardness. In the easiest life there are some hardships, and in the hardest one there is some silver lining to the cloud. But in some lives ease predominates, and in others hardness has the supreme place. These principles also apply to the Christian life, of which the apostle writes to Timothy. To some Christians life is easy, or, at least, they take it easy. Their only anxiety seems to be to get into heaven, and they shun as far as possible the difficult places in the Christian's pathway. Their supreme aim is to be—

Carried to the skies
On flowery beds of ease,
While others fight to win the prize
And sail through bloody seas.

But while to many the easy life may seem the more desirable, yet it is really not so. Ease is not conducive to strength or even to happiness. The men of the world who have made the greatest success of life have usually been those to whom life has been a struggle, a battle, and in their toils and conflicts they have not only won success, but have experienced the greatest joy and happiness. The joys of ease are not to be compared to the joy of victory in battle, success against odds and notable achievement even in the face of adversity. Ease weakens, hardness strengthens; ease is unproductive, hardness produces the best results; ease is selfish, hardness is self denying, and the Christian, above all others, should possess the qualities of hardness rather than those of ease.

To live a consistent, conscientious Christian life is not easy. It is easy to become a Christian, but most difficult to live a Christian life. No one should make the mistake of thinking that a life in Christ and for Christ will be an easy life. The temptations of life are to be met and overcome. The enemies and foes of Christianity are to be withstood. The Christian life is indeed a warfare, and not even a warfare against flesh and blood, but against evil spiritual agencies—Satan and his emissaries. But it is such a life that develops true Christian character and that best exemplifies the life of our Lord and Master Jesus Christ. He knew no ease in His life. He was "a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief." Constant conflict was his lot. Satan used all his power to overcome Him. Man opposed Him even to the end of accomplishing His death. Sacrifice, self denial, enduring hardness and bitterest soul agonies were His portion on earth. The servant cannot expect to be better than his Lord nor the disciple than his Master.

Let us not, therefore, sigh for a life of ease, but joy in the fact that we also must "endure hardness as good soldiers of Jesus Christ." And in our struggles and conflicts let us be strong, not in our own strength, but "be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus." And when the way seems very hard let us be encouraged by remembering that, having suffered with Christ, we shall also reign with Him.

BIBLE READINGS.

Josh. i, 1-7; Matt. x, 38-42; Mark viii, 34-38; Luke ix, 23; Rom. vii, 19-25; Acts xv, 25, 26; II Cor. xi, 24-33; Eph. vi, 10-18; Phil. iii, 7-14; I John v, 1-5.

Ideals Should Be High.

Dissatisfaction with low ideals in your Endeavor society does not mean a contest for supremacy above the societies of your town or city; not a struggle for members and social influence; not a contest for the greatest number of testimonies in a given time, or a banner in a Christian Endeavor rally, or even the greatest enthusiasm in committee work as the sole object of our endeavor. No, God so loved the world that he organized your Endeavor society and put it into a community where human need extends its withered hand for help and you pass on singing,

Onward, Christian soldier,
Marching as to war, and heed not the skeleton fingers clutching at your saintly robes, begging for the bread of life?

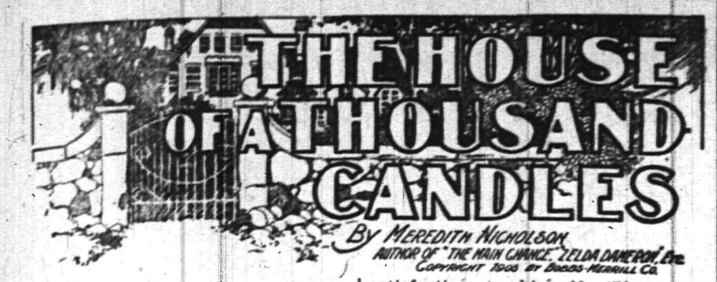
A high ideal with man means some lonely, lofty position toward which he struggles and climbs and finally attains only when he has pulled down and crushed his last proud opponent in the race. Men look down upon the masses. God dwells with them, suffers with them, leads them one by one to victory. We are too willing to worship in a temple made with hands, its gleaming marble chilled with our vain theories. When the veil of this temple is rent in twain we stand face to face with God's ideal, and then we realize our individual responsibility. —Herbert R. Chapman.

New Honor For Noted Endeavorer.

John Willis Baer, for long years the general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, known and loved the world over, was inaugurated president of Occidental college, Los Angeles, Cal., under most auspicious circumstances the other day. It is now President Baer, LL. D., and the whole Christian Endeavor world rejoices in the new and deserved honors that have come to a consecrated, hardworking, consistent member of the movement.

New Life and Zeal.

Dr. Alexander Whyte, the distinguished Edinburgh preacher and author, returning from a tour among the highland congregations driven from their churches by the "Wee Frees," reports that he found not despair, but a new life, and he especially speaks of the zeal of the young people in forming Christian Endeavor societies.



CHAPTER VIII.

A String of Gold Beads.

A moment after I had flung myself down before the fire, Bates entered with a fresh supply of wood. I watched him narrowly for some sign of perturbation, but he was not to be caught off guard. Possibly he had not heard the shots in the wood; at any rate, he tended the fire with his usual gravity, and after brushing the hearth paused respectfully.

"Is there anything further, sir?"

"I believe not, Bates. Oh! here's a hammer I picked up out in the grounds a bit ago. I wish you'd see if it belongs to the house."

He examined the implement with care and shook his head.

"It doesn't belong here, I think, sir. But we sometimes find tools left by the carpenters that worked on the house. Shall I put this in the tool chest, sir?"

"Never mind. I need such a thing now and then and I'll keep it handy."

"Very good, Mr. Glenarm."

We were not getting anywhere; the fellow was certainly an incomparable actor.

"You must find it pretty lonely here, Bates? Don't hesitate to go to the village when you like."

"I thank you, Mr. Glenarm; but I am not much for idling. I keep a few books by me for the evenings. Annandale is not what you would exactly call a diverting village."

"I fancy not. But the caretaker over at the summer resort has even a lonelier time, I suppose. That's what I'd call a pretty cheerless job,—watching summer cottages in the winter."

"That's Morgan, sir. I meet him occasionally when I go to the village; he's a very worthy person, I should call him, on slight acquaintance."

"No doubt of it, Bates. Any time through the winter you want to have him in for a social glass, it's all right with me."

When I plunged into the wood in the middle of the next afternoon it was with the definite purpose of returning to the upper end of the lake for an interview with Morgan, who had, so Bates informed me, a small house back of the cottages.

I took the canoe I had chosen for my own use from the boat-house and paddled up the lake. The air was still warm, but the wind that blew out of the south tasted of rain. I scanned the water and the borders of the lake for signs of life,—more particularly, I may as well admit, for a certain maroon canoe and a girl in a red tam-o'-shanter; but lake and summer cottages were mine alone. I landed and began at once my search for Morgan. There were many paths through the woods back of the cottages, and I followed several futilely before I at last found a small house snugly hid away in a thicket of young maples.

The man I was looking for came to the door quickly in response to my knock.

"Good afternoon, Morgan."

"Good afternoon, Mr. Glenarm," he said, taking his pipe from his mouth the better to grin at me. He showed no sign of surprise, and I was nettled by his cool reception. There was, I felt, a certain element of recklessness in my visit to the house of a man who had shown so singular an interest in my affairs, and his cool greeting vexed me.

"Morgan—" I began.

"Won't you come in and rest yourself, Mr.' Glenarm?" he interrupted. "I reckon you're tired from your trip over—"

"Thank you, no," I snapped.

"Suit yourself, Mr. Glenarm." He seemed to like my name and gave it a disagreeable drawling emphasis.

"Morgan, you are an infernal blackguard. You have tried twice to kill me—"

"We'll call it that, if you like,"—and he grinned. "But you'd better cut off one for this."

He lifted the gray fedora hat from his head, and poked his finger through a hole in the top.

"You're a pretty fair shot, Mr. Glenarm. The fact about me is,"—and he winked,—"the honest truth is, I'm all out of practice. Why, sir, when I saw you paddling out on the lake this afternoon I sighted you from the casino half a dozen times with my gun, but I was afraid to risk it." He seemed to be shaken with inner mirth. "If I'd missed, I wasn't sure you'd be scared to death!"

For a novel diversion I heartily recommend a meeting with the assassin who has, only a few days or hours before, tried to murder you. I know of nothing in the way of social adventure that is quite equal to it.

"Morgan, I hope you understand that I am not responsible for any injury my grandfather may have inflicted on you. I hadn't seen him for several years before he died. I was never at Glenarm before in my life, so it's a little rough for you to visit your displeasure on me."

He smiled tolerantly as I spoke. I knew—and he knew that I did—that no ill feeling against my grandfather lay back of his interest in my affairs.

"You're not quite the man your grandfather was, Mr. Glenarm. You'll excuse my bluntness, but I take it that you're a frank man yourself. He was a very keen person, and, I'm afraid"—he chuckled with evident satisfaction to himself,—"I'm really afraid, Mr. Glenarm, that you're not!"

"There you have it, Morgan! I fully agree with you! I'm as dull as an oyster; that's the reason I've called on you for enlightenment. Consider that I'm here under a flag of truce, and let's see if we can't come to an agreement."

"It's too late, Mr. Glenarm; too late. There was a time when we might have done some business; but that's past now. You seem like a pretty decent fellow, too, and I'm sorry I didn't see you sooner; but better luck next time."

"Well," I said, seeing that I should only make myself ridiculous by trying to learn anything from him, "I hope our little spats through windows and on walls won't interfere with our pleasant social relations. And I don't hesitate to tell you,"—I was exerting myself to keep down my anger,—"that if I catch you on my ground again I'll fill you with lead and sink you in the lake."

"Thank you, sir," he said, with so perfect an imitation of Bates' voice and manner that I smiled in spite of myself.

"And now, if you'll promise not to fire into my back I'll wish you good day. Otherwise—"

He snatched off his hat and bowed profoundly. "It'll suit me much better to continue handling the case on your own grounds," he said, as though he referred to a business matter. "Killing a man on your own property requires some explaining—you may have noticed it?"

"Yes; I commit most of my murders away from home," I said. "I formed the habit early in life. Good day, Morgan."

As I turned away he closed his door with a slam,—a delicate way of assuring me that he was acting in good faith, and not preparing to puncture my back with a rifle ball. I regained the lake shore, feeling no great discouragement over the lean results of my interview, but rather a fresh zest for the game, whatever the game might be.

The sun was going his ruddy way beyond St. Agatha's as I drove my canoe into a little cove near which the girl in the tam-o'-shanter had disappeared the day before. The shore was high here and at the crest was a long curved bench of stone, boldly reminiscential of Alma Tadema, and as clearly the creation of John Marshall Glenarm as though his name had been carved upon it.

It was assuredly a spot for a pipe and a mood, and as the shadows crept through the wood before me and the water, stirred by the rising wind, began to beat below, I invoked the one and yielded to the other. Something in the withered grass at my feet caught my eye. I bent and picked up a string of gold beads, dropped there, no doubt, by some girl from the school or careless member of the summer colony. I counted the separate beads—they were round and there were 50 of them. The proper length for one turn about a girl's throat, perhaps; not more than that! I lifted my eyes and looked off toward St. Agatha's.

"Child of the red tam-o'-shanter, I'm very sorry I was rude to you yesterday, for I liked your steady stroke with the paddle; and I admired, even more, the way you spurned me when you saw that among all the cads in the world I am number one in Class A. And these golden bubbles (O girl of the red tam-o'-shanter!), if they are not yours you shall help me to find the owner, for we are neighbors, you and I, and there must be peace between our houses."

With this foolishness I rose, thrust the beads into my pocket, and paddled home in the waning glory of the sunset.

That night, as I was going quite late to bed, bearing a candle to light me through the dark hall to my room, I heard a curious sound, as of some one walking in the house. At first I thought Bates was still abroad, but I waited, listening for several minutes, without being able to mark the exact direction of the sound or to identify it with him. I went on to the door of my room, and still a muffled step seemed to follow me,—first it had come from below, then it was much like some one going up stairs,—but where? In my own room I still heard steps, light, slow but distinct. Again there was a stumble and a hurried recovery,—ghosts, I reflected, do not fall down stairs!

The sound died away, seemingly in some distant part of the house, and though I prowled about for an hour it did not recur that night.

Trade Unrest Reported.

Elizabeth, Feb. 14.—The tendency among local building contractors to "go easy" on propositions for new construction during the coming spring and summer is taken to indicate that likelihood of trouble with their employees, particularly the journeymen bricklayers and plumbers. The former are said to be contemplating a demand for an increase in wages from fifty to fifty-five or possibly sixty cents an hour, while the plumbers, who are now getting $3.75 a day, are expected to demand $4 or $4.25.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

"The Shoemaker," which is to hold the boards at the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, will introduce Joe Welch, the popular comedian and character actor, in a type new to the dramatic stage. It is that of a Hebrew shoemaker who plies his trade in a cellar on the Bowery, New York. The piece, which is in four acts, is by Hal Reid, who has written many successful plays. Mr. Welch is one of the few artists before the public who possess versatility and talent. As a character actor he commands a very unusual range of humor and besides, has a capacity for genuine feeling which gives rare substance and conviction to whatever he does. His personality appeals because whatever role he essays he breathes and lives the part.

An offering of more than usual merit comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Monday afternoon and night, when Charles E. Blaney's newest production, "Parted on Her Bridal Tour," by Laura Jean Libbey and James R. Carey will have its premiere performance in this city. The patrons of the New Plainfield theatre are fortunate in being able to see this great drama as but a limited number of cities outside of New York are to be visited this season. Miss Libbey and Mr. Carey have written a story of great strength and purity in "Parted on Her Bridal Tour;" you will find a different heroine in Irene Middleton as played by Victory Bateman. She is a woman who we all pity and respect, not one of the "Stand back villain sort," but little of the melodrama in "Parted on Her Bridal Tour." In its place will be good wholesome comedy drama, the sort of a play that leaves us better men and women for having seen it.

The playgoers of this city are to have a chance next Tuesday night to see "Checkers." The play, which is by Henry M. Blossom, Jr., is the breezy dramatization of the breezy book of the same name and it is said to be breezily acted. Since its initial appearance three seasons ago, "Checkers" has been dividing its time between New York, Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia, Cincinnati, Pittsburg and St. Louis, and a few smaller towns, and not only did the New York critics speak as if in once voice (for the first time, lo—in many moons) and in emphatic praise of the play, company and production, but self reliant and young Chicago and conservative Boston and Philadelphia endorsed their opinion. It has played its fourteenth engagement in New York.

Mr. Kyrle Bellew comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night in "A Marriage of Reason," a drama of international marriage by J. Hartley Manners. Mr. Bellew is Plainfield's favorite romantic actor and in diplomatic, army and navy and society sets throughout the nation his prestige is the highest enjoyed by any contemporary player either English or American. He has been a sailor and soldier himself, and officer of Her Majesty's Navy and a lion in the West end of London. His new play, "A Marriage of Reason," is frankly fashionable. It deals with noblemen and noblewomen. The action is intensely dramatic, crowded with incident and replete with original situations, but it is always perfectly bred in thorough good form and redolent of aristocracy.

In "The Daughters of Men," Charles Klein's new play, which will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Washington's birthday afternoon and night, a new subject is presented—capital and labor. This great subject is handled with deftness and intelligence and with an object in view. The play is replete with stirring scenes and brilliant dialogue, and the scene at the close of the great second act where John Stedman, the labor leader, brings "capital and labor" together is one that will, on account of its realism and truth, linger long in the memory of those who witness this remarkable drama.

KIELY AND RUNYON MAKE HIGH TEAM SCORE

TOP OFF TOTAL OF 446 IN A TOURNEY GAME.

Through the phenomenal pin smashing on the part of Judge Runyon, a new high team score in the bowling tourney at McLaughlin's was made last night. Without having warmed up previously the judge started off at fever heat and topped off a 255 score. His partner, Chief Kiely, followed the hot pace fairly well and ended with 192, the combined result being 446, just fourteen more than the previous high record made by Gaddis and Dilks early last month. They were rolling against Radin and Ackor who put up a couple of high scores but could do nothing against such crazy pit hitting. The municipal representatives copped the other two games as well, making a clean sweep for the evening.

Kiely and Runyon were scheduled to roll three other games against the Schaub brothers, the Raritan team, but these were put off because of an accident to the chief. While in the act of throwing a ball in the first game of this series, he struck his knee with it and strained a ligament. By mutual consent the game was cancelled and the series will be rolled next week. The injury to the chief's knee was quite serious and he still feels the effect of it today.

Later in the evening, the Schaubs took a try at Nash and Skelly and beat them three straight. The scores made on both sides were medium grade, John Schaub being the only one to get a double century.

The scores:

Kiely	192	188	223
Runyon	254	152	165
vs.
Radin	197	173	185
Ackor	180	183	181
	377	356	366
Nash	154	134	195
Skelly	165	190	146
vs.
W. Schaub	169	182	165
J. Schaub	168	181	201

PARKS FINAL STRUGGLE.

Local Bowler to Clinch Trophy Must Win Tonght.

Upon the result of tonight's bowling match between the Park Club team and the Cranford Casino at Cranford will depend the outcome of the tournament. The Parks now hold the lead by a small margin, with Elizabeth a close second. The local five must win two of the three games tonight to retain first place, while if they lose two games it will make them tie with Elizabeth for first place.

The Parks have a harder task tonight than Elizabeth which rolls the tailenders in the league, Newark Bay. The Cranford team is a dark horse in the race. While it is true that it has not made such a good showing away from home, on its own alleys it has proved a stumbling block to nearly every other team in the league. The Parks and Elizabeth are pretty evenly matched, with the advantage slightly in favor of the locals. It is believed, however, that the Parks will not have much trouble in taking two games from Cranford tonight. This will give them the championship no matter what the result of the Elizabeth-Newark Bay match. Tonight's matches will wind-up the season tournament, the third game being between Westfield and Roselle at Roselle.

BASKETBALL.

The basketball team of the 26th Ward Branch of the Y. M. C. A., Brooklyn, will play the local Y. M. C. A. five, here, Monday night.

The Y. M. C. A. junior basketball five will go after its tenth straight victory this afternoon. It will play the Leal's junior team.

GOLF.

The Park Golf Club will hold its annual meeting early in March, when trustees and officers will be elected and plans for the coming season formed.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The running high jump and the running long dive will be the events run off in the Y. M. C. A. athletic championship competition tonight.

Picking Y. M. C. A. Team.

Members of the team to meet Passaic in the running high jump and the running long dive events at the dual meet Feb. 21, will be picked tonight at the Y. M. C. A. when the men in the all-around competition will meet in the jump and dive. The three best men in each event will be picked. Other candidates will be tried out tomorrow night.

—The Y. M. C. A. five will play the Hudson City team, at Jersey City, in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league, Saturday night.

Bulldog Kills Woman.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 14.—Mrs. Lena Smith, who was terribly bitten by a vicious bulldog at her home Tuesday night, died in a hospital yesterday. The dog was whipped by Mrs. Smith Monday and showed resentment. She went into the kitchen last evening with meat for the dog and was immediately attacked. She was thrown to the floor, and her arm was torn into shreds, being amputated later. Attracted by Mrs. Smith's screams, her husband killed the dog with a poker.

Library Workmen Die.

New York, Feb. 14.—One man was instantly killed, another so badly injured that he died later in Bellevue Hospital, and two others hurt as a result of the collapse of a scaffold on the top of third floor of the New York Public Library building, in course of construction in Fifth avenue at Forty-first street, yesterday afternoon. The dead are: Thomas O'Keefe, of No. 916 Second avenue, a sheet metal worker; Thomas Henry Huston, of No. 699 Tenth avenue, a painter.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance Society will meet in the W. C. T. U. rooms tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock for Bible study and prayer. Mrs. Humphrey, of New York, will be in charge.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church will hold a sociable tonight at the home of Fred. C. Lounsbury, Jr., on Plainfield avenue. All the members of the society as well as the young people of the church and congregation are invited.

All the pleasures of a summer-time picnic will be enjoyed in Vincent chapel tomorrow night, when the Epworth League will hold an indoor outing. There will be golf, croquet and tennis, while for those who do not care to play games there will be hammock, shady lawns and comfortable seats so that they may watch the others. Miss Helen Whitney is the chairman of the entertainment and society committee.

The Presbyterian Brotherhood of the synod of New Jersey was formally organized Tuesday at the convention of men's societies of the Presbyterian church of New Jersey, in the Fourth Presbyterian church, Trenton. Judge William M. Manning was elected president; Ellwood C. Harris, of Newark; Stephen Pierson, of Morristown, and John T. Tatem, of Haddonfield, vice presidents; John E. Gill, of Trenton, secretary, and Edward W. Dunham, of Trenton, treasurer.

MAKING A MODEL OF TUBERCULOSIS TENT.

Copy of One Used in Treating Michael Muldowney; Example of Best Shelter.

With the idea of assisting in the plan to educate the people in the care and treatment of tuberculosis Mayor Charles J. Fisk is having an exact model made of the tent which is located on the Casino grounds and which was used by Michael Muldowney during his long illness. The tent and its general equipment were made from plans drafted by a physician who is at the head of a camp in the Adirondacks where tuberculosis and consumption is treated by the outdoor method.

In the opinion of Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, as well as other local physicians, the tent and system employed for the care of Michael Muldowney was the best known and represented nearly the ideal in the treatment of such disease. During the past year the various boards of health throughout the State have been conducting a campaign against tuberculosis and every possible means is being employed to educate the people in methods to prevent its spread.

James Cuzen, of West End avenue, made the tent in which Michael Muldowney lived and he has been engaged to make a miniature model which will be sent to Trenton for exhibition purposes in the State Board of Health department. So far as known this is the first time the outdoor treatment has been tried to any extent in the State and it is largely for educational purposes that the exhibition will be made at Trenton.

—The assortment of fancy fruits and vegetables at Neuman Brothers is always fresh and is selected with great care. During this week the specialties are Indian River oranges and grape fruit, Oregon Spitzenberg apples, Boston head lettuce, radishes, cucumbers and tomatoes.

EXPLOSION AT BAYONNE RESEMBLED EARTHQUAKE.

Shock So Severe Inhabitants Fled From Homes In a Panic.

The lower part of Manhattan Island, Brooklyn, Long Island City, Staten Island, Jersey City and other towns in New Jersey were shaken as by a small earthquake at 10:37 o'clock this morning by the explosion of an oil tank containing 1,500 barrels of petroleum in the Standard Oil works at Constable Hook, Bayonne.

The explosion was so severe in the town of Bayonne itself that the inhabitants rushed from their houses in a panic, firmly believing that an earthquake had occurred.

The buildings shook and tottered. The window panes in hundreds of houses were shattered. Furniture danced and pictures fell from the walls and crockery was broken. Pedestrians on the streets were thrown from their feet. People rushed wildly hither and thither in terror of another shock. It was not for an hour that the real cause of the shock became known to the people generally. Then an enormous crowd rushed toward the Standard Oil works.

The shock was hardly less severe in Staten Island, across the Kill von Kull. People on the north shore were thrown into panic and rushed from their houses. Buildings were shaken and here, similarly, window panes crashed in scores. The word earthquake was on everybody's lips.

The tank took fire and a great column of flame shot high. The Standard Oil Company maintains its own fire department, which went to work at once.

No loss of life had been reported up to noon.

WAKELEE ON DEFEAT OF SENATOR DRYDEN.

Declares That Prudential President's Overthrow Was for People's Best Interest.

Rutherford, Feb. 14.—A spirit of patriotism was the feature of the first annual banquet of the Rutherford Republican Club, held in the auditorium of the Union Clubhouse, in honor of the memory of Abraham Lincoln.

Charles R. Saley, president of the club, presided, and at his right was Senator Edmund W. Wakelee, who delivered the principal speech.

Senator Wakelee said in part in his speech: "There looms up before us the greatest problem in our history, and it is a serious one, the interests of the common people against the great and powerful corporations, such as the railroads, the public service and the insurance companies. The Republican party is getting its eyes open and is advocating the control of these vast machines in order to give the people proper consideration. If these principles are to be carried out the people must elect to public office men who will carry out their wishes.

"We have had a case in point at Trenton, the contest over the United States Senatorship. I do not believe that there is a man in this audience who does not consider Senator John F. Dryden a man of remarkable ability, a good man, a man of the strictest integrity, but that by reason of his being the govering power of one of the greatest of insurance companies, the people have been brought to realize that he is not the man to continue in such an important position. Possessing that knowledge, myself and colleagues, who stood out against the Senator, were confronted with a difficult question.

"But the situation soon became clear, and our influence and votes were used in the interest of what we conscientiously believed to be for the best interests of the people."

A "PHILADELPHIA" CLUB.

Local Elks Making Ready to Attend Big Convention in the Quaker City.

At last night's meeting of Plainfield Lodge, B. P. O. E., the first active steps were taken by the members toward making a showing at the annual convention of the order in Philadelphia next July. A "Philadelphia" club was started and forty names were quickly enrolled. There is little doubt but what every member of the lodge will attend, however, and participate in the big parade.

The local representatives will adopt a uniform and there is a possibility that a band of music may be taken along. The convention promises to exceed any that has yet been given in point of attendance or elaborateness of detail. The city of Philadelphia has appropriated $50,000 to entertain the antlered host and the business men are raising another fund that will reach the same figure.

Wirth Loses Two More Horses.

John Wirth, the West Front street baker, who had two horses burned to death in the fire which partially destroyed his barn early last month, last two other animals this week. One died Monday and another dropped away yesterday. Some sort of Nemesis seems to be following Wirth or his animals as he has lost a large number of horses since entering business.

Heavy Cupid Mail.

The mail today, it was said at the post office this morning, was one of the heaviest in years. All the carriers were loaded down with valentines. Souvenir cards with St. Valentine trimmings were in the majority.

LITERARY.

In McClure's for February, the Christian Science serial steadily increases in interest and power. Mrs. Eddy's relations with P. P. Quimby, the mental healer of Portland, are taken up in this instalment, and a thoroughly convincing and able presentation of the man who was so potent an influence in her career is given. Mrs. Eddy's first visits to Quimby, her letters and verses in praise of him, and Mrs. Crosby's account of Mrs. Eddy's performances as the medium of her dead brother, Albert Baker, are presented, together with some striking facsimiles and portraits. William Allen White contributes in this number a brilliant analysis of Roosevelt and his career. The Campaign of 1860 is described in the Carl Schurz Reminscences, and dramatic episodes occurring at the time of Lincoln's nomination are related with much spirit and humor. John La Farge contributes a fine critical study of Sacred Conversations in painting. A. W. Rolker writes of "The Wild Animal Physician and His Patients," and recounts many thrilling illustrations of the courage and ingenuity that enter into this branch of medicine.

Success Magazine, in pursuance of its policy of opposition to legislative abuses, which led to the establishment of the People's Lobby, at Washington, directs the attention of its readers to a work of real, practical, legislative reform which has been going on quietly but in Wisconsin, where Charles McCarthy, a man "with a brogue, a Ph.D., and an idea" has almost driven the lobbyists of the "interests" out of business. In this article, "Putting the Lobbyists on the Square," Samuel Merwin describes the bureau conducted by Mr. McCarthy, shows its wonderful value, and traces the influence it has exerted in other sections of the country. "In five years," says Mr. Merwin, "McCarthy changed the scheme of lawmaking at Madison from a disastrous chaos to a scientific system."

The February number of The Metropolitan is the strongest and mast entertaining any magazine has put forth in many months. Powerful, absorbing articles and the very best fiction and verse make it almost a necessity to all who like good and timely reading. "The Scars of War," by John D. Wells, is a sympathetic account of the battlefields of Northern Virginia as they are today, compared with their condition forty-five years ago. War time sketches and photographs are placed side by side, with pictures of the same localities recently made.

The Red Book Magazine for February comes to hand with one of the most attractice covers it has ever had. Moreover, it is doubtful if any fiction publication at twice the price has ever contained better stories or a better list of names. Names, however, would not appear to count in The Red Book. The story seems to be the thing. Among the authors represented, are Maarten Maartens, the famous Dutch novelist, with a story, "Science and the Cow," designed primarily for mothers; Churchill Williams, whose name is familiar to novel readers, with a striking and intensely dramatic story of the steel mills entitled "Red Hagan;" Marvin Dana has a romantic tale entitled "The Wisdom of the Abbot," while Wilbur Nesbits' story "Valentine Timmons" is as spontaneous as a conversation in a country store.

Arthur Stringer, whose work in recent years has grown in strength and importance, is the author of the novel which opens the March number of The Smart Set. It is a love story of absorbing interest, entitled "Creeping Rails," depicting the passion of a wealthy woman for a musician who, in the end, proves worthy of her love. Mr. Stringer has done no better piece of work and this story will win him added admirers. John G. Neihardt, a new writer whose name is becoming known to magazine readers, is the author of a very short but powerful story, entitled "Mignon." "The Bashful Elder," by Grace MacGowan Cooke, is a delightfully humorous story of rural life; Seumas MacManus contributes another of his inimitable Irish tales, "For His Town's Sake;" and van Tassel Sutphen, a modern love story. Other writers of short fiction are Yorke Stevenson, Harriet Gaylord, Cecil Carlisle Pangman, Edward Clark Marsh, Walter E. Grogan and May Harris.

The new number of The American Magazine—the February number—is easily the best one issued so far by the new editors. It is full of snap. Miss Tarbell's Lincoln article is undoubtedly one of the great stories of the year. JosephineDaskam Bacon begins her new series, "We And Our Servants." The first article contains enough vital opinion and lively satire to keep the average family discussing the servant problem for a month. Frederic C. Howe reveals some astonishing facts about "Graft in England." Dr. Leonard Keene Hirshberg tells the truth about "Cancer, the Unconquered Plague." W. G. Fitz-Gerald reports the discovery, in South Africa, of a diamond three times bigger than any ever before found—a diamond bigger than a baseball. "The Interpreter" this month talks about Lincoln—a talk which the critic shrewdly suspects is from the pen of F. P. Dunne, the creator of "Mr. Dooley," although it is unsigned.

—Andrew Bentford, arrested for helpless drunkenness yesterday, was released under suspended sentence this morning by City Judge Runyon.

On Trial For Wife Murder.

Herman T. Ahl, whose trial for the murder of his wife was begun yesterday in the Hudson County Court of Oyer and Temriner, was confronted by his daughter and two sons, who were called as witnesses for the State, and who described how he had abused and threatened their dead mother. The testimony of his sixteen-year-old daughter was affecting. The crime was committed on June 20 last, the daughter's birthday, and stopped her celebration, to which a number of her friends had been invited. The murder was committed at their home in Hoboken. The two sons, small boys, were brought from an orphan asylum at College Point, Long Island. The defence will be insanity.

MUTUAL BENEFIT PLANT

Employees Share in Profits of Manufacturing Concern's Business.

150 MEN BENEFITTED

Firm Contributes Half of Workmen's Aid Society Fund—Free Coffee For All the Men.

In order to promote a feeling of good-will between employer and employes, the Quincy-Manchester-Sergeant Company, which succeeded the Pudrick & Ayer Company, has adopted several novel ideas to attain the desired result and to all appearances has succeeded. The concern has 150 men on its payroll and at the present time there is not a more contented force of workmen in the city.

A short time ago one of the officials noticed that the men who remained in the shop at noon time partook of a cold lunch and decided that they would be much the better for the rest of the day by having a hot cup of coffee and gave instructions to see that they got it at the company's expense. Since then a woman comes to the place every day and when the noon whistle blows she has a great quantity of the beverage prepared. On an average about 125 pounds of coffee are used in a week and the amount is steadily growing. Since the innovation has been introduced the number of shop diners has almost doubled.

The shop force has a mutual benefit society for the protection of the members against sickness or injury and the company has further shown its kindness by aiding it in no small way. The men were notified that for every dollar they raised for this purpose the concern would add a similar amount and it has since been done. It means a donation of about $15 a week or $720 a year.

Still another plan that has been put into effect is to divide the company's profits for the year with the employes on a percentage business. When the amount is learned all the men who have been in the works for twelve months will receive a share based on the salary he commands. This method has been adopted by other factories in the State and is said to have worked to the advantage of both capital and labor.

R. A. ENTERTAINMENT.

Plainfield Council Entertains Its Women Friends.

Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, gave a "ladies' night" entertainment in its rooms in the Babcock building, last night. The programme was in charge of a committee consisting of H. W. Hanaford, chairman; William Carr and Regent William R. Townsend. There were piano selections by Miss Boss and then the first part of the evening was occupied by Prof. Irving, who gave a clever exhibition of magic. Grand Vice Regent Harry D. Ward, of Trenton, made a short address in which he set forth the objects and benefits of the order, citing several instances where widows and orphans have been well taken care of by reason of the fact that their husbands and fathers were Arcanumites.

Charles Simonson, who is not a stranger here, entertained with humorous stories and topical songs. He was accompanied on the piano by Miss Boss. The programme closed with additional sleight -of-hand by Prof. Irving.

King's Daughters on a Strawride.

Thirty members of Emanuel Circle, King's Daughters, of Faith chapel, enjoyed a sleigh ride to Rahway last night. The affair was arranged by a committee consisting of Miss Mackey, Miss Viebrock and Miss Bertha Peck, and besides clearing expenses the circle cleared $7.50 for its work. It was about 11:15 when the party returned to Plainfield and then a social hour was spent at the home of Mrs. Valentine Utzinger, on Grandview avenue, where refreshments were served.

Quietly Observe Anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Murray, Jr., of West Fourth street, who observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding, yesterday, entertained members of the family at their home, last night, including Mr. Murray's parents, his brothers and sisters. The celebration was a quiet one owing to the serious illness of Mr. Murray's sister-in-law, Mrs. James Murray, of New York.

Rev. Dr. Chambliss Will Preach.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, will occupy his pulpit on Sunday and preach both morning and evening. After the morning service, Captain George Benn, who is identified with the Mission Yacht Association, of Brooklyn, will speak for a few minutes. No collection will be taken for this work.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT AT WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

MR. AND MRS. ST. JOHN 25 YEARS MARRIED—DAUGHTER TO WED.

In honor of the twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. B. V. St. John, about fifty of their friends called at their home in Division street, last night, to extend congratulations. The evening was spent in an informal social manner, and the couple received a great many handsome gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. St. John were formerly residents of Leonardsville, N. Y., where they were married. They removed to this city about twelve years ago. Mr. St. John is employed at the Potter Press Works.

Last night's affair had a double significance, the engagement of Mr. and Mrs. St. John's daughter, Miss Mary Alice St. John, to Rev. Eli Forsythe Loofboro, of Riverside, California, being announced. She is the private secretary for Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, editor of the Sabbath Recorder and has always been active in affairs at the Seventh-Day Baptist church.

Mr. Loofboro was formerly acting pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, New York, succeeding Rev. George Shaw, when he came to Plainfield. He has since taken a charge at Riverside, Cal.

INDICTED FOR THEFT; PATRICK FOX MAY GO FREE.

Case Against Dunellenite Who Is Charged With Stealing Watch Likely to Be Dropped.

The case of Patrick Fox, who was indicted by the present grand jury on a charge of stealing a gold watch from the store of Carl Silbert, a local jeweler, some weeks ago, came up yesterday for trial before the court at Elizabeth. The witnesses for the State as well as for the defendant were present and the defendant represented by S. S. Swackhamer, of the firm of Codington & Swackhamer, was ready to make a defense. After a short conference, however, between defendant's counsel and the prosecutor the prisoner was allowed to go game with his witnesses and it is understood that his case will be nolle prosed on Wednesday, February 27.

For more than three years Fox has been employed by the Central Railroad as a gate-keeper at the Dunellen crossing. He is a young man and is said to have a good record.

JOHN BING BANGS ENGLISH.

Elizabeth Celestial Is Plaintiff in an Assault Case.

The interesting spectacle of a Chinaman battling with the difficulties of the English language in an effort to substantiate his charge of assault and battery, was witnessed in the Court of Quarter Sessions at Elizabeth yesterday. The case was that of Charles Bing against James Coughlin, and the former claimed that Coughlin had "glib me black eye and knocked me down."

Coughlin, in his turn, testified that the Celestial had first attempted to strike him, and that he had merely acted in self-defense.

Owing to the enforced absence of several of the witnesses, the case was allowed to go over until tomorrow morning.

Miss Campbell Entertains.

Miss Anna May Campbell, of Grove street, gave a valentine party at her home last night, but instead of carrying out the usual idea of such a celebration, the company of thirty-five young people engaged in an old maid party. Many of the guests appeared gowned as old maids. Several novel games were played in addition to "old maid," and Miss Marion Hall won the prize. Handsome and unique favors were distribuated among the guests. Refreshments were served after playing games. Miss Norma Northrup won the card prize and Miss Marion Hall the other. The guests included Miss Mildred Williams, of Glastonbury, Conn.; Miss Margaret Lewis, Brooklyn; Miss Florence Johnson, Providence, R. I.; Miss Chambliss, Tennessee.

Hope Chapel's New Superintendent.

Because the condition of his health will not permit him to continue the work, R. H. Munger, of Washington avenue, has relinquished the superintendency of Hope chapel Sunday-school and he will be succeeded at the next session by G. Herbert Condict. The latter has been in charge of the junior department of the school for several years and is thoroughly familiar with the routine as outlined by the late Henry C. Squires. A reading room has recently been established at the chapel and it has been planned to broaden the scope of work under the new superintendent.

Mrs. Frank Bennett, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. John Clapp, of Mercer avenue, has returned to her home in Gloucester, Mass.

BACK IN BOYS' WORK

Mr. Robbie Will Take Mr. Barrows' Place at the Y. M. C. A.

CHANGE ORGANIZATION

Routine of General Secretaryship to Be Lightened by Appointment of Assistant—Farewell Party for "Pop."

Haydn W. Barrows, who resigned as boys' secretary of the Y. M. C. A. last month, will leave the association staff this afternoon. His place on the staff will be taken by J. F. Billet, who was engaged in Y. M. C. A. work in this city four years ago.

Announcement of Mr. Billet's appointment was made by General Secretary Kenneth Robbie this morning. Mr. Billet will not take up Mr. Barrows' work in the boys' department. He will become assistant secretary, and Mr. Robbie, relieved of considerable routine in his department, will conduct the boys' work. Mr. Robbie was the most successful boys' secretary the association ever had, and it was deemed best to arrange his work so that he might oversee the junior work. He will have charge of the Boys' Club, Sycamore street, which is part of the Y. M. C. A. organization, as well.

Mr. Barrows will go directly to Jacksonville, Fla., tonight, to engage in his new work. He will be the engineer in charge of the construction of a circle swing, an amusement device, for the Circle Swing Company.

The juniors gave Mr. Barrows a surprise party last night. Thirty of them tip-toed upstairs and burst in on him as he was packing a trunk and overwhelmed him with shouts and hugs. The boys think a heap of Mr. Barrows; they call him "Pop."

Without flustering any more than a healthy boy ought to with a speech choking him, Stan Karner gave "Pop" a pair of gold cuff buttons and a dandy pearl-handled nife, with one big blade and a nail cleaner that's fine for digging out nuts and things. "Pop" was properly overcome and said things in a way that sounded as if something was tickling his throat.

There was a great time in the boys' room after the surprise was sprung. A log fire crackled in the grate, whereat real corn was popped, and songs and stories knocked the tickles out of everybody's throat. There were other things to eat besides corn.

FANWOOD CRUSHER CO. WITH $100,000 CAPITAL.

H. Weldon Are the Incor-H. Wedon Are the Incorporators.

A certificate of incorporation has been filed in the office of the Union County Clerk by the Fanwood Stone Crushing and Quarry Company, the principal office of which is in Scotch Plains. The objects for which the corporation is formed, are to own, buy, sell, mortgage and operate quarries, to quarry, crush, screen, buy and sell crushed stone of every kind and description.

The total authorized capital stock is $100,000, divided into 1,000 shares at a par value of $100 each. The incorporators are William H. Weldon, Rahway; Frank E. Weldon and John Z. Hatfield, Scotch Plains.

In the Borough Court.

Mrs. Edward Potts, of Grove street, preferred charges of disorderly conduct and the use of profane language against Mrs. Charles Jenkins before Recorder Dolliver, yesterday. A warrant was served and Mrs. Jenkins was to have been arraigned in court last night but she was too ill to appear and the case was put over until Saturday. Both parties are colored.

Jensen Sells Hotel Business.

Charles Jensen, who has been owner and proprietor of the Arlington hotel at Somerset street and Greenbroow road for several years, has sold the business to Benjamin Farbman, of West Third street, who will take possession March 1. Mr. Jensen will take a trip to his old home in Germany and upon returning will enter the real estate business.

Will Speak at Masonic Gathering.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss has received and accepted an invitation to speak before a large Masonic gathering at Orange on the evening before Decoration Day. The occasion will be an auspicious one and the various Masonic bodies of the Oranges will participate.

Clerks Have a Dance.

Under the auspices of a committee composed of the Misses Young, Sara Hopewell and Ann Kelly, of the Woodhull & Martin Company store, a number of clerks from that store enjoyed an informal dance in the Camera Club rooms, last night.

NEGROES WILL CONDUCT A DEPARTMENT STORE

PLANS COMPLETED BY A CONCERN WHICH OPERATES IN THIS CITY.

The Metropolitan Mercantile Company, which operated a grocery store on Plainfield avenue for some time and which recently erected ten houses on the north side of West Fourth street, near John, has decided to enter the New York retail dry goods trade. The concern has purchased the abandoned grocery warehouse at 8th Ave. and 46th street, New York, and will remodel it into a department store to be operated for negroes. The building is four stories, fronting fifty feet on the avenue and 125 feet on the street, with a twenty-five foot L running north. The ground belongs to the Astor estate and has been leased.

E. R. Williams, a negro architect and a member of the company, has filed plans for the reconstruction of the building and places the cost at $30,000. An additional $200,000 will be spent in stocking and equipping it and it is hoped to be ready for business by May 1. Williams is well known in Plainfield, having designed the West Fourth street houses and superintended their construction. All the work was done by negroes. The company owns the plot of ground on the south side of West Fourth street, running from Plainfield avenue to the Vail corner at John street and it is said plans are underway to put up more houses there in the spring.

The Metropolitan Mercantile Company started on a small scale in New York a few years ago, at first operating grocery stores for negroes. The venture proved successful and deals in real estate were conducted. It now operates a negro department store and a bank in Savannah, Ga., an apartment house in Orange and deals in Plainfield real estate. The grocery business in this city was sold soon after it was established. The organization is composed solely of negroes.

MATCH HEAD STARTED BLAZE IN FRUIT STORE

FLAMES SWEPT THROUGH TONY LUSARDI'S PLACE CAUSING LOSS OF $200

Someone struck a match in Tony Lusardi's fruit store at Front and Somerset streets at 5:30 yesterday afternoon and part of the lighted head flew to the ceiling, igniting a lot of inflammable decorative papers. Inside of a moment or two the whole interior of the place was a mass of flames and the interior was threatened seriously. An alarm was turned in from box 12 and the department put out the blaze with extinguishers. Though it lasted but a short time, the loss from the fire will probably reach $200, most of it on stock.

In responding to the alarm, the drivers of the apparatus had considerable difficulty in keeping their horses from falling. The chief's horse went down at Second street and Park avenue and one horse of the truck team took a tumble on Park avenue but neither was hurt.

A still alarm was received at headquarters this morning for a fire in the house at 401 Plainfield avenue. It was caused by plumbers working about some frozen pipes and sprang up after they had left the place. Chief Doane went out with a hose wagon but was unable to locate the house because of a wrong address given by the man who telephoned. He said 401 Fourth street at first and discovered his mistake after the apparatus had left the house. He 'phoned a second time and the West End chemical engine was sent out. They had practically extinguished the fire when Chief Doane and his men got the tangle straightened. The damage is put at $75.

Exceptions Dismissed.

The Orphans' Court at Elizabeth decided the case of the exceptions filed by a Jersey City lawyer as counsel for the guardian of Josepine L. Pound to the account of Mrs. Mary J. McClurg, administratrix of George R. Pound, referred to in yesterday's issue, immediately after the close of the argument. Every point made by Craig A. Marsh, as counsel for Mrs. McClurg, administratrix, was sustained by the court, and Mrs. McClurg's accounting was found to be absolutely correct in every particular. The exceptions filed by Mr. LeFetra, guardian of Josephine L. Pound, were ordered dismissed and a decree of the court was made allowing and confirming Mrs. Pound's account as filed with the addition of a counsel fee to Mr. Marsh.

"BISHOPS' ACT" IS SAFE

Democratic Majority in House Determined at a Caucus To Let It Alone.

FRIENDS CALL MEETING

Minority Party Committee to Report to General Caucus Monday Night What Action Will Be Taken.

No attempt will be made by the Democratic majority in the House of Assembly at Trenton to repeal the so-called "bishops' law" or to legalize directly the sale of liquor on Sunday.

That was determined in caucus Wednesday after Laurence T. Fell had been named as the minority choice for State treasurer and when a committee was appointed to consider the several excise bills now pending and report to the general caucus next Monday night what action, if any, the Democrats may take toward a modification of the existing Sunday laws.

The committee, as named, consists of Senator Silzer, Assemblymen Baker, Brady and Holcombe, with Senator Minturn, as chairman of the joint caucus, an ex-officio member, and not one of the members will agree to a report in favor of the absolute repeal of the existing law.

All admit that it should be modified to meet existing conditions in the larger cities, but that is a matter which they hold should be left to the judgment of the local governing bodies.

As to the enactment of the Blohm bill, which permits the sale of liquor on Sunday during certain hours, provided such action should be approved by a majority vote of the residents of municipalities affected, the mewbers of the committee are very much in doubt. A majority are unqualifiedly opposed to having the Assembly go on record as favoring a law that might be construed as abolishing the American Sabbath, but all admit that the people may be safely trusted in the management of their own affairs, and suggest that inasmuch as the Blohm bill has a referendum clause it might be a happy solution of the problem on a local option basis.

The idea of the Democrats favoring anything savoring of local option seems so amusing to the Republicans that the latter have given no consideration whatever to the several excise bills already introduced. So far as the Senate is concerned it is probable that a modification of the screen feature of the present law, leaving the regulation in the custody of local excise boards, would be acceptable, as that is the form in which the "bishops' law" originally passed the Senate last year.

Governor Stokes is silent as to his attitude in respect to an attempted change in existing conditions, but the promptness he displayed in signing the "bishops' law" on April 13 (the day after final adjournment last year), which did not become operative until July 4, indicates that he is in favor of the existing law.

Meanwhile Peter Backes, counsel to the interdenominational committee which promotted the excise legislation of last year, has issued a call for a meeting of that committee to be held Monday afternoon at the Trenton House at 2 o'clock to arrange for the making of a formal protest against any attempted repeal of the "bishops' law" or an effort to legalize the sale of liquor on Sunday. Incidentally the committee will renew its effort for a further restriction of the number of saloons which, according to statistics collected by Mr. Backes, are under existing laws too numerous. This will be attempted by a further increase in the minimum license fee or a law limiting the number of saloons to each municipality to one for each 1,000 inhabitants, which would be practically equivalent to one saloon for each 200 adult male inhabitants.

The anxiety of Mr. Backes is prompted largely by the apparent confidence of the Saloon-keepers' Association concerning the repeal of the "bishops' law," and Assemblyman Klenert's refusal to accord a hearing on the excise bills now pending.

Mr. Klenert said that the people appeared to have determined the question at the polls, and this led Mr. Backes to infer that the Democratic majority in the House intended to repeal the law as it now exists. The caucus action of Wednesday demonstrates that such action is not intended.

That something will be done, however, was confidently asserted Wednesday night by President Thomas C. Hayes, of the State Liquor Dealers' Association, who is watching developments as closely on behalf of his organization as Mr. Backes is for the interdenominational committee.

PARK AVE. BAPTISTS GREET PASTOR AND WIFE

ANNUAL RECEPTION LARGELY ATTENDED BY HIS FLOCK.

The members of the Park Avenue Baptist church joined in giving their pastor, Rev. A. E. Finn, and wife a reception at the church, last night. It was the fouth annual reception to the pastor and his wife. The Sunday-school room was appropriately decorated for the occasion by Miss Charlotte Tennant, there being an arrangement of red hearts. Another feature was that the women wore small red hearts and the men wore arrows and upon each appeared the name of the wearer.

There was a programme of music by the amateur orchestra under the leadership of G. W. V. Moy, which gave addition pleasure.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the church, of which Mrs. F. T. Ostrom is the president, Mrs. Walter Freeman, secretary, and Mrs. J. Wesley Johnson, the treasurer, was in charge of the reception. The following young women assisted as waitresses: The Misses Marguerite Ostrom, Alice Brown, Margaret Brown, Arline Brown, Mabel Stutsman, Eleanor Stutsman, Grace Weeks, Mary Leveridge, Sarah Boyd, Anna Clark and Mary Clark.

OSCAR STRAUS LODGE I. O. S. OF J. ORGANIZED.

Max J. Leitner Chosen President of New Jersey Hebrew Organization.

The Oscar Straus Lodge, No. 39, of the Independent Order Sons of Jacob, was organized last night, officers were elected and installed. The installation was in charge of Grand Organizer I. D. Rose, Grand Secretary Joseph Kleins and Grand Master of Charities Samuel Fayer.

The lodge is purely fraternal and its purpose is to provide sick and death benefits for its members. There are about 4,000 members in the order, and it is expected that the membership of the local lodge will be about one hundred.

Speeches were made by the grand lodge officers and the newly-elected ones. The following officers were elected and installed: President, Max J. Leitner; vice president, Leo Slonim; recording secretary, Jacob Danziger; financial secretary, Samuel Rothberg; treasurer, Marcus Silbert. Kalman Rothberg was elected a delegate to the next grand lodge convention.

TO EXHIBIT MODEL.

Consumptive's Tent Made Under Direction of Dr. Hughes.

It was in accordance with suggestions made by a physician in the Adirondacks, that Dr. Fred Hughes, of the borough, directed the making of the tent which was used for caring for the late Michael Muldowney during his long illness with consumption. It was the first experiment of the kind made in New Jersey. Dr. Hughes, who attended Mr. Muldowney during his illness, was especially interested in the outdoor treatment, so much so that at his suggestion the model referred to in The Daily Press of yesterday, is to be made and will be a part of the State exhibit. This model is now being made by Michael Rimmer, who is employed by James Cuzen, the contractor.

It is proposed to exhibit the model not only in Plainfield, but throughout the State and give lectures on the care and treatment of consumption and tuberculosis. Arrangements are now being made to give these lectures in this city in the near future. The model will be an exact reproduction of the original which stands on the Casino grounds.

Albert E. Brown a Lieutenant.

Acting Lieutenant Albert Ellcott Brown, of Rahway, stationed at Manila with the position of adjutant upon Col. H. Bankholtz's staff, has received his promotion to a lieutenancy, transferring him from the Philippines to the United States regular army, with a life position. Out of 5,000 students only sixty were chosen to take the examination and of the number only forty applicants. Lieut. Brown is a descendant of Revolutionary stock.

Mrs. William Taylor Injured.

Mrs. William Taylor, of 814 Kensington avenue, fell on the sidewalk opposite the residence of Marion S. Ackerman on Crescent avenue, this morning, and it is believed that her leg was fractured. Michael Gill, driver for H. W. Marshall, of the American Steam Laundry, happened to be passing at the time and he took Mrs. Taylor home, where a physician was summoned.

Frelinghuysen for Governor.

POND WORKMAN KILLED

Two Others Injured When Casting in Molding Shop Fell Over.

MANY ESCAPE INJURY

Victim Had Been In Country But Five Months and Leaves a Wife and Family.

By the sudden dropping of a huge casting which they were cleaning, one man was killed, and two others injured in the molding shop of the Pond Machine Tool Works at 5:30 last night. The ponderous mass, weighing nearly five tons, crashed down among a group of helpers and there were at least four who narrowly escaped death. Frank Penel, an Italian, aged thirty-three years, was dead when taken out and "Mike" Barsick and "Jimmy" Manten had to be removed to Muhlenberg Hospital. Barsick has a severe scalp wound and a compound dislocation of the right leg beside a fracture of the small bone just above the ankle. Manten's injuries are principally severe contusions about the hips and back. Manten will recover but Barsick's case is in doubt.

The casting the men were working about is known as a "table" and is practically a square mass of iron. It had just been taken from the mold and was held up at an angle by the shop crane, one end resting on the floor. It was kept in this position by the foreman in order to allow the helpers to get beneath and clear away the sand that always clings to castings. The gang was busily engaged in this way when the chain hook from the crane slipped off and the table fell over.

The fact that a lot of sand was on the floor below probably saved some of the men as their feet were pressed into it and held tight until the weight was lifted up. One of the men who suffered in this way was Godfrey Bascoe, a well known local colored man, but he was able to walk around soon after being released. Penel's body did not have a mark upon it and it is thought he died from shock. He was bending down at the lower part of the casting when it dropped and he had no possible chance to get from under.

Penel came to this country from Italy five months ago and had been employed at the shop but a short time. He leaves a wife and two children in his native country and also a brother in Raritan. The body was removed to Cole's undertaking rooms and mass will be said in St. Mary's church tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock.

DISTINGUISHED PIGLETS.

Grandchildren of Caruso the Great Born In New Market.

Porcine society in New Market is in a flutter, and the exclusive sets of the stock world everywhere will be interested in the event that has caused the stir. Bessie, daughter-in-law of the great Caruso, the only 1,000 pound hog ever raised in this State, has become the mother of seven piglets. The piglets, besides being grandchildren of Caruso Maximus, are genuine O. I. C.'s, and no better blood is found in any hog family. The happy pa is Duke, a fine specimen of hog himself, but not, of course, the distinguished leader of society his father was.

Capt. B. A. Cole is the owner of Bessie. He has hopes that among the seven is one inheritor of Caruso's tendencies to embonpoint.

Entertained Sunday-school Teachers.

The teachers in the Sunday-school department of Warren chapel were entertained by Superintendent E. E. Parvin at his home on Watchung avenue, last night. The gathering was in reality a Valentine party and a feature was an auction sale of appropriate articles conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey. They were catalogued in a novel way and the bidding was accomplished by beans, the one securing the largest number being awarded a prize. Pretty valentines were also presented and supper was served at 11 o'clock.

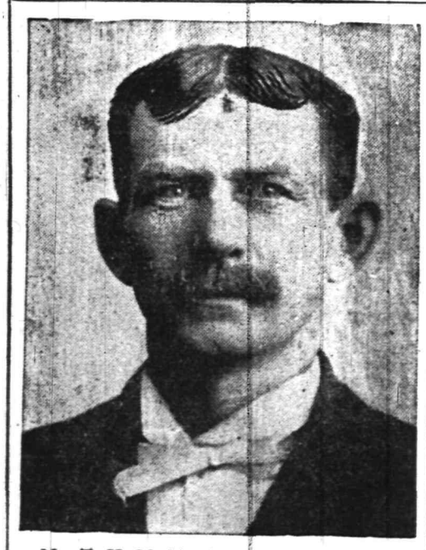
PHENOMENAL DEMAND FOR COOPER MEDICINES



Mr. T. H. McGinniss, 2141 Central Ave., Cincinnati, O., says:

"I have had catarrh, for seven years, and have tried almost every advertised remedy without receiving any benefit. One bottle Cooper's New Discovery has effected a complete cure. I have gained in weight and feel stronger than I have for years. My head is clear, my appetite good, my food digests perfectly, and my whole system has been greatly benefited by your wonderful remedy. I am deeply grateful for the remarkable cure the medicine has effected in my case."

Signed: T. H. McGINNISS.

From All Over the United States Startling Accounts are Received of the Unprecedented Results Obtained With L. T. Cooper's Remedies.

The wonderful new medicines, Cooper's New Discovery and Cooper's Quick Relief, with which L. T. Cooper has had such marvelous success in the treatment of stomach trouble, kidney trouble, catarrh, deafness, rheumatism and other diseases in every large city and about which every one has read numerous accounts in the newspapers, have become in great demand and have had a tremendous sale; this demand for these famous remedies is increasing. From this very city the sale and results obtained from Cooper's New Discovery and Cooper's Quick Relief has been marvelous.

DREAD CATARRH.

If you are troubled with a foul smelling breath, inflammation and soreness of nasal cavities and air passages and the dropping of a nasty mucous from head to the throat, if there is a dull heavy frontal headache and ringing sounds in your head and you find yourself gradually growing deaf, beware of catarrh.

Cooper's New Discovery should be taken internally to expel the catarrhal virus from the system and heal the mucous membranes of the nasal cavities and air passages. It heals the tissues of the throat and bronchial tubes, and frees the entire system of all catarrhal poison.

Cooper's Quick Relief should be used in connection with Cooper's New Discovery for catarrhal headaches and in all cases of catarrhal deafness to open the eustachian tubes and restore the nerves of the ear to their normal condition.

Cooper's New Discovery sells for $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.00. Cooper's Quick Relief costs 50 cents per bottle. You can get them of Spring Models In Walking Skirts.

To get new skirts in the most up-to-date models at prices that look like figures seen in clearing sales is a treat that the economical dresser will be loath to miss.

We present these three lots of new skirts confident that no house either in Newark or New York will match them in value.

Walking Skirts of blue Panama; dark and light gray stripes and plaids in newest models; regular value $5.98; to be sold while this lot lasts at.. $2.45

Walking Skirts of black, blue and gray Panama; cheviots and fancy mixtures in the newest plaited models, smart indeed; worth $7.98 and $9.98, at the special price of $5.45

Walking Skirts of black voile and handsome imported striped and plaid effects as well as mixtures in smartest Spring models; value $12.98; this lot special priced at $8.45

Handsome Skirts of Black Taffeta, suitable for immediate wear; in the latest plaited models; very special at $8.98, $10.50, $12.50 and $16.50.

Out Go the Winter Coats.

We are making a most determined effort to clear racks and tables of Winter Cloaks, Capes and Fine Wraps, and we are making prices such as should send them scurrying. There are many sorts of Coats here to choose from—all good styles—all well made and in a variety of materials to please almost any taste and any purse. There are Black Coats, Tan Coats, Cream Coats and Coats of pretty Mixtures; some short; some medium length; some extra long.

It will pay you to buy now if only for the wear you will get out of the coats the remainder of the season, and you can count on having good use for these garments next fall and winter. The prices are so absurdly low as to make buying a regular picnic. Values $10, $16.50, $29.50, $39.50 and $59.50.

Special Prices $3, $5 and $10.

Pick These 12.50 to 22.50 Coats at 4.50 and 6.50.

It's the best thing we've had yet in coats. The cloak man thinks so, the advertising man thinks so, the salespeople thinks so and every woman who lays eyes on them will say so too. Why, the minute we opened up a show window full of them folks began running for them and we've been passing them out right along!

Fortunately the maker, who used up ends of materials from which fine garments had been cut, let us have a goodly number of these smart, stylish coats, so we are ready for a big rush tomorrow.

These Coats are in the fashionable full length—are made of beautiful Checks, Stripes and Fancy Plaids in light and dark grays and browns; most of them with velvet collars; some in collarless effects; some with cuffs of velvet; some with large fancy buttons; yokes and sleeves satin-lined; sizes 32, 34, 36, 38 and 40; values $12.50 to $22.50; choose from the lot at 4.50 and 6.50.

PRINCETON TO RECEIVE ITS BIGGEST BEQUEST.

President Wilson Makes Startling Announcement at Alumni Banquet.

Princeton University is about to become the greatest seat of learning and institution of research in the world.

From an unknown source the old university is about to receive the largest bequest ever received by any college or seat of learning. When the large sum becomes available very soon, it is to be used to increase the equipment of the college, add numerically to the staff and send men into a broad, unlimited field of research, covering every useful field.

President Woodrow Wilson made this fare announcement in his address at the dinner given in Horticultural Hall at Philadelphia last night before members of the Princeton Club and the alumni of the college. When requested to go into further details as to the source of the fund that would allow such important results, President Wilson said the present time was premature.

"Had this dinner been delayed a few weeks," continued President Wilson, "I might have been in a position to state in more definite terms just what that bequest is. I will say that it is not from one individual. It is so large that it will allow us to enter researches on an almost unlimited scale. Our forces and equipment will be brought up to perfection, and, I believe, will rank us the first institution of learning in the world."

TRENTON PAWNBROKER LOCATED IN THIS CITY.

Customers Worried Over Unredeemed Pledges; Goods at Newark; Going to Move Again.

Captain Cleary, of the Trenton police, yesterday learned that Harry A. Norton, the pawnbroker of that place, who left town suddenly, is now located in this city.

Many persons who had unredeemed goods with Norton at the time he left Trenton have been calling on the police for information as to his whereabouts. Captain Cleary learned that Norton took the goods belonging to the customers to 29 Academy street, Newark, where they can now be found.

It was said this morning that Norton had decided to give up his place here. There isn't trade enough in his line, it is said, to make the shop profitable.

Urges Humane Education.

New York, Feb. 15.—That the New York Humane Society should enlarge its sphere and take a stand against all things which tend to incite cruelty was a suggestion made by Herbert N. Casson at a meeting of the society yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria. One of the most important things to do, he declared, was to go to sections where the newly arrived immigrants live and teach them the American idea of kindness to animals. Among other things he said the society should work to stop girls selling papers in the sereets. David Bellais, president of the society, announced that a bill had been introduced into the Legislature giving policemen power to kill any horse abandoned on the street suffering from disease or accident.

Sons of Veterans to Reorganize.

For the purpose of reorganizing John Hand Camp, No. 28, Sons of Veterans, a meeting will be held in G. A. R. Hall, East Front street, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. The prospects for a strong organization are good. The camp went out of existence a few years ago because of lack of interest, and it is now hoped to revive it. The organization's treasury is in good condition. At the meeting tomorrow night there will be a general discussion of plans, ways and means for reinstatement in the New Jersey Division of the order.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—A. J. Leader's horseless carriage has arrived and was given a trial this morning by the agents, Messrs. L. D. Morris & Co. The machine was found to be in perfect condition, and soon we will see "one ike" enjoying his latest toy.

—George H. Webber, the aged father of Mrs. R. Q. Cumback, of West Front street and Elmwood place, fell on West Front street, near Oxford place, while out walking yesterday afternoon. At first it was believed that he had sustained serious injury, but later examination disproved this. He will be out again in a few days.

—Charles Lee, Jr., of Grove street, says that it was Frank Webster's bob that was run into by Albert Steiner on Hyde's hill Tuesday. The bob was hired by George Neff and Mr. Lee happened to be coasting in that party. He says that the sled was not in the path of the other coasters, but that it was to one side and that Mr. Steiner followed the same course as the preceding sled and ran into it.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

It is reported that WilliamDeegan will retire from the hotel business this spring. "Willie" will devote his time entirely to baseball. He has several offers under consideration, but will probably sign to pitch for the Toronto team.

The several committees appointed to canvas the town for donations for Excelsior's three days' fair on the 21st-22d-23d, have started work and are meeting with encouraging success.

The explosion yesterday morning at the Standard Oil Co. plant at Constable Hook was plainly felt in town, the windows in the houses rattling as though caused by an earthquake.

The weekly prayer and praise service will be held tonight in the parlors of the Baptist church. Rev. T. Moore-Smith will lead the meeting.

The Suburban Club is arranging to hold another club dance in the club's hall on Thursday night, March 7.

George Harper, Jr., and family will take possession of the Marsh property on Front street, March 1.

Mrs. Louis B. Coddington, of Park avenue, has been entertaining out of town friends.

Charles N. Flanders, who has been ill for several weeks, is reported as improving.

John Falvey is spending several weeks at his home at Dover.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Miss Margaret Randolph, who has been ill for sometime with rheumatism, was taken to her grandfather's home yesterday.

The Young People's Social Club will hold a rehearsal of "Mme. Jarley's Wax Works" tomorrow night.

The regular meeting of the P. O. S. of A. was held last evening in Washington Hall.

The Young People's Club held a valentine social at the Baptist church last night.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Coal is still King. And the kind sold by John Johnson, South avenue, is King of all coal.

Catering in all its branches, by D. Demolli & Co., West Front street. Confectionery and pastries, bread de luxe.

There is only one place to get the right kind of confectionery—Hodge's pharmacy, East Front street. Mell Meade sweets.

The tobacco in the cigars made by M. C. Dobbins, North avenue, is solid Cuban leaf. Richness and free-smoking mark them.

For works of art and artists' materials patronize the Plainfield Art Store in the Y. M. C. A. building, J. W. Brady, proprietor.

Fred Endress' meat market, West Front street, is the place to get the best cuts of meat. Poultry of the kind the epicure dreams about.

William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, will contract to move your goods to any part of the country and the firm carries on a general trucking business.

An Edison phonograph or a Victor talking-machine will make your life a happy one and H. K. Lister, of North avenue, has a full line of both; also a big stock of the latest records.

A. M. Griffen, the hardware merchant, is offering exceptional bargains in housefurnishing goods, cutlery and general hardware. Mr. Griffen also contracts to do all kinds of sanitary plumbing and heating work.

Rubbers for rubber weather, at M. C. VanArsdale's store, East Front street. Rubbers for dry weather may be had anywhere, but the kind Van Arsdale sells is the kind that keeps your feet dry when the walks are slushy.

The Woodhull & Martin Co., of East Front street, is receiving new goods daily and it will pay you to inspect the large and desirable stock to be found in every department. The white goods offered are the best and the firm is also offering bargains in cloaks, coats and furs for women at very low prices.

"GLYCEROLE OF ARNICA"

For Chapped Hands.

There is no preparation which has given such general satisfaction as Randolph's "Glycerole of Arnica." It has successfully "stood the test" for many years and is a very healing remedy, perfectly absorbed by the skin, without any greasy after effect. Delightfully perfumed with Extract of White Rose.

SEVEN WANT TO BE POSTMASTER

Men, In All Walks of Life, Seek South Amboy Office.

South Amboy, Feb. 15.—It is expected here that Frank E. De Graw, a former Freeholder, will be appointed postmaster, to succeed the late Bernard Roddy. There are several applicants for the office, but De Graw has the strongest backing.

The term of Postmaster Roddy had expired last April, and at that time a petition, signed by a long list of prominent men, was forwarded to Congressman Howell and Senator Kean, asking that Mr. De Graw be appointed to succeed Mr. Roody, but owing to the poor health of Mr. Doddy it was deemed inadvisable to make any appointment at that time.

Among the other candidates for the office are Andrew H. Slover, former Assemblyman; J. Frank Fulton, borough clerk; Edwin Williams, a machinist; Charles Steuerwald, a hotel-keeper and game warden; John E. Montgomery, former Assemblyman and County Freeholder; Edwin Roddy, grandson of the late postmaster. The salary is $1,700, and one clerk is allowed.

GUN BRASS FOR STATUE.

Elizabeth, Feb. 15.—Augustus S. Crane, secretary of the Scott Monument Association, yesterday sent to the New Jersey members of Congress letters requesting them to support the joint resolution introduced by Senator Kean for the appropriation of 25,000 pounds of condemned brass cannon to be used in casting the equestrian statue which it is proposed to erect here in honor of Lieutenant-General Winfield Scott.

If the appropriation is made, the cost to this city will be reduced by about $7,500. The association will probably petition the Legislature for assistance, and a committee consisting of Colonel Dennis F. Collins, James White, assistant postmaster, and Assemblyman John Moxon, will consider the advisability of making such a request.

Knox Defends Smoot.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 15.—Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, in one of the most forceful speeches made in the Senate for several years, defended yesterday the right of Reed Smooth, of Utah, to a seat in the United States Senate. Analyzing the situation from a legal standpoint, Mr. Knox held that the State electing a Senator was the proper judge of his qualifications, subject only to his expulsion by a two-thirds vote of the Senate should he be guilty after entering the Senate of an offence sufficient for his disqualification or should his offensive status extend into the period of Senatorial service. Senator Knox thrust aside the argument that Senator Smoot, who has served for four years, should be expelled because his service is a menace to the sancity of the American home. He dwelt upon the evidence that Mr. Smoot has always set his face against polygamus practices, and had taken his oath as United States Senator without any mental reservation whatever. Mr. Smoot's mere faith in Mormonism, Senator Knox contended, was no reason for disqualification in a country where religious freedom was guaranteed to all persons.

"Hudson Ice Solid Sewage."

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 15.—Declaring that some of the ice fields on the Hudson river are solidified sewage, Edward Hatch, Jr., of the Merchants' Association, in a letter to Governor Hughes asks for executive intervention in behalf of the people of New York city and other consumers of Hudson river ice. The crop of ice is now being gathered. A severe indictment against Dr. Eugene H. Porter, State Health Commissioner, is made by Mr. Hatch. His letter states that the most casual assertion of authority on the part of the State Health Commissioner in prohibiting the cutting of ice on certain portions of the Hudson river would have prevented mixing up frozen sewage with good ice in this winter's crop.

Moments of History.

Cornwallis hesitated to surrender until he had made the proper terms. Calling the Father of this country aside, he put the case plainly.

"If," he said, "no arrangement is made so that in the future English lords can have any American girls they want for the mere asking, the country will go to the dogs."

Washington, patriotic to the core, could scarcely express his gratitude.

And when the papers had been signed, he said:

"Old man, I can't thank you enough! Newport and London are now one!"—Life.

Coarse.

If you've always got an appetite,
And always got the dough
To buy the things to satisfy
Your appetite, you know,
You've got as good foundation
As man has ever had
To look on life with laughter,
And be content and glad.

"Does running an automobile encourage the use of profanity?"

"No; it is the trying to run an automobile that won't run that encourages the use of beautiful language."—Houston Post.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The playgoers of this city are to have another chance next Tuesday night to see "Checkers." The play, which is by Henry M. Blossom, Jr., is a breezy dramatization of the breezy book of the same name, and is breezily acted. Since its initial appearance "Checkers" has been dividing its time between New York, Chicago, Boston and Philadelphia, and a few smaller towns, and not only did the New York critics speak as if in one voice (for the first time, lo! in many moons), and in emphatic praise of the play, company and production, but self reliant and young Chicago and conservative Boston and Philadelphia endorsed their opinion. It played its fourteenth engagement in New York last season and will play another later this season. The play is praised for its human nature. It is commended because it tells an up-to-date tale of every day life of people whose blood is fresh and young, in such excellent fashion as to charm not only those who shrink from the suggestive and unclean which mar so many of the playwright's efforts of today, but to win the alert interest and swift applause of the old-time, more or less blase playgoer who has seen pretty much everything since Ben Butler went to war and wants a little tobasco in his, to keep his palate awake.

When "The Shoemaker," the latest Hal Reid melodrama, is produced at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night, local playgoers will have an opportunity of seeing Joe Welch, the inimitable character actor and comedian, in an entirely new role. Mr. Welch impersonates Morris Goldberg, a mender and maker of shoes. Morris is a typical East Side Jew with a loving and doting nature and an honest heart. His aim in life is to be a dutiful father to his only child, Dora. She is abducted by a pair of as villainous cutthroats as has ever apepared on any stage. Morris goes in search of his child and has many exciting adventures. The search leads to the far West, where, despite his new and strange environments, the poor Jew retains all his peculiar characteristics. In the hands of Mr. Welch, the role is made a flesh-and-blood creation. He does not attempt to burlesque or exaggerate the type, but portrays it as it really is. Morris is a type one seldom forgets and one cannot help laughing and crying with him in his troubles and triumphs. It is a play that strikes a human chord in the breast of all of us and as for wholesome years, comedy and pathos it is fairly surfeited with it. There is not a dull period in all the play's four spirited acts, a rather unusual event nowadays. The cast supporting Mr. Welch is all that could be desired.

In "Parted On Her Bridal Tour," by those well known writers, Laura Jean Libbey and James R. Garey, Charles E. Blaney has again demonstrated his title as chief caterer to the theatre going public. Laura Jean Libbey needs no introduction to the American public; for years her books have had phenomenal successes and none more so than "Miss Middleton's Lover" on which this great play is founded. It is a story of home and of love, its characters are human and possible. "Parted On Her Bridal Tour" comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Monday afternoon and night. This will be the premiere performance in Plainfield and it will prove no doubt to be a repetition of the wonderful success that has attended "Parted On Her Bridal Tour" wherever produced. The company headed by Miss Victory Bateman is a large one, numbering twenty, and the scenery is a splendid example of the scene painter's art.

Kyrle Bellew will return to Plainfield next Wednesday night when he will present his brilliant new play, "A Marriage of Reason," at the New Plainfield theatre. The new piece by J. Hartley Manners, deals with the much discussed topic of international marriage and though the playwright is a Briton he holds a brief for the American girl whom he represents in the person of a fascinating Chicago heiress who is quite the most lovable girl who ever left these shores to marry a title. Mr. Bellew has the stellar role of a debonair, likeable, thoroughbred, bankrupt Earl who makes a commercial marriage with the aforesaid wonderful girl and then falls desperately in love with her after many moving incidents. The part suits him down to the ground and permits all his elegancy of artistry. Miss Fannie Ward plays the girl. The cast is a remarkable one.

At the New Plainfield theatre on Washington's birthday, afternoon and night, Henry B. Harris will offer Charles Klein's greatest American play, "The Daughters of Men," direct from a run of two hundred nights at the Astor theatre, New York. The story involves the fortune of John Stedman, a labor leader, whose idea in life is to bring about the milennium and who stands between the masses and the classes, believing that two wrongs will not make a right and that the country must be ruled by intelligence and not by the majority. His great fight for harmony and his love for one of the capitalists who is diametrically opposed to his ideas form the basis of the play. Mr. Harris has organized for the interpretation of the different roles a cast of players who stand for the best in acting, inluding Dorothy Donnelly, George Howard, Marie Shotwell, Edwin Brandt, Margaret Drew and George W. Dale.

CHAPTER IX.

The Girl and the Rabbit.

Wind and rain rioted in the wood, and occasionally both fell upon the library windows with a howl and a splash. The tempest had wakened me; it seemed that every chimney in the house held a screaming demon. We were now well launched upon December, and I was growing used to my surroundings. I had offered myself frequently as a target by land and water; I had sat on the wall and tempted fate; and I had roamed the house constantly expecting to surprise Bates in some act of treachery; but the days were passing monotonously. Twice I had seen the red tam-o'-shanter far through the wood, and once I had passed my young acquaintance with another girl, a dark, laughing youngster, walking in the highway, and she had bowed to me indifferently. Even the ghost in the wall proved inconstant, but I had twice heard the steps without being able to account for them.

Memory kept plucking my sleeve with reminders of my grandfather. I was touched at finding constantly his marginal notes in the books he had collected with so much intelligence and loving care. It occurred to me that some memorial, a tablet attached to the outer wall, or perhaps, more properly placed in the chapel, would be fitting; and I experimented with designs for it, covering many sheets of drawing paper in an effort to set forth in a few words some hint of his character. On this gray morning I produced this:

The life of John Marshall Glenarm was a testimony to the virtue of generosity, forbearance and gentleness
The beautiful things he loved were not nobler than his own days
His grandson (who served him ill) writes this of him

I had sketched these words on a piece of cardboard and was studying them critically when Bates came in with wood.

"They're unmistakable snowflakes, sir," he remarked from the window. "We're in for winter now."

It was undeniably snow, great lazy flakes of it were crowding down upon the wood.

Bates had not mentioned Morgan or referred even remotely to the pistol shot of my first night, and he had certainly conducted himself as a model servant. The gardener at St. Agatha's, a Scotchman named Ferguson, had visited him several times, and I had surprised them once innocently enjoying their pipes and whisky and water in the kitchen.

"They are having trouble at the school, sir," observed Bates.

"The young ladies running a little wild, eh?"

"Sister Theresa's ill, sir. Ferguson told me last night. And Ferguson says that Miss Devereux's devotion to her aunt is quite touching."

I stood up straight and stared at Bates' back—he was trying to stop the rattle which the wind had set up in one of the windows.

"Miss Devereux!"

"That's the name, sir,—rather odd, I should call it."

"Yes, it is rather odd," I said, composed again, but not referring to the name. My mind was busy with a certain paragraph in my grandfather's will:

"Should he fail at any time during said year to comply with this provision, said property shall at once revert to my general estate, and become, without reservation, and without necessity for any process of law, the property, absolutely, of Marian Devereux, of the county and state of New York."

"Your grandfather was very fond of her, sir. She and Sister Theresa were abroad at the time he died. It was my sorrowful duty to tell them the sad news in New York, sir, when they landed."

"The devil it was!" It irritated me to remember that Bates knew exactly the nature of my grandfather's will. Sister Theresa and her niece were doubtless calmly awaiting my failure to remain at Glenarm House during the disciplinary year.

I had given little thought to Sister Theresa since coming to Glenarm. She had derived her knowledge of me from my grandfather, and, such being the case, she would naturally look upon me as a blackguard and a menace to the peace of the neighborhood. I had therefore kept rigidly to my own side of the stone wall.

"Bates!"

He was moving toward the door with his characteristic slow step.

"If your friend Morgan, or any one else, should shoot me, or if I should tumble into the lake, or otherwise end my earthly career—Bates!"

His eyes had slipped from mine to the window and I spoke his name sharply.

"Yes, Mr. Glenarm."

"Then Sister Theresa's niece would get this property and everything else that belonged to Mr. Glenarm."

"That's my understanding of the matter, sir."

"Morgan, the caretaker, has tried to kill me twice since I came here. He fired at me through the window the night I came,—Bates!"

I waited for his eyes to meet mine again. His hands opened and shut several times and alarm and fear convulsed his face.

"Bates, I'm trying my best to think well of you; but I want you to understand,"—I smote the table with my clenched hand,—"that if these women, or your employer, Mr. Pickering, or that damned hound Morgan, or you—damn you, I don't know who or what you are!—think you can scare me away from here, you've waked up the wrong man; and I'll tell you another thing,—and you may repeat it to your school teachers and to Mr. Pickering, who pays you, and to Morgan, whom somebody has hired to kill me,—that I'm going to keep faith with my dead grandfather, and that when I've spent my year here and done what that old man wished me to do, I'll give them this house and every acre of ground and every damned dollar the estate carries with it. And now one other thing! I suppose there's a sheriff or some kind of a constable with jurisdiction over this place, and I could have the whole lot of you put into jail for conspiracy, but I'm going to stand out against you alone,—do you understand me, you hypocrite, you stupid, slinking spy? Answer me, quick, before I throw you out of the room!"

I Smote the Table With My Clenched Hand.

I had worked myself into a great passion and fairly roared my challenge, pounding the table in my rage.

"Yes, sir; I quite understand you, sir. But I'm afraid, sir—"

PARK BOWLERS LOSE THE CHAMPIONSHIP

CRANFORD'S GOOD WORK LAST NIGHT PUT END TO THEIR HOPE.

After holding the lead in the Central Journal Bowling League tournament practically from the beginning of the series, the Park Club bowling team fell down last night at the critical moment and by being defeated in three games by Cranford Casino, lost the lead and the championship of the league. Cranford had a total of fifty-seven strikes against thirty-seven for the Parks. The latter was credited with twenty-two splits against eighteen for Cranford and they had a total of nineteen missed spares against twenty-one for their opponents.

There were two high men on the Park team, Long who rolled 202 in the first game and Barlow who put up 200 in the second. Even Ball, who has never failed to roll 200 in at least one game, did not go higher than 152 last night. The other scores generally were below the average. While Cranford did not put up any remarkable scores, excepting Page, who rolled 226 in the first game, their work generally was the kind that counts.

Cranford took the first game by a score of 876 to 806, the second by a score of 871 to 869 and the third by a score of 902 to 820. The scores are as follows:

PARKS.
Barlow	151	200	181
Lyman	146	168	172

Boys' Five Scored Tenth Straight Victory Yesterday Afternoon.

The Y. M. C. A. boys' basketball five garnered their tenth straight victory yesterday afternoon at the expense of the Leal's seconds. Score 30 to 9. The Leal's boys worked hard, but a mysterious something that looked like the Y. M. C. A. team got in the way of their scoring.

THE "PONY" TEAM STRIKES A STREAK OF HARD LUCK

DROPPED FIVE OUT OF SIX GAMES ROLLED IN TOURNEY.

Misfortune seemed to be the lot of "Willie" Mullen and John Conklin in the bowling tourney last night and the hitherto aggressive "pony" team lost five out of six games rolled. They were pitted against Mack and Meyer first and dropped two, then went against Sheelen and Alberts and lost three straight, though they kept steady throughout. In the series with Mack and Meyer, Conklin started with a 214 but dropped to 148 and 168 and "Willie" came along with a 135 at the end. In the second game Mack and Meyer piled up a total of 423, the best for the night.

Another series was rolled between Causebrook and McLaughlin and Thompson and Leland, the latter team getting two out of the three. Causebrook started off bad, getting only 118, but Thompson tried to be sociable in the next game and went one below that. Leland got two double centuries despite the fact that he was rolling with an invalid thumb.

The scores:

Conklin	214	148	168
Mullen	157	165	135

Trap Shooting.

Scott Terry beat Fred Roccheitte, of Rahway, by three breaks in a fifty-bird bluerock match at the traps on Brantingham's hotel grounds, Park avenue, yesterday afternoon. Tom Brantingham took Roccheitte on and beat him by six birds. Terry and Brantingham took everything in a sweepstakes against a field of seven. F. C. Bissett, of South River, who was to have shot against Brantingham, was sick abed. Brantingham has a match on with Roccheitte for next Thursday at the Rahway Gun Club, 100 birds for $25 a side. On Thursday Brantingham will shoot Belloff at the roadhouse for the same stake, giving Belloff ten dead birds.

Y. M. C. A. Competitors.

The running long dive and the running high jump were run off in the senior athletic championship at the Y. M. C. A. last night. Douglass won the dive with 11 feet 3 inches and Burgess the high jump with 5 feet and ¾ of an inch. The first three in the jump, Burgess, Lueder and Odell, will represent the Y. M. C. A. in that event in the meet with Passaic. Conroy won the high dive in the boys' competition yesterday afternoon, and Freeman won the same event in the High School competition.

League Contest Postponed.

The match that was to have been rolled between the Elizabeth and Newark Bay clubs, of the Central League, last night, was postponed at the request of the latter organization till some date next week.

—The Hawks tied the Storks for the lead in the Bible class basketball league yesterday afternoon by winning from them, 28 to 6.

Big Motor Works Fire.

New York, Feb. 15.—Involving a loss estimated at $500,000, the plant of the Dalmler Motor Works, in the Steinway section of Long Island City, was burned early yesterday morning. Eight complete automobiles, built to order by the company, were burned, also forty others which were in course of construction. In addition to these there were two racing machines, used for demonstration purposes by the company, one of which was entered in the Vanderbilt Cup race last year and one which had been raced in Florida.

BRIG. GEN. DEADLOCKED

Forty-Five Ballots and Still Col. Collins Fails to Get Elected.

POLITICS THE CAUSE?

Senior Colonel Is a Democrat and that Is Alleged to Be the Reason Why South Jersey Opposes Him.

Forty-five ineffectual ballots were cast by the field officers of the Second and Third regiments, comprising the Second brigade of the New Jersey national guard, last night, in an effort to elect a brigadier general to succeed General Quincy O'M. Gillmore, commander of the brigade, resigned.

Colonel Dennis F. Collins, commander of the Second regiment, and Colonel John A. Mather, of the Third regiment, were the only candidates. Each controlled the five votes of his regiment, and after a two hours' session there was nothing to indicate that either side would break.

After the 45th ballot had been taken, Major C. Walter Shivers, of the Third regiment, was taken suddenly ill and Major General P. Farmer Wanser, commander of the division, who presided over the election, called a halt. When it became apparent that Major Shivers was in no condition to remain at the meeting, the general ordered the meeting adjourned.

It had been confidently expected in local military circles that after a few complimentary ballots had been cast for Colonel Mather by the officers of his regiment the South Jersey colonel would throw his support to Colonel Collins.

The basis for this was that Colonel Collins is the senior colonel of the brigade. The officers of the Second Regiment believed that both for the good of the guard and through courtesy the Third Regiment officers would bow to the order of seniority.

The meeting was conducted in the board room at the armory, at Trenton, and there were present all of the officers qualified to vote for a brigadier general. They were Colonel Dennis F. Collins, Elizabeth; Lieutenant Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan and Major George L. Forman, both of Trenton; Major Horace M. Reading, of Stockton, and Major William B. Martin, of Elizabeth, all of the Second Regiment; Colonel J. A. Mather, of Camden; Lieutenant Colonel Thomas D. Loudon, Bordentown; Major Daniel F. Mather and Major C. Walter Shivers, Woodbury, and Major Winfield S. Price, Camden.

Some assigned politics as the real motive for the Third's officers holding out. Colonel Collins is a Democrat, while the majority of the electors from the South Jersey regiment are Republicans.

This opinion was scouted by the majority of the militiamen.

The generally accepted reason for the attitude assumed by the officers of the Third is the fact that those who are supporting Colonel Mather saw a chance for advancement in their own regiment and were indisposed to let the opportunity pass without a contest.

SALAAM MYSTIC SHRINERS HOLD "LADIES' NIGHT."

Plainfield Members and Their Women-folk Well Represented at Big Affair in Newark.

Salaam Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles Mystic Shrine, gave a "ladies' night" entertainment at Krueger's Auditorium, Newark, last night, which was attended by several hundred members and their wives, including a large delegation from this city. There was a vaudeville entertainment, followed by a banquet and a dance. The Plainfielders went to Newark on the 6:18 train and returned home in a special trolley car, making the trip to this city in less than two hours.

Those attending from this city included Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Woodruff, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Rugg, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Ewart, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Liefke, Miss Irene Samuels, Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. James F. Buckle, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. TWO VETERAN PYTHIANS

They Observe Their Lodge Birthday at Meeting of Perserverance.

SOME REMINISCENCES

Asa Pope and Thomas Caleen Tell the Brethren of Days Agone In the Order.

Members of Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, Knights of Pythias, who turned out to meeting last night had the pleasure of hearing reminiscences exchanged between Asa D. Pope and Thomas Caleen, two of the oldest living members of the lodge. It so happened that last night was the twenty-fifth Pythian birthday of Mr. Caleen, while it was twenty years ago last night that Mr. Pope was initiated in the lodge. Messrs. Caleen and Pope have both "gone through the chairs" and are past chancellor commanders. Mr. Pope is still one of the most active members of the lodge and seldom misses a session. For several years past he has served the lodge as representative to the Grand Lodge at its annual sessions. In his capacity as a member of the Grand Lodge he has served with credit several years on the committee on laws.

Following the business session the good and welfare period was turned over to these two patriarchs of Pythian brotherhood. Mr. Pope recounted the many good times he had enjoyed while a member of the lodge, and although he did not feel older himself he reviewed with much sadness that the goat was not quite so frisky as in the days of yore. He graphically illustrated his fidelity and love for Perseverance Lodge in his description of being a regular attendant for twenty years. In that time, he said, he had gone through floods, snowstorms, blizzards and sweltering hot weather, but had always been repaid for his trouble.

After Mr. Caleen made remarks in a similar vein, Morgan Fenton, another old veteran of the lodge, took a glance at the past, and reviewed the many changes brought in a long stretch of time. On August 3 he will have been a member of Perseverance twenty-four years. Mr. Tenton was one of the sponsors for Mr. Pope when his application for membership was filed with the lodge. Peter Stram and Mr. Moore and other old "vets" were present and drank in the testimony of the other patriarchs along with the younger members. Short addresses were also made by Chancellor Commander William Baker, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., J. B. Higgins, V. W. Nash, Jr., and others.

The lodge completed preparations for entertaining the Newark lodge bowling team, which will compete with the Perseverance quintet on McLaughlin's alleys next Tuesday night. V. W. Nash, Jr., was appointed chairman of a committee to arrange for a collation to the visitors after the match is rolled.

EPWORTH LEAGUERS ENJOY INDOOR PICNIC.

Heart Hunt, Golf Tournament, Bean Bag and Picnic, Refreshments Some of the Features.

More than 200 young people of the First M. E. church enjoyed an indoor picnic in Vincent chapel, last night, under the auspices of the social committee of the Epworth League, of which Miss Helen Whitney is the chairman. Miss Edna French and her assistants decorated the chapel with rustic seats, hammocks, evergreen roping, giving the place the appearance of good old summer time. In one corner of the chapel were two tents, where Miss Lillian Glen and Miss Antoinette Aalholm told fortunes by the reading of the palm.

When the young people gathered a large chain was formed and each one was introduced to the other. Then a heart hunt kept every one busy for awhile until a golf tournament was started by Charles B. Morse. A number engaged in this sport, which furnished lots of fun. Another feature was the bean bag game. During the evening Eldon Miller, attired as an old "Rube," sold peanuts. There was a silver offering for the flower fund. Later picnic refreshments were served by the committee. Those who assisted Miss Whitney were Miss Huber, Miss Clark and Miss French.

Will Sing "Love and Praise."

The combined choirs of the First M. E. church, of this city, and the Presbyterian church, Westfield, under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff, organist and choirmaster, will give West's cantata, "Love and Praise," at the First M. E. church on Sunday night, March 3. The cantata will give that afternoon in the Presbyterian church, Westfield, by the two choirs.

MARTINE WOULD ACCEPT

"Farmer Orator" Willing to His Party's Candidate For Governor.

OPTIMISTIC AS EVER

Believes That Democrats Will Win—Will Preach Party Creed Until His Dying Day.

Although he absolutely refuses to accept the advice of political friends about the State and groom himself for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination next fall, James E. Martine, known far and wide as "the farmer orator of New Jersey," admits that if a nomination were forced upon him by the convention he would be in honor bound to lead the fight to wrest the State from Republican control. Mr. Martine's announcement is considered important, inasmuch as the press of the State has frequqently stated that the Plainfield veteran would in no circumstances all ow his name to go before the gubernatorial convention of his part".

"I have no desire to run again for public office," said Mr. Martine. "The fact is that I have been before the people in such capacity so often that I think it is high time that I be given a perpetual leave of absence from such duty. Of course, I propose until my dying day to preach the pospel of Democracy, for it is my religion. It has always been my ambition to go to Congress, and while I have come very near attaining the goal, the fact remains that I have not achieved my life's aim."

When asked point blank whether he would decline absolutely to run for the Governorship if the opportunity were presented to him, the "farmer orator" pondered a moment, running his hand through his hair in his peculiarly characteristic way, and the blurted out, "Yes. Should it so happen, and I consider it almost an impossible condition," he said, "that the convention should unanimously tender me the nomination, I would be honor bound as a Democrat to answer the call of my comrades. That would be as much my duty as it is for me to act as a Grand Juror when I am summoned.

"I am constantly getting letters from Democratic leaders in various counties, particularly in the rural districts, suggesting and offering their support. The whole idea, however, is distasteful to me. As I grow older, and you know I am not a young man by any means, I am more and more convinced that 'the office should seek the man, and not the man the office.'

"The Democratic party in New Jersey is blessed with having an abundance of true, honest and loyal men who would be most creditable as chief executives. To my mind now come the names of splendid Democrats in a dozen counties who would serve the State well in this capacity, and I would take to the hustings and work with might and main for any one of them should he be nominated. Of course, you know I'm an optimist, but I want to say right here that I believe sincerely that we are going to rescue the State from the Republicans next fall. The people are sick of Republican rule and its consequent mismanagement and extravagance.

"The election of Briggs in place of Dryden for United States Senator has not helped them any. Briggs is a fine fellow, but he bears the Dryden label and represents nothing but interests inimical to the masses. We'll meet the Republicans squarely on the issues and there will be plenty of them on which we will make a winning fight."

B. Collins Firstbrook Engaged.

The engagement of Miss Gertrude Geier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Geier, of Madison avenue, to Bertram Collins Firstbrook is announced. The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at the home of the bride-elect's parents, next Wednesday evening. Mr. Firstbrook has been identified with amateur theatricals for a number of years as a song and dance artist. He is also an end man of the Muir Gold Medal Minstrels. He is a tea and milk merchant.

Police Offices to Be Filled.

Among the important matters for the Common Council to take up at an early date will be that of filling the new positions in the police department provided for in the amended ordinance, that of captain, sergeant and detective sergeant. Mayor Fisk made appointments for these offices, but they were held up by the Common Council. It is likely that the question will be settled at the March meeting of the Common Council.

PETER A. EMMONS DIES AFTER A WEEK'S ILLNESS

PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME ON JACKSON AVENUE THIS MORNING.

Following an illness of one week, Peter A. Emmons, one of the best known residents of the borough, died at 10:30 this morning at his home on Jackson avenue. He was taken sick last Saturday with an ailment that quickly developed acute Bright's disease and he bagn to fail rapidly. For the past two or three days his condition was known to be serious and the end was not unexpected.

Mr. Emmons was in his fifty-ighth year and came to the borough from New York in 1882. From the outset he evinced an interest in its affairs and in 1888 he was elected a member of the Common Council. He served but one term as a pressure of business matters prevented his taking the office a second time. He did not retire from public affairs entirely but at intervals served the borough in various political matters, being affiliated with the Republican party and one of Mayor Smalley's lieutenants. He was a delegate to the county convention last fall and was prominent in the Good Government Club.

As a member of the Masonic order Mr. Emmons was known by the fraternity throughout the State. He had advanced from Anchor Lodge, in which he served as worshipful master, to Jerusalem chapter and to Salaam Temple, Mystic Shrine. He was also a member of Trinity Commandery, No. 17, Knights Templar, and he seldom missed a gathering of the Grand Commandery. He was also an attendant at Trinity Reformed church.

Mr. Emmons was engaged in business in New York for a long time, in recent years importing and selling laces and linens to the retail trade. He is survived by a wife, two daughters, Mrs. Gilbert Fletcher and Mrs. Arthur Smith, both of the borough, and two sons, Walter and William Emmons. Beside these there are two brothers, John P. Emmons, of Prospect place and James Emmons, of South River; also three sisters, Mrs. Margaret Little, of Fords Corner; Mrs. Elmira Holman and Mrs. Ada Otis, of New Brunswick.

SENATOR COLBY DENIES SOME POLITICAL TALES

RUMOR THAT HE WILL REMOVE HERE IS WITHOUT FOUNDATION.

The story circulated in political quarters here that State Senator Everett Colby, of Essex county, the Republican reform leader in New Jersey, was about to transfer his place of residence to Plainfield turns out to be one of the many political canards that pop up every day. In reply to a query from The Daily Press, Senator Colby has telegraphed from Atlantic City: "There is no foundation for the rumor whatever." The Senator has been staying at the seashore resort for sometime, his wife, who was formerly Miss Edith Hyde, of this city, having been taken there for the benefit of her health. She has been suffering from a severe case of nervous prostration and her mother, Mrs. Charles Hyde, and other relatives also being at her bedside. Some credence was given the report that the Senator contemplated removing here because of the fact that his wife's relatives live here and also because Mr. Colby has a host of personal and political friends in Union county and particularly in Plainfield.

Another tale about the Senator's plans, which proves equally untrue, had it that he was about to be honored by President Roosevelt with some important appointment. This story also gained circulation here, being looked upon as possible inasmuch as Mr. Colby has frequently visited the President at Washington and is said to be held in high esteem by the Chief Magistrate of the Nation. The Senator, however, declares that there is absolutely nothing in the report.

The Same Number of Applicants.

For the first time in several years there is no increase in the number of applicants for liquor licenses. The twelve licensed places have renewed their applications and all are likely to be granted at the meeting of the Common Council Monday night, March 25. This year's licenses expire March 1, hence the necessity for action prior to that time.

Mrs. Bergen's Will Probated.

Mrs. Mary Bergen's will was probated in the Orphans' Court at Elizabeth yesterday by Counsellor F. J. Blatz. Mrs. Metcalf, the executrix, refused to serve, and Miss Mary E. Bergen was appointed to her place. The estate is of fair size.

REPLY TO MR. SAUNDERS

Made by President R. Henry Depew of the Protective Association.

MONTGOMERY INCIDENT.

Councilman Was Only Told An Executive Committee Session Was About to Begin.

A reply to William L. Saunders' strictures on the P. P. A. was made public by President R. Henry Depew, of the Protective Association, this morning. Mr. Saunders, in withdrawing from the association, wrote a letter to Mr. Depew in which he expressed disapproval of what was intimated to be the association's assumption of a representation of the people higher than that reposed in the Common Council. Mr. Depew's reply is ts follows:

"While I am, of course, ignorant of the differences which you believe to exist in our views regarding the policy of the Plainfield Protective Association, it is so clear from your letter of February 1st that your position is based upon an entire misapprehension of the association's policy, actions, and methods that I deem it the duty of myself, as president, toward you, as a valued member of its executive committee, to make clear by written reply what I evidently failed sufficiently to explain, previous to the publication of your letter, in my conversation with you upon the same subject.

"It is true that an association formed for the uprooting of error in any communnity must necessarily create antagonism among those whose business or political interests are connected directly or indirectly with the sources of such error, and I suppose that the governing body of such an association will at times inevitably subject itself to the criticism of such interests.

"It naturally follows that these interests will not only, themselves, oppose the association and the prinnciples of honest and straightforward dealing for which it stands, but will endeavor through wilful misunderstandings and garbled accounts to shake the confidence of the community and win a perverted and dangerous sympathy.

"For years a complaint has been made, with apparent justification, that our city lighting has been insufficient, and the contracts therefor more honored in the breach than in the observance. Our association, formed for the amelioration of conditions in the city and borough, deemed this condition a proper subject of investigation, and adopted the ordinary business method, where technical matters are involved, of employing an expert to prevent mistake and possible injustice, and paid him out of its own funds, and likewise sought from the city government information and co-operation, frankly stating the purpose thereof, and Mayor Fisk, being, in fact, one of our executive committee, was specifically informed by myself as to the proposed investigation.

"Such expert report being naturally the private property of the association must necessarily have been, as it was, presented in the first instance to the executive committee for appropriate action, and it would have been not only manifestly improper, but entirely outside of my power to have previously submitted it to a city official, or to any other person.

"At the time of Mr. Montgomery's appearance before the executive committee, he was not 'told that his presence was no longer required,' but on the contrary, he was received with courtesy and expression of appreciation for the information furnished, and when the committee convened an executive session it was politely explained to him that as he was not a member thereof, I was naturally unable to ask him to participate, in which explanation he as politely acquiesced. You, of course, understand that Mr. Fisk, being a member of the committee, might have attended had he so desired, and was urged to do so.

As you also know, the association's constitution prohibits the consideration of any political question whatever, and upon this prohibition it has rigorously insisted, with the single exception of the resolution, favoring consolidation, offered by yourself, unadvisably passed, and of which I afterwards unsuccessfully requested you to allow the rescission upon this ground. But, aside from this fact of such prohibition The Executive Committee not only never assumed that "the City Council, or that any of its committees are either incompetent or corrupt," but had not even a thought of considering officially, or otherwise, the connection of the said City Council or its committees with the subject of the investigation.

TO ORGANIZE Y. W. C. A.

Women to Meet Tuesday to Plan For the Formation of an Association.

Y. M. C. A.'S APPROVAL

Secretary Robbie Endorses Idea—Miss Kelly to Address the Gathering.

Plans for the organization of a Young Women's Christian Association, which have been under consideration for several weeks, will be presented for action at a meeting of those interested to be held at Warren chapel Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Miss Snyder, of New York, one of the traveling secretaries for the association, who has been in Plainfield looking over the ground, will attend the public meeting and explain the objects and purposes and it is desired that as any young women as possible attend the meeting.

During the past two weeks several meetings have been held in the interest of the movement and there is now considerable enthusiasm shown, not only among the leaders, but others as well. Kenneth Robbie, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has given his endorsement and others prominent in Christian work have assured their support.

If such an association is formed here there will be classes in dressmaking, millinery and there will be gymnasium for the development of the physical, as well as the mental nature. It is particularly desired that young working women attend the meeting Tuesday night for it is largely this class that the movement is intended for. Visits have been made to the local factories and shops and the proprietors have become very enthusiastic in their efforts to help the thing along. Miss Snyder has just organized an association in Camden and it was attended with great success. The movement here has the support of many wealthy and influential women.

PROGRESSIVE SIN.

Small Boy's Theft Led to Shoving the Queer and Lying.

Reuben Johnson, a tough small boy, was arrested by Patrolman Payne yesterday afternoon for attempting to pass a counterfeit half-dollar. Johnson sent George Hubbard, another small boy, to Timbo's restaurant with the coin, to have it changed. It was a very bad counterfeit and Sig. Timbo spotted it right away. Payne was in the restaurant and the arrest followed.

Reuben lied valiantly in court this morning, to convince the magistrate that he was an innocent little angel with a taste for candy as his only failing, but a prodding examination in which Chief Kiely and Capt. Irwin, of the children's court, took part, brought out the facts that Reuben had stolen a dollar bill from his mother to begin with, and then, finding the bad half-dollar in the change he received after breaking the bill, foxily sent the Hubbard boy to pass it on. Reuben was swelled up a bit over his arrest yesterday afternoon, but he was crying like any ordinary small boy in trouble before Capt. Irwin got through with him. The probation officer ordered him to go to school Monday, and to report to him next Saturday, at headquarters. Incidentally, the Hubbard boy was pounced on and ordered to school; he hadn't been going very regular.

FREE LENTEN RECITAL.

Will Be Given at Church of the Holy Cross Today.

The first of the free Lenten recitals will be given at the Church of the Holy Cross this afternoon at 4 o'clock. The public generally is invited to attend these recitals to be held every Saturday afternoon during Lent, excepting during Holy Week. This afternoon, F. Clinton Lee, assistant organist at Trinity chapel, New York, will preside at the organ and Fred'k J. Pope, baritone, will assist. This programme will be given:

Triumphal March, Buck; Grand Chorus, Offertory, Fughetta, Lemaigre; solo, Out of the Deep, Woodman; Allegretto Grazioso, Tours; At Evening, (Idyklle) Buck; solo, There Is a Green Hill Far Away, Gounod; Andante and Allegro, Bache; Second Sonata, Mendelssohn.

Evening prayer will follow the recital.

Organ Recital at Grace Church.

These numbers will be rendered at the organ recital at Grace church to morrow afternoon at 4:15 o'clock by William E. MacClymont, organist: Sonata, Guilmant; Question and Answer (by request), Wilstenholme; Funeral March of a Marionette, Gounod.

HIS TRADE SCHOOL IDEA

Rev. George A. Warner Is Working It Up With Vigor.

HE HAS A LOT OF DATA

And Is Going to Get More—Will Study New York Trade Schools and Consult With Local Shop Men.

Rev. George A. Warner is actively engaged in securing data relative to the trade school idea, which he broached at the Board of Trade dinner Tuesday night. He has gathered a lot of information already and is adding to it daily.

Mr. Warner is sure a trade school would be a good thing for Plainfield, and he means to work up the idea until it is either well on the way toward successful execution or shown to be impractical beyond any doubt. He will consult a number of workers in the trade school field in New York and earn their views and methods. He will visit schools in operation and see how the work is done. Grounded in the generalities of the field after a course of such investigation, Mr. Warner will then go about among the shops and the shopmen of this city and learn just how a trade school would be received. He will consult with the men who ought to know conditions here, and find out whether a school would be a good thing, and, if so, how best to start and maintain it.

Mr. Warner believes that a trade school would be of great value in Plainfield's educational scheme. He believes there are boys of a certain trend of mind who are unfit for the higher branches of schooling but who are peculiarly adapted to, and would enjoy, trade schooling. He is convinced such a school could be endowed without any great difficulty.

STANDARD OIL COMPANY.

What Our Reporter Saw in New York

A recent visit to one of the largest paint factories in the world, disclosed machinery that was producing 10,000 gallons of Paint, and doing it better and in less time than 100 gallons could be made by hand mixing. This was the celebrated L. & M. Paint.

The L. & M. Zinc hardens L. & M. White Lead and makes L. & M. Paint wear like iron for 10 to 15 years.

4 gallons L. & M. mixed with 3 gallons Linseed Oil makes 7 gallons of paint at a cost of less than $1.20 per gallon.

If any defect exists in L. & M. Paint will repaint house for nothing.

Donations of L. & M. made to churches.

REMEMBERS AARON BURR

Interesting Reminiscences by Mrs. Mary Chetwood, of Elizabeth.

DEFENDS HIS MEMORY

She Believes He Has Been Grossly Maligned—Tells of His Place in American History.

No town in New Jersey is richer in Revolutionary lore than is Elizabeth, which furnished more men for Washington's army than any other locality in the colony. No other town in New Jersey was so beset by the enemy during the seven years' struggle, and no community made greater sacrifices of blood and treasure. Elizabeth enjoys the distinction of having furnished more commissioned officers than any other town, the most daring and distinguished men having their homes there when the war broke out. Some of them rose to national prominence in field and forum.

Quite a number of the lineal descendants of these heroes and statesmen are still living in the town, notably Mrs. Mary Chetwood, still hale and hearty at the age of 90 years. Mrs. Chetwood, widow of John Chetwood, born here in 1817, is a granddaughter of Colonel Aaron Ogden, aide-de-camp to General Washington and General Lafayette, and one of the most famous soldiers of the American Revolution.

In a recent intensely interesting conversation with Mrs. Chetwood she narrated many personal recollections of General Lafayette, Colonel Aaron Burr and other noted heroes of the war of independence.

"I am glad to know," said this patriotic and most amiable lady to me, "that you are an admirer of Colonel Burr, whom I repeatedly met and conversed with at the home of Colonel Aaron Ogden, my grandfather. No American was ever more foully aspersed than he. I never saw a more unselfish character, and never talked with such a brilliant conversationalist. No one who ever looked into his keen, black, luminous eyes, could forget them. I was in my early childhood when first presented to Colonel Burr at my grandfather's home, and was so fascinated with his appearance that I could scarcely withdraw my gaze. Perhaps he noticed this, as directly he made h is way across the great drawing room and asked me in a silver-toned voice if I played on the piano. When I told him I did not, he smiled sweetly and remarked: 'It is as well; you will have more time to improve your mind.'

"Colonel Burr, my grandfather and his brother, General Matthias Ogden, were bosom friends, almost inseparable, and of about the same age, 19 years, when the war broke out. General Ogden was two years their senior. The intimacy and burning love existing between the three was formed at the home of Colonel Burr's uncle, Timothy Edwards, (son of President Edwards of Princeton College,) who had married Rhoda Ogden, daughter of Robert Ogden, and a sister of Matthias and Aaron. Colonel Burr's mother was a daughter of President Edwards.

"Colonel Burr's parents dying when he was 5 years old, he and his sister made their home with their uncle, Timothy. Young Burr inherited a considerable estate, which allowed him the privilege of living and regulating his conduct according to the bent of his own inclinations. Burr's grief at the loss of his parents, to whom he was devotedly attached, seems to have completely changed his character, and historians, taking advantage of this, have been very hard on him, painting him in the blackest colors. Some writers in aspersing his character, have gone so far as to say that Colonel Burr died unbefriended, and his place of sepulchre is unknown.'

"I never understood why so-called historians wrote so venomously of a man who had faithfully and brilliantly served his country on its battle fields. Colonel Burr died at a pleasant home on Staten Island, his bedside surrounded by sorrowing relatives and friends. His mortality was interred at Princeton, near the happy scenes of his college days. Some of the relatives present at the obsequies were Pierrepont Edwards, son of the distinguished Jonathan Edwards. Pierrepont Edwards and Colonel Burr's mother were descendants of Colonel Burr's uncle, brother and sister. Mrs. Lily Devereaux Blake's mother was a daughter of Pierrepont Edwards. Ogden Edwards, who long lived on North Broad street, Elizabeth, and died there, was a great-grandson. His family still lives there.

"Ogden Edwards at one time possessed an oil painting of Theodosia Burr (Mrs. Alston), Colonel Burr's only daughter. It hung in the parlor for many years, where I frequently admired it. One night the house was entered and the canvass cut from the frame and carried away. The painting could never be traced, and a fine work of art, together with the picture of a lovely and fascinating woman, whose fate was melancholy, was thus forever lost. Theodosia Burr, in both girlhood and womanhood, was all brain and heart, the former too active and the latter too loving for the fragile casket in which nature had enclosed them.

"I delight in recalling recollections of Colonel Burr, and the many thrilling stories I heard when a girl, of his great bravery and gallantry; of his long, perilous and fatiguing march through the enemy's country, amid deep snow and intense cold, to carry a dispatch from his commander—General Benedict Arnold—to General Montgomery, then besieging Quebec; of his carrying the latter, after falling desperately wounded through a red sea of the enemy's shots to a place of safety; of his pleasant association with General Israel Putnam, on whose staff he ably served, and of his distinguished conduct at Monmouth, in which campaign he was stricken with a disease which necessitated his retirement from the army, to whose interests he had been entirely devoted for more than four years.

"In stature, Colonel Burr was about five feet six inches; of spare, meagre form of elegant symmetry; fair and transparent complexion. He did not dress flashly, but well, and was of a commanding presence, erect and dignified deportment. His forehead was prominent and broad. His eyes, of which I have already spoken, were of ordinary size, of a dark hazel, appearing almost black, and scintillated with the most tremulous sensibility. They rolled with poetic fevor and beamed at all times with the piercing rays of genius. His mouth was large, his voice manly, clear and as melodious as a lute. His face, analyzed, showed unimportant traits, but upon a superficial view they were obscured like the spots in the sun by a radiance that dazzles and fascinates the sight.

"Colonel Burr in a promiscuous company was rather taciturn, but when he spoke it was with frankness. He was the most perfect model of an accomplished gentleman that could be found, even by the wanton imagination of poetry or fiction.

"I am heartily glad," said Mrs. Chetwood, in conclusion, "to learn that Americans are beginning to appreciate the great services rendered our country by Colonel Burr, and to bestow upon him that meed of praise of which he has so long been bereft by the machinations of envious men, who have labored to blacken his character and thus effect his ruin." J. Madison Drake in the Newark Sunday Call.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

Ike Richards, of Somerset street, buys second-hand clothing and pays highest prices.

Titus H. Laury, the contractor of East Front street, is always glad to furnish estimates for construction work of all kinds.

M. F. Gano, the real estate broker, of Park avenue, would like to explain his methods of securing a home easily. He also sells and leases desirable property.

G. T. Nighbert, a jolly good-natured fellow, is in from Bakersfield, Cal. What a rollicking laugh he has, such a jovial friendly handshake.

An old-time mining factor, one of those who has been in on the booming of most of the western mining camps, is Frank Cawley. Mr. Cawley is a fountain on the growth and development of what is today the mighty west.

Whoever would have thought it? But it is true. Mike O'Brien is an elocutionist, with all the gestures and inflections of voice that carries it from the melody of a sweet-toned bell to that of a rolling, terrific thunderstorm. What deep, soul-stirring pathos he puts into some of his recitations, and then some others like that of the rollicking fellow who makes tears transports themselves into "Laugh and the world laughs with you."

Billy Rice was in from Dry Camp. Billy is one of those whole-souled fellows who is always in clover, and as a consequence has many friends. He treated the boys generously while here and when he went home left many regards.—Greenwater (Cal.) Times.

Joe Welch, the versatile character actor, will be seen in a new play entitled "The Shoemaker," especially written for him by Hal Reid, at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight "The Shoemaker" is said to hold the attention of the audience from start to finish, and mirrors human nature in all of its salient and truthful phases.

A four act comedy drama by Laura Jean Libbey and James R. Garey entitled "Parted On Her Bridal Tour," founded on the novel "Miss Middleton's Lover," will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Monday afternoon and night. The play is one of laughter and tears and deals with the love affair of a young and beautiful heiress who has been sadly wronged, and of the gradual mending of all heart rends by the man she loves. In the third act Miss Victory Bateman, the leading character, will have splendid opportunities to display her emotional abilities. The piece is under the management of Charles E. Blaney, who promises a production better than the ordinary.

"Checkers" is announced as the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. "Checkers" contains no deep problem of life. It is as breezy a play as has been on the boards in the memories of the present playgoers, and it is as clean as it is breezy. There is nought in it to which one can take exception. It is just a tale of clean love and luck and it ends as all the world (which wise people say "loves a lover") would have it. "The greatest show that ever struck New York," is the way an enthusiastic writer of the New York Herald described it. And though that is doubtless a bit of an exaggeration, there is small doubt that few plays have exceeded "Checkers" in popularity. "Checkers" has played seven engagements in Philadelphia, five in St. Louis, three in Chicago, three in Pittsburg, and will play one more in each of the above cities this season.

Playgoers are always interested when Kyrle Bellew comes to town. Local playgoers are to see him at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night, in J. Hartley Manners' new play, "A Marriage of Reason," for which Mr. Bellew waited nearly two years while the playwright filed and polished his work. As soon as the manuscript was delivered Mr. Bellew droped "Brigadier Girard" and immediately began rehearsing the new piece. Mr. Bellew's method has grown more polished and finished with the years until today he stands in the words of William Winter, "as the highest type of the actor of aristocratic manner and feeling." In the full sense of the word he is a thoroughbred. As the son of a prominent churchman, a graduate of Oxford, an officer for several years in Her Majesty's Navy, and as leading man to Sir Henry Irving and Lester Wallack, and the star of the highest distinction for many years, Mr. Bellew was born to the purple and patrician things of life and has ever lived upon the highest levels. "A Marriage of Reason" is pronounced to be worthy of the finest traditions of the stage. It is the great world of wealth and nobility presented in its most sparkling and interesting aspects.

Charles Klein's latest play, "The Daughters of Men," which is to be presented at the New Plainfield theatre on Washington's Birthday, afternoon and night, made an instantaneous success by the timeliness of its theme, the skillful handling of the struggle between capital and labor and the splendid manner in which it is presented by a cast of really extraordinary strength. So powerful and interesting is "The Daughters of Men" that it promises to rival in popularity Mr. Klein's previous success, "The Lion and the Mouse." So cleverly and impartially has Mr. Klein handled the conflict between labor and capital that capitalists can well believe that they are in the right, while the laboring class also finds that its arguments have been splendidly and impartially presented.

PERSONAL.

Mrs. Staats Veghte, of Belle Mead, has been visiting relatives in town.

Miss Bertha Brewer, of Stone street, has recovered from an attack of the grip.

Mrs. James Smith, of Raritan, has been visiting relatives in town for a few days.

Miss Myria Veghte, of Belle Mead, who is a pupil at the Plainfield Business College, has returned to this city, after a visit of several days at home.

Mrs. Howard Allegar, of West Fourth street, has purchased through Charles Hand, the Bryant homestead on Division street, owned by J. P. Homan.

Miss M. S. Randall, of Jersey City, is the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Simon Mantz, of this city. Miss Randall was graduated from the Jersey City High School in January.

Mrs. Francis DeLacy Hyde, of Mountain avenue, left yesterday for Atlantic City, where she will visit Mrs. Everett Colby and Mrs. Charles Hyde, who are stopping at the Marlborough-Blenheim.

Mrs. Everett Colby is still at the Marlborough-Blenheim, Atlantic City, slowly recovering from a severe attack of nervous prostration. Her illness has prevented Senator Colby from attending the sessions of the Legislature regularly.

Plainfield, N. J., February 16, 1907.

There are disappointed aspirants whom the Senatorial lightning failed to strike and who would very much like to stand in the shoes of Senator-elect Briggs just at this time, and the year 1911 seems so far remote to wait for another political lightning bolt.—Newark Star.

This is undoubtedly true; and it might be added that the majority of the friends of good government in New Jersey are equally disappointed.

"Farmer-orator" James E. Martine's announcement that he will run for Governor provided he is given an unanimous nomination by the Democrats will cause no surprise to those who know that good old soul. But if there is any chance for a Democrat to win, the bosses may be depended upon to see that a less deserving and less conscientious one will be picked for the race.

It is a might small piece of business for the South Jersey officers to deadlock the election of a brigadier general. Col. Collins holds senior rank and bears an unblemished military record. That he should have received the honor on the first ballot, every fair minded citizen of the State will admit.

President Woodrow Wilson hastens to deny the report that some friend of the institution was about to furnish a big endowment for the college. We may therefore dispell the fear that "The Sage of Princeton" was going to unloosen his purse strings.

The borough of North Plainfield suffers a distinct loss in the death of Peter A. Emmons. For years he had been actively interested in civic affairs and always did more than his share in promoting the interests of the community in which he lived.

One of those so-called "practical jokers," it develops, started a run on a Bayonne bank last week. Men of his type deserve a long term in the penitentiary, where they might have time to think over the meaning of a jest.

It is made to appear by "machine organs" that Governor Stokes was only joking when he linked Colby's name with that of Hughes. If it be so, the Governor has certainly a queer idea of humor.

Mr. Rockefeller must have come to the conclusion that "a little learning is a dangerous thing" when he set aside $42,000,000 for an abundance of education.

Cambridge University needs $7,500,000. How would a Carnegie library donation satisfy it?

Death of Mrs. J. A. Perrine.

Mrs. James A. Perrine, of Wamrock Farm, near Freehold, died on Wednesday night at her home after a brief illness. Mrs. Perrine was the mother of Dr. Frederick A. C. Perrine, of this city, who is a son-in-law of the late John A. Roebling, of Trenton, and up to a few years ago was professor of electrical engineering at the Leland Stanford University, Palo Alto, Cal.

Buys Front Street Lot.

The lot on East Front street, opposite the Woodhull & Martin store, the last bit of unoccupied ground on that block, was sold yesterday by W. R. Codington and Albert Pope to George Finger. The consideration was not made public. The lot has a frontage of twenty-five feet. Mr. Finger, it is understood, will build at once. The sale was made by M. F. Gano.

Giles Must Stay Home.

John Giles, arrested for drunkenness last night, was released under suspended sentence by Judge Runyon this morning on his promise to stay in South Plainfield, to where he moved recently, from Lake street, for six months. Giles has been arrested frequently. His twelve-year-old son was killed by the explosion of an old musket a month ago.

By Tom Muir.

With the ending of the current season at Daly's theatre, New York city, which will more than likely occur on Saturday night, April 27, this famous and historical play house will pass out of the hands of the Daly estate who have controlled its destinies for a period of thirty-five years and whose able direction by its late manager, Augustin Daly, made it easily the leading play house in America. On the closing night there will be gathered in the auditorium men and women prominent in society, the arts, literature and the stage. It is the intention of the management for this occasion to make this closing night one of the most memorial in the event of New York theatricals, far excelling the last performance given in Booth's theatre before it was razed, many years ago.

Miss Annabelle Whiton O'Rielly, a chambermaid in the Hotel Walton, of Philadelphia, is telling a bear story that for realism and thrills has the tales of Rocky Mountain "grizzlies" beaten both ways. The fair Annabelle, a few mornings ago, while at peace with the world and merrily chirping one of Chauncey Olcott's latest ballads, unsuspectingly entered the suite occupied by Miss Julia Sanderson on the third floor. All unconscious of the terrible scare past due for her, Miss O'Rielly threw open the door with all the strength of her young Celtic soul, then paused, screamed and promptly fainted—a gigantic brown bear stood on the threshold and gravely confronted her. The affrightened maid's screams prior to the swooning episode aroused the entire hotel and a delegation of pajamaed, night gowned guests invaded the actress' apartment. They found Miss Sanderson, who had hastily gotten out of bed and donned a kimona, bending over the prostrate woman while the great "Teddy Bear" who had been the innocent cause of all the trouble continued his attitude of grave attention. Miss Sanderson explained that her song "Bessie and Her Little Brown Bear," which she is singing in vaudeville, had taken the fancy of a manufacturer of "Teddy Bears," who, to show his appreciation, had presented her with the offender. The actress had dropped him on the floor the night before where the maid had found him.

Eighty-five millions of dollars, with all its possession implies, has not been sufficient to deaden the ambition for histrionic honors of Mrs. Fannie Ward. Lewis, wife of Joe Lewis, the multi-millionaire, diamond king of Kimberly and gold mining magnate of Johannesburg, and who is as well known on the London stock exchange as J. Pierpont Morgan is in New York. Mrs. Lewis is Kyrle Bellew's leading lady in "A Marriage of Reason," which will be at the New Plainfield theatre next Wednesday night. This will be her first appearance on the stage since the days when as a girl in her 'teens she was the most photographed beauty of American light opera, and the famous Cupid in "Adonis" at the Casino. Still in her 'teens Miss Ward went to London and became the bride of Joe Lewis, who had risen to enormous wealth as a partner with Cecil Rhodes, the empire builder, and Alfred Beit, the ruler of the Rand. He dug and dealt in gold and diamonds, and upon his beautiful bride he has lavished the finest collection of jewels that there is to be found in all Europe outside the boudoirs of royalty. Mrs. Lewis' collection of jewels is now valued at more than $2,000,000.

Social in Hope Chapel Series.

A social in the series being conducted by the Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel for the benefit of the organ fund was held last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Jones, of Essex street, last night. Games; musical selections, songs and recitations combined to pass several hours very pleasantly. Those who contributed to the informal programme were Mrs. L. R. Howard, Miss Bertha Jones, Miss Mary Radford, George Leighs, Mrs. Donald McInnes, Fred Wharton, Miss Sarah Head and Mr. Brockfield. Refreshments were served in conclusion and a liberal amount was contrioufed to teh organ fund.

Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will hold a regular conclave Monday night.

Plainfield Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet Monday night, when it is expected that there will be initiation of several new members.

"PARACAMPH" For Inflammation

THE honest and convincing testimony of those who have used "Paracamph" is positive proof that it is unequalled as a specific for external inflammation. It cures burns, bruises or cuts and is a most effective remedy for chilblains. It instantly relieves pain, controls fever and prevents blood poisoning.

CHARLES GEIESE STRICKEN BY FATAL HEART ATTACK.

Was a Member of the Plainfield Police Force for Nine Years.

Charles Geiese, a former local resident and for nine years a member of the police force, died suddenly at his home in Washington Valley pust back of Scotch Plains, yesterday afternoon. He was stricken with heart disease while standing in the kitchen of the house and sank to the floor unconscious. His wife ran to the nearest neighbors and summoned a physician by telephone but life was extinct when one arrived.

Mr. Geiese was in his sixty-sixth year and came to Plainfield from Germany. He was a cigar maker by trade and was in business locally for many years. He retired to go on the police force and as a patrolman served with distinction. Three years ago he removed to Washington Valley to engage in farming in a small way but was in town very frequently. Beside his wife he leaves two daughters, Mrs. Casper Waglow, of Elm place, and Mrs. Frank Conde, of High Bridge; also one son, Philip Geiese, a letter carrier in the Plainfield office. A brother is a policeman in Rahway.

The funeral will be held at Mrs. Waglow's home, Monday afternoon, at 2 o'clock.

TYPOS ELECT OFFICERS.

Farewell Reception to James Kermode Who Goes Abroad.

Plainfield Typographical Union, No. 399, elected these officers last night: President, Roy Woolley; vice-president, Henry Dresselt; secretary and treasurer, Peter Caldwell; sergeant-at-arms, Frazee Putnam.

The newly-elected officers provided a spread and smoker for the members and a farewell reception was given to James Kermode, of The Daily Press, who sailed this morning on the Cunrad Liner "Carmania," to visit his native home in the Isle of Man. He will remain abroad several months.

Miss Gertrfude Willis, of Watchung, is visiting friends in Elizabeth.

If such investigation makes it patent to your mind that successive City Councils, composed in whole or in part of the same membership as the present Council, might have ascertained for themselves the facts shown by our expert's report and corrected the existing conditions, this certainly cannot be in your judgment, or in the judgment of any other thinking citizen of our commonwealth, a source of criticism of our association, which at its own expense has made such investigation and without compensation has presented the results thereof to our city and borough governments for their assistance.

Moreover, it is not true that the report was given to the press before it was furnished to the Council, they knowing that its distribution among the members of the association would probably cause it to reach the press, the executive committee showed both the city and borough governments the courtesy of forwarding to them at the same time as to its own members, copies thereof. In other words, the association obtained and paid for an expensive expert's report upon certain business conditions, and without one word or thought of criticism because its governments had not themselves made a similar investigation into conditions which had existed for years, furnished them, free of charge, with such report and offered to co-operate in any manner desired in obtaining an amelioration of the conditions shown.

I am sure that upon second thought you will agree with me in feeling that the publication of your communication to me regarding the action of your associates on the executive committee was hardly in order before you had conferred with them respecting the same, but as such letter has been published, and as your position taken therein has now been shown to have been based upon mistaken facts, I am equally sure that you wil also agree with me in feeling that justice to your said associates and the association at large will best be promoted by the publication of this reply.

If, after considering the above, you care to withdraw your resignation, we shall be glad to have you do so.

Yours very truly,
R. HENRY DEPEW,
President.

HENRY FRANCIS ALLEN CROSSES GREAT DIVIDE.

Passes Away at the Hotel Iroquois This Morning After a Long Illness.

Henry Francis Allen, a resident of Plainfield for forty years, died at 5 o'clock this morning at the Hotel Iroquois, where he had lived for several years. Death was due to paralysis, Mr. Allen being stricken two months ago. Since that time he failed rapidly and there was no hope from the first, owing to his advanced age.

Mr. Allen was born in Bridgeport, Conn., eighty-one years ago, his birthday occurring on January 29 last. During the early part of his career he was engaged in the shipping business in New York, but for many years he has lived in retirement. He was a cousin to Mrs. Thomas B. Brooks, of North Plainfield, and his wife, who died about five years ago, was a sister to Mr. Brooks. Mr. and Mrs. Brooks are the nearest relatives surviving.

The funeral services will be held from the Church of the Holy Cross Monday morning at 9 o'clock and interment will be in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn.

CARPENTERS ARE MAING GREAT GAINS.

27,000 New Members in 1906 and More Than $225,000 Paid in Sick and Death Benefits.

General Secretary Frank Duffy, of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, commenting upon the success of the brotherhood for 1906, states that during the fiscal year just closed over $107,000 was paid out by local unions in sick benefits, while the general office paid in death and disability benefits the sum of $218,-202.18. On January 1, 1906, there were 157,197 members in good standing, while on December 1, of the same year, the brotherhood had a embership of 184,339 in good standing, a gain in membership in eleven months of 27,142. The total now figures up to 225,000.

From the requests being made for charters, Secretary Duffy is sanguine the membership will surely reach 250,000 men at the end of 1907. The income for the year amounted to $556,303.91, the expenses for the sae amounted to $486,864.02.

The seventy-one amendments adopted at the general convention held at Niagara Falls in September of last year, which were referred to 993 local unions to be voted upon, were adopted by an overwhelming majority.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

On Monday night, February 25th, at Daly's theatre, New York city, will be celebrated the 100th performance of "The Belle of Mayfair" in New York city. The ocrasion will be marked by the distribution of one of the most perfect souvenirs ever decided upon for such an event. It will be the complete $2.00 score of all the words and music of the opera. The demand for seats has been so great that for the first time in the history of musical comedy on Broadway the house has been completely sold out two weeks in advance.

"The Girl from Vienna" changed to "The White Hen." The title of the beautiful Penfield-West-Kerker musical comedy. "The Girl from Vienna," has been changed to that of "The White Hen," and it is under this name that it will open at the Casino next Saturday night. The Shubert Bros. expect the piece to run the balance of the season and predict great things for the lyrics of Paul West and the music of Gustav Kerker which are said to be the best these two talented writers have ever turned out. Especially is this so of a song called "At Last We Are Alone," which has all the elements of a Broadway success.

Elaborate preparations are being made by William A. Brady and Jos. R. Grismer for the celebration of the one hundredth performance in New York of "The Man of the Hour," which takes place at the Savoy theatre, Monday, Feb. 25. The record of the Broadhurst play itself which has been pronounced by the most eminent reviewers of dramatic subjects to be by all odds the best play of the season. "The Man of the Hour" is destined, it is believed, to have a longer run than any other piece produced in the past decade. "The Man of the Hour" has to an unusual degree a combination of a live and interesting subject treated in a masterly manner by an experienced playwright, and enacted by a company of superior entertainers and wide capabilities. The characters are those to be found in real life in any of the large cities where "graft" is to be discovered in political life. Governor Folk of Missouri Governor Hughes of New Yor, President Roosevelt and those who have led the forces which have uncovered dishonest practices in public life the those who have done most to prepare the public for the reception of "The Man of the Hour."

Henrietta Crosman's New York engagement at the Bijou theatre, and her comedy is "All-of-a-Sudden-Peggy," a London success which at the Duke of York's theatre last year had a long run. Miss Crosman's time at the Bijou is limited three more weeks. Its brevity is due to the fact that she is booked for the Pacific coast and San Francisco, her first apeparance in the latter city, an event to be made the more notable by her opening a new theatre there. "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy" may be described as a farce. It is a modern play in three acts with scenes laid in England. Miss Crosman as Peggy O'Mara will once again be seen in an Irish role, which means that she will be altogether delightful, as everybody will agree who saw her in "Sweet Kitty Bellairs" and in "Mistress Nell." Peggy O'Mara is an up-to-date Irish girl, a twentieth century young woman with a decided independence of conduct. Her chief startegy is designed to escape marriage to Lord Anthony Crackenthorpe and to have her mother marry him. To clear the way for this project Peggy gets up a mock elopement. "All-of-a-Sudden Peggy" is by Ernest Denny and is considered one of the best comedies that England has ever sent to this country, and one of the cleverest of recent years.

Marah Ellis Ryan's dramatization in collaboration with McPrerson Turnbull of her popular novel, Told in the Hills, was given its initial production in New York city at the Astor theatre in Monday evening, under the title of "Genesee of the Hills." The play is a sturdy, wholesome and breezy one, replete in the atmosphere of its local and made a decided hit, adding another to the already long list of successes in the New York playhouses. In the play, Mrs. Ryan has followed the lines of her story very closely. Rachel Hardy lost in a snow storm on the Montana prairie is rescued by Genesee Jack, the unregenerate hero of the romance. Jack is acting as scout for a detachment of U. S. cavalry stationed on the Hardy ranch and as he is an adopted son of the Kootenai tribe and is free with his speech, besides having a long record behind him, is decidedly unpopular with most of the officers of the detachment. An Indian raid relives the cavalry of several of its horses and Jack, unwillihg to explain his absence from camp at the time of the depredation, is ordered under arrest by a bumptious captain. Rachel alone believes in his innocence and later in the play when the detachment is surrounded by a horde of bloodthirsty savages it is Jack alone, at the risk of his life, who saves them all from certain death and becomes a hero even in the eyes of his enemy. Of course, the play ends as it should, obstacles, apparently unsurmountable, are swept aside and the two lovers united. The production is elaborate, three different settings being shown and the action takes place in Northwestern Montana early in the nineties.

"Of course you're afraid!" I shouted, enraged anew by his halting speech. "You have every reason in the world to be afraid. You've probably heard that I'm a bad lot and a worthless adventurer; but you can tell Sister Theresa or Pickering or anybody you please that I'm ten times as bad as I've ever been painted. Now clear out of here!"

I knocked about the library all morning without easing my spirit, and after luncheon I went off for a tramp. Winter had indeed come and possessed the earth, and it had given me a new landscape. The snow continued to fall in great, heavy flakes, and the ground was whitening fast.

A rabbit's track caught my eye and I followed it, hardly conscious that I did so. Then the clear print of two small shoes, mingled with the rabbit's trail. A few moments later I picked up an overshoe, probably lost in the chase by one of Sister Theresa's girls, I reflected. I remembered that while at Tech I had collected a diversity of memorabilia from school girl acquaintances, and here I was beginning a new series with a string of beads and an overshoe!

A rabbit is always an attractive quarry. Few things besides riches are so elusive, and the little fellows have, I am sure, a shrewd humor peculiar to themselves. I rather envied the school girl who had ventured forth for a walk in the first snow storm of the season, and recalled Aldrich's turn on Gautier's lines as I followed the double trail:

"Howe'er you tread, a tiny mould
Betrays that light foot all the same;
Upon this glistening, snowy fold
At every step it signs your name."

A pretty autograph, indeed! The snow fell steadily and I tramped on over the joint signature of the girl and the rabbit. Near the lake they parted company, the rabbit leading off at a tangent, on a line parallel with the lake, while his pursuer's steps pointed toward the boat house.

There was, so far as I knew, only one student of adventurous blood at St. Agatha's, and I was not in the least surprised to see, on the little sheltered balcony of the boat house, the red tam-o'-shanter. She wore, too, the covert coat I remembered from the day I saw her first from the wall. Her back was toward me as I drew near; her hands were thrust into her pockets. She was evidently enjoying the soft mingling of the snow with the still, blue waters of the lake; and a girl and a snow storm are, if you ask my opinion, a pretty combination. The fact of a girl's facing a winter storm argues mightily in her favor,—testifies, if you will allow me, to a serene and dauntless spirit for one thing, and a sound constitution for another.

I ran up the steps, my cap in one hand, her overshoe in the other. She drew back a trifle, just enough to bring my conscience to its knees.

"I didn't mean to listen that day. I just happened to be on the wall, and it was a thoroughly underbred trick—my twitting you about it—and I should have told you before if I'd known how to see you—"

"May I trouble you for that shoe?" she said with tremendous dignity.

They taught that cold disdain of man, I suppose, as a required study at St. Agatha's.

"Oh, certainly! Won't you allow me?"

"Thank you, no!"

She took the damp bit of rubber—a wet overshoe, even if small and hallowed by associations, isn't pretty—as Venus might have received a soft-shell crab from the hand of a fresh young merman. I was between her and the steps to which her eyes turned longingly.

"Of course, if you won't accept my apology I can't do anything about it; but I hope you understand that I'm sincere and humble, and anxious to be forgiven."

"You seem to be making a good deal of a small matter—"

"I wasn't referring to the overshoe!" I said.

She did not relent.

"If you'll only go away—"

She rested one hand against the corner of the boat house, while she affixed the overshoe to her foot. She wore, I noticed, brown gloves with cuffs.

"How can I go away! You children are always leaving things about for me to pick up. I'm perfectly worn out carrying some girl's beads about with me; and I spoiled a good glove on your overshoe."

"I'll relieve you of the beads, if you please."

She thrust her hands into the pockets of her coat and shook the tam-o'-shanter slightly, to establish it in a more comfortable spot on her head. The beads had been in my corduroy coat since I found them. I drew them out and gave them to her.

"Thank you; thank you very much."

"Of course they are yours, Miss—"

She thrust them into her pocket.

"Of course they're mine," she said indignantly, and turned to go.

"We'll waive proof of property and that sort of thing. I'm sorry not to establish a more neighborly feeling with St. Agatha's. The stone wall may seem formidable, but it's not of my building. I must open the gate. That wall's a trifle steep for climbing."

I was arming myself with the [illegible] that my identity was a dark mystery to her. I had read English novels in which the young lord of the manor is always mistaken for the game-keeper's son by the pretty daughter of the curate who has come home from school to be the belles of the county. But my lady of the red tam-o'-shanter was not a creature of illusions.

"It serves a very good purpose—the wall, I mean—Mr. Glenarm."

She was walking down the steps and I followed, pleased to hear my name from her lips. I am not a man to suffer a lost school girl to cross my lands unattended in a snow storm; and the piazza of a boat house is not, I submit, a pleasant loafing place on a winter day. She marched before me, her hands in her pockets—I liked her particularly that way—with an easy swing and a light and certain step. Her remark about the wall did not encourage further conversation and I fell back upon the poets.

"Stone walls do not a prison make,
Nor iron bars a cage,"

I quoted.

"I have heard that—before!" she said, half turned her face and laughed as she hastened on.

Her brilliant cheeks were a delight to the eye. The snow swirled about her, whitening the crown of her red cap and clung to her shoulders. Have you ever seen snow crystals gleam, break, dissolve in fair, soft storm-blown hay? Do you know how a man will pledge his soul that a particular flake will never fade, never cease to rest upon a certain flying strand over a girlish temple? And he loses—his heart and wager—in a breath! If you fail to understand these things, and are furthermore unfamiliar with the fact that the color in the cheeks of a girl who walks abroad in a driving snow storm marks the favor of heaven itself, then I waste time, and you will do well to rap at the door of another inn.

"I'd rather missed you," I said; "and really, I should have been over to apologize if I hadn't been afraid."

"Sister Theresa is rather fierce," she declared. "And we're not allowed to receive gentlemen callers—it says so in the catalogue."

"So I imagined. I trust Sister Theresa is improving."

"Yes, thank you."

"And Miss Devereux—she is quite well, I hope."

She turned her head my way as though to listen more carefully, and her step slackened for a moment; then she hurried blithely forward.

"Oh, she's always well, I believe."

"You know her, of course."

"Rather! She teaches music."

"So Miss Devereux is the music teacher, is she? Should you call her a popular teacher?"

"The girls call her"—she seemed moved to mirth by the recollection—"Miss Prim and Prosy."

"Ugh!" I exclaimed sympathetically. "Tall and hungry looking, with long talons that pound the keys with grim delight. I know the sort."

"She's a sight!"—and my guide laughed approvingly. "But we have to take her; she's part of the treatment."

"You speak of St. Agatha's as though it were a sanatorium."

"Oh, it's not so bad; there are worse."

We approached the gate. Her indifference to the storm delighted me. Here, I thought in my admiration, is a real product of the Western world. I felt that we had made strides toward such a comradeship as it is proper should exist between a school girl in her teens and a male neighbor of 27. I was—going back to English fiction—the young squire walking home with the curate's pretty young daughter and conversing with fine condescension.

"We girls all wish we could come over and help hunt the lost treasure. It must be simply splendid to live in a house where there's a mystery—secret passages and chests of doubloons and all that sort of thing! My! Squire Glenarm, I suppose you spend all your nights exploring secret passages?"

This free expression of opinion startled me, though she seemed wholly innocent of impertinence.

"Who says there's any secret about the house?" I demanded.

"Oh, Ferguson, the gardener, and all the girls!"

"I fear Ferguson is drawing on his imagination."

"Well, all the people in the village think so. I've heard the candy shop woman speak of it often."

"She'd better attend to her taffy," I retorted.

"Oh, you musn't be sensitive about it! All us girls think it ever so romantic, and we call you sometimes the lord of the realm, and when we see you walking through the darkling wood at evenfall we say, 'My lord is brooding upon the treasure chests.'"

This, delivered in the stilted tone of one who was half quoting and half improvising, was irresistibly funny, and I laughed with good will.

"I hope you've forgiven me—" I kicked the gate to knock off the snow, and took the key from my pocket.

"But I haven't, Mr. Glenarm. Your assumption is, to say the least, unwarranted—I got that from a book!"

"It isn't fair for you to know my name and for me not to know yours," I said leadingly.

"You are Mr. John Glanarm—the gardener told me—and I am just Olivia. They don't allow me to be called Miss yet. I'm very young, sir!"

"You've only told me half"—and I kept my hand on the closed gate. The snow still fell steadily and the short afternoon was nearing its close. I did not like to lose her—the life, the youth, the mirth for which she stood. Lights already gleamed in the school buildings straight before us, and the sight of them smote me with loneliness.

"Olivia Gladys Armstrong," she said, laughing, brushed past me through the gate and ran lightly over the snow toward St. Agatha's.

CHAPTER X.

An Affair With the Caretaker.

I read in the library until late, hearing the howl of the wind outside with satisfaction in the warmth and comfort of the great room. Bates brought in some sandwiches and a bottle of ale at midnight.

"If there's nothing more, sir—"

"That is all, Bates." And he went off sedately to his own quarters.

I was restless and in no mood for bed, and mourned the lack of variety in my grandfather's library. I moved about from shelf to shelf, taking down one book after another, and while thus engaged came upon a series of large volumes extra illustrated in water colors of unusual beauty. They occupied a lower shelf, and I sprawled on the floor like a boy with a new picture book in my absorption, piling the great volumes about me. They were on related subjects pertaining to the French chateaux.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Plainfield Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back.

Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that

Backache pains come from sick kidneys.

'Twould save much needless woe.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys.

Plainfield people endorse this:

Mrs. M. Newman, of 536 West Third street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For some time I was a constant sufferer from various kidney ailments, among which were violent headaches and a continuous pain in the limbs, which gave me no rest, day or night. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and sent to Randolph's pharmacy for a supply. They seemed to take effect at once and soon after I began using them, my head got better, and the pain and stiffness left my limbs and joints. I heartily recommend Doan's Kidney Pills for such troubles as mine."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

HIGH TEAM SCORE JUST ESCAPES BEING BEATEN

KOONS AND SKINNER COME BELOW IT BY TWO PINS.

By the narrowest sort of a margin, Chief Kiely and Judge Runyon's high team score of 446 made Wednesday, came near being beaten last night. In the last game of a tourney series rolled by Koons and Skinner they aggregated 444 and it should have been at least 450. Koons had 193 in the ninth frame and on the first ball of his tenth picked off seven pins. The remaining three were plumb in the center of the alley in a straight line but to the great disappointment of the large gallery he missed them, something that occurs once out of ten chances. It gave him a score of 200 while Skinner got 244.

The team was rolling against Woolston and Cunningham and beat them two out of three. "Uncle Sam" had a bad attack of offitis and Woolston got only one good score. They got the first game by a margin of thirty-six pins, Koons and Skinner failing to get started properly.

Another series was rolled last night between Gaddis and Dilks and Willett and Britton and the former team dropped two games for the first time in a long while, in fact, up to this point they had lost only three in the entire series. Willett and Britton took the first by twenty-eight pins, lost the second by three and won the last by twenty-seven. In the last game their combined score was 406, second high f or the night. Gaddis and Dilks, especially the former, had hard luck in getting splits, this fact accounting for their going below. They still have a nice lead, however, and there is hardly any doubt but what they will win the tourney.

The scores:

Gaddis	144	191	146
Dilks	147	196	233
vs.
Willett	142	195	180
Britton	177	189	226
	319	384	406
Woolston	162	210	162
Cunningham	144	129	147
vs.
Koons	133	210	200
Skinner	137	189	244

Parks Still Have a Chance.

Because the Elizabeth Club failed to roll the Newark Bay team on Thursday night, the question of the championship of the Central Journal Bowling League remains undecided. The Parks, who have been in the lead in this tournament, lost three games to Cranford Casino Thursday night, and it was believed that as a result they had lost the championship. This will depend now on the outcome of the Elizabeth-Newark Bay match to be rolled next week. The Parks still have a chance to win the championship providing Elizabeth loses to Newark Bay.

A Close Game.

The boys' basketball five of the Y. M. C. A. defeated the second junior team this morning. The score was eighty to two. Nobdy knows how the two happened. The last time they met the firsts scored 62 to 1. It is evident the seconds are improving.

NEW BOWLING ALLEY SCHEME FELL THROUGH

NEWARKERS' PLAN FOR A "PALACE" ON PARK AVENUE DIDN'T GO.

Unable to get a building according to plans prepared by themselves, Johns & Sturr, of Newark, owners of the Oxford alleys, of that city, gave up a scheme, this week, to open a bowling and billiard "palace" in this city. Lee R. Johns, head of the firm, is engineering a scheme to put alleys in all the chief cities of the State, and he turned his attention to Plainfield in furtherance of it.

Johns picked out the lot where Justice V. W. Nash's old office stood on Park avenue, near the railroad, as the desirable site for the alleys. D. S. Smalley owns the land, and Johns went to him with a proposition. He asked Mr. Smalley to erect a building designed especially for alleys, and offered to take a long lease. It was his plan to install about six alleys, and a number of billiard and pool tables. He was certain that the location would be the best in the city, and couldn't see how the place could fail to make money.

It looked like a good scheme from Johns & Sturr's standpoint, but Mr. Smalley looked as it from a different angle. He couldn't see where the erection of a building designed primarily for bowling alleys and billiard parlor offered any too certain a return as an abiding investment. He decided against it. Sturr came here with Johns to urge Mr. Smalley to carry the deal through, but the landowner could not see enough of the golden promise to satisfy him.

It is not likely that Johns & Sturr will make another effort to come here. They will scarcely tie up enough money or shoulder a loan big enough to build, and it is highly improbable that they will find anybody willing to build for them.

THE "BRIDE" ARRIVES.

Plainfielders Given an Opportunity to See Her Today.

The "bride" of Miss Laura Jean Libbey's "Parted on Her Bridal Tour," reached Plainfield today and viewed the city from an open Victoria. Her appearance attracted widespread attention and comment but despite the notice she received she was calm and self-possessed. Those who missed seeing her will have another opportunity next Monday afternoon and night when she appears at the New Plainfield theatre.

The plan of introducing the main character in a play to the people of a city before its arrival is a new idea of Charles E. Blaney's and has set the theatrical world on edge.

Dungan To Be In Command.

Next Thursday night in Trenton Lieutenant-Colonel Nelson Y. Dungan, of Somerville, will appear for the first time as commander of the Second Regiment at the review by Governor Stokes. A great contingent of Somerville people will accompany Company M, of Somerville, in a special train to the armory.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Henderson, of Califon, have been visiting friends in town.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The supper given by the men of Holy Cross church netted $400.

The newly organized missionary society for the young women of Hope chapel will hold its next meeting on Monday evening, February 25, instead of the eighteenth, having been postponed on account of the rehearsals for the concert on February 22.

There will be a special series of sermons at Hope chapel during Lent to be delivered by the pastor, Rev. L. R. Howard. The morning series will be on the Words from the Cross, taking up the following subjects: Feb. 17, "Ideal Forgiveness;" Feb. 24, "An Amazing Promise;" March 3, "Thoughtfulness in Agony;" March 10, "The Cry of Spiritual Depression;" March 17, "The Cry of Bodily Need;" March 24, "Triumphant Trust." The evening series will be on "Some Things to Oppose, Why and How," and is as follows: Feb. 17, "The Saloon and its Accessories;" Feb. 14, "Betting and the Gambling Den;" March 3, "Profanity and Obscenity;" March 10, "Gossip and Lying;" March 17, "Graft and Stealing;" March 24, "Hatred and Murder."

MR. COLBY MAY RETIRE

Senator Who Brought About Dryden's Defeat to Leave Public Life.

THINKS PARTY BETTER

If Machine Republican Is Nominated For Governor He Says Democrats Will Win.

Senator Everett Colby, the reformer who paved the way to repudiate such men as United States Senator John F. Dryden, and whose work was effective in breaking up the powerful influence of the Public Service Corporation in Jersey politics, believes that permanent good has been done. He thinks the time has come when he must cease such active labors as he has given to politics in the last two years. In an interview the Senator says:

"I do not see how I can remain actively in politics. For two years I have given of my time and effort, not knowing a day, or scarcely an hour, that was my own. I have been going about all over the State, day and night, neglecting domestic ties and duties, away from home, the zealous servant of the public. I do not see how I can give the same amount of time to it in the next two years.

"All these movements go in waves, and what we should do is to hold on to what we have accomplished and prevent the standard from being lowered in a reaction.

"I have no confidence in the reformer who promises more than he can promptly accomplish, and who expects to bring about an ideal condition of affairs within a short time. If each year he can compel the two great political parties to make progress in the solution of some of the great problems we are facing, it is about all that he can expect to do.

"Just where the line should be drawn between the radical and the conservative is difficult to determine. Personally, I am a radical within the ordinary meaning of that word. By radical I mean one who believes that no true progress can be made without the injection of new and aggressive ideas into politics. The radical idea is, to my mind, never dangerous when it is freely discussed by the people. The danger comes from the refusal of our political parties to consider and deal with these questions and their tendency to suppress and throttle them in the dark and too frequently by order of special interests.

"I think the Republican party in this State is beginning to get back the confidence of the people. If they nominate this year a machine man for Governor, a man who has been allied with the interests the people have repudiated in politics, they will be defeated. They must nominate a progressive man, a man who will carry on the work already started, a man who is independent and courageous. There are such men. I could name them, but do not want to seem invidious.

"The Republicans are getting back the confidence of the people because they have been willing to take up and discuss questions in which the people are deeply interested. They will, this year, pass a bill giving the people of the State the right to express their choice for United States Senator. It has already passed the Senate, and will go through the House.

"They will pass a civil service law, which I regard as one of the greatest reforms in the State. It is a very important matter, of far reaching and beneficial effect, to get the offices out of politics. They have passed a railroad tax law; have increased the tax on franchises, and have passed numerous other acts that have been demanded for years.

"There is still one great demand which the party has not complied with, and that is, that political office and political honors shall not be dealt out as rewards for party services. Offices of the highest importance demand the highest qualifications. New Jersey is rich in such material, but it is often barred by the miserable doctrine that partisan services, rendered on the lower levels, deserve these great public trusts as rewards.

"This year's Legislature is above the average; on a high plane. The Senate is this year especially strong in able, upright and patriotic men. I know that these Senators are sincere in their desire to meet the reasonable demands of the people in the way of reform and good legislation. No measures will be smothered in the dark recesses of the committee rooms this year. They will all be reported in some form or other, and every bill will get a square deal."

Bethrothal Party.

The engagement of Samuel Rosenbaum, of this city, and Miss Dorothy Weisman, of Newark, was marked yesterday by a reception at the home of the bride-to-be. A number of Plainfield friends and relatives of Mr. Rosenbaum attended.

TALKED ON LINCOLN, THE MAN OF FAITH

DR. PARSONS SAYS MARTYR-PRESIDENT BELIEVED IN EFFICACY OF PRAYER.

At last night's service in Grace M. E. church, Rev. Dr. Parsons preached a timely and interesting sermon from the subject, "Lincoln—the Man of Faith," making plain the fact that his had been a true Christian life.

Dr. Parsons began his discourse by relating some of the things in connection with Lincoln and his career that had been told him by his father when he was a little boy. He remembered distinctly the political slogan, "Free Soil, Free Men and Fremont" and led up to the time when Lincoln ran against Douglas for Senator and the cry was "A house cannot stand divided against itself; all slavery or all free."

No other president of the United States, said Dr. Parsons, had ever quoted so widely from God's word as Lincoln. When a boy at home there were only five books in the house and the Bible was one of them. The future President read and re-read them all until he had committed the greater part of them to memory and he was familiar with the gospel from end to end. He was also a great believer in prayer and nothing relieved him more than to invoke the Divine blessing. The night before the battle of Gettysburg he asked for God's help and he said afterward that a great burden had been lifted from him and that he was confident the battle would be won by the Union army.

SURPRISED ON FORTIETH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY.

Guests Came Unexpectedly at the Home of Mr. and Mrs. William Shearer.

In celebration of the fortieth wedding annivesary of Mr. and Mrs. William Shearer, of the Jackson building, their children and a number of friends tendered them a surprise Saturday night. The coming of the delegation was entirely unexpected by the couple, who had been observing the event quietly, and on its arrival the self-invited guests took full possession of the home. After Mr. and Mrs. Shearer had recovered from their surprise and congratulations had been extended, games and vocal and instrumental music were enjoyed. Refreshments were served in conclusion.

Just before the guests departed, another "wedding" ceremony was performed with Mr. and Mrs. Shearer as the participants. A young woman guest "officiated" and the bride and groom were attired in costumes in vogue a century ago.

The guests present included Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shearer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Shearer, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Symons, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Higgins, Mr. and Mrs. Philip Drake, Mrs. Waldron, Miss Grace Webster and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Polkinghorne, the latter of Nevada.

Throng at First Lenten Recital.

The Church of the Holy Cross was thronged with worshippers Saturday afternoon, when the first free Lenten recital was held. F. Clinton Lee, assistant organist at Trinity chapel, New York, presided at the organ, and was assisted by Fred'k J. Pope, baritone, of the church choir. The programme as published on Saturday was rendered entire and was greatly enjoyed. Evening prayer followed immediately after the recital. Rev. George A. Warner, the rector, has arranged to give these recitals every Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock during Lent, except Holy Week, and well-known musical artists will appear.

Panhandler Gets 20 Days.

A well dressed young man who described himself as William Maruco, thirty-four years old, a shoe cutter, of Brockton, Mass., was sentenced to twenty days in jail by City Judge Runyon, this morning, for panhandling. He was arrested last night by Patrolman Kelly, just about the time complaints of his activity were coming into headquarters from victims along Central avenue and Seventh street. His story of temporary embarrassment didn't impress the judge favorably and the sentence followed. He had $3.50 in quarters when arrested.

—The Sagamore Musical Club will give its third annual entertainment this evening at the Casino. As usual a pleasing programme has been arranged. Besides the music furnished by the club members, humorous selections and songs by Malcolm Shackleford, Mr. Fred F. VanEps will render selections on the banjo. As all the performers have been before this public on many previous occasions, an excellent entertainment can be looked for. After the entertainment part of the programme is over, dancing will be enjoyed. Music for which will be furnished by Wetton's orchestra. Will VanEps is the leader of the Sagamore Musical Club. ***

FRELINGHUYSEN'S EYES ON THE GOVERNORSHIP

SOMERSET SENATOR TO ENTERTAIN HIS COLLEAGUES ON THURSDAY.

State Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county, who is paving the way to capture the Republican gubernatorial nomination, will entertain his colleagues in the State Senate on Thursday afternoon in New York. In the afternoon, the Jersey solons will occupy seats in the "bald headed" row of the Savoy theatre, where they will witness a performance of "The Man of the Hour," George Broadhurst's great success. The play portrays American politics of the day and the author pictures New York political life, the characters representing men prominent in and out of Tammany Hall. After the show, the Senators will be Mr. Frelinghuysen's guests at dinner at his New York house.

Ever since Senator Frelinghuysen played so prominent a part in the recent U. S. Senatorial election, his name had been connected with the gubernatorial nomination. He is a close political friend of United States Senator Dryden, whose name he presented at the joint caucus of the Legislature, and he is on the inside at councils of the "Big Five." As chairman of the Somerset county Republican committee, the Raritan man has made himself solid with the party workers not only of his own but of other Northern counties. Former Judge Alfred S. Skinner, of Essex county, is also prominently mentioned for the nomination but friends of Frelinghuysen declare he has him "beat a mile."

PATRIOTIC SERVICE.

Mr. Swackhamer's Talk on Lincoln at Congregational Church.

In place of the usual Sunday evening service, a Sunday-school concert was held at the Congregational church, yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, when an attractive programme arranged by Miss Alice Morgan was presented. It included vocal and instrumental selections and address on "Lincoln" by S. S. Swackhamer. Edson C. Martin led the school in the singing of the hymns and other selections, and at the close an offering was received for the Mountain Whites.

There were hymns by the Sunday-school and the Junior department, violin and organ duets by Miss Alice Morgan and Mrs. B. T. Barnes; piano selections by Elizabeth Martin and Martine Weeks, and anthem by the Sunday-school choiir of eight voices.

At the close of Mr. Swackhamer's address the school sang the Star Spangled Banner, while Miss Esther Hellstrom, a member of the banner class, of which Miss Winckler is the teacher, waved an American flag.

SURPRISED MISS SMITH.

Affair Arranged by Mr. and Mrs. Arnsburg of Leland Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. William Arnsburg, of Leland avenue, gave a surprise party at their home Friday night in honor of their guest, Miss Ida Smith. The home was elaborately decorated, the chief colors being red and green. There were piano solos by Miss Smith and John Clements; violin solos by Mr. Arnsburg and vocal solos by Frank MacInerney, after which dancing was enjoyed.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Arnsburg, Mr. and Mrs. Loctton, Mr. and Mrs. O. F. Pearson, Mrs. Margaret Hanson, Mrs. Fitzgerald, the Misses Ida and Lizzie Smith, Kenenna, Hannah Hansen, Mabel, Florence and Ida Pearson, Florence Pedeflous and Albert and Oscar Pearson, William and Ernest Banks, Fred Viebrock, Frank MacInerney, John Clements, Preston and Roy Goodfellow.

Somerset Farmers Meet and Talk.

The quarterly meeting of the Somerset County Board of Agriculture was held in the First Reformed church at Somerville Saturday afternoon. Among the speakers were Judge Louis H. Schenck, the Rev. Dr. James Le Fevre, J. Newton Van Derbeek, Freeholder Joseph Fitzga, Frederick A. Pope and Abram A. Cortelyou. The principal speaker was F. H. Castner, of Glen Gardner.

In Memory of Dr. Yerkes.

The committee, of which Alexander Gilbert is the chairman, is making arrangements, in accordance with action taken by the First Baptist church, to have a memorial tablet placed in the church in memory of the late Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, for nearly fifty years its pastor.

Nemesis of Sin.

Rev. E. E. Roberson continued his series of talks at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon, speaking on "An Enemy Which It Is Impossible to Escape." His leading thought was: "Be sure your sins will find you out."

COUPLE BADLY BURNED

Mr. and Mrs. DeLanoy in Hospital and Their Country Home in Ashes.

MRS. CORLIES DAUGHTER

Insurance Man and Wife Will Recover—Loss On House $30,000—Oil Stove the Cause.

Hartshorn's Park, the handsome home of Mr. and Mrs. William C. DeLanoy, in Forest Drive, Short Hills, was totally destroyed by fire early yesterday morning. Mr. and Mrs. DeLanoy are in the private hospital of Dr. Mefford Runyon, at South Orange, severely burned about the head and hands, wherever, in fact, their clothing failed to protect them. Neither is likely to succumb to the injuries they received, but they will be in the hospital for some time.

Mrs. DeLanoy is the daughter of Mrs. J. Edgar Corlies, of Road End-ing, and she assisted her mother last week at the first of a series of three "at homes," and spent several days in town. In consequence of the injuries sustained yesterday by Mrs. DeLanoy, her mother has recalled the invitations for her second "at home" which was to be held tomorrow afternoon.

Mr. DeLanoy is a member of the insurance firm of DeLanoy & DeLanoy, of 2 Wall street, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. DeLanoy's two children were carried to safety by their nurse and escaped injury, but the parents delayed their departure from the burning building and were trapped by the flames. It is thought the damage to the building will approximate $50,000. It burned with great rapidity, and little of the contents was saved.

The fire was discovered about 8 o'clock yesterday morning by some of the servants, who saw a blaze in the conservatory at the rear of the house, where Mr. DeLanoy had a collection of costly plants. It is supposed that an oil stove used to heat the place exploded, and that the blaze communicated to the wood work. An alarm of fire was telephoned to Millburn about two miles away, and Mr. and Mrs. DeLanoy, who were about to get up, were told of the fire. The children, who were fully dressed, were carried across the street to the home of William G. Sickel.

At this time the smoke had not permeated the upper part of the house, and, thinking that there was no immediate danger, Mr. and Mrs. DeLanoy finished their dressing, and then gathered up some jewelry and valuables, preparatory to leaving the house.

Opening the door into the hallway, they were met by a great gust of smoke and heard the roar of the flames in the lower part of the house. Mr. DeLanoy grasped his wife and started down the stairway. The couple were blinded and choked by the time they reached the foot of the stairs.

Downstairs they found that the flames had spread in such a manner that escape by the front of the house was entirely cut off and they would have to fight their way through the blazing hallway to a rear door, which was not far from the place where the fire started. Neighbors were rallying to their aid, for the word spread quickly that Mr. and Mrs. DeLanoy were still in the blazing building, and as the couple staggered out of the rear door, with their clothing afire, they were caught by eager hands and hurried to the residence of Mr. Sickel and made as comfortable as possible pending the arrival of Dr. Wellington Campbell, of Millburn.

Dr. Campbell applied temporary dressing, and the private ambulance of Frederick Ardrey in South Orange and one of the Record ambulances from Orange were summoned, and Mr. and Mrs. DeLanoy rushed to the hospital as fast as the horses could be driven.

Meanwhile the firemen, who had made good time over the uphill roads, which were blocked with snow, got to work, but the handsome stone and frame house was doomed, and every effort had to be exerted to save other houses in the neighborhood from being set afire by the flying brands. The building was practically wrecked within an hour.

Captain Benn Tells of His Work.

Captain George Benn, of the Mission Yacht Association, Brooklyn, spoke briefly at the close of the morning service in the First Baptist church, yesterday, making an urgent appeal for literature, religious and secular, to be distributed among the sailors who visit New York. Later he addressed the Sunday-school at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, and in the afternoon he spoke at the W. C. T. U. gospel meeting, telling of his work. The union is particularly interested in this work and the members were much encouraged by the report given by Captain Benn.

BOY JUMPED FREIGHT; HIS FOOT TAKEN OFF

CABOOSE WHEELS PASSED OVER IT AND AMPUTATION FOLLOWED.

Within an hour after getting a position as messenger in the local office of the Western Union and while on the way to deliver his first telegram, George Minerd, fourteen years old, son of Frank Minerd, of North Front street, received injuries yesterday noon that cost him his right foot. The message given him was for a Netherwood resident and thinking to reach his destination quickly, he attempted to jump on the caboose of a freight train passing Washington street. He made a misstep and the foot went beneath the wheels. It was crushed into a shapeless mass and he fell back helpless.

The crew of a drill engine saw him drop and they had him aboard of it in a few minutes speeding toward the North avenue station. He was placed in the baggage room and calls were sent for physicians and the ambulance. Dr. Zeglio was the first to arrive and he bound up the crushed limb, being assisted at the end by Dr. Hubbard. The boy was then taken to Muhlenberg Hospital where the foot was amputated just above the ankle. He had retained consciousness all along and quickly rallied after the operation. At noon today he was reported as doing nicely.

Young Minerd was a bright boy and until a short time ago worked in the New York office of W. H. Druse, conected with the mechanical department of the New Jersey Central. He left there to go back to school and after attending awhile decided to seek employment again. He had been on the waiting list of the Western Union messenger force for a week and finally got the place yesterday morning.

SEEGAR ARRAIGNED; PLEADS NOT GUILTY.

Man Alleged to Have Fired at Slonim to Be Tried on Wednesday.

George Seegar, who was accused of highway robbery at the jewelry store of Leo Slonim on the night of December 3 last, was arraigned in the Union County Court this morning and entered a plea of not guilty. His trial was set for Wednesday. S. S. Swackhamer, Esq., is his counsel.

Seegar was arrested in Newark on suspicion of being the man who held up Mr. Slonim in his jewelry store late one night. It was claimed that the man entered the place on the pretense of wanting to buy a diamond ring and after spending a couple of hours there pulled out a revolver and fired twice, one of the bullets striking Mr. Slonim in the arm. The man made his escape. Some days later Seegar was arrested in Newark. Mr. and Mrs. Slonim declared that he was the one who committed the theft.

Peter A. Emmons Funedal.

The funeral of former Councilman Peter A. Emmons, who died at his home on Jackson avenue Saturday morning, will be held at the home tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. It will be a Masonic service in charge of Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., of which he was a past worshipful master and its treasurer. The members of Jerusalem Lodge, Jerusalem Chapter, Trinit Commandery, No. 17, K. T., and Salaam Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S., have also been invited to attend. The interment will be at Hillside.

Dr. Fritts Seriously Ill.

Dr. J. T. Fritts, of Park avenue, who was stricken with paralysis a few days ago, was reported today as not being so well. Some time ago he met with an accident while travelling on the Erie Railroad, and he was detained at home for several months. He finally recovered sufficiently to go out, although he never seemed to entirely overcome the trouble.

Sneeze Powder Leads to Arrests.

Willie Seader, a newsboy, and Johnny Blount, a messenger boy, were arrested Saturday night for scattering sneezing powder in a West Second street butcher shop. The powder broke up the business for fifteen minutes and M. F. Giles, the proprietor of the shop, was hot. He didn't feel so angry this morning and refused to press the complaint.

Dr. Moldenke on Egypt.

"Sailing Up the Nile," will be the subject of an illustrated lecture to be given by Dr. C. E. Moldenke at St. Peter's Lutheran church on Grove street, Wednesday night, February 27, for the benefit of the church. This will be a superbly illustrated narrative of a trip to the Land of the Pharaohs.

URGES HIS CONGREGATION TO FIGHT THE SALOON

REV. L. R. HOWARD PREACHES AGAINST THE DRINK HABIT.

Rev. L. R. Howard, of Hope chapel, began, last night, a series of sermons on "Things to Oppose." He talked on the saloon, from the text, "Take ye the stumbling block out of the way of my people."

The saloon, he said, was a stumbling block in the way of society's advancement, and the little good it might do could be accomplished better by other means; the harm it did was almost incalculable. The saloon not only ensalved the drunkard but increased drunkenness. Mr. Howard cited figures to show that fifty per cent. of the crime and twenty-five per cent. of the poverty came from drink.

Mr. Howard urged his people to talk strongly against the saloons, to refuse to speak lightly of drunkenness, and to withhold signatures from every application for a license and to refuse to rent property for saloon purposes. He spoke in approval of the local option bill to be presented to the Legislature, and advised his flock to write the Senator and Assemblymen in favor of it.

GULICK VERDICT REDUCED.

Lincoln Man Must Take $125 Or a New Trial.

Ruling that the verdict was excessive, Judge Newcorn gave Abram Gulick, who was awarded $200 by a jury for damages and injuries following a collision between a P. S. C. trolley car and his wagon, the option of accepting $125 or of having a new trial ordered, at a brief session of the District Court this morning. The verdict was rendered last Monday and the Public Service Corporation, through John A. Bernhard, its counsel, asked for a new trial on the grounds that the verdict was against the charge of the court, against the weight of evidence and was excessive. Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., counsel for Gulick, said this noon, that his client had not decided whether to accept the reduced verdict or go into another trial.

Judge Newcorn did not try any cases. He had over all the actions docketed, to go to Elizabeth to sit in place of Judge Swift, who is ill.

NEW SWITCH TOWER UP.

First Step in Installation of Interlocking System.

The Jersey Central's construction gang yesterday placed in position the cross over piece for the switch tower of the new interlocking system which is to be installed in the freight yards. The tower is located over the main tracks just east of Berckman street and is to be one of the largest and best equipped along the line. The cross over was put up in about fifteen minutes and traffic was not interrupted.

The company has been compelled to put in the switching system because of the great volume of business that is now being done at the local freight house. It is said the monthly receipts aggregate $50,000 and the amount is still growing. By the old hand method of throwing switches much valuable time is lost and it endangers the members of the drill crews in running about.

QUIETLY WEDDED.

Miss Carrie Krewson Became the Wife of Leslie Sackett.

Miss Carrie Krewson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Krewson, of Manning avenue, and Leslie Sackett, of Stebbins place, were quietly married Saturday afternoon by Rev. J. O. McKelvey at his home on Grandview avenue. The bride was gowned in white taffeta and carried a bouquet of roses. Her attendant was Miss Dora Bennett, of East Front street, who wore white silk mulle over pink taffeta and carried pink carnations. The groom's attendant was William S. Kenney, of East Fifth street.

Following the ceremony a supper was served at the home of the bride's parents and later Mr. and Mrs. Sackett left for New York. After a wedding trip to several points of interest they will make their home on Stebbins place.

Sidewalk Needs Cleaning.

Editor, The Daily Press:

I would like to call attention to the condition of the sidewalk extending from the Babcock building to the brook and ask why the ice and slush are allowed to remain on it. I had a fall on it today, but, fortunately escaped with only a slight wetting. If I am not mistaken the law requires this work done by the owner, or the city must do it at the former's expense.

CITY OFFICIAL TEN YEARS

Andrew J. Gavett Rounds Out First Decade as Street Commissioner.

IDEAL PUBLIC SERVANT

During His Service Mr. Gavett Has Made the Streets of Plainfield Famous Through Jersey.

Andrew J. Gavett completed his tenth year as city engineer on Saturday. It was the end of a decade of service of the highest value to Plainfield. The general public scarcely realizes the rare municipal prize that Plainfield has in Mr. Gavett, or the quality of the work he has done for the city.

He is largely responsible for the excellence of the streets, and it is due to him that the sewer farm is running so successfully that it is regarded as the standard of such plants in operation. Engineers and municipal officials from all over the East have come here to see the workings of the septic tanks and disposal beds, and after a talk with Mr. Gavett they go not away empty of information. This is not to be said of every city engineer in the country.

Street Commissioner A. J. Gavett.

Mr. Gavett is thoroughly versed in his profession. His experience had included work with the city engineer of Bayonne, railroad work, water works drafting in New York city, road and brick pavement work. He has been constructing engineer of the Plainfield sewers.

Mr. Gavett's chief characteristic is thoroughness; after that the thing that most impresses those who know him is his modesty. It is on record that he has refused an advance in salary from the city. Was it not said that he is a most remarkable municipal official?

Mr. Gavett is essentially a servant of Plainfield. He will not speak of this and will hate to see it in print, but it is a fact that he has had more than a few opportunities to go into other positions at larger salaries, but has always decided to remain in Plainfield because he prefers this city above all other places as the scene of his labors.

LECTURE PATRONESSES.

Women Who Will Help Make Peary's Second Coming a Success.

The second lecture of Peary, the arctic explorer, at the theatre March 4, for the Y. M. C. A., will be under the patronage of the following Plainfield women:

Chapman, Mrs. Alexander Millar, Mrs. D. H. Rowland, Mrs. I. N. Van Sickel, Mrs. William B. Wadsworth, Mrs. George P. Mellick, and the women of the Y. M. C. A. auxiliary.

Jerome Leary, 2d, Celebrates.

Jerome, Leary, 2d, son of the proprietor of the Hotel Iroquois, celebrated the anniversary of his birthday on Friday at the hotel, and entertained among others Marie Tobin, Marie Whelan, Charles and George Ward, of this city, and Miss Edith M. Vogel, of New York. Master Leary received a number of valuable gifts.

Surprised Miss Randolph.

Young people from the Seventh-Day Baptist churches, of this city, and New Market, gave a surprise party last night to Miss Margaret Randolph at her home in South Plainfield. The evening was spent in an informal way, there being a programme of vocal and instrumental selections, followed by refreshments.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company's three days' fair opens Thursday night, and from the present outlook it will be one of the most successful ever held here. The several committees appointed to solicit donations have met with encouraging success and those who attend will find all the old devices as well as several new ones in full operation, all working with one object in view, that of encouraging the money to flow into the company's treasury.

Frank Carrona and Albert Walpole had a narrow escape from serious injury while coasting on Spencer's hill Saturday afternoon, by being thrown from a bob sled while it went over one of the water breakers on the hill. Carrona received, beside a bad shaking up, several cuts on the face, one of which was just under the eye, narrowly missing the optic. Walpole escaped with nothing worse than a sprained wrist.

It is reported that a cock fight was held Saturday night near New Providence, a combination of local and Westfield birds being pitted against Newark birds. The home talent, it is said, won five out of the six fights.

The work of finishing the filling of the ice houses at the "Back Pond" was completed Saturday. Both houses hold several hundreds tons, so there should be no local ice famine this summer.

A musicale will be held tonight in the Methodist church. A pleasing programme of both instrumental and vocal music has been arranged. A silver collection will be taken.

Mrs. Nelson, widow of Dr. Adonis Nelson, of Neshanic Station, was taken suddenly ill a few days ago, while visiting at the home of former Freeholder and Mrs. E. B. Hoagland. Her daughter, Miss Ada Nelson, of Baptistown, is caring for her.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip T. LaTourette, of Bayonne, have been guests of Mr. LaTourette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. T. LaTourette, in this place, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Van Fleet, of Three Bridges, have been guests of Mrs. Van Fleet's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ten Eyck.

Misses Bessie and Anna Hall, of South Branch, have returned home from a visit to their brother, John P. Hall, in Plainfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kline, of Reaville, have been guests of Mr. Kline's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Kline, at South Branch.

Rev. W. W. Conner, pastor of the Belleville Reformed church, preached in the Reformed church of this place yesterday.

Miss Meriam Beekman, of Red Bank, is visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Beekman, at South Branch.

Miss Mary Williamson, of Neshanic, has been visiting her brother, S. Howard Williamson, in South Bound Brook.

Mrs. Margaret Layton, of Pluckemin, has gone to Newark to spend the remainder of the winter with relatives.

Mrs. Thomas Skillman, of Skillman, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. Bert Ten Eyck, in this place.

WESTFIELD.

The People's National Bank, of Westfield, will open for business on April 1, in the Abbott building, on Broad street, in the store now occupied by the United States Express Company. Stock in the new bank was over-subscribed 100 per cent.

An elementary conference will be held at the chapel of the Westfield Presbyterian church tonight. There will be an attendance from the churches of the neighboring towns. Primary and junior work will be the topic discussed.

Special services are to be conducted this week at the Willow Grove chapel. Rev. W. T. Steans, of the Westfield Presbyterian church, will have charge of the services during the first part of the week.

Mrs. Bert Moore, who was living in very straitened circumstances at the old Gun Club grounds, has been taken care of and her children are being cared for at the Children's Country Home at Mountainside.

Rev. F. Q. Blanchard, of East Orange, conducted the morning service at the Congregational church yesterday.

WHITEHOUSE.

Ralph Lanning Reed, fifty-two years ago a resident of Whitehouse Station and a brother of Abram E. Reed, of Dreahook, near here, celebrated a few days ago, with his wife, the sixtieth anniversary of his wedding at his home in Henry, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Reed were married six decades ago in Somerville at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Brokaw, the bride being Miss Mary Ann Brokaw, their daughter. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Talbot W. Chambers. Mr. Reed was a contractor and builder and the couple made their home near Whitehouse until 1855, when they moved to Illinois. They have five daughters and two sons living and fifteen grandchildren and two great-grandchildren. Mr. Reed is eighty-two years old and his wife two years his junior.

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Jennie Neff, of this place, and Rogers McNaly, of Trenton. The ceremony will be performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Neff, in Whitehouse, on Thursday, Feb. 28.

A supper and entertainment will be given in St. Luke's Hall, at Peapack, on Washington's Birthday, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Reformed church. The programme will consist of songs, tableaux and recitations.

The Methodist congregation at Neshanic Station is holding a series of revival services, which will last for ten days. They are in charge of Rev. Dr. Klinetoff, who preached last evening.

Miss Edith Sharp, of Lebanon, who has been substituting as teacher in the public school at Hampton Junction, has gone to Passaic to resume her former position.

Miss Ella Craft, of Newark, has been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Craft, in Whitehouse.

Mrs. George W. Farley, of Whitehouse, has been a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Farley, at Califon, for a few days.

La Monte Wikof, of Toledo, O., is spending a fortnight with his mother, Mrs. Mattie Wikof, in Whitehouse.

A masquerade ball will be held in the rink at Neshanic, next Thursday night.

George Mattis is very ill at his home at Lebanon from diphtheria.

NEW PROVIDENCE.

For the first time in many years, a coasting feat was performed Friday night by several bobs on Stony Hill, when they ran from the top of the hill all the way to the residence of Eugene Badgley, New Providence, a distance of over a mile. By going to the top of Diamond Hill and then coasting down, several parties coasted a distance of nearly three miles.

Leo Kaemmerer, ten years old, was severely injured while hitching on bobs Saturday. He tried to jump on the front bob of a sled belonging to Amos Potter, but missed it, and falling on the ground, was run over by the rear bob. No bones were broken, but he was badly cut and bruised.

A number of the young people of the place are preparing to give an entertainment at the Presbyterian chapel, to be called "The Old Folks' Concert." It will be a sort of a cantata and will consist of the rendering of new versions of a number of songs.

George Hergett and family will move from the house they now occupy in West Summit and return to New York city about the first of next month. Elmer Dickinson will then occupy the house.

The condition of Postmistress Miss Clara Wahl, of this borough, who has been laid up at Overlook Hospital by a complication of dangerous diseases, does not seem to vary much.

BOUND BROOK.

Mrs. S. Howard Williamson and ward, Harold Butterfield, of South Bound Brook, spent yesterday with friends in Somerville.

Mrs. Gordon, of Hillsboro, was recently entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gregory, in Main street, Bound Brook.

A daughter was recently born to Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Zimmerman at their home in Main street, South Bound Brook.

Miss Clara Apgar, of Elizabeth street, South Bound Brook, spent several days last week with friends in New York.

Mrs. Robert M. Wilkinson, of South Bound Brook, spent yesterday at the home of Mrs. Sadie Staats, of Trenton.

William Keochlein has moved from Clinton street, South Bound Brook, to Somerville.

E. H. Dekyne moved from South Bound Brook to Plainfield, Friday.

BASKING RIDGE.

Mrs. P. C. Henry has issued invitations to the members of her Sunday-school class for a dinner at her home on Washington's Birthday.

Miss Minnie Barkalow, librarian here, who has been seriously ill at her home, on Main street, for several weeks, is much improved.

Rev. and Mrs. John T. Reeve returned Saturday from Chester, S. C., to their home here, the Presbyterian parsonage.

The services of the Presbyterian church were conducted yesterday, both morning and evening, by the pastor.

Miss Myra Howlett spent several days last week with relatives in Peapack.

SPENT $50,000; TOOK POISON.

Last Straw Was When Taylor's Love Was Scorned—His Farewell Letters.

Mount Holly, Feb. 18.—James A. Taylor, 25 years old, of Beverly, attempted to commit suicide Saturday night by taking two ounces of laudanum, because he had spent his inheritance of $50,000 after falling desperately in love with his landlady and had been supplanted in her affections by a rival.

He was discovered at 3 o'clock yesterday morning in his room in an unconscious condition, and after being revived was sent to jail a prisoner.

Taylor came to Beverly about a year ago from Madison, Wis., where his family is well known. Being plentifully supplied with money he spent it freely. He made his home at the boarding house of Mrs. May Vannell, with whom he soon fell in love. Soon, however, a new boarder became Taylor's rival. The new boarder was Earl Chambers, of Sykesville, N. J.

In the rivalry for Mrs. Vannell's affections Taylor gradually lost ground. Taylor in a few months had spent $15,000, which represented the last of his fortune. With his money gone and his conquest for Mrs. Vannell's affections lost, he repeatedly threatened suicide, but these threats were not taken seriously until he was found lying in his room at Mrs. Vannell's home yesterday morning unconscious from the effects of a heavy dose of laudanum.

On the table beside which the unconscious man was found, were three letters, one to Mrs. Vannell, one of his sister, Mrs. George Renk, of Madison, Wis., and another addressed to the public.

The letter to the public stated that he had died by his own hand, and that no other persons were concerned in his death. The letter to Mrs. George Renk, recited his troubles, and said that he died with a broken heart from unrequited love.

The letter to Mrs. Vannell was the last written, and was concluded by his falling from the chair, where he became unconscious from the effects of the poison. This letter was a passionate appeal to the woman to keep his memory sacred. The letter concluded by saying:

"I am writing this with a dying hand, I can see the paper but not the lines. Good-bye."

BY CARMEN SYLVA.

All lives are beautiful in which the sovereign thought has been for others.

The Fountain of Youth is work; woe to him who ceases to plunge therein.

By the side of tombs only kindly and courteous words are spoken; let us treat our friends like tombs.

A lost battle is often worth many victories; a victorious war may bring deep-seated loss to the nation that rejoiced for a conquest.

This life is but an image of the true life, a reflection of what the soul attains to in the beyond, of what only the death of the body shall reveal.

It is so good to be beautiful and so beautiful to be good that it is a sad mistake not to be the one by sheer force of being the other.

We must wring the neck of our deepest passions, of our most ardent desires, and walk in the way we would never have chosen.

Life is a stuff spun and woven by our hands; others will cut it and shape it, others again deck themselves with it.

What is called luck or fortune is only the gift of recognizing when our hour strikes, of not taking the hand from the plow until the Angelus sounds.

There are so many people whose only reason for depriving themselves of the sight of the rising sun is to sleep away the evening. Thus, the joyous moment of each day slips away from them.

One word has before now traversed the centuries and stirred hearts anew in every successive generation: why be content to chatter like the popular to the passing wind instead of sowing abroad words that will endure?

FURNITURE.

Let simplicity by the keynote, by all means, provided you bear in mind that we moderns don't pay any more attention to the keynote in our furniture than in our music.

On the other hand, avoid furniture which is going to be too hard to dust. No man of true feeling will run the risk of getting himself disliked by his servants, just to please mere connoisseurs.

Don't exclude light and air entirely. It is no longer true that everybody can have them, especially in New York.

You make a great mistake if you imagine furniture doesn't matter. Other things being equal, that family is likeliest to rise to social eminence whose furniture is the most hideous and useless and costly.

Glitter, gaucherie and glut, these three; but the greatest of these—Well, there's no telling. They are all very great, as we find them.—Puck.

AGREED ON MACKAY.

Recommended as Postmaster at Rutherford.

Washington, Feb. 18.—Representative Allen, of the Sixth District, and two Senators from New Jersey have agreed in recommending William H. Mackay for appointment as postmaster at Rutherford, N. J. The appointment will probably be sent to the Senate by the President within a few days.

This is the office over which there has been considerable friction or difficulty between Allen and the Senators for several months. The term of Charles Burrows, the present postmaster, expired a year ago, and Senator Kean favored his re-appointment. Allen then recommended Mackay for the office, but the two Senators would not concur in the recommendation.

Senator Dryden's secretary admitted yesterday that the recommendation had been made but refused to say who the appointee was to be. From other sources, however, it was learned that Kean, Dryden and Allen all signed the recommendation for Mackay, and that it went to the department two or three days ago.

The Growth of Religion.

The Rev. H. K. Carroll, D. D., has given to the public, through the columns of the Christian Advocate, statistics that show the condition of the various religious bodies in the United States. Te report for the last calendar year has been presented. It shows grand totals for all denominations at the end of 1906 of 159,503 ministers, 207,707 congregations, and 32,283,658 members. The increase for 1906 was 4,870,589 members, as compared with a gain in 1905 of 2,628 ministers, 4,100 congregations, and 783,979 members. All the denominations show gains except the Friends, but the Unitarians appear to be pretty nearly stationary. These figures seem to show how unfounded are the claims of some people that Christianity is on the wane in this country. Statistics prove that fully forty per cent. of the population of the United States is composed of church members. In speaking of this matter the Washington Post says: "And there is a deal of genuine religion in the country outside of church membership. Many of the most liberal contributors to the support of the church in all its good works at home and abroad are not church members. Millions of outsiders try as hard as any of the members to live up to the golden rule." Of course, the Journal would like to see the percentage of church members still greater, but the figures quoted by Dr. Carroll show that religion is making advances that are gratifying.—Elizabeth Journal.

Mott May Succeed Voorhees.

Morristown, Feb. 18.—Rumor is rife as to who will succeed Daniel S. Voorhees as county clerk, his term here closing March 1, when he takes up his new duties as State treasurer. The Governor will appoint a clerk from the date of Mr. Voorhees' resignation until the election next fall, and it is supposed the appointee will be Deputy Clerk E. Bertram Mott, who has been connected with the office since it was held by his father, Elias Mott, of Rockaway. There will doubtless be many candidates next fall, but those prominently mentioned are Gustav A. Becker, director of the Board of Freeholders, and Deputy Clerk Mott.

Schooner Sank With Crew.

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 18.—There is doubt as to what became of the crew of the two masted schooner, now know to be the Sylvester Hall, of Fall River, Mass., that sank in the Sound two miles off Charles Island, near Milford, on Tuesday night. Captain Calhoun, of the tugboat Patience, of New York, sighted signals of distress on Tuesday afternoon and gave the schooner a tow until near Milford, when Captain Nelson asked him to let go, as he thought he could sail the Hall into Milford, although she was leaking badly. In the darkness the aHll sank and nobody saw or heard in Milford of the crew, which numbered four men.

Pays for Fowls, Not Child.

Winsted, Conn., Feb. 18.—In New Britain a rabid dog, running loose, killed chickens belonging to Thomas Clerkin and fatally bit one of his children. The city paid for the chickens, but the committee on claims voted the father leave to withdraw his claim, as the city is not responsible for the life of a child. Corporation Counsel Hungerford says the father's only recourse is to sue the owner of the dog, if he can be found.

Banquet to State School Teachers.

Trenton, Feb. 18.—The faculty of the State Normal and Model schools gave a banquet Thursday night to Professor Austin C. Apgar, vice-president of the State schools, and Miss Sarah Y. Ely, supervisor of the girls' department of the Model School. The occasion was the commemoration of their completion of forty years' service as instructors in these institutions. Principal Dr. James M. Green, of the State schools, presided.

Hanged for Attacking Girl.

Russellville, Ky., Feb. 18.—Guy Lyon and Polk Fletcher, white men, were hanged here yesterday for an attack upon Mary Glader, a young German girl, two years old. Lyon attempted to commit suicide by opening a vein in his left arm. He was so weak that he had to be supported to the scaffold.

A PICTURE SALE That Will Make History.

Without Question the Most Attractive Collection of Pictures We Have Ever Offered at Special Prices.

Our Eighth Annual Picture Sale which we inaugurated this morning is an event that enlists the interest of thousands. Once a year, and once only a year, we conduct a truly great Picture Sale, overshadowing every other picture sale attempted by other establishments. It is a veritable giant of sales. Beside it others are puny, unimportant affairs. Many thousands of pictures are involved in this sale—pictures for the parlor, for the library, for the dining-room, for the den, for the living-room, for offices, for cafes, for restaurants—in fact, for any purpose or place.

Oil Paintings, Water Colors, Pastels, Platina Photos, French Colors, Art Nouveau, Carbon Photos, Colored Figure Pieces, Photos, and Our Entire Collection of Fine Paintings in Oil & Water Colors.

The variety of subjects is almost as great as the number of pictures, and we could not think of undertaking a description of them in this advertisement, nor even to tell you the names of the subjects or artists. Likewise it is practically impossible to tell in detail of the variety of beautiful frames in which these pictures are set. Suffice it to say that there is almost every style and quality of frame you can conceive of and many novelties that are now shown for the first time. The pictures are the product of the foremost picture houses of the country, and we have been gathering for many months.

Every One of Our Thousands of Pictures Is Reduced.

Every picture is plainly marked with the original and special price, those in the window as well as those in the galleries being so ticketed that you may accurately figure your savings at a glance. There is positively no exaggeration or changing of values, the regular selling prices only being used to indicate what we term "value."

"Parted On Her Bridal Tour," a dramatization of Laura Jean Libbey's most popular novel, which is to be presented at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight, is one of those delightful plays that one can witness half a dozen times. If the auditor is a bit sentimental he can fill up with tears, and then have a jolly good excuse telling people that he isn't crying at all but that his glasses are covered with dust or his eyes pain him and frequent rubbing is necessary.

It is a pleasure to announce that the play chosen to entertain the patrons of the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night is that creator of keen interest, that provoker of laughter, that furnisher of thrills when the great race is run, "Checkers." The appreciation in which the play is held in this city was shown by the crowded house at its last engagement here. The theatre was thronged and the brief intervals between the outbursts and applause was proof conclusive that the sterling play had proved to be the public liking. To see "Checkers" is to see a slice right out of life, and a clean slice, it should be added, in the bargain. There is not a false note in the story. It runs along the channels known to everybody who has mixed at all with the world. And even those whose knowledge of life comes solely from the study, will find little to cavil at.

Kyrle Bellew returns to the New Plainfield theatre, Wednesday, in "A Marriage of Reason," a drama of international marriage by J. Hartley Manners. Mr. Bellew is Plainfield's favorite actor and in diplomatic, army and navy and society sets throughout the nation, his prestige is the highest enjoyed by any contemporary player either English or American. He has been a soldier and sailor himself, an officer of Her Majesty's Navy and a lion in the West end of London. His new play, "A Marriage of Reason," is frankly fashionable. It deals with noblemen and noblewomen. The action is intensely dramatic, crowded with incident and replete with original situations but it is always perfectly bred, in thorough good form and redolent of aristocracy. Throughout it moves on the very highest plane of life and presents the wine and honeycomb of existence.

Direct from its successful run at the new Astor theatre, New York, "The Daughters of Men," by Charles Klein, author of "The Lion and the Mouse" and other notable successes, will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Washington's Birthday, afternoon and night. This drama, which played to capacity business in New York, was forced out of the Astor on account of the previous booking of Blanche Walsh. Henry B. Harris is now endeavoring to secure another theatre in the metropolis for the play and after a short road tour, the piece will be brought back to New York for the remainder of the season. "The Daughters of Men" deals with the subject of capital and labor and is handled so skillfuly and with such evident appreciation of the theme at hand that many critics have declared that Mr. Klein has at last solved this great problem of the fight between the masses and the classes. The production is magnificently staged, the setting of the second act alone costing more than ten thousand dollars. Absolutely no painted canvass is used in this setting, the scenery being birch, finished in mission style.

UNCLE DAN'S JOB.

Daniel S. Voorhees will be in his element at Trenton if the State treasurership is the snap it is represented to be by the New York Herald's Jersey political writer. Granting that such is the case, it is well that the Morris county man and not former Senator Reed landed in the berth for the "Tall Sycamore of Somerset" would soon weary of a job where there is no work to do.

Concerning what the office is and what it is going to be under the Morris county "boss," the Herald says:

"The election of Daniel S. Voorhees as State treasurer in place of Senator-elect Frank O. Briggs excited no very positive emotions one way or the other. The position is really of little importance. The State treasurer of New Jersey is a purely perfunctory official. His duties, mainly consisting of signing checks, are mapped out for him by a clerical force, which really does all the work. He has nothing whatever to do with shaping the financial policy of the State. Many persons think it would be better if this fiscal official had more influence in that direction.

"The State treasurer should be consulted, it is held, as to policies, as to expenditures, as to the State financial resources, &c. But this is now all done by the State controller, and the treasurer is practicaly a nonnetity. The position carries a salary of $6,000 a year and is a "plum." It is handed out as such. The treasurer's office unnder his administration will be a sort of politicians' club, where leading Republicans from different parts of the State will gather and hobnob and take a little social refreshment on 'Governor's day' week."

GOVERNOR FRELINGHUYSEN?

Since the election of Frank O. Briggs to the United States Senatorship, half a dozen other names have been going the rounds of the press as Gubernatorial possibilities. Briggs, himself, was slated for the place, but so far as is known the State machine has not picked out another one of its favorites to succeed Stokes. There is a strong suspicion, however, that the Senator from Somerset is being groomed for the nomination. Mr. Frelinghuysen is a "machine" Republican; that is he has always been made welcome to the councils of the regulars. There are worse men than he, however, and despite the assertion of Senator Colby that the naming of a "machine" man means defeat, the Raritan politician would make a very creditable candidate.

MISSION CONFERENCE OPENED.

Three Hundred Delegates Attend Student Gathering at Princeton.

Princeton, Feb. 18.—More than 300 delegates attended the first annual student missionary conference of New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania, which opened here Saturday afternoon. The object of the conference is to arouse interest in foreign missionary work.

Among the addresses which will be given during the conference are: "Does the World Need Jesus Christ?" by the Rev. H. P. Beach; "The Mohammedan World," by the Rev. Dr. C. R. Watson; "Deputation Work in Colleges," by F. R. Furner, secretary of the volunteer movement; "Problems in India," by the Rev. C. A. R. Janvier, and "Missionary Giving," by the Rev. A. R. Bartholomew, D. D.

—The Rasores Club will meet tomorrow morning at the home of Mrs. I. C. Pierson, 733 Watchung avenue. There will be a roll call and reading from Charles Reade.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Burke, of lower Park avenue, are the parents of a baby girl who came to their home Saturday. Mrs. Burke was formerly Miss Kate Honan, of West Fourth street.

BANK JOKERS GET WARNING.

Court Releases Men Responsible for Run on Bayonne Trust Co.

Michael Doyle, James Shannon, John Devaney, Henry Veron, Frederick Brown and Michael Brennan, who were arrested on complaint of President DeWitt VanBuskirk of the Mechanics Trust Company in Bayonne, charged with having started the rumor that the bank was insolvent and causing a run which necessitated the paying out of nearly $350,000, were arraigned before Recorder Lazarus in Bayonne Saturday.

The men admitted having started the rumor, but declared that it was all a joke, and was intended to merely frighten Shannon, who had money in the bank. The court decided that there had not been any criminal intent and discharged the accused men with a warning to be guarded in their talk about banks in future. This they promised.

The discharge of the men will deprive Detective Sergeant E. M. Griffin, who ran down the rumor circulators, of the $1,000 reward offered by the bank..

FOUND BY AID OF A PICTURE.

Body of John W. Foster, Who Had Been Missing 3 Years, Located.

Morristown, Feb. 18.—By the discovery of a photograph the absence of John W. Foster of the village of Chatham, near here, has been solved. A man was picked up dead in New York, and before being buried his photograph was taken by the police and a description was made to aid in the identification, if possible.

Foster's son was looking over the records yesterday to see if any trace could be found of his father and came across the photograph. The identification was verified and the body has been disinterred. It will be reinterred in Fairmount cemetery in Chatham tomorrow.

Mr. Foster disappeared from his home in Chatham about three years ago, and since then no word had been received from him. The members of his family had sought to find him in every possible manner, but without avail. Foster was 60 years old. At one time he was a prosperous manufacturer in Chatham.

BRADY CUTS SOME ICE.

While He Is Harvesting His Supply, Teachers Await Pay.

Bayonne, Feb. 18.—The prospects of their going without their monthly salaries is causing much uneasiness among the public school teachers. The Board of Education has come across a peculiar law, which provides that all school money shall remain in the custody of Joseph Brady, former city treasurer, who retired from office on January 1.

He is a nephew of Former Mayor Thomas Brady, and is at Lake Hopatcong, superintending the cutting of ice. It is said he will remain there several weeks. He will have the custody of the school funds until the end of the present school term. The Board of Education will endeavor to have Mr. Brady return to Bayonne long enough to pay the teachers.

Speaks in Interest of Mission Yacht.

Captain George Benn, who, for eight years has been in charge of the mission yacht in New York harbor, spoke in several churches here yesterday and at the W. C. T. U. in the afternoon. He will remain in town for two or three days in the interest of his work. Captain C. B. Parsons, of Red Bank, for many years prominently identified with the State Sunday-school Association, is the president of the Mission Yacht Association, which distributes about fifty tons of literature among the outgoing ships. Captain Benn also seeks financial aid to put the mission yacht in repair for the coming season.

J. M. Bettman, of Willow avenue, is able to be out after an illness from erysipelas.

By Tom Muir.

George Abel, the English actor, who is supporting his wife, Ethel Arden, in their sketch, "Three of a Kind," had a friend to see the act not long ago. The friend sat through the screamingly funncy farce without even smiling. After the turn, when Abel met the solemn one, he angrily cried:

"I say is there a laugh left in you?"

"That's all right, old pal," the friend solemnly replied, "my lips are cha, ped."

Peter Fleming, of this city, who has been out all season with George Primrose's minstrels, returned home this morning, having left the troupe at St. Louis. Henry Ackerman and Peter Winn, also Plainfielders, are still with it and he reports them as doing nicely. Mr. Primrose has elaborate plans for his next season's show and has given out that it will comprise forty men and twenty women, the latter an innovation in minstrelsy. He has also announced that if it can be arranged, the rehearsals and opening performance will be given in Plainfield as was done at the beginning of the present season.

Though built on conventional melodramatic lines, Gus Hill's production of "The Shoemaker," with Joe Welch in the title role, proved to be a splendid show of its kind at the New Plainfield theatre, Saturday, and pleased two large audiences. It has been given an unusually elaborate scenic mounting and Welsh fulfilled all the good reports that had been received about him in advance. The day was an auspicious one for Manager Counihan, for besides having Mr. Hill in the audience in the afternoon, the manager of the show is Joseph Mack, a young man not much over his majority, who Manager Counihan knew in St. Louis ten years ago as a boy in knee trousers. In those days he was an aspirant for a place at Havlin's theatre and the Plainfielder once put up a joke on him that is generally "hung" on to every beginner in theatrical circles. He was asked to get "the key to the curtain" just as many a Plainfield boy has been sent on a fool's errand to bring back a "round square." Mask was easy and when he entered the New Plainfield Saturday the salute that greeted him was, "Say, did you get the key to the curtain?" He was unaware until that moment that "Bill" Counihan was the owner and manager of the house and the surprise was a very agreeable one. He replied after handshaking was over that he had grown wise in ten years and that nowadays he let other people look for the "key." The advance man of the show is William Proctor, who managed the New Brunswick Opera House until a few weeks ago.

Queen City and Plainfield lodges, I. O. O. F., of this city, will attend a district meeting of the order to be held in Elizabeth, Tuesday night, February 26.

"PARACAMPH" For Inflammation

THE honest and convincing testimony of those who have used "Paracamph" is positive proof that it is unequalled as a specific for external inflammation. It cures burns, bruises or cuts and is a most effective remedy for chilblains. It instantly relieves pain, controls fever and prevents blood poisoning.

CHARACTER IN THE TONGUE.

Germany's Way of Sizing People Up Available Chiefly to Doctors.

Germany has taken up the pastime of reading character and telling fortunes by the tongue. Somebody has been making a study of the organ of speech and has discovered that it is full of indications.

A long tongue is said to denote openness of character, it suggests generosity and free handedness. Its possessor makes friends and enemies easily, but doesn't save money.

When the tongue is long and thick the openness degenerates into a tendency to gossip and scandal. The future of the owner is beset with troubles of his own making. It also indicates flightiness and inconstancy.

Short tongues indicate secretiveness and dissimulation. Their owners make good detectives and attorneys.

The owner may acquire some money by economy and guile, but has not largeness of spirit to make a great fortune. Thin pointed tongues are found in diffident people who do not succeed in life.

Short and broad ones accompany craft and falsehood; the person who has such a tongue is compelled by it to deceive and betray, whatever effort he may make to keep straight.

The vibrant, quavering tongue denotes the artistic temperament. Brilliant carmine hue is a sign of long life, pale pink tongue denotes weakness of character and delicacy of constitution.

"If it's all true," says a German newspaper, "it is lucky that it is only at the doctor and not at our friends that we stick out our tongues."

TWO TYPES OF LAWYERS.

But the Late Judge Thayer Was of a Different Kind.

A Philadelphian was praising for his learning and uprightness the late Judge M. Russell Thayer.

He quoted the moving passage from Judge Thayer's will:

"'Owing to the fact that almost my entire life has been passed in the public service of the United States and of the state of Pennsylvania, I have but a small estate to leave to my dear children and wife.'

"Those are different words," he said, "from the kind we have been hearing lately. It seems odd to us to think of a public servant regarding his post as anything but a plum tree. We have here another proof that a man really honorable can never become rich.

"Judge Thayer was an honorable man. First as a lawyer, afterwards as a judge, he treated all with whom he had dealings with the greatest fairness. Once, years ago, after he had served me well in a difficult case, I remonstrated with him about the smallness of his fee.

"'Well,' he said, smiling, and smelling the flower in his buttonhole. 'I, you know, am not that type of lawyer whose client once said:

"'I never was entirely ruined but twice. Once when I lost a lawsuit and once when I gained one.'"

Ade's Autobiography.

Met Henry W. Savage the other day, and accumulated the following quite characteristic story of George Ade. As of course you know, Mr. Savage produced "The Sultan of Sulu," "Peggy from Paris" and other comic operas of which Mr. Ade's prolific pen was the proud progenitor, and he was urging the Hoosier librettist to write another musical comedy for the Savage office.

"Can't do it, governor," cried Mr. Ade, shaking his head, gloomily; "can't do it; I can't write lyrics to save my immortal soul."

"You can't write lyrics?" echoed the tall manager. "Well I'd like to know what's the matter with 'R-e-m-o-r-s-e.'"

"Great Sulu's Sultan!" wailed Ade, grimly; "R-e-m-o-r-s-e wasn't a lyric; it was autobiography."

Repose.

The most beautiful thing about the New York clubman is his repose. If you want to be a successful clubman cultivate repose. Eat, drink, think and dream repose. Never hurry. Never get excited. Talk deliberately and mysteriously. Let your eyes droop. Never appear interested in anything. Make believe you have seen whatever of life that's fit or unfit to print and are looking only for rest. Let nothing surprise you. Appear bored. Avoid introductions. Be "at home" to nobody. Keep your hat on. Never shake hands.—New York Press.

Weaving Done by Nature.

As a weaver nature produces fine work. Certain tree barks and leaves furnish excellent cloth, as, for instance, the famous tapa cloth used in the South Sea islands. Nature is a glassmaker, too, according to the Indian Review. By discharging her lightning into beds of quartz sand she forms exquisite little pipes of glass. She makes valuable ropes of various kinds in the shape of tropical vines and creepers.

Busy Meanwhile.

"Lost your temper, eh?" said the father, sternly. "Didn't I tell you if any of the other boys ever said anything to make you angry, you should count 50 before you replied?"

"Yes, sir," replied the husky boy. But I didn't get time to count 50. Before I counted 20 the other feller yelled 'Enough.'"—Philadelphia Press.

Practical.

"What did she say when she heard he was dead in love with her?"

"She wanted to know if he carried any life insurance."

SHE COULDN'T FIND TIME.

Pathetic Story Containing Moral, Told by Ian Maclaren.

One of the prettiest of Ian Maclaren's stories is called "Only a Servant Lass," and it's only a servant lass who is the heroine of this story.

The oldest of a big family of children—a poor family, of course—her pitiful wages made the great part of the family living. So, of course, she hadn't time—nor money—to bother with doctors, she thought. But that swelling bothered her, and finally she went.

"Come back in a week or two," the doctor said, after giving her some medicine, "unless you're worse. If you are, come at once."

Six months later she "found time" to go back to see him. She had been getting rapidly worse, was suffering, but there was always something that needed to be done, and apparently no one else to do it.

It was a case of malignant tumor, and an immediate operation was the only chance she had.

Her mistress was ill—the woman she had been with so many years, who had been good to her family. So she stayed a while, did the housecleaning, nursed her mistress, helped until vacation came, and her younger sister could do her work without affecting her own school work.

And then? Then it was too late.

WOULD MAKE ANYONE ANGRY.

Carried Potatoes Six Miles; Camped in a Field of Them.

"Speaking of incidents, I saw a few in the four years I spent in the Union army during the civil war," said William Kingsland, a Union army veteran living at Bucklin, Mo.

"One time down in Georgia during Sherman's march to the sea, myself and another man dug about a bushel of sweet potatoes while on the march, expecting to cook them when we camped about a half mile further on. 'Grub' was pretty scarce in those days, and we valued those sweet potatoes pretty highly. Then we received orders to continue the march. We didn't suppose it would be much further, as it was already almost night, so we carried the sweet potatoes on a stick between us. We marched and marched and marched, and oh, but those potatoes grew heavy. Six miles from where we dug the potatoes we pitched camp—oh, but it makes me mad every time I think of it."

"Naturally," was the remark.

"Yes, naturally, seeing that we camped right on a great big field of sweet potatoes."

Those Evening Chimes.

Edgar Allan Poe is dead, and I do not want to say anything rude about him. In his poem of "The Bells" he seems to think that under certain conditions the mechanical banging of a clapper against large masses of metal may have pleasing qualities; possibly he now has a wider knowledge. But there are living versifiers, nothing if they are not sincere, who have written the praise of those Sabbath bells. They may also have written in praise of those practice nights. They may even have a sympathetic sonnet for the musicless rascal who tries to ring a hymn tune on a peal of bells which is not provided with the necessary accidental. (He gives the nearest match to the note that he has in stock, and I suppose he gets police protection on his way home from the abominable work). I want to get all these poets and tie them up together in a churchyard. I would then put several shifts of good, lusty, campanologists into the belfry and pay them to keep those bells going for the space of three days and three nights, having previously given me time to get out of ear-shot.—Barry Pain, in Black and White.

North Carolina Wonders.

Mr. Tom Pennell was down in Antioch last week and stayed over night with Mr. Moses Armstrong. He tells us that Mr. Armstrong has a wonderful pet pig, and he saw it himself with a broom sweeping out the yard. Of course the pig couldn't do as well at sweeping as some of his two-legged brethren, but it was wonderful to see how hard the pig worked and what progress he made. Mr. Armstrong says he has a wonderful gander, too. The gander will climb an apple tree, shake it and then get down and eat the apples. Mr. Penner says he did not see the gander, but after seeing the pig sweep he believed anything Mr. Armstrong told him—Wilkesboro Chronicle.

Walker Family Clash.

John T. Walker, of Turner, Me., is a character whose sayings are reported and whose doings told of pretty much all over that section of the state. Mrs. John, who is, by the way, John's only intellectual peer in those parts, one day discovered a hen's stolen nest containing 14 eggs. Upon examination, however, the eggs proved to be too aged for culinary purposes. Then these two intellects clashed.

Said the lady: "Tha' ain't no use wastin' uv 'em so we might's well set 'em."

"Huh!" retorted John, "what's the usen settin' uv 'em? They won't hatch; an' ef they do they'll all be fools."

It's Cigarettes Now.

The licorice trust is now on trial. There was a time when a licorice trust would have been a serious menace to the small boy, but he long ago graduated from the licorice habit.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

GOT THE DAUGHTER AND A JOB.

"So you want my daughter do you?" said the proprietor of the newspaper to the young man who was sitting nervously on the edge of a chair in the parlor.

"Yes, sir."

"Have you spoken to her on the subject?"

"She's willing, sir, and referred me to you."

"But how do you know you love her?"

"How do I know!" gasped the young man. "I give you my word, sir, that I haven't eaten a square meal in two months, and sleep is almost out of the question for thinking of her."

"Young man, there's some style to that talk. I think you may come into the family. I need a man of your ability to swear to the circulation of my paper."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

Victorious.

Two young men, both residents in a large Scottish city, met one day in the street.

"Weel, Tam," said the first, "I hear ye're in love wi' bonny Kate McAllister."

"I must say," replied the other, "I wis near—verra near—it; but the lass had nae siller, so I said to mysel', 'Mac, be a mon.' And I was a mon, and noo I pass her wi' silent contempt."

TWO DIFFERENT THINGS.

Maud—Do you think a man can marry on $1,200 a year?

Ethel—Yes, dear, he can marry on it, but he can't live on it.—Chicago Journal.

Hardened.

Mrs. Keyson—Wern't you frightened when the bull bellowed at you because of your new red costume?

Mrs. Puson—No; you see my husband went on just the same when he got the bill.

Then They Went Off.

"It strikes me that you are loaded," said the pistol to the double-barrel shotgun.

"Oh, not quite," rejoined the latter. "I'm only half-shot."

Whereupon they both exploded with laughter.—Chicago Daily News.

Knew Better.

"There's no changing a leopard's spots," remarked the visitor at the zoo.

"Oh, yes there is," said the keeper. "I saw a lion fighting with one once, and he knocked the spots clean out of him."—Detroit Free Press.

Married For Money.

"Here is an interesting item about a man who has married 1,400 times."

"Gracious! He must be some eastern potentate?"

"No, the item says he is an Indiana justice of the peace."—Houston Post.

Hard to Believe.

"I think Riggley is one of the politest men I ever met."

"I'm listening."

"He always thanks the telephone girl when she tells him the line is busy."—Milwaukee Sentinel.

When Love Does Fly.

"Love," remarked the sentimental maid, "makes time fly."

"It does during courtship," rejoined the young widow, "but after the parson has said his say, time begins to make love fly."—Chicago Daily News.

Why She Suffered.

"Yes, she is a woman who has suffered a great deal because of her belief."

"Indeed! And what is her belief?"

"That she can wear a No. 3 shoe on a No. 6 foot."—Royal Magazine.

Not Positive.

He—Are you fond of Chopin, Miss Fangle?

She—Yes, I enjoy it as a rule; but the shops are fearfully overcrowded just now.

As Evidence.

Employer—Have you had any experience as chauffeur?

Applicant—Well, I can show you receipts for all the fines I have paid.

Too Well Posted.

Jinks—How did you come to lose so much money on the races?

Winks—Got too many tips before I started.—N. Y. Weekly.

In the last volume I found a sheet of white note paper no larger than my hand, a forgotten book mark, I assumed, and half crumpled it in my fingers before I noticed the lines of a pencil sketch on one side of it. I carried it to the table and spread it out.

It was not the bit of idle penciling it had appeared to be at first sight. A scale had evidently been followed and the lines drawn with a ruler. With such trifles my grandfather had no doubt amused himself. There was a long corridor indicated, but of this I could make nothing. I studied it for several minutes, thinking it might have been a tentative sketch of some part of the house. In turning it about under the candelabrum I saw that in several places the glaze had been rubbed from the paper by an eraser, and this piqued my curiosity. I brought a magnifying glass to bear upon the sketch. The drawing had been made with a hard pencil and the eraser had removed the lead, but a well defined imprint remained.

I was able to make out the letters, N. W. ¾ to C.—a reference clearly enough to points of the compass and a distance. The word ravine was scrawled over a rough outline of a doorway or opening of some sort, and then the phrase:

THE DOOR OF BEWILDERMENT.

Now I am rather an imaginative person; that is why engineering captured my fancy. It was his efforts to make an architect (a person who quarrels with women about their kitchen sinks!) of a boy who wanted to be an engineer that caused me to break with my grandfather. Fate was busy with my affairs that night, for, instead of lighting my pipe with the little sketch I was strangely impelled to study it seriously.

I drew for myself rough outlines of the interior of Glenarm House as it had appeared to me, and then I tried to reconcile the little sketch with every part of it.

"The Door of Bewilderment" was the charm that held me. My curiosity was thoroughly aroused as to the hidden corners of the queer old house, round which the wind shrieked tormentingly. I went to my room, put on my corduroy coat, took a candle and went below. One o'clock in the morning is not the most cheering hour for exploring the dark recesses of a strange house, but I had resolved to have a look at the ravine opening and determine, if possible, whether it bore any relation to "The Door of Bewilderment."

All was quiet in the great cellar; only here and there an area window rattled dolorously. I carried a tape-line with me and made measurements of the length and depth of the corridor and of the chambers that were set off from it. These figures I entered in my notebook for further use, and sat down on an empty nail keg to reflect. The place was certainly substantial; the candle at my feet burned steadily with no hint of a draft; but I saw no solution of my problem. I was losing sleep for nothing; my grandfather's sketch was meaningless, and I rose and picked up my candle, yawning.

Then a curious thing happened. The candle, whose thin flame had risen unwaveringly, sputtered and went out as a sudden gust swept the corridor.

I had left nothing open behind me, but some one had gained ingress to the cellar by an opening of which I knew nothing.

I faced the stairway that led up to the back hall of the house when, to my astonishment, steps sounded behind me, and, turning, I saw a man carrying a lantern coming toward me. I marked his careless step; he was undoubtedly on familiar ground. As I watched him he paused, lifted the lantern to a level with his eyes and began sounding the outer corridor wall with a hammer.

Here, undoubtedly, was my friend Morgan—again! There was the same periodicity in the beat on the wall that I had heard in my own rooms. He began at the top and went methodically to the floor. I leaned against the wall where I stood and watched the slow approach of the lantern. The small revolver with which I had first fired at his flying figure in the wood was in my pocket. It was just as well to have it out with the fellow now. My chances were as good as his, though I confess I did not relish the thought of being found dead the next morning in the cellar of my own house. It pleased my humor to let him approach in this way, unconscious that he was watched, until I should thrust my pistol into his face.

His arms grew tired when he was about ten feet from me and he dropped the lantern and hammer to his side and swore under his breath impatiently.

Then he began again with greater zeal. As he came nearer I studied his face in the lantern's light with interest. His hat was thrust back, and I could see his jaw hard set under his blond beard.

He took a step nearer, ran his eyes over the wall and resumed his tapping, beginning close to the ceiling. In settling himself for the new series of strokes he swayed toward me slightly and I could hear his hard breathing. I was deliberating how best to throw myself upon him, but as I wavered he stepped back, swore at his ill luck and flung the hammer to the ground.

"Thanks!" I shouted, leaping forward and snatching the lantern. "Stand just where you are!"

With the revolver in my right hand and the lantern held high in my left, I enjoyed his utter consternation, as my voiced roared in the corridor.

"It's too bad we meet under such strange circumstances, Morgan," I said. "I'd begun to miss you; but I suppose you've been sleeping in the daytime to gather strength for your night prowling."

"You're a fool," he growled. He was recovering from his fright—I knew it by the gleam of his teeth in his yellow beard. His eyes, too, were moving restlessly about. He undoubtedly knew the house better than I did, and was considering the best means of escape. I did not know what to do with him now that I had him at the point of a pistol; and in my ignorance of his motives and my vague surmise as to the agency back of him, I was filled with uncertainty.

"You needn't hold that thing quite so near," he said, staring at me coolly.

"I'm glad it annoys you, Morgan," I said. "I want you to tell me how you got in here."

He laughed.

"I came in by the kitchen window, if you must know. I got in before your solemn jack-of-all-trades locked it up, and I walked down to the end of the passage there"—he indicated the direction with a slight jerk of his head—"and slept until it was time to go to work."

"If you can't lie better than that you needn't try again. Face about, now, and march!"

I put new energy into my tone, and he turned and walked before me down the corridor in the direction from which he had come. We were, I dare say, a pretty pair—he tramping doggedly before me, I following at his heels with his lantern and my pistol.

"Not so fast," I admonished sharply.

"Excuse me," he replied mockingly.

He was no common rogue; I felt the quality in him with a certain admiration for his scoundrelly talents.

I continued at his heels, poking the muzzle of the revolver against his back from time to time to keep him assured of my presence—a device that I was to regret a second later.

When we were, I should judge, about ten yards from the end of the corridor, at that moment I prodded him with the point of the revolver, he fell backward against me, threw his arms over his head and grasped me about the neck, meanwhile turning himself lithely until his fingers clasped my throat. The lantern fell from my hand and one or the other of us smashed it with our feet.

A wrestling match in that dark hole was not to my liking. I still held onto the revolver, waiting for a chance to use it, and meanwhile he tried to throw me, forcing me bask against one side and then another of the corridor.

With a quick rush he flung me away, and in the same second I fired.

He Flung Me Away and in the Same Second I Fired.

The roar of the shot in the narrow corridor was deafening. I flung myself on the floor, expecting a return shot, and quickly enough a flash broke upon the darkness dead ahead, and I rose to my feet, fired again and leaped to the oposite side of the corridor and crouched there. We had adopted the same tactics, firing and dodging to avoid the target made by the flash of our pistols, and watching and listening after the roar of the explosions. It was a very pretty game, but not destined to last long. He was slowly retreating toward the end of the passage where there was, I remembered, a dead wall. His only chance was to crawl through an area window I knew to be there, and this would, I felt sure, give him into my hands.

After five shots apiece there was a truce. The pungent smoke of the powder caused me to cough, and he laughed.

"Have you swallowed a bullet, Mr. Glenarm?" he called.

I could hear his feet scraping on the cement floor; he was moving away from me, doubtless intending to fire when he reached the area window and escape before I could reach him. I crept warily after him, ready to fire on the instant, but not wishing to throw away my last cartridge.

He was now very near the end of the corridor. I heard his feet strike some boards that I remembered lay on the floor there, and I was nerved for a shot and a hand-to-hand struggle, if it came to that.

I was sure that he sought the window; I heard his hands on the wall as he felt for it. Then a breath of cold air swept the passage, and I knew that he must be drawing himself up to the opening. I fired and dropped to the floor. With the roar of the explosion I heard him yell, but the expected return shot did not follow.

The pounding of my heart seemed to mark the passing of hours. I feared my foe was playing some trick, creeping toward me, perhaps, to fire at close range, or to grapple with me in the dark. The cold air whistled into the corridor, and I began to feel the chill of it. Being fired upon is disagreeable enough, but waiting in the dark for the shot is intolerable. I rose and walked toward the end of the passage.

Then his revolver flashed and roared directly ahead, the flame of it so near that it blinded me and the wad of the cartride burned and stung my cheek. I fell forward dazed and blinded, but shook myself together in a moment and got upon my feet. The draft of air no longer blew into the passage. Morgan had taken himself off through the window and closed it after him. I made sure of this by going to the window and feeling it with my hands.

I went back and groped about for my candle, which found without difficulty and lighted. I then returned to the window to examine the catch. To my utter astonishment it was fastened with staples, driven deep into the sash in such a way that it could not possibly have been opened without an expenditure of time and labor.

My eyes smarted from the smoke of the last shot, and my cheek stung where the wadding had struck my face. I was alive, but in my vexation and perplexity not I fear, wholly grateful for my safety. It was, however, some consolation to feel sure I had winged the enemy.

I gathered up the fragments of Morgan's lantern and went back to the library. The lights in half the candlesticks had sputtered out. I extinguished the remainder and started to my room.

Then, in the great dark hall, I heard a muffled tread as of some one following me—not on the broad staircase, nor in any place I could identify—yet unmistakably on steps of some sort beneath or above me. My nerves were already keyed to a breaking pitch, and the ghost-like tread in the wall angered me. Morgan, or his ally, Bates, undoubtedly, O reflected, at some new trick. I ran into my room, found a heavy walking stick and set off for Bates' room on the third floor. It was always easy to attribute any sort of mischief to the fellow, and undoubtedly he was crawling through the house somewhere on an errand that boded no good to me.

It was now past two o'clock and he should have been asleep and out of the way long ago. I crept to his room and threw open the door without, I must say, the slightest idea of finding him there. But Bates, the enigma, Bates, the incomparable cook, the perfect servant, sat at a table, the light of several candles falling on a book over which he was bent with that maddening gravity he had never yet in my presence thrown off.

He rose at once, stood at attention, inclining his head slightly.

"Yes, Mr. Glenarm."

"Yes, the devil!" I roared at him, astonished at finding him—sorry, I must say, that he was there! The stick fell from my hands. I did not doubt he knew perfectly well that I had some purpose in breaking in upon him. I was baffled and in my rage floundered for words to explain myself.

"I thought I heard some one in the house. I don't want you prowling about in the night, do you hear?"

"Certainly not, sir," he replied in a grieved tone.

I glanced at the book he had been reading. It was a volume of Shakespeare's comedies, open at the first scene of the last act of "Winter's Tale."

"Quite a pretty bit of work that, I should say," he remarked. "It was one of my late master's favorites."

"Go to the devil!" I bawled at him, and went down to my room and slammed the door in rage and chagrin.

HUDSON CITY TEAM TAKES TERRIBLE CRACK AT THE SUFFERERS.

The Plainfield team has discovered its mission in the Y. M. C. A. basketball league. It is to furnish a peg for other teams to hang records on. The fact was forced in on the players Saturday night, when Hudson City piled a record-breaking total of points on them. The game was played in Hoboken.

It was one of the m ost remarkable basketball games ever played by two Y. M. C. A. teams in New Jersey. The size of the final score made the contest most unusual.

Most remarkable was the feat of Ferling, of the victorious five, who threw 21 baskets from the field, which is probably the greatest number ever scored by a Y. M. C. A. player in a like contest in this State. Certainly it is the best record this season in the Northern New Jersey Y. M. C. A. League. The best figure made previously was that of Vreeland, of Newark, who scored fifteen baskets. Plainfield was the victim in that contest, also.

It is needless to say that Plainfield never had a chance, though her men put up a game fight. They were simply outclassed. It was a peculiar coincidence that every man on both teams made at least one basket. The score:

Hudson City.		Plainfield.
Funk	right forward	Gilmore
Fischer	left forward	Collier
Ferling	centre	Aalholm

Score at end of first half—Hudson City 35, Plainfield 12. Goals from field—Funk 8, Fischer 8, Ferling 21, Neidhardt 4 Vogel, Gilmore 4, Collier 2, Aalholm 2, Gavett, Loizeaux. Free throws—Neidhardt 2, Gilmore. Referee—Bierhalf, Jersey City. Umpire—Flood, Jersey City. Time of halves—20m.

Orange held her lead in the league by defeating Rahway badly, 46 to 14. Montclair overwhelmed Passaic 17 to 4.

Standing of the teams:

	W.	L.	PC.
Orange	8	1	.889
Hudson City	9	2	.818
Montclair	7	2	.778
Newark	4	4	.500
Rahway	2	7	.222
Passaic	1	8	.111
Plainfield	1	8	.111

NEW BRUNSWICK GIRLS OUTPLAYED BY P. H. S.

VISITORS' CAPTAIN HURT DURING THE FRAY—SCORE 30 TO 1.

The girls' basketball team of the Plainfield High School easily defeated the girls' team from the New Brunswick High School on the P. H. S. court, Saturday afternoon, the final score being 30 to 1. Miss May Bogan scored the only point for her team, throwing a goal in the first half from a foul. The local team had things much their own way from start to finish and not once was there any danger of their losing the game.

This was the first contest that the New Brunswick girls had played away from home and they were naturally timid. Besides, early in the first half, their captain, Miss Eva VanDeventer, fell and severely sprained her ankle. A physician was called and he discovered that no bones were broken. The captain's position was taken by Miss Estelle Carson.

The local team played a strong, fast and clean game throughout. Miss Barbara Fleming and Miss Gertrude Moody threw most of the goals for their team and excelled in general play. The Misses Louise Andrews, Bessie Alpaugh and Esther Crampton also distinguished themselves. They were encouraged by the cheering and singing by the high school boys.

At the end of the first half the score stood 11 to 1 and at the end of the second half, 19 to 1, a total of 30 to 1. The line-up:

Plainfield — Forwards, Barbara Fleming, Gertrude Moody; center, Louise Andrews; guards, Bessie Alpaugh, Esther Crampton.

New Brunswick—Forwards, Estelle Carson, Eva VanDeventer, May Bogan; center, Estelle Dunham; guards, Ethel TenBroeck, Emma Dewald, Jessie Morrison, Helen Bashond.

Referee, F. W. Lease, New Brunswick; umpire, Miss Antoinette Moody; linesmen, Miss Harriet Knox and Miss Middlekauff, Plainfield.

BOYS' FIVE LOST.

Got an Unusual Taste of Defeat in Summit.

The Y. M. C. A. junior team of Summit took revenge on the Plainfield junior five at basketball Saturday afternoon for the defeat sustained in this city a few weeks ago, by capturing the game 21 to 10. The first half was very even, the score standing 10 to 8 at its conclusion, in favor of the locals. The second period, however, went all Summit's way, the local boys scoring 11 points, at the same time holding the visitors down to 2. It was the first game the Plainfield boys had lost in twelve contests. The line-up:

Summit.		Plainfield.
Carmen		Bohan
Jones	right forward	Conroy
Buckley	left forward	Caldwell
Alesbury	centre	Overton
Thompson	right guard	Morris

Score at end of first half—Summit 10, Plainfield 8. Goals from field—Alesbury 3, Jones 3, Carmen 3, Buckley 2, Bohan 2, Conroy, Caldwell, Morris. Free throw—Alesbury. Referee—E. Buckley. Time of halves—20m.

BOWLING.

A five-man team composed of P. L. Gaddis, "Steady Bill" Dilks, Louis Skelly, George Voehl and F. J. Blatz, will go to New Brunswick tonight and roll Greewald's team on the latter's alleys. A return game will take place in Plainfield in a week or two.

The first of a series of games to be rolled between teams from Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., of this city, and Newark Lodge, of Newark, will be rolled on McLaughlin's alleys tomorrow night. The Plainfield team will be c aptained by George E. Firstbrook and will comprise himself, Elmer D. Cutting, John H. Cose, V. W. Nash and Philip Jahn. The Newarkers will be entertained at the close of the game. The second contest in the series will be rolled on the Tuxedo alleys, Newark.

Games scheduled in the McLaughlin tourney tomorrow night are as follows: Mack and Meyer against Blatz and VanEmburgh; Nash and Skelley against Causebrook and McLaughlin. There will also be tourney games on Wednesday and Thursday nights but none on Friday on account of its being a holiday.

With all due respect to Chief Kiely and Judge Runyon, the big gallery at McLaughlin's Friday night, was sorry that Koons and Skinner didn't beat the high team score of 446. They had such a splendid chance to get at least 450, but when Koons fell down on an easy spare an involuntary groan went up. But Koons and Skinner are a couple of cheerful losers and also good bowlers and the municipal team will remain on the anxious seat as long as the two are out for laurels.

BASKETBALL.

The Plainfield High School basketball team will play the team from Erasmus Hall School, of New York, on the P. H. S. court Wednesday afternoon.

Another Sea-Food Market.

Gustave Hoffman, formerly with Rogers and Ivamy, sea-food dealers, will engage in the fish business for himself on March 1, when he will open a first-class market on West Front street, adjoining the store of Demolli, the caterer.

Harry McGee, of Orchard place, the borough, underwent an operation at his home today for appendicitis.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. R. C. Fisher.

Mrs. Catharine Fisher, wife of Richard C. Fisher, died at her home on West Fourth street, Saturday night, after several months' illness. She was first affected by a paralytic stroke that developed dropsy and other complaints and caused her end. It was while visiting at her home after first taken ill that Mrs. Sarah Lincoln, of Arlington avenue, was stricken with paralysis and died at the house. Mrs. Fisher was seventy-four years old and had lived in Plainfield for a long time. She conducted a store opposite the Franklin school and adjoining her home for many years and will be remembered by many local men and women who patronized her as children. She leaves three daughters, Mrs. Leggett, wife of J. Howard Leggett, who conducted a drug store in the Y. M. C. A. building when it was first erected, but who now lives at Morristown; Mrs. Victor Christofferson, of Perth Amboy, and Miss Annie Fisher, who lives with Mrs. Leggett. She was a member of the First M. E. church. The funeral will be held at her late home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Robert Mills.

Robert Mills, a former resident of this city, died at his home on Seventy-Fourth street, New York, Saturday, following an illness from pneumonia. He was in his sixty-seventh year and left Plainfield two years ago. He was a carpenter by trade. A wife, two daughters and a son survive him. The body will be brought to this city and the funeral will be held at the W. C. T. U. rooms tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Miss Heideloff Surprised.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas H. Heideloff, of West Front street, gave their daughter, Miss Lulu Heideloff, a surprise party Saturday night, in honor of her eighteenth birthday anniversary. When she arrived home from New York, where she now holds a position, she was greeted by thirty relatives and friends to wish her many happy returns of the day. She received many gifts, including a gold watch from her father. After a pleasant evening, during which there was vocal and instrumental music and games, supper was served. There were guests present from New York, Newark, Orange and this city.

Y. W. C. A. Conference.

Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, of East Front street, has issued invitations to a parlor conference to be held at her home, "Sunnyside," Thursday afternoon, February 28, at 4 o'clock, for the purpose of furthering plans for the organization of a Young Women's Christian Association in Plainfield. At that conference Miss Brownell, Miss Holenquist and Miss Snider, of New York, will speak of the work of the Y. W. C. A. Tomorrow night a public meeting is to be held at Warren chapel, when Miss Snider will be present and speak concerning the plan to organize an association here.

Holiday Attractions.

The Y. M. C. A. Washington's Birthday attractions include a strong musical and literary programme for the evening's entertainment. The Mendelssohn Concert Company, each member of which is strongly endorsed by the press, includes Marguerite Smith Alkire, whose reputation as a reader is already established in this city, having appeared in the association course at previous engagements. The announcement of the Robertson Projectoscope Company also assures the public for a good programme for the matinee.

Postal Card Showers.

"Postal showers" are taking the place of birthday parties in South Jersey. When a celebration of the "shower" kind is planned word is sent around that a birthday anniversary will occur on a certain date. That is sufficient. The mails are so timed that the postal cards usually arrive all at once.

Funeral of H. Frances Allen.

The funeral of Henry Frances Allen was held at the Church of the Holy Cross church this morning. It was conducted by Rev. George A. Warner and was attended by a pathering of relatives and friends. The body was sent to Brooklyn for interment in Greenwood cemetery.

Death of An Infant.

Donald E. Bush, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Rowland Bush, died at the home of the parents in Dunellen, yesterday. Funeral services will be held at the residence of the parents Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

THEIR FAVORITE BEVERAGES.

What Some of the World's Great Men Preferred to Drink.

The entertaining author of "Collections and Recollections" has been writing on the favorite beverages of great men. Thackeray's choice was claret. He said that "our intellect ripens with good cheer and throws off surprising crops under the influence of that admirable liquid, claret." Mr. Gladstone, to whom the other pleasures of the table meant nothing, was a stickler for port, a believer in it, a judge of it. Mr. Russell says that the only feeble speech he ever heard from Gladstone was made after dinner at an otherwise hospitable house, where wine was not suffered to appear.

Lord Tennyson drank his bottle of port every day, and drank it undecanted, for, as he justly observed, a decanter holds only eight glasses, but a black bottle nine. Mr. Browning, if he could have his own way, drank port all through dinner, as well as after it. Sir Moses Montefiore, who lived to complete his hundred years, drank a bottle of port wine every day after he came to man's estate. Mr. Finching, the wine merchant in "Little Dorritt," thought champagne "weak but palatable," and Lord St. Jerome, in "Lothair," was esteemed by the young men a patriot "because he always gave his best champagne at his ball suppers."—Town and Country.

WOMAN IN STRANGE FIELDS.

Exploration and Discovery No Longer Left to the Sterner Sex.

Not long ago the triumph of a woman who had ascended one of the Himalaya peaks to a height hitherto unequaled by any mountain climber was duly chronicled. A few days later a foreign news item announced the arrival in South Africa of an American young woman who seeks the jungle in order to study the language of the monkey tribe. She is alone in her daring quest and appears to have a full realization of its perils.

Still another venturesome woman is Margaret Selenka, of German birth, who is to head an important scientific expedition to Java in the early part of the coming year. She goes there in the endeavor to establish the identity of a fossil man-ape found on the island, as the so-called missing link.

It is evident that these women are admitting no handicap because of their sex. They are courageously entering regions that few men have penetrated and their action suggests that it may not be long before the supremacy of the sterner sex in the fields of exploration and discovery will be very seriously questioned.

A Wonderful Country.

"Eastern visitors to the west are generally prepared for any phenomenal showing in the line of agriculture, stock-raising and the like," says a Colorado man, "but once in awhile they are taken by surprise.

"A New Hampshire man, who was spending his vacation on the ranch of a relative in Colorado, went out one morning to inspect a large incubator in which the young chicks were hatching. In one corner of the incubator a neglected peach-seed, encouraged by the warmth of the atmosphere, had burst, and a tiny sprout several inches long was growing out of it.

"'Suffering Caesar!' exclaimed the New Hampshire man, as this caught his eye, 'do you hatch out your peaches in this country?'"—Harper's Weekly.

Fishermen Use Wireless.

The wireless telephone, it is claimed, has successfully entered into the deep-sea fishing industry. For the last week experiments have been conducted by the wireless telegraph station at Brant Rock, which is equipped with a wireless telephone, with a small vessel stationed among the fleet of the south shore fishermen 12 miles out in Massachusetts bay. Recently, it is asserted, the fishermen wished to learn the prices ruling in the Boston market. The operator on the wireless-fitted boat called up Brant Rock, and telephoned the fishermen's request. The land operator asked Boston, and the answer was forwarded back to the fishermen.—N. Y. Post.

Condensation With a Vengeance.

A Kansas editor is said to have entertained extreme ideas with reference to the value of a "condensed style." On one occasion owing to lack of space he wielded his pencil at the end of a syndicate serial story with this result in the way of compression: "Reginald took a small brandy, then his hat, his departure, besides no notice of his pursuers, meantime a revolver out of his pocket and lastly his own life."

Underdone.

Bobby gazed critically at his new baby brother.

"Don't you like him, dear?" asked the nurse.

"Y—es," he admitted. "But don't you think you ought to send him back for a minutes? He's too rare!"—Cleveland Leader.

Might Head Her Off.

"Henry," said Mrs. Peck, "I am going to get a phonograph and talk into it, so that if I happen to die first you can still hear my voice."

"Perhaps," replied Henry, hopefully, "I will die first."—Houston Post.

Relief in the Baby's Cries.

"Why doesn't your wife sing to the baby when she cries?"

"She used to, until she discovered that the neighbors preferred to hear the baby."—Cleveland Leader.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

At Grace M. E. church Wednesday night, the fourth quarterly conference will be held. Presiding Elder Rev. Dr. O'Halloran will be in attendance.

For the benefit of Marconnier chapel at Oak Tree, a supper will be held at the parsonage on Park avenue, opposite the Driving Park, Tuesday night, March 5.

Mrs. John M. Whiton will present a paper on "Porto Rico," at a meeting of the Women's Association of the Congregational church in the church tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A meeting of the Home Mission Circle of the Park Avenue Baptist church will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. T. Ostrom, No. 748 Carlton avenue.

The women of Grace M. E. church have completed arrangements for a "Mother Goose" bazaar to be held Thursday and Friday nights. From the plans it promises to be unique in many respects and will provide wholesome entertainment for all who atend. Mrs. Parsons is chairman of the committee in charge.

The second entertainment under the auspices of the Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will be held in the chapel Tuesday night, February 26. Mrs. Minnie Marshall-Smith will give recitations and a trio of stringed instruments will render musical selections. The third entertainment will be held in March, when Charles Battell Loomis will read selections from his works.

A class in forward mission study, which deals with the subject of Americanizing immigrants, has been organized among the people of the Seventh-Day Baptist church. The first meeting was held last night in the church parlors under the leadership of Mrs. Sarah Wardner, who will have charge of the class. The plan is to meet every Sunday night, with the exception of the third Sunday of each month on which occurs the regular meeting of the Men's Club. Each member is provided with a text book and every week he receives a special topic which he will be prepared to discuss at the next meeting. In this way the members hope to get a clearer conception of the immigration question. Some time during the course they plan to visit Ellis Island.

CITY JOTTINGS.

BRONX CORONER STARTS PROBING CENTRAL WRECK.

Official Inquiry This Afternoon—The List of Victims of Railroad Disaster.

New York, Feb. 18.—The official investigation into the cause of the wreck of the New York Central's electric train near Bedford Park station on Saturday night, wherein twenty persons were killed and 147 injured, began today at 1 o'clock in the coroner's office, at Tremont and Third avenues, the Bronx.

Coroner Schwannecke was busy all day yesterday visiting hospitals, police stations and all other places that suggested the possibility of acquiring information as to the identity of some of the unrecognizable dead and information as to the rate of speed at which the train was traveling from such of the living as were able to talk to him on the subject.

There was a difference in the reports as to the number of wounded, the minimum number being placed at 147 and the mixmum at 153 persons.

Can't Appoint Brigadier.

The deadlock over the brigadier generalship of the Second Brigade, National Guard, is causing all sorts of gossip among the guardsmen. Colonel Dennis F. Collins, of the Second Regiment, as senior officer, is acting as brigadier general. Attorney General McCarter declares that the only constitutional way of selecting a commander is by the votes of the field officers of the regiments, and this precludes the breaking of the deadlock by an appointment by Governor Stokes.

Farmhand Got Drunk.

William Dalton, forty-five years old, a Samptown farmhand, was arrested Saturday night for drunkenness. He pleaded four months of total abstinence and steady farm work as an excuse in court this morning. Judge Runyon said it was a good one and suspended sentence.

TEACHERS' PAY RAISED

Board of Education Authorizes Increase Approximately $100 a Year.

NEW STUDENTS FIXED

Present Appropriation Will Not Permit It to Go Into Effect Until Next September.

At a special meeting of the city Board of Education last night the first steps were taken toward giving every principal and teacher in the local schools a substantial increase in salary. It will amount to practically $100 annually in each instance, but will not go into effect until September 1 next, as the appropriation of this year was based on the present schedule. The matter has been under consideration by the the board for several months and was brought to a head by the introduction of a resolution, calling for the increase. It was passed unanimously with the salaries graded as follows:

Grade teachers and kindergartens, minimum salary $550, maximum $800; maximum for assistants in kindergarten $700; increase $50 annually the first three years, then $25 annually, until the maximum is reached.

Upon recommendation of superintendent and principal, a teacher of a seventh grade class may receive $50 additional and a teacher of an eighth grade $100 additional during the time of assignment to such a grade.

Assistants in high school, male assistant, minimum $1,000, maximum $1,800.

Female assistants, minimum $700, maximum $1,200.

Increase, $100 annually for two years, then $50 annually until maximum is reached.

Upon recommendation of superintendent and principal, a teacher in charge of a class room may receive $100 additional during assignment to that position.

The increase for a teacher in any year may be withheld by the board in case the teacher's work is not approved by the superintendent and the principal.

Principals of graded schools, maximum $1,400. When a principal is not receiving the maximum, the increase will be $100 annually until the maximum is reached.

Vice-principals may receive $100 in addition to their salaries as teacher of a class.

The board also discussed informally the plans for the new school to be erected at Darrow avenue and Essex street. The architecture, size and cost are still in a tentative stage but the building committee hopes to reach a material point within a few weeks. It was intended to put up a structure costing about $75,000, but because of the high price of materials a lot of figuring will have to be done in order to get a large enough building for the money.

MR. MAC MURRAY DECLINES.

Pressure of Business Interests Prevents His Occupying His Time With City Committee Work.

The most important political happening in some time, is the declination of City Clerk James T. MacMurray to serve as a member of the Republican City Committee's sub-committees. It is reported in political circles that Mr. MacMurray will resign from the committee.

When seen by a reporter for The Daily Press today, Mr. MacMurray declined to make any statement, excepting to say that his refusal to serve on the committees is due solely to the pressure of business interests.

Funeral of Charles Giese.

The funeral of Charles Giese, who died suddenly at his home in Washington Valley, Saturday afternoon, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Caspar Waglow, of Elm place. The service was in charge of Rev. C. H. Schneegas, pastor of the German Reformed church, assisted by Rev. Mr. Hauser, of New York, a former pastor, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives and friends. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery, the pall bearers being members of the local police force, on which Mr. Giese served for nine years. They were Patrolmen Martin Vanderweg, Andrew Saffron, William Vanderweg, Andrew Saffron, Nicholas Meyers, Frank Stillwell, George Dobson and Dennis O'Keefe.

TALK ON PRIMITIVE MAN

George Wharton James Lectures on Primitive Arts and Crafts.

AT THE CASINO

Before the Monday Afternoon Club—His Descriptions Prove Very Interesting.

The lecture on "Primitive Arts and Crafts," given by George Wharton James before the Monday Afternon Club at the Casino, yesterday, was enthusiastically received by a large audience. The talk was given in connection with the club's study of "Primitive Man in America," covering the latter part of the club year.

Mr. Wharton prefaced his remarks with the statement that his accounts of the primitive arts and crafts of the Indians of the Southwest were not theories but facts gained by a long residence among them. The development of mentality in the Indian, he said, was shown by his work, the first step taken by primitive man being the art of war and hunting and that of woman being domestic inventions. He vividly described the crude process of maize planting, maize grinding that led to the primitive mill, the invention of traps for catching fish and animals, the ingenious construction of the bow and arrow, the braiding of mats that led to weaving, basket making, pottery, the beginning of masonry and the building of their simple homes. Mr. Wharton said they learned these crafts by keeping themselves in constant contact with nature and made a plea for teaching children to observe rather than gain all their knowledge from books.

In connection with their home making the speaker referred to their religious ceremonies, each step of their work being accompanied with a petition for a blessing on their deeds and he contrasted some of the shams of civilization with the simplicity and honesty of the Indian.

In describing the baskets and blankets made by these primitive people, the artistic quality was brought to notice. "Art," Mr. Wharton quoted, "was the expression of a man's joy in his work" and some of the baskets he exhibited had claim to the perfection of art, thus considered. The baskets, he said, became enshrinements of woman's prayers, hopes, aspirations, love and despair. One beautiful specimen he said represented the light of the morning with the dark points of the Luca leaves reflected on the background; another wrought with doves, enshrined the woman's thought of life in the companionship of her prospective husband and one marked with a large star surrounded by smaller ones was the enshrinement of Romona's love and despair. Mr. Wharton's lecture recalled the old thought of the poet, "Lo! the poor Indian, whose undereloved mind Sees God in the cloud and rears Him in the wind."

POLICE BOARD MEETS.

Mayor to Communicate With Council Monday Night.

The police board held a lengthy session last night in the office of Mayor Charles J. Fisk, when important matters concerning the police department were discussed. The board decided not to give out for publication the result of the conference, but Mayor Fisk will persent a communication to the Common Council Monday night on the subject. It is presumed that the question of appointments was taken up last night, especially those to fill the newly-created offices of captain, sergeant and detective sergeant which were held up at a previous meeting and subsequently withdrawn by Mr. Fisk.

Miss Hudson Among the Killed.

Miss Clara L. Hudson, of Minneapolis, daughter of Joseph B. Hudson, who spent Sunday, February 10, with her friend, Miss Norma Northrup, of 97 Mercer avenue, was killed in the accident on the Harlem Division of the New York Central Saturday night. She was a member of a party of eight young women from the school who attended a matinee performance in New York and were returning home on the train which was wrecked. The other young women escaped with injuries.

Middlesex's Best 'Squire.

Justice of the Peace Rene P. F. Von Minden, of New Market, who has a law office in the Marsh building, is the prize 'squire of Middlesex county. When the county court had completed its investigation of the justices' books, 'Squire Von Minden was told that his docket was the most complete and satisfactory in the county. He has turned in more fines under the disorderly act than any other justice.

FAVOR SEPARATE PLANT

Borough Sewage Commission to Recommend to Council an Independent System.

KILLS CONSOLIDATION ?

At Meeting At Park Club Report of G. W. Fuller, the Expert, Is Thoroughly Discussed.

Preliminary negotiations are underway, it is said, for the purchase of a farm in North Plainfield township for the purpose of building a sewage disposal plant to be used by the borough. If the action of the sewage commission is favorably received by the North Plainfield Council, the movement to consolidate that municipality with Plainfield will be dealt a death blow it is generally believed.

A meeting of the commission was held at the Park Club last night and a free discussion was held at that time on the report of the expert, Geo. W. Fuller, of the firm of Herring & Fuller, of New York. Mr. Fuller has been working on the matter for months past and the matter is now in such shape that the committee will communicate with the borough fathers at their next meeting. It appeared to be the consensus of opinion that it would be cheaper and better for the borough to erect and maintain an independent sewage disposal plant rather than to connect with the Plainfield system.

W. J. Buttfield, as chairman of the commission, presided at last night's conference and among the other members present were Edwin S. Hooley, N. B. Smalley and C. W. McCutcheon. It is understood that a majority of the members are opposed to consolidation; at least that was the opinion stated by one of the members this morning.

CLERGY "STAND PAT" ON BISHOPS BILL

INTER-DENOMINATIONAL COMMITTEE HOLDS POW-WOW AT TRENTON.

The Inter-denominational Committee, composed of prominent Bishops and clergymen of the State, who so successful fought for the present Bishops' law, held a meeting in the Trenton House, Trenton, yesterday afternoon, and after a short discussion, agreed to "stand pat" on the present liquor law and to assist with all their influence any attempt to change it. They will refuse any compromise. All of the bills which have been introduced in the Legislature were carefully gone over, and none of them found favor with the committee.

The following were among the prominent clergymen present: Bishop John Scarborough of the Episcopal church, Bishop James A. McFaul of the Roman Catholic church, the Rev. Father John Bryan, of Jersey City, the Rev. Father Charles, of Hoboken, the Rev. John H. Fox, pastor of the leading Methodist church in Trenton; Dr. George B. Wight, Methodist, and State Commissioner of Charities; the Rev. Henry Collin Minton, former moderator of the PresbyterianGeneral Assembly; the Rev. Hugh B. MacAuley, Presbyterian, of Trenton; the Rev. E. J. Knight, Episcopalian, Trenton; S. H. Hann, Secretary of the Law and Order Society of Camden, and Peter Backes, Trenton, Secretary of the committee.

The conference was held behind closed doors, but at the end it was given out that there was the utmost harmony among the clergy, and they are all firm on the policy of fighting any attempt of the present Legislature to touch excise legislation. The screens down during forbidden hours and the joint liability of the tenant and the landlord are features of the Bishops' law which the committee will especially fight to retain.

Favor Local Option Bill.

By a rising vote the congregation at Warren chapel, on Sunday, voted to petition the Legislature to pass the local option bill which it is proposed to introduce at the present session. The wish of the congregation will be expressed to the local representatives in the Legislature.

Crushed His Fingers.

While at work in a new building a few days ago, Max Neuman, Jr., of Spooner avenue, a plumber's apprentice, had several fingers crushed by the falling of a water-back. They were dressed by a physician and he will be detained from work for several weeks.

Mrs. George White, of the borough, has returned from Millstone, where she was called by the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Hoagland.

QUOTATIONS IN THE P. P. A. REPORT TILT

COUNCILMAN MONTGOMERY DENIES ALLEGATIONS OF R. H DEPEW.

Councilman F. L. Montgomery, who figured in the incident leading to the resignation of W. L. Saunders from the Plainfield Protective Association, and the subsequent epistolary exchange between Mr. Saunders and R. Henry Depew, president of the Protective Association, added a side shot to the politely conducted duel this morning.

"On January 28," said Mr. Montgomery to a reporter, "there appeared in The Daily Press the following statement: 'The report of Alfred Spice, of New York, the expert employed by the Plainfield Protective Association to investigate the lighting service of the Public Service Corporation in this city, was made public today.'

"On January 29 I received a communication from R. Henry Depew, dated January 28, in which he said, 'I am sending you under separate cover report of our examination of the lights in Plainfield.'

"As I read in your paper of the 28th the P. P. A. report and from it was first made acquainted with the contents thereof, the statement of Mr. Depew in the issue of February 16 is not borne out by the facts in the case. Mr. Depew wrote: 'Moreover, it is not true that the report was given to the press before it was furnished to the Council.' Comment is unnecessary."

In his letter on the reasons leading to his resignation Mr. Saunders made the incident in which Mr. Montgomery was invited to retire from a meeting of the P. P. A. executive committee meeting a prominent feature.

PLAN TO MERGE P. P. A. AND BOARD OF TRADE

OFFICER OF ONE BELIEVES THAT CONSOLIDATION WOULD BE BENEFICIAL.

That the Plainfield Protective Association, which is composed of a couple of hundred representative men of Plainfield and North Plainfield be merged with the Board of Trade is the proposition advanced by one of the head officers of the latter body. It is argued by him that much more work can be accomplished by combining forces than for two independent bodies working separately.

For some reason unknown, the meetings of the Board of Trade have been poorly attended in recent years. At some sessions not more than eight or ten are present, although the membership includes practically all the local merchants and business men generally. On the other hand, much interest is being taken in the Protective Association work, which is practically that which should be done by the former body. The proposition is to consolidate the two bodies and elect entirely new officers.

Will Ask for Clemency.

The following persons who have filed their petitions with the pardon clerk at Trenton will apply to the Court of Pardons at the March term for the exercise of clemency: John Galbraith, convicted of criminal assault, February, 1906; term of sentence, three years; term expires, September, 1908. Peter Linzer, convicted of criminal assault, February, 1906; term of sentence, two years; term expires, November, 1907. William Ross, convicted of criminal assault, February, 1906; term of sentence, two years; term expires, November, 1907.

Shooting Matches.

F. C. Bissett, of South River, will shoot his postponed match of 100 birds, $25 a side, with Thomas Brantingham, at the latter's roadhouse, Park avenue, Thursday afternoon. The match was to have been held last Thursday, but Bissett was ill with grip. He has recovered and sent word this morning that he would be on hand this week. Brantingham will also shoot John Belloff, of New Brunswick, Thursday afternoon, 100 birds, $25 a side. The matches will begin at 2 o'clock.

First Rehearsal of "Pinafore."

The first rehearsal of "Pinafore" will be held at the Casino tonight by the Plainfield Operatic Association. It is also expected that there will be a report presented concerning the last opera, "The Chimes of Normandy."

Yale Club Dinner March 15.

The Plainfield Yale Club has changed the date for holding its annual dinner at the Casino from March 8 to 15. An effort will be made by the club to bring the Yale Glee Club to Plainfield in April for a concert.

TAXPAYERS TO BE HEARD

The Consolidation Commission Practically Completes Preliminary Conference.

DISCUSS TAX MATTERS

Mayors Fisk and Smalley Express Their Views—Meetings To Be Held In Council Chamber.

The bi-municipal commission consolidation at a meeting yesterday in Mayor Fisk's office practically completed its preliminary work and is about ready to inaugurate a series of public meetings where taxpayers of both Plainfield and North Plainfield will be given the opportuninty to expres their views. For more than an hour behind closed doors yesterday, the commissioners discussed the taxation aspect of the proposed merger, but nothing definite came of it.

Both Mayor Fisk and Mayor Smalley gave their opinions regarding what changes would be brought about in taxing powers and tax receipts should the two places be consolidated. The city mayor gave it as his opinion that in the end taxes would be considerably reduced by the change. Mayor Smalley impressed upon the members that the only feasible thing to do would be to annex North Plainfield's territory to Union county as soon as possible after the merger is made.

It is understood that the series of public meetings will all be held in the Plainfield Common Council chamber. In every instance it will be a free and open discussion and the opponents of consolidation will be given every opportunity to explain their reasons for not desiring the merger to be made.

Those at the meeting yesterday were Chairman Alexander Gilbert, Floyd T. Woodhull, Mason W. Tyler, Elston M. French, Charles W. McCutchen and the two mayors.

MEN WHO WILL TAKE PART IN DUAL MEET

MAKE-UP OF THE TEAMS ANNOUNCED BY Y. M. C. A. TODAY.

The entries for all but one of the events of the dual athletic meet between the Plainfield and Passaic Y. M. C. A.'s, in this city, Thursday night, were announced by Physical Director Listman today. The meet is officially sanctioned, and any marks made will be recognized and displace the corresponding mark in amateur athletic records.

The teams will be made up as follows: Standing broad jump; Plainfield, Banks, Burgess, Scull, Luder; Passaic, Dunbar, Grubb, Adelson; running high jump—Plainfield, Odell, Lueder, Burgess, Banks; Passaic, Powers, Grubb, Brown; shot put—Plainfield, Collier, Rumsey, Collins; Passaic, Leonard, Joerger, Powers; high dive—Plainfield, Stutsman, Banks, Burgess, Douglass; Passaic, Grubb, Hegeman, Powers. The potato race team for Plainfield will not be picked until tonight. It is known that Burgess will be on it but the other members are in doubt. J. Powers, W. Powers, Walker, Thorp and Hegeman will race for Newark.

E. B. Barnes, secretary of the A. L. N. A., will referee the meet. Mr Listman and J. W. Gavett will officiate for Plainfield, James Hemlock and F. H. Baker for Passaic.

William Laible Dead.

William Laible, a well known resident of Dunellen, died this morning after a lingering illness. He is survived by his wife and a grown daughter, Miss Kate Laible. He was the brother of Captain George Laible, a member of the famous Lilliputian troupe that toured the country several years ago. Captain Laible is still in the theatrical business. He is a summer resident of Dunellen.

Derailed Car Upsets Traffic.

One of the large main line cars of the P. S. C. leaped the tracks at Watchung avenue and Fourth street at 1 o'clock this afternoon and swung almost its entire length into Fourth street. The forward trucks were twisted about and it took the wrecking crew an hour to get the tangle straightened out. The schedule on all the local lines was upset in the meantime.

Y. M. C. A. Convention.

The Y. M. C. A. State convention will start Thursday night in Elizabeth, and run until Sunday. Among the speakers will be W. D. Murray, of this city.

City Treasurer William F. Arnold has been detained at home during the past two days with an attack of the grip and a touch of lumbago.

TAX RECEIPTS WRONG

North Plainfield Collector has Not Observed the State Law.

VALUES NOT SEPARATED

Rule of State Board Requires Houses and Lots To Be Valued Separately—Collector Hadn't Heard of It.

The tax receipts of North Plainfield are made out in a way contrary to the law. In fact, they are made out in a form the law was designed to prevent.

The State Board of Taxation has issued a rule ordering the assessors of all districts outside of farming sections, to value the lands and the buildings on them separately and that the separate valuations must be noted on the tax receipts. The receipts of the borough do not specify the separate valuations.

The law under which the State Board issued the rue is as follows:

"The State Board of Taxation may by rule direct the assessor in any taxing district to determine the true value of each parcel of real estate assessed by him without the buildings and improvements and to note the same on his list, and to determine and note separately the true value of every building and other structure on each parcel, and add and carry out the same as the assessed value of the parcel, and in such case the receipt given for the payment of the tax shall contain such separate valuations; * * *"

Borough Collector George F. Brown doesn't know of any such rule. He told a reporter he didn't this morning.

"We have always lumped the values in the borough, on the receipts," he said. "I didn't know there was any requirement to separate values on my bills. I thought it applied to the assessors' field book."

The rule was read to Mr. Brown.

"Yes, it would appear that we have been making out the receipts wrongly," he said.

Assessor J. H. Cooley was out of town when a reporter called up his office on the telephone.

SAGAMORE MUSICAL CLUB GIVE CONCERT AND DANCE.

Malcolm Shackleford and Fred Van Eps Assist in Pleasing Affair at the Casino.

The Sagamore Musical Club held its annual entertainment in the Casino last night, assisted by Fred VanEps, banjoist, and Malcolm Shackleford, humorist, and the affair was largely patronized and greatly enjoyed. After the entertainment dancing was continued until a late hour. Owing to the death of her uncle, Peter A. Emmons, Miss Aimee Louise Emmons, who was to have given recitations and readings, was unable to appear. Her place on the programme was taken by Mr. Shackleford and Mr. VanEps.

An excellent programme was arranged. The numbers by the Sagamore Musical Club were features and the banjo solos and banjo and mandolin duets by Fred VanEps and his brother, William P. VanEps, elicited great applause. Mr. Shackleford was, as usual, very funny. His stories, as well as his impersonations of various characters, brought down the house. He was repeatedly called back. The programme follows:

Love and Honor, Sagamore Musical Club; Laughing Eyes, Fred Van Eps; Nursery Rymes, Malcolm Shackleford; University Girl Waltzes, Sagamore Musical Club; Buffalo Rag, Fred and William P. VanEps; Let It Alone, Malcolm Shackle. ; Cherry, Sagamore Musical Club; My Lady, Malcolm Shackleford. There were sixteen numbers on the dance order, comprising two steps and waltzes.

The Sagamore Musical Club is composed of the following; Leader, William VanEps; first mandolins, Martin Stutsman, Monroe H. Long, Chester H. Briggs; second mandolins, Theodore O. Gavett, Erwin Leland, Vincent B. Miner; banjo, William E. Briggs; 'cello, Herbert Smith; pianist, Samuel B. Howe, Jr.

May Die from Injuries.

Mrs. Sarah E. R. Webb, an aged woman residing at the home of Mrs. DuBois on Park avenue, is critically ill, partially as the result of a fall in her room several days ago. In addition to a contused wound she suffers greatly from shock and a trained nurse is in constant attendance. Her condition has been such that her son, George E. Webb, of Texas, was summoned to Plainfield and is now with his mother. Prior to the death of Mrs. Webb's husband five years ago, the couple traveled extensively and spending a portion of the time at the Hotel Iroquois. They also lived in Washington, California, Florida and New Brunswick.

MRS. ROSS H. FOSTER BEQUEATHED $200,000

Former Plainfield Woman One of Sixty-Five Heirs to An Estate of $12,000,000.

FROM BACHELOR UNCLE

Peter Pohrr Died in Washington a Year Ago—Printer and His Wife Receive Big Share of His Property.

Through a legacy left to her by a rich bachelor uncle, who lived in Washington, D. C., Mrs. Augusta Louise Foster, formerly of this city but now of Bellville, will come into the possession of $200,000 next month. Her husband, Ross H. Foster, formerly employed by the Courier-News of this city and now a compositor on the Newark Evening News, is well known here, the couple having resided on Maple avenue until two years ago.

Mrs. Foster was married when she was but sixteen years of age. Her maiden name was Augusta Pohrr and her parents were not only well endowed with the world's goods but were society folk. The marriage to Mr. Foster estranged her from her family but it is said that in recent years a reconciliation took place. Peter Pohrr, her uncle, died a year ago at his home in the exclusive section of Washington. His estate amounted to more than $12,000,000 and the former Plainfield woman was one of sixty-five heirs among whom the property will be divided. Settlement of the estate was delayed on account of the absence of one of the heirs who years ago married on English lord.

Pohrr was a brother of Mrs. Foster's father, George W. Pohrr, who also left her considerable property. The uncle made his money in property in the South. He owned a large part of the water front in Baltomire, Md. When he died a year ago at the age of seventy-eight years he was considered one of the wealthiest men at the National Capitol. Her own father owned a fine big stock farm near Old Georgetown, Md., where many blooded animals and race horses were raised.

GETS BIG PRODUCTION.

"The Girl and the Governor" Coming to Plainfield Next Tuesday.

Manager Counihan received notice by wire this morninng that his overtures for the big, new musical comedy, "The Girl and the Governor," now appearing at the Manhattan theatre, New York, had been considered favorably and it will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. The company numbers sixty people and is headed by Jefferson De Angelis, the well known comedian who led the cast of the original "Fanana" production during its long run at the Lyric.

"The Girl and the Governor" has been forced out of the Manhattan because of previous bookings and Manager Counihan is one of the theatrical men who offered suitable terms to get it. The entire cast and scenic equipment will be brought to Plainfield.

Accident Cases Doing Well.

George Minerd, the young messenger boy whose foot was amputated at Muhlenberg Hospital following an accident on the New Jersey Central, Sunday, was reported today as doing very nicely. He is rapidly gaining strength and no complications are threatened. The two Italian laborers who were injured at the accident in the Pond shop last week are recovering and one of them will be able to go home in a few days.

Percy DeWitt Dead.

Word has been received here of the death of Percy DeWitt, who lived in this city a number of years ago. Details of his death could not be learned.

—Benjamin A. Force, formerly a resident of this city, where for many years he was engaged in the shoe business and for some time doing a shoe business at Somerville, has decided to give up the business at the latter place. He has sold his stock to George Finger, of West Front street, and on March 1 will become manager for Mr. Finger.

Mrs. Francis DeLacy Hyde, of Mountain avenue, has returned from a visit with Mrs. Charles Hyde and Mrs. Everett Colby, at Atlantic City.

Steam heat and new plumbing is being put in the Lineau house.

Mrs. Almira Sawyer has entirely recovered from her illness.

William Beekman has recovered from his illness.

Miss Sarah Cole is suffering from the grip.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

A pleasing programme of vocal and instrumental music, together with readings and impersonation, by Charles Emerson Austel, of Cartaret, made the musical given last night in the Methodist church one of the most enjoyable as well as successful affair the church has held in several years. The attendance was good and the silver collection taken will place a neat sum in the treasury of the choir.

The fair committee of Excelsior H. & L. Co. has about completed all arrangements for the great three days fair, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights in the hall. The committee has worked hard to make the fair a success and they desire the support of every resident in the undertaking.

Captain Saunders, of Washington Valley, who is identified with the Lloyds Marine Insurance, is spending several weeks along the New England coast in the interest of that company.

George Baldwin, who has been detained at home for several weeks with a severe attack of sciatic rheumatism, is able to be about again.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Jefferson and child who have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade, have returned to their home in Newark.

Mrs. Frederick Clark has recovered from an illness which has detained her at home for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mooney, of Rahway, have been visiting relatives and friends in town.

Mrs. William H. Lee has been entertaining friends from out of town.

RAMLEH

TURKISH CIGARETTES

If you didn't like most of the cigarettes you have tried, quite likely it was because they were either too strong or too mild for you. Try RAMLEH Cigarettes.

You'll find the RAMLEH has the real tobacco "taste"—just what all smokers want—yet it is not too heavy and does not tire. Neither is it too mild.

Smokers who have tried them say RAMLEH Cigarettes are "just right"—you'll surely say so too, after you try a few. Get a box to-day.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

John Winzenreid, of Lee place, is a reliable trucker and all work left in his charge will be attended to promptly.

When you trade with Boice, Runyon & Co., of Park avenue, you are always sure to get the best coal at the lowest prices.

A. H. Enander, of Watchung avenue, is an expert sanitary plumber and his work always stands the test. Remember this when you want work done.

Brokaw's creamery on East Front street is the place to purchase absolutely fresh eggs, butter, milk and cream. The prices will be found reasonable.

A. E. Force & Co., proprietors of "The White Store," are offering exceptional bargains in closing out their winter cloaks and suits and it will pay you to purchase these things now. The firm is also conducting a big sale in white goods and dry goods in general. You make no mistake by trading at this store.

The New San Francisco.

"Some Cities and San Francisco," by Hubert Howe Bancroft, (New York: The Bancroft Company) is a slender but interesting volume on the plan to make San Francisco greater and fairer. It is a vivid plea for the beautification of the fire-scarred metropolis of the Pacific coast, so that it will arise from its ashes with wider voulevards, broader parks, more spacious avenues, and busier marts. The book makes very good reading even for those who have only the slightest interest in San Francisco.

HOURS 9 A. M. UNTIL 8 P. M.

Your eyes will be examined by THE DAMMERS SCIENTIFIC METHOD, Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses.

(NO DROPS USED.) Those who have been examined for GLASSES by men who claim to examine eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of Examining Eyes, and fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurement of the focus and shape of the eyes.

NO QUESTIONS ASKED, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes BLINDNESS, or by trying on a lot of glasses, and asking you "Can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have had trouble to get glasses correct.

THIS IS ABSOLUTELY THE HIGHEST CLASS WORK DONE IN FITTING GLASSES IN AMERICA.—DON'T SUFFER WITH HEADACHE.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, WATERY EYES, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by EYE STRAIN. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism by our scientific methods of Examining.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

It is expected that the choir at the First Baptist church will continue as at present for the coming year.

According to the usual custom the choir of the First Baptist church will probably give a musical Lenten service in March.

Clifford A. Braider, organist of the First Presbyterian church, is planning to give a musical service at the church next month.

Rev. Charles E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, will exchange pulpits on Sunday with Rev. Dr. McRossie, of New York.

The Junior Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold a Washington party in Vincent chapel tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock.

The Women's Home Mission Circle of the Park Avenue Baptist church will meet this afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. T. Ostrom, of Carlton avenue.

Communion services will be held at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church on Sunday, March 3. New members will be received at that time.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian church will be in charge of the mid-week prayer-meeting at the church tomorrow night.

The Sunshine Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold a sewing meeting in the church parlors tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will be held this afternoon in the church parlor.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will hold a sewing meeting in the chapel Friday afternoon from 2 to 5 o'clock.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church will meet on Tuesday night, March 5, when Judge W. B. Green, reciter and story-teller, will entertain. In addition there will be music and refreshments.

The Boys' Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will meet Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the large parlor. The subject will be "China." Important business will also be discussed.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Miss Freda Gray, of West Front street, has taken a position as governess in a family at Yonkers, N. Y.

—Miss Julia Shinn, formerly of this city, who has been engaged in foreign mission work for several years, is visiting friends and acquaintances in town. This afternoon she will speak at the First Baptist church.

—Carpenters, electricians, paperhangers and plumbers are at work on W. L. Smalley's new home on West End avenue, the borough, which he expects to occupy this spring after the improvements are completed.

—Rudolph Kampf, Jr., of Steiner place, who broke his leg by falling on the ice last week, is improving steadily. The physician believes that the bone will knit within a short time. It is now held in position by a heavy weight.

—James Albert Love, who was a salesman for J. A. Smith & Bros., of West Front street, for a number of years, but who recently took a position with Charles M. Decker & Bro., grocers, of Montclair, has been made manager of a new store recently opened by the firm in East Orange.

TEACHERS' WORK RECOGNIZED.

The action of the Board of Education in increasing the salaries of all teachers connected with the city schools should meet with the hearty approval of the public. The cost of living has advanced immensely in the last few years. In fact so great has been the increase for all necessities of life that every corporation and every individual concern of any size has conformed to the present state of affairs by putting in effect a net increase of wages varying from five to twenty-five per cent. What was considered a fair wage five years ago, is totally inadequate today and of course the school teacher has been made to suffer along with the rest of mortals who are in the employed class.

Everywhere it is recognized that the pedagogue is doing a greater work for the future of the country than any other body of workers, but it must be confessed that they have been about the last to share the fruits of general prosperity. So far as Plainfield is concerned, this is no reflection on the Board of Education. Every member of that body has been anxious to see the teachers paid adequate salaries but the amount of tax receipts and the heavy burdens on the city treasury have stood in the way. At last, however, through an extra appropriation that will come to Plainfield from the State's funds, the opportunity is presented and the members have been quick to grasp it.

PERMANENT PAVEMENTS.

No action has been taken by the Common Council on the mayor's recommendation that permanent pavements be laid in the business section of the city, although Mr. Fisk has clearly explained how such an improvement may be made without placing too heavy a burden on the taxpayers. His plan is to issue bonds, covering a terms of years, and to use the receipts of the sales for building the pavements at once. The longer the matter is delayed, the greater will be the expense for the constant repairing of the streets in their present condition is proving to be an ever-increasing item in the city budget. Whether brick, prepared wood or Belgian block would be best is a matter to be determined by experts, but any one of these three would be a thousand fold more economical and satisfactory than the present macadam mud.

But when will the Common Council wake up?

PERSONAL.

Mrs. H. C. Runyon, of Madison avenue, is visiting relatives in North Branch.

Harry Blimm, of Somerset street, has recovered from a week's illness with grip.

Mrs. Herbert Guinn, who has been out of town for a few days, has returned home.

Miss Louise Harold, of Rahway, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Blatz, of Somerset street.

Miss Ada Vail, of Dunellen avenue, has suffered a relapse of the grip and is confined to her bed.

Edward Mundy, of Harmony street, who has been ill with pneumonia, is improving nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Leek, of East Fifth street, will remove May 1 to the New Madison, apartment No. 17.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Loizeaux, of East Second street, are home from a pleasure trip to Lake Waccamaw, N. C.

Mrs. Ida Randolph-Smalley, of New York, who has been spending a few days with relatives here, has returned home.

Mrs. George Whitley, of Beverley, Mass., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whitley, of Essex street.

PREPARING FOR REUNION

Plainfield Elks Will be Well Represented at Big Gathering in Philadelphia.

COMMITTEE AT WORK

Convention Promises to Be Greatest Event at Sleeptown Since the Centennial.

Since the first steps were taken by Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, to attend the Elks' big reunion at Philadelphia next July in a body, great interest has spread among the members and from present indications this city will send as big a delegation as any of its size in the east. A committee composed of A. D. Findlay, Herbert W. Stover and S. P. T. Wilbur has been placed in charge of the enrollment and new names are being added every day. The list is already over the one hundred mark and there is no doubt but what 200 Plainfield Elks will participate in the gathering.

At the regular meeting of the lodge tomorrow night, propositions as to costume, music and other features will be discussed and if possible something will be decided upon. The lodges at Elizabeth, Perth Ambo and New Brunswick are to be accompanied by bands and will compete for prizes in the big parade and the Plainfielders do not propose to be left in the rear if there is any possible chance.

This annual reunion of one of the most important fraternal orders in the w orld will probably be the biggest thing that Philadelphia has seen since the Centennial. The reunion will last through the week beginning July 15, and during that time it is expected that there will be 250,000 visitors in the city—nearly twice as many people as there are inhabitants in Denver, where the reunion was held last year; more people than there are in Louisville or Minneapolis, and almost as many as there are in Detroit or New Orleans.

This estimate is not a mere guess, for the Executive Committee has already checked up pretty thoroughly the delegations which the various lodges will send. Elks and their families will come from every State in the Union, from the Philippines, Hawaii and Porto Rico. The delegate from Manila will start for Philadelphia next month.

The band music that will be heard in Philadelphia during the reunion week will be something inspiring. There will be at least 100 of the finest bands in the United States assembled, and none of them will have many idle moments. On Wednesday morning, July 17, there will be a mass parade of bands only, playing "Auld Lang Syne," one of the Protective Order of Elks, and other well known airs. It will be such a volume of instrumental music as has never been heard before in Philadelphia.

All the bands will appear again in the parade on Thursday. The mere fact that $15,000 is to be distributed in cash prizes to the best marching organizations is sufficient guarantee that the parade will be something worth seeing.

Then, too, Broad street, between Spruce and Race streets, is to be converted into a court of honor, with stately white pillars on both sides of the street, topped by casts of elk in heroic size. The court will be much finer and much more extensive than the Peace Jubilee.

At night the electric illumination, of which City Hall will be the centre, will be dazzling.

To make the entertainment what it ought to be, Philadelphia Lodge, No. 2, has given its word to the order that it would spend $100,000 for entertainment. Already the Executive Committee has something like $25,000 in hand, and it anticipates not the slightest difficulty in raising the balance from among the business men of the community, who recognize the enormous financial benefit that the reunion will be to them. The money which will flow into Philadelphia's stores, hotels, cafes, cab stables, traction company, amusement places and the like for that one week will be reckoned by millions, not by thousands.

Five of the local newspapers—The North American, Inquirer, Record, Evening Telegraph and Bulletin—have contributed $1,000 each to the entertainment fund.

Scores of "big people" who are Elks will be brought together by the reunion. 57 United States Senators and 260 Congressmen are members of the order. These are some of the prospective guests:

William Jennings Bryan, twice candidate for President of the United States and promipently mentioned for another nomination; George Ade, famous author and playwright; Judge Ben Lindsey, of Juvenile Court fame; Governor Cummings, of Iowa; Lieutenant Governor Murphy, of Pennsylvania; Justice Jerome Fisher, of New York Supreme Court; former Attorney General Mayer, of New York; Justice McKenna, of the United States Supreme Court; Mayor Spear, of Denver; Grand Exalted Ruler Henry W. Melvin, Judge of the Superior Court of Alameda county, California; Governor Folk, of Missouri; Governor Chamberlain, of Oregon; Judge Rohnert, of Detroit; Mayor William H. Moore, of Seattle, Wash., Fred W. Ward, the tragedian; United States Senator Daniel, of Virginia; Congressman Nicholas Longworth; Colonel Richard Woods, Sioux Falls, S. D.; the Rev. William H. Johnson, of Mount Carmel, Pa.; Rabbi Marks, of San Antonio, Texas; former Congressman Byron S. Ritche, Toledo; Judge J. S. Kincaid, Toledo, the man who sentenced the Ice Trust magnates; Judge J. S. Morris, Toledo, and General Mackin, of the same city.

This list is decidedly incomplete, but it goes to prove that the annual reunion will be something of a celebrity show as well as a grand hurrah.

Miss Grace Trippency, of Brooklyn, is spending a couple of weeks with Miss Pauline Denton, of Washington avenue.

Rev. Charles Fountain has returned to Crozier Theological Seminary at Chester, Pa., after spending several days at his home in this city.

"PARACAMPH" For Inflammation

THE honest and convincing testimony of those who have used "Paracamph" is positive proof that it is unequalled as a specific for external inflammation. It cures burns, bruises or cuts and is a most effective remedy for chilblains. It instantly relieves pain, controls fever and prevents blood poisoning.

WOMAN TO LECTURE ON TRAVELS IN PERU.

Mrs. Harriet Chalmers Adams to Speak for the Benefit of the Y. M. C. A.

Harriet Chalmers Adams, who will deliver a "Travel Talk" on "Peru," Tuesday evening at the Y. M. C. A. hall, knows Latin-America as no other woman does. Mrs. Adams considers Peru by far the most attractive country in the New World, in its prehistoric ruins, romantic history, wonderful scenery and interesting types. She penetrated into the very wilds of the land, observing and photographing. No section was left untrodden from the snowy summit of the extinct volcano, Misti, 19,200 feet above the sea, to the steaming jungle of the Upper Amazon. Her story is illustrated by two hundred color pictures of great beauty. The Y. M. C. A. plan to use the proceeds of the entertainment toward furnishing the game room.

HISTORIC SOCIETIES' REUNION.

Organizations to Meet at Trenton Washington's Birthday.

Trenton, Feb. 19.—All of the historic societies of New Jersey will assemble in this city on Washington's Birthday for a union celebration of that occasion. Services will be held in Trinity Protestant Episcopal church and at the State house, and a luncheon for the visitors will follow.

The Rev. Hamilton Schuyler, rector of Trinity church, has written the following hymn for use in the exercises:

Lord God of hosts, who led our fathers hither,
And gave this Western strand to freedom's cause,
We praise Thy name, whose mercies never wither,
And pledge obedience to Thy righteous laws.

Our fathers hoped in Thee and trusted surely,
Thou didst deliver by Thy mighty hand,
Under the shadow of Thy mighty wing securely
Dwelt they at freedom in this favored land.

To us, their sons, give of Thy grace abounding,
That we may cherish liberty and law,
By justice strong all baser deeds confounding,
Who holds not Thee nor righteousness in awe.

From foes without and foes within assailing,
Keep Thou our country through the changing days,
From mammon's pride and anarchy's prevailing,
Guard Thou the State and prosper all her ways.

O, God! we pray, through centuries unceasing,
That this dear land may be with freedom bright,
In justice stronger, ever increasing.
In peace and health, prosperity and right.

This hymn will be sung to the tune of "Ancient of Days," the music having been arranged by Jeffreys, the organist of All Saints' Cathedral, at Albany.

ELIZABETH LOSES G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

Long Branch Now Expects to Entertain the Veterans in June.

The Council of Administration of the G. A. R. of New Jersey will meet today in Elizabeth to determine the place at which the next annual encampment will take place. Indications point to the selection of Long Branch as the place of the encampment. When the encampment was held in Paterson last year the understanding was that the next one was to be held in Elizabeth. Negotiations to this end were started, but there was a hitch. Long Branch now expects to get the encampment.

Department Commander Alfred Atkins, of Roselle Park, is president of the council of administration. Three invitations have been extended to the council from Long Branch—one from the G. A. R. post in that city, one from the Mayor and City Council and one from the Board of Trade.

The dates for holding the annual encampment are June 27 and 28, the latter being the date of the anniversary of the Battle of Monmouth.

LAZIEST MAN LIVING.

Healthy Irishman Has Stuck to His Bed For Thirty Years.

Dublin, Feb. 19.—The Board of Guardians of Durgan assert that a villager named Thompson is the laziest man on earth. Thompson went to bed in 1877 and did not leave it until two weeks ago, and then only on compulsion.

His aged mother, with whom he lived alone, was taken ill and had to be removed to an infirmary, and Thompson went to a workhouse in an ambulance. His mother returned home and Thompson followed her immediately, but was compelled to walk this time. He is now comfortably in bed again.

The doctors tried irritating plasters and electric currents on Thompson to make him get up, but they had no effect. He is quite healthy, but suffers from acute chronic laziness.

—Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Miller will move from Myrtle avenue to Washington avenue, in the spring.

PLANS TO AMEND AUTOMOBILE LAW.

New Provisions Will Make Considerable Change in the Statute as It Now Stands.

Among the bills likely to be introduced in the State Legislature this week is one to provide for a number of amendments to the present automobile law. This amendatory measure has behind it the powerful Automobile Club of New Jersey and is likewise favored by the State Department of Motor Vehicles. It will require the State to furnish license-registration tags for all machines registered, in order to secure unimormity of size and appearance.

It will abolish the right to arrest without warrant, but will provide for an increase of twenty the number of State automobile inspectors. This increase of force and the use of uniform tags on all machines is expected to make comparatively easy the task of apprehending violators of the law and at the same time will relieve autoists of the annoyance of being liable to arrest at the hands of any rural constable who may want to distinguish himself and make a few dollars for himself and a friendly justice of the peace.

Another concession to be asked in this bill that registered autoists from other States may pass across New Jersey without further registering or expense.

Scene from "Daughters of Men," at New Plainfield Theatre Washington's Birthday, Matinee and Night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

There is a pleasant treat in store for those of this city playgoers who like an evening of brisk, crisp, clean, witty and strictly up-to-date work by the dramatist and a clever company. And such a thing will be found at the New Plainfield theatre when the curtain rises on the performance of "Checkers." There is no mistaking the popularity of this welcome visitor to Plainfield. There is that in "Checkers" to please all tastes in the drama, except those who must have nought but the serious. And in addition to the qualities already stated, there is as pretty and simple and natural a little love story as any one could want. It is not a bit too long and it wins the hearts, not only of the participants, but of everyone in the audience, even to those of the old bachelors present.

In theatrical circles generally the tour of "A Marriage of Reason," with Kyrle Bellew in the stellar role, which comes to the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night, is attracting marked attention. Mr. Bellew is now under the management of Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger. "A Marriage of Reason" has been written by J. Hartley Manners, especially for Mr. Bellew. The dramatist has been at work upon the piece for nearly two years. The play deals with the subject of international marriage, and discusses the purphase of British titles by American gold and beauty, with remarkable frankness. The author has aimed to show the best type of Englishman and the finest type of American woman. Though an Englishman, Mr. Manners is a devout worshipper at the shrine of American beauty, and believes that the Yankee girl is civilization's most perfect flower.

"The Daughters of Men," by Chas. Klein, author of "The Lion and the Mouse," will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre Washington's Birthday, afternoon and night. This play which had a long and successful run at the Astor theatre, New York, was forced out of the metropolis by the previous booking of Blanche Walsh. After a short road tour the production will be taken back to New York where it will probably remain the remainder of the season. In "The Daughters of Men" Charles Klein has written a powerful drama, a drama that deals with the great subject of capital and labor. Many eminent critics in New York, Philadelphia and Boston were unanimous in their opinion that Mr. Klein's new play was even greater than his former success, "The Lion and the Mouse," which became the success of the century.

A musical farce comedy said to be of unusual excellence will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. Manager Counihan having been fortunate in securing the three act farce comedy with music, "My Wife's Family," the combined work of Hal Stephens and Harry Linton, successful writers of that style of entertainment. This merry concoction of fun, music and amusing frivolity, was greeted by warm praise wherever presented last season, as the jolliest, cleanest and liveliest of comedies seen in the musical world, a constant creator of laughter, that is simply irresistible. The comedy appeals to all that is refined, while the musical numbers are all of the jingling whistling order. The company presenting "My Wife's Family" was selected for each person's natural ability to assume the various characters assigned to them, with the result one of the best drilled organizations on the road today. Clever comedies, pretty girls and a whole ensemble well nigh perfect in every way. The costuming, electrical and stage effects are correct in every detail. The attraction is under the management of the Whitnew Amusement Company and includes the following well known artists: John Lorenze, Giles Harrington, Jeanette Patterson, Gladys George, Minnie St. Claire, Ernest Lenore, Mattie Edwards, Helene Delmar, Clark Mounts, Charles E. Adams, Perry Lown, E. J. vonMinneman, Freeman Fiske and others.

Helen Delmar, in "My Wife's Family," at the New Plainfield Theatre, Saturday, February 23.

Statue of Mgr. Doane by Mr. Noble.

To W. Clark Noble, who has his studios in Newark, has been awarded a contract to erect a memorial statue of the late Mgr. George H. Doane, who has for many years pastor of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Cathedral in Newark. The memorial will be an eight foot six inch standing figure of the prelate, in first quality standard bronze, on a pedestal of the same height. It is to be placed in one of the public parks of Newark. The bust model, which was submitted by Mr. Noble in competition, was regarded as a wonderful likeness, especially as he had never seen his subject.

Dr. C. E. Moldenke, of Watchung, has returned from a business trip to Pittsburg.

CHAPTER XI.
I Receive a Call.

Going to bed at three o'clock on a winter morning in a house whose ways are disquieting, after a duel in which you escaped whole only by sheer good luck, does not fit one for sleep. When I finally drew the covers over me it was to lie and speculate upon the events of the night in connection with the history of the few weeks I had spent at Glenarm. Larry had suggested in New York that Pickering was playing some deep game, and I, myself, could not accept Pickering's statement that my grandfather's large fortune had proved to be a myth. If Pickering had not stolen or dissipated it, where was it concealed? Morgan was undoubtedly looking for something of value or he would not risk his life in the business; and it was quite possible that he was employed by Pickering to search for hidden property. This idea took strong hold of me, the more readily, I fear, since I had always been axious to see evil in Pickering. There was, to be sure, the unknown alternative heir, but neither she nor Sister Theresa was, I imagined, a person capable of hiring an assassin to kill me.

On reflection I dismissed the idea of appealing to the county authorities, and I never regretted that resolution. The seat of Wabana county was 20 miles away, the processes of law were unfamiliar, and I wished to avoid publicity. Morgan might, of course, have been easily disposed of by an appeal to the Annandale constable, but now that I suspected Pickering of treachery the caretaker's importance dwindled. I had wanted all my life for a chance at Arthur Pickering, and in this affair I hoped to draw him into the open and settle with him.

I slept presently but woke at my usual hour, and after a tub felt ready for another day. Bates served me, as usual, a breakfast that gave a fair aspect to the morning. I was alert for any sign of perturbation in him; but I had already decided that I might as well look for emotion in a stone wall as in this placid, colorless serving man. I had no reason to suspect him of complicity in the night's affair, but I had no faith in him, and merely waited until he should show his hand.

By my plate next morning I found this note, written in a clear, bold, woman's hand:

"The Sisters of St. Agatha trust that the intrusion upon his grounds by Miss Armstrong, one of their students, has caused Mr. Glenarm no annoyance. The Sisters beg that this infraction of their discipline will be overlooked, and they assure Mr. Glenarm that it will not recur."

An unnecessary apology! The note paper was of the best quality. At the head of the page "St. Agatha's, Annandale" was embossed in purple. One of the sisters I had seen beyond the wall undoubtedly wrote it—possibly Sister Theresa herself. A clever woman, that! Thoroughly capable of plucking money from guileless old gentlemen! Poor Olivia! born for freedom, but doomed to a pent-up existence with a lot of nuns! I resolved to send her a box of candy sometime just to annoy her guardians. Then my own affairs claimed attention.

"Bates," I asked, "do you know what Mr. Glenarm did with the plans for this house?"

He started slightly. I should not have noticed it if I had not been so keen for his answer.

"No, sir. I can't put my hand upon them, sir."

"That's all very well, Bates, but you didn't answer my question. Do you know where they are? I'll put my hand on them if you will kindly tell me where they're kept."

"I fear very much, Mr. Glenarm, that they have been destroyed. I tried to find them before you came, to tell you the whole truth, sir; but they must have been put out of the way."

"That's very interesting, Bates. Will you kindly tell me whom you suspect of destroying them? The toast again, please."

His hand shook as he passed the plate.

"I hardly like to say, sir, when it's only a suspicion."

"Of course I shouldn't ask you to incriminate yourself, but I'll have to insist on my question. It may have occurred to you, Bates, that in a sense—in a sense, mind you—I'm the master here."

"Well, I should say, if you press me—that I fear Mr. Glenarm, your grandfather, burned the plans when he left here the last time. I hope you will pardon me, sir, for seeming to reflect upon him."

"Reflect upon the devil! What was his idea, do you suppose?"

"I think, sir, if you will pardon—"

"Don't be so fussy!" I snapped. "Damn your pardon, and go on!"

"He wanted you to study out the place for yourself, sir. It was dear to his heart, this house. He set his heart upon having you enjoy it—"

"I like the word—go ahead."

"And I suppose there are things about it that he wished you to learn for yourself."

"You know them, of course, and are watching me when I'm hot and cold, watching me to see when I'm hot and cold, watching me to see when I'm hot and [illegible] game."

The fellow turned and faced me across the table.

"Mr. Glenarm, as I hope God may be merciful to me in the last judgment, I don't know any more about it than you do."

"You were here with Mr. Glenarm all the time he was building the house, but you never saw walls built that weren't what they appeared to be, or doors made that didn't lead anywhere."

I summoned all my irony and contempt for this arraignment. He lifted his hand as though making oath.

"As God sees me, that is all true. I was here to care for the dead master's comfort and not to spy on him, sir."

"And Morgan, your friend, what about him?"

"I wish I knew, sir."

"I wish to the devil you did," and I flung out of the room and into the library.

At 11 o'clock I heard a pounding at the great front door and Bates came to announce a caller, who was now stamping the snow from his shoes audibly in the outer hall.

"The Reverend Paul Stoddard, sir."

The chaplain of St. Agatha's was a big fellow, as I had remarked on the occasion of his interview with Olivia Gladys Armstrong by the wall. His light brown hair was close-cut; his smooth shaven face was bright with the freshness of youth. Here was a sturdy young apostle without frills, but with a vigorous grip that left my hand tingling. His voice was deep and musical—a voice that suggested sincerity and inspired confidence.

"I'm afraid I haven't been neighborly, Mr. Glenarm. I was called away from home a few days ago after I heard of your arrival, and I have just got back. I blew in yesterday with the snow storm."

He folded his arms easily and looked at me with cheerful directness, as though politely speculating as to what manner of man I might be.

"It was a fine storm; I got a great day, out of it," I said. "An Indiana snow storm is something I have never experienced before."

"This is my second winter. I came out here because I wished to do some reading and thought I'd rather do it alone in a university."

"Studious habits are rather forced on one out here, I should say. In my own case my course of reading is all cut out for me."

"The Glenarm collection is famous—the best in the country, easily. Mr Glenarm, your grandfather was certainly an enthusiast. I met him several times, though he was a trifle hard to meet!"—and the clergyman smiled.

"My grandfather had his whims; but he was a fine, generous-hearted old gentleman," I said.

"You haven't been on our side of the wall yet? Well, I promise not to molest your hidden treasure if you'll be neighborly," and he laughed merrily.

"I fear there's a big joke involved in the hidden treasure," I replied. "I'm so busy staying at home to guard it that I have no time for social recreation."

He looked at me quickly to see whether I was joking. His eyes were steady and earnest. The Reverend Paul Stoddard impressed me more and more agreeably. There was a suggestion of quiet strength about him that drew me to him.

"I suppose every one about here thinks of nothing but that I'm at Glenarm to earn my inheritance. My residence here must look pretty sordid from the outside."

"Mr. Glenarm's will is a matter of record in the county, of course. But you are too hard on yourself. It's nobody's business if your grandfather wished to visit his whims on you. I should say, in my own case, that I don't consider it any of my business what you are here for. I didn't come over to annoy you or to pry into your affairs. I get lonely now and then and thought I'd like to establish neighborly relations."

"Thank you; I appreciate your coming very much,"—and my heart warmed under the manifest kindness of the man.

"And I hope"—he spoke for the first time with restraint—"I hope nothing will prevent your knowing Sister Theresa and Miss Devereux. They are interesting and charming—the only women about here of your own social status."

My liking for him abated slightly. He might be a detective, representing the alternative heir, for all I knew and possibly Sister Theresa was a party to the conspiracy to drive me away.

"In time, no doubt, in time, I shall know them," I answered evasively.

"Oh, quite as you like!"—and he changed the subject. We talked of many things—of outdoor sports, with which he showed great familiarity, of universities, of travel and adventure. Columbia was his alma mater, but he had spent two years at Oxford.

"Well," he exclaimed, "this has been very pleasant, but I must run. I have just been over to see Morgan, the caretaker, at the resort village. The poor fellow accidentally shot himself yesterday cleaning his gun or something of that sort, and he has an ugly hole in his arm that will shut him up for a month or more. He gave me an errand to do for him. He's a conscientious fellow and wished me to wire for him to Mr. Pickering that he'd been hurt, but was attending to his duties. Pickering owns a house at the farther end of the colony and Morgan has charge of it. You know Pickering, of course?"

I looked my clerical neighbor straight in the eye, a trifle coldly, perhaps. I was wondering why Morgan, with whom I had enjoyed a duel in my own cellar only a few hours before, should be reporting his injury to Arthur Pickering.

"I think I have seen Morgan about here," I said.

"Oh, yes! He's a woodsman and a hunter—our Nimrod of the lake."

"A good sort, very likely!"

"I dare say. He has sometimes brought me ducks during the season."

"To be sure! They shoot ducks at night—those Hoosier hunters—so I hear!"

He laughed as he shook himself into his greatcoat.

"That's possible, though unsportsmanlike. But we don't have to look a gift mallard in the eye."

We laughed together. It was easy to laugh with him.

"By the way, I forgot to get Pickering's address from Morgan. If you happen to have it—"

"With pleasure," I said. "Alexis Building, Broadway, New York."

"Good! That's easy to remember," he said, smiling and turning up his coat collar. "Don't forget me; I'm quartered in a hermit's cell back of the chapel, and I believe we can find many matters of interest to talk about."

"I'm confident of it," I said, glad of the sympathy and cheer that seemed to emanate from his stalwart figure.

I threw on my overcoat and walked to the gate with him and saw him hurry toward the village with long strides.

CHAPTER XII.
I Explore a Passage.

"Bates!"—I found him busy replenishing the candlesticks in the library,—it seemed to me that he was always poking about with an armful of candles,—"there are a good many queer things in this world, but I guess you're one of the queerest. I don't mind telling you that there are times when I think you a thoroughly bad lot, and then again I question my judgment and don't give you credit for being much more than a doddering fool."

He was standing under a ladder beneath the great crystal chandelier and looked down upon me with that patient inquiry that is so appealing in a dog—in, say, the eyes of an Irish setter, when you accidentally step on his tail.

"Yes, Mr. Glenarm," he replied humbly.

"Now, I want you to grasp this idea that I'm going to dig into this old shell top and bottom; I'm going to blow it up with dynamite, if I please; and if I catch you spying on me or reporting my doings to my enemies, or engaging in any questionable performances whatever, I'll hang you between the posts out there in the school wall—do you understand?—so that the sweet Sisters of St. Agatha and the dear little school girls and the chaplain and all the rest will shudder through all their lives at the very thought of you."

"Certainly, Mr. Glenarm,"—and his tone was the same he would have used if I had asked him to pass me the matches, and under my breath I consigned him to the hardest tortures of the fiery pit.

VICTORY AT LAST FOR THE Y. M. C. A. FIVE

DEFEAT A FAST BROOKLYN TEAM, AND PRETTILY AT THAT.

Meeting a light team, that didn't throw an unwieldy handicap of beef against them, the Plainfield Y. M. C. A. five showed the real stuff of which it was made last night, by defeating the 26th Ward Branch of the Y. M. C. A., of Brooklyn, by a score of 33 to 32.

It was a great game, and the locals pulled it out of the fire by a tail-end rally that had real old fashioned thrills in it. The teams were evenly matched, but at the end of the first half the Brooklynites had it on the home team, 18 to 14. Worse than that, they had increased the lead to 32-22 by the time the second half was within five minuts of the wind-up. Then Plainfield woke up and went at the visitors with hammers and a tong or two. Aalholm started the rally with a basket, Collier and Gilmore followed suit and Loizeaux got the fever so bad he scored two. A stray foul landed the winning point.

The line-up and score:

Plainfield.		Brooklyn.
Gilmore	forwards	Dustwalt
Collier	forwards	Warner
Aalholm	centre	Currie
Loizeaux	guards	Moll
Hoagland	guards	Mein

Goals from field—Gilmore 4, Collier 3, Aalholm 5, Loizeaux 3, Dustwalt 2, Warner 4, Currie, Moll 5, Mein 3. Goals from fouls—Warner, Currie, Collier 3.

PARK TEAM TAKES SIX OUT OF SEVEN GAMES.

Barlow Rolls 200 in Each of Four Games—Ball Also Clever.

In a bowling match last night on the Park Club alleys between Barlow and Ball, of the Parks, and West, of Elizabeth, and Howe, of Roselle Casino, the local team won six out of seven games with an average of 389.7, while Howe and West averaged 364. The individual averages were as follows: Barlow, 194.1; Ball, 195.4; West, 190.6; Howe, 172.4.

Barlow rolled over 200 in each of four games, while Ball put up a score of over 200 in three games. In the first game he rolled 235, the highest score of evening. His partner's highest score was 223 in the last game. The scores follow:

WOULD MAKE TRENTON NEW JERSEY HANGTOWN.

Measure to Build Death House in County.

Echoes of the electrocution law enacted by the last Legislature were heard in the Senate last night at Trenton, when official approval was given to two measures having direct bearingup on it. The most important was the passage of Mr. Wakelee's bill appropriating $10,000 for the erection of a building for the infliction of the death penalty by this means. This building will be erected at the Mercer county farm.

The second echo was by Mr. Wakelee, and is known officially as Senate bill 126. This provides that at the electrocution of the murderers there shall be present 12 citizens, two of whom shall be physicians, to be selected by the prison keeper. The bill limits the number of clerymen that can attend the condemned man at these times to two, and limits the number of newspaper reporters to be present to six. These latter are to act as witnesses.

These bills were passed:

S. 56. Authorizes $20,000 bond issue for a fire house in Hoboken.

S. 64. Appropriates $10,00 for the erection of a building for the infliction of the penalty of death by electrocution.

S. 81. Requires municipal bonds to be approved by the attorney general.

These bills were brought up on second reading:

S. 67. Requires uniform price for electricity.

S. 75. Gives power to prohibit tearing up of county roads.

S. 78. For recovery of school moneys from adjoining districts.

S. 12. Fixes pilotage fees.

S. 23. Senator Colby's civil service commission bill.

Petitions against the repeal of the Bishops' law were presented by Senator Silzer, Gebhardt, Shinn, Plummer, Avis, Robbins, Price, Frelinghuysen and Bradley.

In an executive session, following the regular session, the Senate received these appointments from the Governor: Members of the Salem county board of taxation, John C. Ward, two years; Charles Mecum, two years; D. Harris Smith, three years, all reappointed.

Members of the board of managers of the State hospital at Morris Plains, David St. John, John T. Gillson and J. Anson McBride. Mr. Ward and Mr. McBride, being former Senators, were confirmed immediately. The other appointments took the usual course, that of reference to the judiciary committee.

The Senate adjourned until this morning at 11 o'clock.

Missing Pearl Bryan Head is Found.

Cincinnati, Ohio, Feb. 19.—C. H. Glandorf, who has the contract to fill in the ground between Newport and Dayton, Ky., across the river from Cincinnnati, has discovered a skull that is believed to be that of Miss Pearl Brown, the Greencastle (Ind.) girl who was murdered and her body decapitated on February 1, 1896, by Jackson and Walling, Cindinnati medical students, who were afterward hanged. Her headless body was identified by her mother, but the head was never found.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Hope chapel will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Charles Vincent, on West Third street.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church will hold a "Mother Goose" bazaar in the church Thursday and Friday nights. The rooms will be appropriately decorated and each one of the various booths will represent a rhyme from the Mother Goose tales. The attendants will wear costumes in keeping with the general idea. The sale will consist of fancy and useful articles, flowers, home-made candies, cake and pies and refreshments will be served in a variety of ways. There will also be a "wishing well" with mysterious packages and a phonograph will furnish a first cass musical programme.

BARS SMALL BOYS FROM CIGARETTE SMOKING.

Assemblyman Jess' Bill Makes Severe Penalty for Furnisher of Weed.

There was introduced in the house of assembly at last night's session, at Trenton, a measure that is likely to cause deep concern among a certain class of small boys and will probably be greeted with a storm of protest as an infringement upon their rights. Incidentally, its passage would materially reduce the sale of cigarettes in this State.

The bill was introduced by Assemblyman Jess, of Camden, and seeks to abolish the cigarette habit among the youth of New Jersey. As a means to this end, its provisions are stringent, as it fixes the penalty for selling the "coffin nails" or the presentation of them to any person under 18 years of age at $50 fine or three months in the county jail, or both, at the discretion of the court. The bill was given its intitial reading and referred to the judiciary committee.

A number of petitions were submitted protesting against the repeal of the bishops' act. A round of applause greeted a resolution presented by Mr. Corish, of Essex, congratulating Speaker Lethbridge upon his 41st birthday anniversary.

At the suggestion of Mr. Riordan, of Hudson, house bill No. 126, concerning the improvement of stone roads which comprise the boundary line between counties, was recommitted.

These bills were given a second reading: Provides that judges of the court of common pleas hereafter shall be attorneys-at-law to be eligible; H. 97, authorizes second-class cities to appoint an inspector of coal, ice, etc.; H. 92, provides a penalty for selling articles of merchandise at short weight; H. 76, the Hendrickson school teachers' tenure of office bill; Ho. 205, amends the act respecting conveyances; joint resolution No. 1, provides for the purchase of portraits of former governors of New Jersey; H. 43, appropriates $30,000 for the Princeton battle monument; H. 51, the Brady water bond bill; H. 178, prohibits sewering into the Passaic river between the falls in Paterson and the mouth of that stream at Newark.

The assembly adjourned to meet at 10:30 this morning.

No Big Gift to Princeton.

Baltomire, Md., Feb. 19.—In a speech at the annual banquet of the Princetin Alumni Association last night Dr. Woodrow Wilson, president of the university, denied the report that Princeton has lately been, or is likely to be, the recipient of any great gift from any person. "In the city of Philadelphia," said Dr. Wilson, "they employ as reporters men of most vivid imaginings, and it was one with a particularly vivid imagination who attended the dinner of the alumni association in that city recently and quoted me as saying something that I wish I could say. We want money—much money—but we have been given none yet. We have been trying for four or five years to make very solid the teaching of the undergraduates, but that is not sufficient. We must make provision for the extension of our facilities for scientific study and research. That is what I say, and all I said in Philadelphia. I am not certain that I want any one person to take possession of Princeton by giving her a sum so great that his name will always be associated with hers. No man that I know of is big enough for that."

Japs Gets School Privileges.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 19.—On grounds of "Comity and Public Policy" Mayor Schmitz and the Board of Education of San Francisco last night announced abandonment of the policy segregation of Japanese children in the public schools of that city, which has threatened to cause strained relations with the Japanese. As modified the San Francisco school policy will permit the education in the white schools of children of aliens who speak English. An age limitation for the various grades will guard against unwholesome disparity of age between whites and Japanese or other aliens. Alien children first must be examined before entering such schools and this examination will really serve as a means of seeing that the Japanese children are educated with the whites so that Japan may not be offended.

PERSONAL.

David F. Stewart, of John street, who had partially recovered from an illness, suffered a relapse yesterday and will be removed to Muhlenberg Hospital this afternoon.

Mrs. George W. F. Randolph, of West Front street, left Sunday night for Freemont, Ohio, in answer to a telegram announcing the sudden death of her brother, Isaac M. Keeler, a prominent citizen of Freemont.

Mrs. George Saums, of West Front street, successfully passed through an operation at Muhlenberg Hospital, yesterday afternoon, for a trouble of long standing. Her condition today is as well as could be expected.

CLOSED PORTALS.

The Women's Relief Corps, auxiliary to Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., will hold a lunch-box social in the Post rooms Friday night and the veterans have been invited to attend.

VOLUNTEERS TO PARADE.

Perth Amboy Firemen Invite Other Companies to Celebrate.

Perth Amboy, Feb. 19.—At the meeting of the Board of Aldermen last night the annual budget for the city was taken up. This showed a decided increase over that of the year before. One of the items is $1,000 for a firemen's parade, which the firement will hold here October 17.

At the meeting of the parade committee it was decided to invite the following fire companies to participate in the parade: Phoenix Engine Company, No. 3, of New Brunswick; Franklin Hose Company, No. 2, of Rahway, and Independence Engine Company, of South Amboy; Raritan Hose Company, No. 4, of New Brunswick; Westfield Hose Company and the Keyport Hose; Washington Hose Company No. 1, of Rahway; the Woodbridge Fire Department and Metuchen Hose Company; Somerville Hook and Ladder Company, of Somerville; Wesley Hook and Ladder Company, of Asbury Park, and Eagle Hook and Ladder Brigade, of Metuchen; Highland Park Hook and Ladder Company, of New Brunswick, and Phil Daly Hose Company, of Long Branch.

Towerman Guilty of Wreck.

New York, Feb. 19.—Cornelius A. Jackson, who was the towerman at Ninth avenue and Fifty-third street on September 11, 1905, when a Ninth avenue elevated railroad train ran off the track, killing ewelve persons, was yesterday convicted of manslaughter in the second degree. He was tried before Judge Foster and a jury in Part 2 of the Court of General Sessions. Sentence will be passed on Thursday. The jury recommended that mercy be extended to the prisoner. The specific charge on which he was tried was causing the death of Solomon Newgass, one of the passengers. Evidence at the trial went to show that Jackson, on the morning of the disaster, had set the signals for a train which was to take the curve and run down Sixth avenue after passing through Fifty-third street. Then he went to a back room and as a Ninth avenue train came along, which should have taken the straight track down town, took the open switch and the forward car plunged into the street. Paul Kelly, motorman of the train, disappeared immediately after the accident and has never been found.

Appointments From Governor.

Trenton, Feb. 19.—Senator Minturn last night presented the report of the commission named by the Governor on warehouse receipts, accompanied by two bills. The members of the commission are Woodrow Wilson, J. W. Griggs and Frank Bergen. In executive session, the Senate received these appointments from the Governor: Members of the Salem County Board of Taxation, D. Harris Smith, three years; J. C. Ward, two years; Charles Mecum, one year (all reappointed); members of the board of managers of the State Hospital, at Morris Plains, David St. John, John T. Gillson, J. Anson McBride, John C. Ward and J. Anson McBride, being ex-Senators, were confirmed.

Show Brooklyn's Growth.

New York, Feb. 19.—By the report of the Brooklyn postoffice for the year 1906, which has just been made public, is shown the wonderful increase in the growth of Brooklyn in the last year. For the twelve months ending December 31, 251,961,470 pieces of mail were handled and the total receipts amounts to $2,421,590.28, which is an increase of 12.22 per cent. over the receipts of 1905. All of the receipts of the branch offices were in excess of those received in 1905. There are now in use in Brooklyn 129 substations. There are 901 regular carriers and 467 clerks in the service.

Rabid Man Attacks Workers.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 19.—Frothing at the mouth, barking, snapping and acting in every way like a mad dog, John Reilly, thirty years old, took possession of a coal yard today, driving all employees out of the place in fear. He was finally overpowered by six policemen and locked in a padded cell. It is thought Reilly has hyprophobia, the city having recently had an epidemic of rabid dogs. Reilly attacked the shovellers with whom he was working, tearing at their faces with his hands and trying to reach their throats with his teeth.

DISTRICT PLAN CERTAIN

Bill For New Method of Choosing Assemblymen will be Passed Next Week.

WITHOUT OPPOSITION

Technical Objection to Measure Changing Representation in Assembly Will Be Overcome.

Only the early adjournment yesterday of the Senate at Trenton, before there was time to ascertain from Attorney-General McCarter whether or not the Hillery concurrent resolution is in proper form as a legislative bill, retarded the passage of the measure supported by popular sentiment. It is certain to have unopposed passage in the upper House next Monday night, and it will probably go through the Assembly before the end of next week's sessions.

The question as to the proper form of the measure, which was raised by Senator J. Boyd Avis, of Gloucester, did not arise from any opposition of the South Jersey member. In fact, Senator Avis is strongly in favor of the abolition of the present system of electing members of the Assembly by counties and is as desirous of having the proper constitutional means taken to bring about the establishment of districts as any member of the Legislature.

As Mr. Avis explained to the Senate, his anxiety to have the measure placed in proper form was born of his wish to avoid any further snags in the consummation of the plan.

The most convincing arguments in favor of the Assembly District plan are those that have been advanced along the lines of the messages of Gov. Stokes by Senators Hillery and Bradley. Mr. Hillery declared that the proposed change is desired by the people who have long demanded, as the courts have declared, the Assembly District method invalid because of its being in conflict with the organic law of the State, that the necessary means shall be taken to secure the change under the constitution as at present worded.

"The desirability of the passage of this proposed amendment is so apparent," Senator Hillery said yesterday, "that it is not necessary at this day to discuss the reasons for it. The people understand it, they want it because they are convinced that it will provide the proper sort of representative government, and they should have it."

"The Legislature should take the necessary steps to place this question of Assembly districts before the people," Senator Bradley said. "There seems to be a strong popular demand for a change from the present system and the people should have their way. If we have mistaken the sentiment of the voters of the State in respect to this question we may safely leave it to them, for no amendment can be had to the State Constitution until as a final act the people themselves vote on it. I know there are some skeptics who believe the people are sometimes in error, but I am not one of them. I believe we can safely trust the people to do what is best for them and for the State."

Mrs. Fisher's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Richard C. Fisher, who died Saturday night, was held at her late home on West Fourth street, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, of which Mrs. Fisher was a member. The only son of the deceased, George B. Fisher, of Denver, Col., was unable to be present and one of his intimate friends, John P. Meakin, of Salt Lake City, who is spending a short time in the East, represented him at the service. He rendered a solo, "Sunshine of My Soul" and recited "The Guard of Gethsemane." Interment was made at Hillside. Beside the son, George B. Fisher, of Denver, Mrs. Fisher leaves four daughters, Mrs. J. P. Gifford, Mrs. J. H. Leggett, Mrs. Victor Christofferson and Miss Anna L. Fisher. She is also survived by a sister, Mrs. J. M. Packer, of Norwich, Conn.

Traffic System Satisfactory.

The new traffic system inaugurated at the Eastbound railroad station by Mayor Fisk is working very satisfactory. All carriages and autos approaching the station with or for passengers enter from Park avenue and leave by the way of Fourth street. In this way there is no confusion and the possibility of accidents is reduced to a minimum.

Discussing Fire Appropriation.

The Councilmanic Fire Committee met Monday night and transacted routine business. There was also a discussion regarding the appropriation to be asked for the coming year, but no decision was reached. Another meeting will be held between now and the first part of March to determine the amount to be asked for.

LARGE GATHERING AT FUNERAL OF P. A. EMMONS

SERVICES CONDUCTED BY MASONIC BRETHREN.

With a large gathering of Masonic brethren included in the attendance, the funeral of Peter A. Emmons, who was one of the most prominent members of the order in this section, was held at his late home on Jackson avenue, yesterday afternoon. The house was filled almost to crowding and beside the fraternal order representatives there were many New York business men and local officials present. Large delegations came from Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., and Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T.

The opening part of the service was conducted by Rev. Dr. C. W. Parsons, pastor of Grace M. E. church, after which the officers of Anchor lodge took charge. The full Masonic ritual was carried out by Worshipful Master J. Travis Sutphen, Past Worshipful Master L. A. VanAlstyne and Chaplain Dr. E. M. Rodman. The members of the lodge participated. Many handsome floral tributes were presented by the organizations.

Interment was made at Hillside cemetery and only the commitment service took place. The pall bearers were George Nicholson, John Melick and Edward Squires, all connected with the United States Shirt and Collar Company, of New York, which Mr. Emmons represented; P. J. Young, a New Brunswick merchant, and Mayor Newton B. Smalley and H. W. Marshall.

COLONIAL SUPPER SERVED BY WOMEN

HELD BY THE FIRST BAPTIST YOUNG WOMEN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY.

Under the auspices of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, and for the benefit of home and foreign missions, a colonial supper was held in the Sunday-school room last night. The room was elaborately decorated with American flags and draperies, while the several tables were garnished with flowers and small banquet lamps.

One room was devoted to an exhibition of old articles, including quilts, warming pans, books and candle-sticks. These were owned by Miss Clara Denton, Miss Pauline Denton, Mrs. House and Miss Whitney, and they were in charge, explaining incidents in connection with them. One quilt exhibited was said to be 110 years old.

The general committee consisted of Miss Ada Fountain, president of the society; Mrs. Harold Serrell and Miss May Shreve. The decorating committee consisted of Miss Pauline Denton, Miss Kathryn Rocap, Miss Margaret Chambliss and Miss Bessie Flanders.

Those presiding at the various tables were Mrs. William A. Connor, Mrs. George A. Chapman, Mrs. J. B. Probasco, Miss Ida Yerkes, Mrs. John Peeke Reynolds, Mrs. Frank W. Jones, Mrs. Walter A. McGee, Mrs. Robert Lowry, Mrs. George White and Mrs. Morris Zook. These women were attired in the costumes of the colonial days, as was also these waitresses: Miss Helen Robins, Miss Margaret Chambliss, Miss Bessie Flanders, Miss Marion Rocap, Miss Kathryn Rocap, Miss Elizabeth McGee, Miss Mabelle Cubberly, Miss Corine Tennyson, Miss Josephine Serrell, Miss Marguerite Serrell, Miss Alice Drake, Miss Elsie Drake, Miss Annie Kinsman, Miss Carrie Demler and Miss Ada Fountain. Those who assisted in the kitchen included Mrs. George H. Robins, Mrs. Stephen W. VanHorn, Mrs. Walter C. Dobbins, Mrs. S. W. Dunning, Miss Edna Van Cleef, Mrs. B. J. Shreve, Miss Abbie VanCleef, Mrs. David Sutphen.

There was also a candy table, Mrs. W. B. Vail, Miss Carolyn Coombs and Miss Gladys Leland being in charge. It is expected that the society will net $50 for missions.

Brooks Carson In the Hospital.

Brooks Carson, of Belmont avenue, who fell out of a tree last summer and broke several bones in his arm and hand, is now under treatment at a Jersey City hospital. At the time of the accident it was not thought that any bones were broken, but later an X-ray examination disclosed that there were and that in knitting they were out of shape. Now an effort is being made to straighten the bones.

Death of Thomas E. Morris.

Thomas E. Morris, a prominent citizen of Freehold, died at his home on Monday after an illness of two years. He is survived by a wife and three sons, Linden and Nathaniel, of New York, and Edward Morris, of this city.

REMEDIAL JURY MEASURE

As Passed by Senate, Bill Includes Union and Seven Other Counties.

TWO-WEEK JURIES

Bill Introduced By Colby—Plan to Investigate Stone Road Construction.

After agreeing to adjourn for the week at the close of a single session yesterday, the Senate at Trenton settled down to business and cleared the calendar before adjournment.

The Colby bill remedying the blunder in the jury act of last year, and providing for two-week juries in Essex and Hudson counties, was passed after being amended so as to include Passaic, Bergen, Camden, Mercer and Union counties.

Senator Robbins made his maiden speech in the Senate in defense of his joint resolution to investigate the increased cost of stone road construction. He submitted figures to show that a road built in Burlington some years ago, at a cost of $40,000, would now cost $75,000, due to the fact that the cost of stone had abnormally increased, due, he believed, to the result of a combine which made the State and counties pay higher prices for stone than individuals.

Senator Lee, as a dealer in stone, said there was no necessity for the investigation, and remarked that it was increased wages for labor which raised the price. Senator Slizer told of exorbitant charges made in his county, and the resolution passed unanimously.

Other bills passed were the Plummer act, creating townships as a fire protection district, and the Frelinghuysen bill giving trustees appointed in Chancery the same control over estates as executors under a bill.

Fifteen bills were introduced in the Senate today, including four election reform bills, by Mr. Colby, similar to bills introduced last year. A joint resolution was introduced providing for the removal of the remains of the late General Philip Kearny to the National Cemetery at Arlington.

MAYOR FINANCE HEAD OF COUNTY COMMITTEE.

Andrew McCardell Chairman of Republican Outing Committee.

County Chairman Frank H. Smith, Factory Inspector Andrew McCardell, Councilman Herbert Buxton, Arthur Murphy and Robert E. Hall attended the meeting of the Union County Republican Executive Committee at Elizabeth last night. The most important business considered was the appointment of the various committees for the coming year, as follows:

Executive—Hamilton F. Kean, Robert J. Kirkland, Charles M. Codding, William H. Lawrence, James White. Finance—Charles J. Fisk, W. B. Parrot, Robert E. Hall, H. S. Fullerton, Dr. F. W. Westcott. Speakers and Halls—Corra N. Williams, Duncan W. Taylor, John Farrell, O. R. Graham, Joseph Cahill. Outing—Andrew McCardell, Edward Bauer, Herbert Buxton, S. Russling Ryno, W. A. Benbridge, Harry Pflug.

Immediately after the regular meeting, the outing committee met and decided to hold the annual outing at Witzel's Grove on Saturday, August 10, and the Steamer Isabelle has been engaged for the occasion.

NICARAGUA'S WAR.

Interest In It Here Because of Alfonso Zelaya.

Plainfielders have more than a general interest in the war that Nicaragua is waging against Honduras. President Zelaya, of Nicaragua, who is in command of the Nicaraguan troops, is the father of Alfonco Zelaya, for two years a student at Cedarcroft school and well known about town. General Zelaya's ambition is said to be back of the conflict.

It is declared that the ambition of President Zelaya is to establish a union of the States of Central America. His plan is to replace the present Presidents of these States by others favoring his project. He is trying to begin with Hondurus, which is considered the weakest of these countries. General Policarpo Bonilla, who was at one time President of Hondurus and who led the recent revolution in that country, is now in Costa Rica, presumably for the purpose of persuading that government to remain neutral. The government of Costa Rica is enforcing the existing statutes to prevent the arming and organizing of Nicaraguan "emigrados," or refugees, who are living in Costa Rica.

Business in both Honduraus and Nicaragua is paralyzed. The recruiting of men is causing heavy losses to the coffee planters. Last week Hondurus received a large consignment of war material.

MR. ACKERMAN SEEKS TO ESTABLISH CO. HOSPITALS

ANOTHER MEASURE PROVIDES FOR PAY OF PATIENTS IN ASYLUM.

Senator Ernest R. Ackerman introduced two measures yesterday, the first one providing that counties not having county hospitals may construct the same at a cost not exceeding $20,000 the money to be appropriated in the usual way.

The second measure amends the law regulating the admittance of patients into insane asylums, so that relatives able to pay for the maintenanct of patients will be required to do so, and preventing the confinement in asylums of persons who are not insane.

Senator Frelinghuysen introduced a bill yesterday, which provides for the appropriation of $15,000 for the expenses of a detail from the National Guard to be appointed to represent the State at the dedication of the McClellan Monument in Washington on May 2, 1907.

SENATOR'S DINNER A GREAT SUCCESS

F. O. BRIGGS AND D. S. VOORHEES ADMIRABLE HOSTS.

Everybody who is somebody in New Jersey politics, from Governor Edward C. Stokes to the youngest newspaper correspondent, was at the Trenton House, at Trenton, yesterday, enjoying the hospitality meted out by Senator-elect Frank O. Briggs and Daniel S. Voorhees, his successor as State Treasurer.

Good fellowship and congratulations for the two hosts were the order of the day, while the guests partook of the good things that took up every inch of the surface of the tables, which bore salads, lobster included, and seafood—in fact all that the lusty appetites of the legislators could demand was there.

Senator-elect Briggs and Treasurer-elect Voorhees were the centre of attraction. All the guests had cordial congratulations for them, and they themselves felt felicitated to know that they had had a joint reception which Congressmen present declared had discounted White House functions.

Governor Stokes was one of the first arrivals at the dinner, but he remained only half an hour after tendering his congratulations, as stress of official business prevented a longer stay.

Later in the afternoon, a delegation of legislators, headed by Senator John Hinchliffe, with other Democrats and Republicans, captured the Senator-elect and subjected him to a very pleasant experience. Placing a wreath of green on his head, they formed a ring about him and sang "Auld Lang Syne" and "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," as he modestly bowed his acknowledgements.

"Uncle Dan" Voorhees was not forgotten, either, in the round of pleasantries. Captain Lovett, the sergeant-at-arms of the Senate, also wore a crown of green after some of his friends had decamped with his brand new tile. It was late in the afternoon when the guest dispersed.

REV. DR. CHAMBLISS WILL SPEAK AT DEDICATION.

New Baptist Edifice Will Be the Scene of Three Days' Celebration.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, will assist in the dedication of the new edifice of the First Baptist church at Rahway, which will be observed with elaborate services, beginning on Sunday. He will speak at the service to be held Sunday night. In the morning Rev. Dr. T. E. Vassar, of Elizabeth, will preach and the dedication will take place in the afternoon, when Rev. W. G. Fennell, of Newark, will speak.

On Monday night there will be addresses by the pastors of Rahway and former pastors of the church; Tuesday night, Rev. W. W. Giles, of Summit, and Wednesday night, Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, of New York, will speak. It is expected that the Baptist churches of this city will be represented at the several services.

Pythians at Grand Lodge Session.

The annual Grand Lodge session of the Knights of Pythias began at Trenton today and will be continued tomorrow. The two local lodges are represented by Asa D. Pope, Philip Jahn, Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., Elmer D. Cutting and Morgan Turton for Perseverance, No. 74, and Harry Werner for Unity, No. 102. The election of Grand Lodge officers and other business will be transacted.

Miss Etta Raybert, of East Second street, is visiting Mrs. Emma Starr Kirch at Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson.

A TUBERCULOSIS EXHIBIT

To Be Shown Here For A Week Beginning March 4.

MODEL TENT ADDED

Store In Stirling Building Will Be the Scene of the Exhibit—Trained Nurse In Charge.

The exhibit of the method to be used in handling tuberculosis cases prepared by the State Board of Health for display in cities and towns all over the State will be shown here the week beginning March 4. The Tuberculosis Society, of this city, organized last year to take part in the general campaign against the disease, will meet tonight to arrange for the exhibit.

A model of the tent used in the experiment conducted on the Casino grounds with the Michael Muldowney case will be shown. It will be made a regular part of the exhibit. Besides the tent will be shown apparatus, schedules of diet, arrangements for blanketing the patient and literature. A trained nurse will be in charge to explain the exhibit which will be installed in the vacant store in the Stirling building, Park avenue. Health Officer Thurlow, who is secretary of the Tuberculosis Society, will assist the nurse in carrying on the exhibit.

The display is part of an organized crusade of tuberculosis education that is being carried on by the State health board. The Tuberculosis Society of this city, of which Dr. B. VanD. Hedges is president, is actively helping in the work.

MR. AND MRS. C. EGEL FIFTY YEARS MARRIED.

Surrounded by Their Eight Children Couple Celebrate Event.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Egel, of Lincoln, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding at their home, last night. Relatives and friends to the number of fifty gathered, including five sons and three daughters. There was an evening of general sociability, interspersed with piano selections by Miss vonMindern, of New Market; vical solos by the Misses Margaret and Emma Egel, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Egel.

The couple received a large collection of gifts, including cut-glass, goldware, money and many other useful articles. They were also the recipients of hearty congratulations from all.

Mr. Egel is a native of Germany. He came to this country when a young man, locating near his present place of residence and was married there. He acquired considerable property, portions of which he afterward sold to the New Jersey Central, the Lehigh Valley Railroad and the Standard Oil Company for the extension of its pipe line from the oil fields.

The couple have eight children, five sons, Dr. Chauncey Egel, of Westfield; Fred and John Egel, of Philadelphia; Bernie Egel, of this city; Paul Egel, of Bound Brook; the Misses Margaret and Emma Egel, of Lincoln, and a married daughter living in Newark. Mr. Egel has only one brother living, George Egel, of Somerset street. All of the children attended the celebration.

Fencing Class.

The Camera Club voted to organize a fencing class at a meeting on Monday night. Lawyer L. A. Clement, who is an expert with the foils, will have charge of the class to begin with. As the fencers become familiar with the game a professional fencing master will be retained to carry them on into the expert moves.

Powlison Plans Meetings.

The noonday shop meetings which are now being held in New York under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. are under the direction of Charles F. Powlison, formerly of Plainfield, and now religious secretary of the West Side Young Men's Christian Association. The meetings are having great success.

Seegar's Trial Off.

George Seegar was to rave been put on trial in the Union County Court today on the charge of larceny and felonious assault committed at the jewelry store of Leo Slonim on West Front street last November, but through his counsel, S. S. Swackhamer, Esq., the case was put off for the term.

CENTRAL OFFICIALS INSPECT STATIONS

VISITED PLAINFIELD YESTERDAY—GOING OVER ENTIRE ROAD.

Officials of the New Jersey Central are making a tour of inspection over the entire road, this week, traveling in the special car "Central" drawn by the observation engine No. 900. Those in the party include General Superintendent C. W. Huntington, General Passenger Agent W. C. Hope, Chief Engineer Joseph O. Osgood, Division Superintendent E. E. Kerwin, Passenger Trainmaster Chas. H. English, General Baggage Agent F. B. Greenwalt, General Advertising Agent Arthur Tomalin, District Passenger Agent I. E. Whyte, of Asbury Park; District Passenger Agent C. K. Armstrong, of Newark, and Superintendent of Telegraph F. H. Sherman, of this city.

All the stations from Communipaw to Perth Amboy were visited yesterday, including those on the Sound shore branch to Chrome and the South Branch from Somerville to Flemington. Other stations on the main line visited yesterday afternoon were Bound Brook, Dunellen, Findere and Garwood. The stations from Elizabeth to Plainfield were inspected this morning and the officials then visited the stations west of Somerville, including the High Bridge brannch. They will probably stop tonight at Allentown and tomorrow and Friday will be spent in going over the company's lines in Pennsylvania. A trip will then be made over the New Jersey Southern Division.

MANY WOMEN MEET TO DISCUSS Y. W. C. A.

MISS SNIDER EXPLAINS PROPOSITION TO GATHERING AT WARREN CHAPEL.

In the interest of the movement to organize a Young Women's Christian Association in Plainfield, a public meeting was held in Warren chapel last night. There was a large attendance of women, including many of wealth and influence who will lend their support and assistance in the matter. Miss Snider, one of the travelling secretaries of the association, has been in town several days calling on women who are likely to be interested in the formation of an association. She was present at the meeting and spoke at some length.

Rev J. O. McKelvey, pastor of the chapel, was in charge of the meeting and after conducting the opening exercises, he introduced Miss Snider. She told of the objects of the association which are for the social and physical development of its members and instruction in millinery, the arts, dressmaking, bookkeeping, stenography and other commercial courses. Of course, Miss Snider explained, the association is chiefly intended for the advancement of religious principles, Bible study. There are two classes of membership--active and associate. The active members are expected to be Christians and naturally identified with some church. The associate members need not be Christians, and they have all privileges except that of voting. There is also a junior department for girls under fifteen years. Their dues are fifty cents a year, while the dues for others are $1 a year, with extra fees for membership in the commercial and industrial classes and gymnasium.

Miss Snider explained that she had just organized an association at Camden with a membership of 600. A property was purchased and about $3,300 was raised, $1,000 of which was paid on the place and the balance put in the treasury. She said that she did not favor starting an association with less than 300 members. After her talk Miss Snider answered a number of questions put to her by those particularly interested.

A conference will be held at the home of Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, "Sunnyside," East Front street, on Thursday afternoon, February 28, at 4 o'clock, when Miss Snider and others will speak.

Endorse Local Option Bill.

The Men's Club of the Congregational church at its regular meeting on Tuesday, Feb. 5, passed the following resolution: "Resolved, That we endorse the Local Option bill to be introduced into the Legislature by the Anti-Saloon League, and urge their representatives to give the same their careful attention and strong support. It is further resolved, that the secretary, Sidney Dunning, forward copies of this resolution to the members representing Union and Somerset counties."

POLICE BOARD AGREES ON NEW APPOINTMENTS

Chris. Frederickson For Captain, John Flynn, Sergeant, and Herbert Overbaugh for Detective-Sergeant.

HIGGINS, ROUNDSMAN

Such Is the Slate Made At Board Meeting—Common Council to Act On Monday Night.

When the Common Council meets on Monday night it will receive a communication from Mayor Charles J. Fisk containing a list of nominations for police department promotions. These are the lucky men slated:

For captain, Sergeant Christian Frederickson.

For sergeant, Roundsman John Flynn.

For detective-sergeant, Patrolman Overbaugh.

For roundsman, Patrolman Morris Higgins.

These appointments were agreed upon at a meeting of the Police Board on Monday night. After wrestling with the subject for fully two hours and a half, the board in session at the mayor's office, arranged with Mr. Fisk, who by virtue of his office is a member of that body, that these nominations should be passed up to the city fathers for confirmation.

The original list presented to the Common Council and then withdrawn by the Mayor was made up in this fashion: Captain, Christian Frederickson; sergeant, John Flynn; detective-sergeant, Florence J. McCarthy. It developed at the meeting that the appointments had not come before the Police Board for approval, and at the request of the Mayor, Councilman Frank Randolph obtained permission to withdrawn them.

A Daily Press man attempted to interview Mayor Fisk last night regarding the action of the Board in revising the list, but His Honor refused to discuss the subject. "I have absolutely nothing to say about this matter," he declared. "The fact is I am considering the matter and will make up my mind this week, but I will have nothing whatever to say until after I have communicated with the Common Council. I will neither confirm nor deny any question you may put to me."

BIG PRAYER MEETING.

Interdenominational Gathering Planned by Congregational Mission Association.

An interdenominational prayer meeting was planned at the monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Association of the Congregational church yesterday afternoon. It will be held at the Congregational church February 28. Mrs. Curtis Bates will lead. The association has invited all the home missionary societies in the city to take part in it.

A paper by Mrs. J. M. Whiton on Porto Rico and the Congregational missions there was read by Mrs. C. L. Goodrich. Mrs. Whiton is attending a missionary conference in Washington. Mrs. Goodrich has travelled through Porto Rico.

The meeting was marked by a solo by Mrs. Thomas McDonald. Refreshments were served.

Moving Picture Show.

On Washington's Birthday, afternoon only, at 3:30 o'clock, for the benefit of the Y. M. C. A., D. W. Robertson's moving picture company will appear at the Y. M. C. A. hall with the best programme that has ever been given. All the pictures will be entirely new. In addition screaming comedy entitled "Society." By request "Robin," the comedy juggler, will also appear again. Seats now on sale at Hodge's drug store and at Y. M. C. A.

Public Library Class.

In another column appears an advertisement for Public Library helpers. It has been the custom for some years for the Public Library to train its own helpers, thus giving an excellent opportunity of learning approved library methods, etc., and later, when vacancy arises, of entering the library as a member of the regular staff. ***

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The sneeze powder nuisance has invaded the trolley cars and several times during the past week passengers have had to endure the nuisance to satisfy the cravings of some of the weak minded who think the thing a joke. It is said the Public Service officials are laying for the jokers and the first one caught will be made an example of in order to abate the nuisance.

Everyone will want to attend the opening of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company's three days' fair, which starts tomorrow night. The committee has decided to open the fair Washington's Birthday afternoon, so as to enable the residents to have a place where they can go and spend some of their money in a good cause.

Mrs. Stephenson, mother of Mrs. William T. Sharpe, was painfully injured several days ago by falling down the cellar stairs at her home on West Front street. Dr. Westcott was called and after examination found that no bones were broken, although her injuries will confine her to her home for some time.

Tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 the pupils of the public school will hold their Lincoln's and Washington's Birthday exercises in the assembly room of the building. The parents and friends are invited to enjoy the exercises with the school.

Hardly a day passes but what some narrow escape is reported by the coasters on Spencer's Hill. The road bed is a solid glare of ice; this with the sharp turns and water breakers on the hill makes the hill a dangerous coasting spot.

Wire Tappers Got $350,000.

New York, Feb. 20.—Baited by promises that he could make a million dollars in a day, William F. Walker, the absconding treasurer of New Britain (Conn.) Savings Bank, fell into the net of the shrewdest band of wire tappers in the country and lost $350,000. On his first vist to their fake pool room in Twenty-eighth street he lost $110,000, and on the second and last visit $240,000. He made the risk after he had already lost heavily in wildcat mining speculation and proved easy prey for the sharpers who "discovered" him in a downtown bucket shop. Details of the swindle, which excels in cleverness and the amount involved any wire tapping game ever worked in this country, were disclosed yesterday to Pinkerton detectives and an immediate search was instituted for the sharpers. Regular police detectives also scoured the city, but only to find that one of the wire tappers is in Europe and that the three others fled several days ago to various parts of the country.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO.

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. Julia Hynes, of 523 Sixth street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "For nearly a year I was suffering with a severe pain in the loins, or what is generally called backache. I was also afflicted with a stiffness or lameness of the limbs and the kidney secretions were highly colored and contained some sediment. Any remedies that I took to clear up the kidney secretions and rid me of my aches and pains did me apparently no good or benefit. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills doing so much for people suffering as I was, and began using them, getting a supply at Randolph's drug store. Though at first I saw no change in my condition, I soon began to have less pain in my back and my limbs were not stiff any more. I kept right on with the pills and took them several months, with the result that they cured me of my trouble and I am glad to endorse them."

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

The cantata, "Love and Praise," by West, to be given at the First M. E. church Sunday night, March 3, is considered one of the best works by this favorite composer. Its rendition will occupy the entire evening. In the afternoon the cantata will be given in the Presbyterian church, Westfield, by the combined choirs of the First M. E. and Westfield churches. J. Edmund Skiff will be in charge of the renditions.

CLEVELAND MAY RETIRE AS A PUBLIC SPEAKER.

Former President Non-Committal—Delegation to Accompany Him To Chicago.

Princeton, Feb. 20.—The address to be delivered before members of the Union league, Chicago, Washington's Birthday, by former President Cleveland, may be the last public speech the only living ex-president of the United States will make. It has been rumored that Mr. Cleveland would discontinue appearing before the public as a speaker after February 21, but when seen last evening the former president was non-committal, remarking: "I am not prepared to say this positively. There is nothing else that I can say."

A delegation of members of the league will come to Princeton to accompany Mr. and Mrs. Cleveland to Chicago. Elaborate arrangements are being made by the league for the occasion and for the entertainment of the speaker and Mrs. Cleveland.

SEEK CORDOVA'S PARDON.

Petition Being Circulated by the Former Parishioners and Friends of Deposed Minister.

New Brunswick, Feb. 20.—H. B. Cook, who defended Rev. J. F. Cordova when the South River minister eloped with Miss Julia Bowne, a member of his choir in the South River Baptist church, said yesterday that a petition was being circulated for Cordova's pardon. Mr. Cook said that the movement originated among parishioners and friends of Cordova who felt that he had been treated with undue severity. It did not originate with his relatives.

The petition, Mr. Cook said, was being circulated in New Brunswick and South River, and would be presented to the Court of Pardons at the next session. Mr. Cook declined to give any information as to the people circulating the petition other than to say they were well known and of influence in the community.

Trenton Monument Fund Grows.

Trenton, Feb. 20.—It has been estimated that between $6,000 and $7,000 will be added to the Mercer county sailors' and soldiers' monument fund as the result of the ball and a fair which closed in the Second Regiment Armory Saturday night. The new City Hall Commission has offered a place in front of the proposed municipal building for the monument, which will result in a considerable saving in the cost. The fund now amounts to $12,000, and $15,000 is the estimated cost of the memorial.

Clubhouse for Elizabeth Eagles.

Elizabeth Aerie, No. 667, Fraternal Order of Eagles, is about to purchase old Grand Army Hall on East Jersey street, near First street, Elizabethport, and will convert it into a clubhouse. The building was erected by popular subscription many years ago as a home for Judson Kilpatrick Post No. 67, G. A. R., which owns the property. An addition was made to the building several years ago.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Kyrle Bellew has at last found a play which he regards as a better vehicle for his talents than was "Raffles." It is "A Marriage of Reason," by J. Hartley Manners, in which Mr. Bellew will return to the New Plainfield theatre tonight. Mr. Bellew has the role of an English Earl who makes a financial marriage with a fascinating American girl who ultimately compels his love after many moving incidents in aristocratic circles abroad.

In giving to the public a drama that deals with the subject of capital and labor, Charles Klein has reached a goal that dramatists hitherto have not dared to try for. In his latest play, "The Daughters of Men," which will be at the New Plainfield theatre Washington's Birthday, afternoon and night, Mr. Klein has treated of this great subject of the bitter struggle between capital and labor, and so carefully and skillfully has he treated this subject that prominent labor leaders throughout the country have predicted that this drama may be the means of solving this question—a question that has been in the minds of the masses of this country for generations.

It is seldom that a play meets with the universal endorsement of managers, theatregoers and the press in general on its initial production, but an exception last season was that of "My Wife's Family," the combined efforts of two progressive and well known players, Hay Stephens and Harry Linton. This merry laugh producer was an instantaneous hit, having return dates in many cities by special request. It is in three acts filled with catchy musical numbers of original theme, while the comedy lines are all bright and new. The company presenting the comedy, interpreting the three acts of fun and music, is one of the best entour, while the costuming and stage setting and electrical and mechanical effects are correct in every detail. There are two dozen musical numbers, all of the whistling order, to be heard in "My Wife's Family," which will be presented here at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night.

—Abram Kunzman, of the West End, who recently purchased the flats at Central avenue and West Second street, will soon award the contracts for extensive improvements in the building, both inside and out.

—Captain George Benn, of the Mission Yacht Association, of Brooklyn, who has been in town several days in the interest of his work, has returned home. While here he received a number of subscriptions for his work, and promises of much literature.

For Glasses you formerly paid other dealers from $5 to $10 for, including lenses,

Gold Seamless Wire Frames and No Charge for Examining the Eyes.

ONE DAY ONLY

Parlors of the Hotel Kensington, Plainfield,

Saturday, Feb. 23,

HOURS 9 A. M. UNTIL 8 P. M.

Your eyes will be examined by THE DAMMERS SCIENTIFIC METHOD. Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses.

(NO DROPS USED.) Those who have been examined for GLASSES by men who claim to examine eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of Examining Eyes, and fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurement of the focus and shape of the eyes.

NO QUESTIONS ASKED, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes BLINDNESS, or by trying on a lot of glasses, and asking you "Can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have had trouble to get glasses correct.

THIS IS ABSOLUTELY THE HIGHEST CLASS WORK DONE IN FITTING GLASSES IN AMERICA.—DON'T SUFFER WITH HEADACHE.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, WATERY EYES, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by EYE STRAIN. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism, by our scientific methods of Examining.

CHILD'S LEGS CUT OFF; FATHER AWARDED $10,000.

Orange and Passaic Valley Trolley Company Admits Its Liability to That Amount.

Newark, Feb. 20.—Ten thousand dollars' damages was the verdict given by jury in the Circuit Court Monday by direction of Judge Adams in favor of Carolina Generosa, three years old, whose legs were cut off above the knees by a trolley car in Orange on May 15. The defendant was the Orange & Passaic Valley Street Railway Company. The verdict was reached after counsel had come to an agreement, the trolley company admitting its liability to the amount of $10,000. The amount named in the papers was twice that sum.

The announcement that the case had been settled out of the court was made as the trial was about to be began. In the arms of her father the child, still wan and weak from the effects of the accident, was taken into court. Before directing that a verdict according to the terms of the agreement be decided on Judge Adams requested counsel to ascertain whether the amount named was satisfactory to the father. Learning that it was, the court gave instruction to the jury.

A Republican Tribute.

James E. Martine has admitted that if the Gubernatorial nomination is forced upon him by the Democracy next fall, he will accept it. History in the case of the farmer orator is almost sure to repeat itself. When duty calls, with danger of defeat, he is never found wanting. But that seems to be about the only time he is wanted by his party.—Newark News.

Charles Dana Gibson has held his place in the hearts of Americans longer and stronger than any other artist this country has developed. This is proven by the immense popularity of his series of pictures now being distributed by the New York Sunday World as fine Art Supplements. A "Gibson Head" will be given with next Sunday's World.

50-TON CASTING POURED AT AN ELIZABETH SHOP.

Claimed By the Officials to Be the Largest Ever Made.

What is said to be one of the largest castings ever made was poured Monday afternoon at the plant of the Samuel L. Moore Sons' Corporation, Elizabeth.

The casting, which is for a blower for an engine for the William Tod Company, of Youngstown, O., was started on January 8, and a large force of employes has been kept at work on it ever since both day and night. At 3 o'clock all was in order for the pouring, and the word to let the steam of hot metal flow was given. It took just seven minutes to pour the casting, which will weigh about fifty tons. It was poured from three huge ladles operated by three large cranes.

As soon as the casting cools, which will be anywhere from twelve to sixteen days, workmen will begin the task of trimming off the rough edges. This is no easy matter, and it will take some days.

In conversation with a newspaperman Monday afternoon one of the officials of the firm said that they often made castings from fourteen to thirty-five tons, but that he did not think that many firms made them as heavy as fifty tons.

The Samuel Moore Sons' Corporation does the casting work for some of the largest firms in the United States.

POSTPONE KELLY'S TRIAL.

Police Captain's Hearing Halted by Illness of Commissioner.

Jersey City, Feb. 20.—Summing up in the case of Captain John F. Kelly, of the Second Precinct, who has been on trial for alleged failure to close policy shops and pool rooms in his precinct, was last night postponed by the Police Board to Thursday night.

Captain Charles Cox, of the First Precinct, now awaiting trial on the same charge, will probably be retired at his own request, as it is understood his application is to go before the Police Board at its next session. He is the only Fagan captain in the department, and his suspension caused considerable comment at the time it occurred.

Sergeant Michael Reardon, of the Second Precinct, who was suspended pending the disposition of a charge against him of destroying a signal-box record too soon, and was told to return to duty, pending the further consideration of his case, is still suspended. After Theodore Bierck, president of the Police Board, had informed Reardon that he might report for duty he was again suspended.

College President to Wed.

New York, Feb. 20.—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, is to wed Miss Kate La Montagne. Announcement of their engagement was made yesterday to intimate friends by Mrs. Auguste La Montagne, the bride-elect's mother. Miss La Montagne is a daughter of the late Auguste La Montagne, of this city and Paris. Mrs. La Montagne and her two daughters, one of whom is Mrs. Francis Key Pendleton, have been living in New York for the last fifteen years, and here, as well as in Paris, have been identified with leaders of society.

Supposed Boarders Were Thieves.

Cranford, Feb. 20.—Two men called at Mrs. John Howe's house, on Twentieth street, Kenilworth, Saturday afternoon, and engaged board, saying they were going to work yesterday in the Meyer leather factory. They remained in the rooms long enough to gather up several suits of clothing belonging to the other boarders, and then left. The police of Roselle and Cranford have been notified to look out for them.

NEW EXCISE MEASURES IN THE LEGISLATURE

DEMOCRATIC MEMBERS CONFER ON AMENDMENTS TO BISHOPS' LAW

There was a conference of the Democratic members of the Legislature at Trenton on the excise bills yesterday afternoon. Senator Silzer, of Middlesex, presented to the conference his Bishops' law amendments. They did not receive the support many of the Democrats believed they deserved.

The amendments relieve the landlord from liability with the tenant when the acts committed by the tenant are unknown to the landlord; make women drink at the bar, if they want to drink in saloons; abolish the back room; relieve the tenant from the Bishops' law feature which forbids the sale of saloon property and license to aliens of the State, and abolishes the Bishops' law provision that the excise boards and judges of the Common Pleas Courts order the screens drawn during the prohibited hours.

These features sought to be amended are the prohibitions of the Bishops' law on which the interdenominational committee is standing "pat."

Mr. Morris, of Sussex, who believes there should not be any excise legislation this season, said in the conference that he would rather the amendments to the Bishops' law should be submitted in separate bills. There is to be an attempt made next Monday night to make the Silzer bill a caucus amendment of the Democrats.

The long-expected Local Option bill made its appearance in the House yesterday, being introduced by Assemblyman Buck, of Cumberland, at the instance of the Anti-Saloon League of New Jersey. It is the same as the measure of this nature introduced last winter, with the exception that it goes a little further and permits municipalities to vote by wards on the question of having or not having saloons. It is somewhat of a coincidence that both local option bills should come from Cumberland county and that both should be fathered by Assemblyman Buck.

Assemblyman Miller, Mr. Buck's associate last winter, was to have stood sponsor then for the Local Option bill, but he was kept home by the death of his wife at the time, and Mr. Buck took his place. That measure failed of passage, and this measure is likely to meet the same fate. The Democratic majority of the House is opposed to temperance reform of any kind and has the votes to defeat this measure. Even the Republicans are somewhat fearful of so radical a measure.

Protected Crookedness.

New York, Feb. 20.—Paying the police for protection, a band of Western pickpockets, hold-up men, and all-around "crooks," which recently swooped down on New York, has established headquarters in the Tenderloin, and is now carrying on operations on cross town cars on a bigger scale than ever before known. More skilful and daring than any set of criminals the police have had to deal with in years, these newcomers from the West are permitted to play their craft unmolested. Nightly in two of their rendezvous in the heart of the Tenderloin they mingle in friendliest terms with detectives who are detailed to hunt them down and stories of "big hauls" and "tough days" are bandied about with as much freedom as if every detective or policeman were an accomplice instead of foe. Ten dollars a week is the average assessment, although quite a few pay less. David Simons, a hold-up man and general worker, pays each week $10, with the understanding that he will not be disturbed. He served two years in Philadelphia and is now wanted in Chicago for jumping a bail bond. Phoenix, Ariz., also wants him. While these facts must be known to the police, he is permitted to ply his calling in New York, and the only things required of him are that he be not too Western in his methods and come up every week with $10.

Frozen to Lamp Post.

New York, Feb. 20.—Policeman Adams, of the East Twenty-second street station, found an aged man leaning against a lamp post at Fifteenth street and Avenue A Monday morning moaning bitterly. Dr. Lewis toik the man to Bellevue Hospital, where it was found that his feet, ears, nose and hands were frost bitten. The skin had been torn from the palms of both hands where the man had pressed them against the post in an effort to support himself. He said he was Max Sperlinger, of No. 106 Lexingtin avenue.

Martine a Good Loser.

James E. Martine, the "Farmer Orator" of New Jersey, enjoys the distinction of having been the candidate for his party—the Democratic—for almost every office in his county and Senate district for the last thirty years, without ever having won. Mr. Martine, who was defeated for Congress at he last election, was the Democratic choice for United States Senator to succeed Mr. Dryden. He is now spoken of as the Democratic candidate for Governor next fall.—New York Tribune.

THE NEW WAY TO CURE DYSPEPSIA

PEPSOIDS DESTROY DISEASE GERMS OF THE STOMACH. TRY A BOTTLE—FREE.

Pepsoids cure the worst forms of Dyspepsia and all other Acute or Chronic Stomach Disorders by repairing the w— out lining of the stomach and destroys all disease germs. Dyspepsia once cured in this way never returns. Pepsoids is not a patent medicine, but the successful prescription of Dr. Oidman who has cured thousands of cases of Chronic Stomach Troubles, among them Cancer of the Stomach. It cost more money to produce Pepsoids than any similar preparation on the market, owing to the large quantity of the purest Pepsin and other expensive drugs each tablet contains, (— — — on bottle.) Pepsoids are sold at 50 — bottle on an absolute guarantee to cure, or money refunded. We will send you, if you have not used Pepsoids before, a 50-cent bottle FREE; merely send us your name and address, and you will receive promptly a full sized bottle. You do not obligate yourself to pay a cent. All we ask after Pepsoids have cured or greatly benefitted you is, that you recommend Pepsoids to your friends. Every man or woman now has the opportunity of possessing a strong and healthy stomach. Will you grasp it? People with weak stomachs are always in misery. Pepsoids have made thousands of people happy by giving them what nature intended everyone should possess—a strong and healthy stomach, so as to enjoy the best there is in life. Try Pepsoids to-day, price only 50 cents a bottle at drug store. Or you may have a full sized bottle free by writing the Medical Department of The Vio Chemical Co., Chicago, Ill. 7

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The funeral of William Laible will be held from his late home Friday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. Laible was a member of Unity Lodge, K. of P., of Plainfield.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold a Washington's Birthday supper tomorrow night.

The Monday Night Club of the Methodist Episcopal church will hold an entertainment the night of February 28.

New pictures have been hung in the Whittier and Lincoln schools. They are all copies of famous masterpieces.

The bank will issue its own notes about March 1. The plates are being made in Washington.

Mr. and Mrs. James Wotton will move from Plainfield to the village in the near future.

The Presbyterian Foreign Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. A. A. Lake.

Friendship Circle will meet at the home of Mrs. J. E. Meeker tomorrow afternoon.

John Randolph is nursing a sprained hand. It was hurt in ice-cutting.

A new well has been driven at the New Market school by George Giles.

The Athletic Club will hold a hare and hound chase on Friday.

L. L. Block has had a hardwood floor laid in his shop.

Jesse Ayers has purchased a house on North avenue.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The young people getting up a play for the benefit of the church will soon begin their rehearsals. The play will be given sometime in March.

Thomas A. Linaberry has returned from Bloomsbury, after a short stay with his father, Dr. J. S. Linaberry.

Electric lights will be installed in the Baptist church next Saturday by Frank Randolph.

The last rehearsal of Mme. Jarley's Works will be held in Washington Hall tonight.

The local schools will be closed on Friday on account of Washington's Birthday.

(Additional suburban news on page 2).

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Scheuer & Co.'s store will be open until noon on Friday, Washington's Birthday.

—Paul R. Collier has written a new school song for the P. H. S. boys. It is being used to confound the opposition in all interscholastic contests.

—The Trenton True American, in speaking of Marguerite Smith Alkire, a member of the Mendelssohn Concert Company, the next Y. M. C. A. Star Course attraction, says: "Mrs. Alkire has a charming voice and immediately engrosses the attention of her audience. The change in her voice from the natural to the effected is most wonderful, and at first almost startling. In ranges her voice is unsurpassed." See Y. M. C. A. ad in another column.

—From the desert of Islay on the coast of Peru to the steaming jungle of the Upper Amazon is the territory covered by Harriet Chalmers Adams, the South American traveller, in her illustrated story of a journey in the Land of the Incas. Mrs. Adams is to appear at the Y. M. C. A. Hall Tuesday night, and the association plans to use the proceeds of the entertainment towards furnishing the game room. Mrs. Adams takes her audience far into the wilds of the savage country on the eastern slope of the Andes, into a land which she alone of civilized women has visited. Many beautiful color pictures illustrate this interesting story. Seats on sale at Hodge's drug store.

"PARACAMPH" For Inflammation

THE honest and convincing testimony of those who have used "Paracamph" is positive proof that it is unequalled as a specific for external inflammation. It cures burns, bruises or cuts and is a most effective remedy for chilblains. It instantly relieves pain, controls fever and prevents blood poisoning.

WELCOME FOR DE ANGELIS.

Comedian Sure to Get a Big Reception Next Tuesday Night.

Jefferson De Angelis is sure of an enthusiastic welcome when he offers his latest success, "The Girl and the Governor," at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. As the amorous governor of a South American town in the sixteenth century, he has a role which affords him his best opportunities for displaying his rare ability as a comedian, singer and dancer. Two of his topical songs, "In the Land of the Free" and "Have You Ever Heard It Told That Way Before?"—he is compelled to respond to more encores than he has verses. The prima donna is Estelle Wentworth, prominent in "Dolly Varden," "Fantana," and other successes; Richie Ling is one of our very best lyric tenors; Anna Boyd is the contralto and Lillian Rhoades, the graceful little singing and dancing ingenue.

Jeff De Angelis,
Who appears at the New Plainfield Theatre Next Tuesday Night in "The Girl and the Governor."

The company comprises sixty people, and the chorus is exceptionally strong. The scenic production is very elaborate. "The Girl and the Governor" as given here has been a great success in the large cities, and comes direct to Plainfield from the Manhattan theatre, New York.

TWO ILL, HAD NO FOOD.

Jersey City, Feb. 20.—Starving to death in a barn-like structure in the rear of 146 Beach avenue, James Owens, 70 years old, and his daughter, Mrs. Mary White, 45 years old, were found last night by Patrolman Duffy, of the Third Precinct.

They had not touched a particle of food for four days, and for a week prior to that their fare had consisted of a few crusts of bread.

They had not been seen by the neighbors for three days, and when found they were suffering from pneumonia as well as starvation. Both are in critical condition, and because of the old man's age his recovery is doubtful.

Feb. 24: "Convincing the World."
By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.
John xvii. 20-23; ix. 35-38; x. 37, 38; Phil. ii. 15; I Pet. ii. 12.

"That men may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in heaven."

The Christian, it has well been said, is the world's Bible. Paul speaks of some of his converts as his epistles known and read of all men. The promise of God is to write His laws not on tables of stone, as in the days of Moses, but on human hearts.

When a person becomes convinced of the truth of moral or religious principle and feels it to be important and chooses to accept it and make it a working factor in his life, he begins to change under the influence of that new force. Not only does the inner character change and become obedient to the control of the new ideal, but the outer life conforms to its image. Men see the thought become visible and tangible. It is not put into words so much as it is manifested in flesh and blood. It appears in the lines of the face, the tones of the voice, the sweep of the hand and in the very step of the foot. The whole being, inner and outer, is a revelation of the invisible, intangible principle which has seized the man.

One may catch a glimpse of a great truth and may simulate it—that is, he may become an actor of it outwardly and his skill in imitation may be so great as for a time to make men think he is inwardly what he appears outwardly. But this deception can continue but for a limited time and the mask will have some crack or rent through which the real man beneath will appear as he actually is to those who look closely.

The world is not long deceived as to a person's real character, and if men were deceived God is not mocked. Whatsoever the man purposes down deep in his heart to be, that he becomes, and all the forces of life, physical, mental and moral, are like powerful hammers beating him into the shape of his inner intention. We choose our patterns, and then our lives are relentlessly shaped into those forms.

We may deceive ourselves and suppose because we have never breathed a syllable of our inner life to another that therefore no other one knows what we think and intend. They read our inmost thought and know our secret desires even if we have ourselves not fully realized that we have cherished them.

An unclean thought harbored in the mind, an impure desire allowed to remain in the soul, prints its stamp indelibly in the look of the eyes, the grasp of the hand, in the lines of the telltale face. The power which chisels the human face into settled form is the thought force which dwells within, and no art can conceal for long time His work.

The power which convinces the world of the living power of Christ to save a soul is the life of a child of God lived daily before the eyes of the world. The most convincing of Christian evidences are not the miracles recorded in the Bible or the prophecies it relates. They are the visible miracle of a daily Christian life lived before the eyes in the midst of trials and temptations here and now and the Christian testimony of the joyousness of living that same life. The illumined face is the surest prophecy of the inner spirit.

That which silences all doubts and answers all questions is the living, joyous, victorious, right man of God, the man who is so sane you go to him for advice rather than to any other, the man to whom you go for sympathy in temptation before you do to any other, because he is so human and natural.

What convinces the world today of the power of Christ to save is the appearance of a man whom He has saved. Are you convincing the world of anything? Is it of the success of Christ or of His failure in you? Be a man, be a true woman, in fact, if that is what you desire to appear. Live the Christ life, and the world shall come to know Him as you do.

Will Swing True Again.

The human mind has been compared to a compass set on a rickety table. Any jar sets the needle swinging untruly. A single sharp temptation or worry will send our conscience all wrong sometimes. But if we collect ourselves and wait quietly a moment upon God, the needle will swing true again and point the right way.—Forward.

A Christmas Prayer by Dr. Hale.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale, who in the declining years of his long and noble life still clings steadfastly not only to the tenets of his religious belief, but also to his wonderful love of country, contributes the following Christmas prayer to the December number of the Woman's Home Companion:

Father of Love, Father of Life, our Father who art here,
We thank Thee for everything—
For the glory and beauty and wonder of the world,
For the glory of springtime,
For the glory of summer,
For the glory of autumn,
For the glory now of winter.
Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all His benefits. On this Christmas day we bless Thee,
For Thy Son, well beloved,
Who saves us from our sins
And gives us life more abundantly.
He is our Master, and all we are brethren.
We praise Thee, we bless Thee, we thank Thee
For peace on earth and
Good will among men.
And our Christmas prayer is that we all may be one—that we may be made perfect in One.
Hear us and bless us in our Christmas prayer.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Feb. 24.
By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Foreign missions. The kingdom in the islands.—Isa. xlii. 10-12, 16, 17.

In this chapter the prophet lays special emphasis upon the fact that the islands of the sea will rejoice in the salvation of the Lord. In the fourth verse he declares that "the isles shall wait for His law;" in the tenth verse he calls upon "the isles and the inhabitants thereof" to "sing unto the Lord a new song and His praise from the end of the earth," and in the sixteenth and seventeenth verses he prophesies moral and spiritual transformations such as have been particularly applicable to the people of islands. Nor did Isaiah prophesy in vain. What he declared 700 years before Christ Christian missions have realized. The islands of the sea have been most susceptible to Christian influences. They waited for God's law, and when it came they accepted it with a universal readiness that has not been equaled in continental missions.

Christian missionary work has been signally successful among islanders. Paul's first converts were made on the island of Cyprus, and, strange to say, among these was Paulus, the Roman governor of the island. This fact seems almost prophetic, for nowhere have governments so readily responded to the teachings of the gospel as island governments. Not only have the people responded to the gospel call, but in a remarkable degree the laws of God have been incorporated in the laws of the state. We have only to call the roll of the important islands of the world to see how universally they have accepted Christianity. Great Britain, the most influential island in the world's history, was at one time heathenish and barbarous, but was conquered by Christianity.

The gospel has met with wonderful success in Greenland, the Sandwich Islands, Philippines, New Hebrides, Madagascar, the south sea islands and in Japan, the most influential oriental empire of today. A study of mission work in any of these islands will prove most interesting and illustrate the wonderful saving power of the gospel, for in the islands of the sea the most benighted people have lived. The worst forms of vice, superstition and cruelty have existed. But the gospel has triumphed in spite of all difficulties and hindrances, and thus we are encouraged to continue zealously our mission work, even under the most adverse circumstances. "With God nothing is impossible."

BIBLE READINGS.

Isa. lii. 7; Nah. i. 15; Matt. xxviii. 19, 20; Acts i. 1-11; viii. 26-40; Rom. ix. 1-5; x. 14, 15; II Tim. iv. 6-8; Heb. xi. 36-40; Rev. xxii. 17.

Christian Endeavor In Jamaica.

This is the catchy design which the Jamaican Christian Endeavorers have been putting everywhere in their advertising of their annual convention at

THE

WILL MEET
Kingston. Christian Endeavor is one of the strongest church forces in the island and is more and more making its influence felt.

Three L's.

A veterans' association is one of the new things in Christian Endeavor from Ohio. The Ohio Endeavorer says of it that it is going to be "lively, lovely and lucky."

With Foreign Flavor.

The Primitive Methodists of Great Britain are making remarkable progress in Christian Endeavor. During the past year their young people's societies have increased 120 and the juniors 112.

Among the prominent Norwegians who have recently expressed great sympathy for Christian Endeavor are the bishops of Christiansand and Christiania and the dean of Christiania.

The British Christian Endeavor organ has heard of the formation of the first Christian Endeavor society in British Central Africa. It consisted of a nucleus of twelve young men in the boarding school at Cholo and rapidly grew to fifty-six young men. The pledge has now been translated into their language.

Dr. William Carey in reporting the Christian Endeavor work of his mission field admits that the so called "regular" prayer meetings do not always go with clockwork precision and adds that he knows of only one clock in the entire district. Some of our American societies, with five or six clocks in every home, are sadly irregular also.

"I feel as if I were going to swim across an ocean when I look upon the possibilities for Christian Endeavor and the work it will require from all of us, but I love the work and am exceedingly happy in it." This inspiring sentence is from a letter by that [illegible] Christian Endeavor worker of N[illegible] P. C. Reiersen.

THE HOUSE OF A THOUSAND CANDLES

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON
AUTHOR OF "THE MAIN CHANCE," "ZELDA DAVENPORT," Etc.
COPYRIGHT 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

"Now, as to Morgan—"

"Yes, sir."

"What possible business do you suppose he has with Mr. Pickering?" I demanded.

"Why, sir, that's clear enough. Mr. Pickering owns a house up the lake,—he got it through your grandfather. Morgan has the care of it, sir."

"Very plausible, indeed!"—and I sent him off to his work.

After luncheon I went to the end of the corridor, and began to sound the walls. They were as solid as rock, and responded dully to the strokes of the hammer. I sounded them on both sides, retracing my steps to the stairway, becoming more and more impatient at my ill-luck or stupidity. There was every reason why I should know my own house, and yet a stranger and an outlaw ran through it with amazing daring.

After an hour's idle search I returned to the end of the corridor, repeated all my previous soundings, and, I fear, indulged in language unbecoming a gentleman. Then, in my blind anger, I found what patient search had not disclosed.

I threw the hammer from me in a fit of temper and it struck one of the square blocks in the cement floor which gave forth a hollow sound. I was on my knees in an instant, my fingers searching the cracks, and drawing down close I could feel a current of air, slight but unmistakable, against my face.

The cement square, though exactly like the others in the cellar floor, was evidently only an imitation, with an opening beneath.

The block was fitted into its place with a nicety that certified to the skill of the hand that had adjusted it. I broke a blade of my pocket-knife trying to pry it up, but, in a moment, I succeeded, and found it to be in reality a trap door, hinged to the substantial part of the floor.

A current of cool, fresh air, the same that had surprised me in the night, struck my face as I lay flat and peered into the opening. The lower passage was as black as pitch, and I lighted a lantern I had brought with me, found that wooden steps gave safe conduct below and went down.

I stood erect in the passage and had several inches to spare. It extended both ways, running back under the foundations of the house, and cut squarely under the park before the house and toward the school wall. The air grew steadily fresher, until, after I had gone about two hundred yards, I reached a point where the wind seemed to beat down on me from above. I put up my hands and found two openings about three yards apart, through which the air sucked steadily. I moved out of the current with a chuckle in my throat and a grin on my face. I had passed under the gate in the school wall, and I knew now why the piers that held it had been built so high,—they were hollow and were the means of sending fresh air into the tunnel.

When I had traveled about twenty yards more I felt a slight vibration accompanied by a muffled roar, and almost immediately came to a rough wooden stair that marked the end of the passage. I had no means of judging directions, but I assumed that I was well within the school park.

I climbed the steps and in a moment stood blinking, my lantern in hand, in a small, floored room. Overhead the tumult and thunder of an organ explained the tremor and roar I had heard below. I was in the crypt of St. Agatha's chapel. The inside of the door by which I had entered was a part of the wainscoting of the room, and the opening was wholly covered with a map of the Holy Land.

It was all very strange and interesting. I looked at my watch and found that it was five o'clock, but I resolved to go into the chapel before going home.

The way up was clear enough, and I was soon in the vestibule. I opened the door, expecting to find a service in progress; but the little church was empty save where, at the right of the chancel, an organist was filling the church with the notes of an exultant march. Cap in hand I stole forward, and sank down in one of the pews.

A lamp over the organ keyboard gave the only light in the chapel, and made an aureole about her head,—about the uncovered head of Olivia Gladys Armstrong! I smiled as I recognized her and smiled, too, as I remembered her name. But the joy she brought to the music, the happiness in her face as she raised it in the minor harmonies, her isolation, marked by the little isle of light against the dark background of the choir,—these things touched and moved me, and I bent forward, my arms upon the pew in front of me, watching and listening with a kind of awed wonder.

There was no pause in the outpouring of the melody. She changed stops and manuals with swift fingers and passed from one composition to another; now it was an august hymn, now a theme from Wagner, and finally Mendelssohn's spring song won the cold, dark chapel to light and warmth with its exultant notes.

She ceased suddenly with a little sigh and struck her hands together, for the place was cold. As she reached up to put out the lights I stepped forward to the chancel steps.

"May I not allow me to do that for you?"

She turned toward me, gathering a cape about her.

"Oh, it's you, is it?" she asked, looking about quickly. "I don't remember that you were invited."

"I didn't know I was coming myself," I remarked truthfully, lifting my hand to the lamp.

"That is my opinion of you,—that you're a rather unexpected person. But thank you, very much."

She showed no disposition to prolong the interview, but hurried toward the door, and reached the vestibule before I came up with her.

"You can't go any farther, Mr. Glenarm," she said, and waited as though to make sure I understood. Straight before us through the wood and beyond the school buildings the sunset faded sullenly. Night was following fast upon the gray twilight and already the bolder planets were aflame in the sky. The path led straight ahead beneath the black boughs.

"I might perhaps walk to the dormitory, or whatever you call it," I said.

"Thank you, no! I'm late and haven't time to bother with you. It's against the rules, you know, for us to receive visitors."

She stepped out upon the path.

"But I'm not a caller; I'm just a neighbor! And I owe you several calls, anyhow."

She laughed but did not pause and I followed a pace behind her.

"I hope you don't think for a moment that I chased a rabbit on your side of the fence in the hope of meeting you, do you, Mr. Glenarm?"

"Be it far from me! I'm glad I came, though, for I liked your music immensely. I'm in earnest; I think it quite wonderful, Miss Armstrong."

She paid no heed to me.

"And I hope I may promise myself the pleasure of hearing you often."

"You are very kind about my poor music, Mr. Glenarm; but as I'm going away—"

I felt my heart sink a trifle. She was the only amusing person I had met at Glenarm, and the thought of losing her gave a darker note to the bleak landscape.

"That's really too bad! And just when we were getting acquainted! And I was coming to church Sunday to hear you play and to pray for snow, so you'd come over often to chase rabbits!"

This, I thought, softened her heart. At any rate her tone changed.

"I don't play for services; they're afraid to let me for fear I'd run comic opera tunes into the Te Deum!"

"How shocking!"

"Do you know, Mr. Glenarm,"—her tone became confidential and her pace slackened,—"we call you the squire, at St. Agatha's, and the lord of the manor, and names like that! All the girls are perfectly crazy about you. They'd be wild if they thought I talked with you, clandestinely,—is that the way you pronounce it?"

"Anything you say and any way you say it satisfies me," I replied.

"That's ever so nice of you," she said, mockingly again.

I felt foolish and guilty. She would probably get roundly scolded if the grave sisters learned of her talks with me, and very likely I should win their hearty contempt. But I did not turn back.

"I hope the reason you're leaving isn't—" I hesitated.

"Ill conduct? Oh, yes; I'm terribly

"Oh Yes, I'm Terribly Wicked, Squire Glenarm."

wicked, Squire Glenarm! They're sending me off."

"But I suppose the Sisters are awfully strict."

"They're hideous,—perfectly hideous."

"Where is your home?" I demanded. "Chicago, Louisville, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, perhaps?"

"Humph, you are dull! You ought to know from my accent that I'm not from Chicago. And I hope I haven't a Kentucky girl's air of waiting to be flattered to death. And no Indianapolis girl would talk to a strange man at the edge of a deep wood in the gray twilight of a winter day,—that's from a book; and the Cincinnati girl is without my elan, esprit,—whatever you please to call it. She has more Teutonic repose,—more Gretchen of the Rhine valley about her. Don't you adore French, Squire Glenarm?" she concluded, breathlessly, and with no pause in her quick step.

"I adore yours, Miss Armstrong," I asserted, yielding myself further to the joy of idiocy, and delighting in the mockery and whimsical moods of her talk. I did not make her out; indeed, I preferred not to! I was not then,—and I am not now, thank God!—of an analytical turn of mind. And as I grow older I prefer, even after many a blow, to take my fellow human beings as I find them. And as for women, old or young, I envy no man his gift of resolving them into elements. As well carry a spray of arbutus to the laboratory or subject the enchantment of moonlight upon running water to the flame and blow-pipe as try to analyze the heart of a girl,—particularly a girl who paddles a canoe with a sure stroke and puts up a good race with a rabbit.

A lamp shone ahead of us at the entrance of one of the houses, and lights appeared in all the buildings.

"If I knew your window I should certainly sing under it,—except that you're going home! You didn't tell me why they were deporting you."

"I'm really ashamed to! You would never—"

"Oh, yes, I would; I'm really an old friend!" I insisted, feeling more like an idiot every minute.

"Well, don't tell! But they caught me flirting—with the grocery boy! Now aren't you disgusted!"

"Thoroughly! I can't believe it! Why, you'd a lot better flirt with me," I suggested boldly.

"Well, I'm to be sent away for good at Christmas. I may come back then if I can square myself. My! That's slang,—isn't it adorable?"

"The Sisters don't like slang, I suppose?"

"They loathe it! Miss Devereux,—you know who she is!—she spies on us and tells."

"You don't say so; but I'm not surprised at her! I've heard about her!" I declared bitterly.

We had reached the door, and I expected her to fly; but she lingered.

"Oh, if you know her! Perhaps you're a spy, too! It's just as well we should never meet again, Mr. Glenarm," she declared haughtily.

"The memory of these few meetings will always linger with me, Miss Armstrong," I returned in an imitation of her own tone.

"I shall scorn to remember you!"—and she folded her arms under the cloak tragically.

"Our meetings have been all to few, Miss Armstrong. Two, exactly, I believe!"

"Then you prefer to ignore the first time I ever saw you," she said, her hand on the door.

"Out there in your canoe? Never! And you've forgiven me for overhearing you and the chaplain on the wall—please!"

She grasped the knob of the door and paused an instant as though pondering.

"I make it three times, without that one, and not counting once in the road and other times when you didn't know, Squire Glenarm! I'm a foolish little girl to have remembered the first. I see now how b-l-i-n-d I have been. Good-by!"

She opened and closed the door softly, and I heard her running up the steps within.

I ran back to the chapel, roundly abusing myself for having neglected my more serious affairs for a bit of silly talk with a school girl, fearful lest the openings I had left at both ends of the passage should have been discovered. Near the chapel I narrowly escaped running into Stoddard, but I slipped past him, found my lantern, pulled the hidden door into place, and, traversing the tunnel without incident, soon climbed through the hatchway and slammed the false block securely into the opening.

PERSEVERANCE FIVE LOST TO NEWARK FIVE

PYTHIANS FROM THE STATE METROPOLIS HAD AN EASY TIME.

The bowling team of Perseverance Lodge, K. of P., was defeated three games straight by the Newark Lodge five, last night, at McLaughlin's alleys. Four of the six men used by Perseverance rolled weakly, and the strongest man on the Plainfield side didn't touch 200. That sort of rolling was never calculated to defeat the Newark team. They are the champions of the Newark Pythian league. They rolled something like champs.

John Cose and V. W. Nash were the only Plainfielders who hit the pins as if they were to be knocked down. Nash was high local man with 188. W. Colburn touched high for the game with 200.

There was a big gallery of Pythians to root for the Perseverance men. A supper was enjoyed at Timbo's restaurant, North avenue, after the match. A return game will be played in Newark.

V. W. Nash was chairman of the bowling and entertainment committee in charge. He was assisted by G. E. Firstbrook and E. D. Cutting.

PARK BOWLERS WIN THE LEAGUE TROPHY

PRIZE MONEY ALSO GOES TO PLAINFIELD TEAM IN BIG TOURNEY.

The Park Club team is the winner of the championship of the Central Journal Bowling League. Last night the Elizabeth Club, which was a close second and a strong claimant for first place, met the Newark Bay team at Bayonne, and by dropping two games, not only lost the chance to win the championship, but the opportunity to tie the Parks for first honors.

In last night's match at Bayonne, Elizabeth took the first game by a score of 840 to 768; lost the second by a score of 879 to 766 and the third by a score of 863 to 799. The final standing of the teams is as follows:

	Won.	Lost.
Park Club	19	11
Elizabeth Club	18	12
Westfield Club	18	12
Cranford Casino	16	14
Roselle Casino	10	20
Newark Bay	9	21

Much credit is due the Parks for their great work during the tournament. The team has made the best showing in years. It took the lead early in the tournament and held it throughout. In the last match rolled by the locals they lost two games to Cranford, something unexpected, but no one expected that the tail-enders would take two games from Elizabeth, so that their performance equals that of the Parks in the final match.

By winning the championship, the Parks score one win on the silver cup offered by the Elizabeth Journal and a $20 money prize. Fred O. Ball, of the Parks, also captures second place in the individual averages, giving him second money, $10. Walter Long, also of the Parks, lost third money by five pins, to Crane, of Cranford, while Tenney, of Elizabeth, gets first money, $15. Elizabeth and Westfield are tied for second team place, which has a $10 prize, and this will be rolled off in a few days. The Park Club team, which won the championship, was composed of Fred O. Ball, Walter Long, William Barlow, Edward Daniel and Ray Lyman. Their work throughout has been uniform and the scores much above the average. It is largely due to the coaching of Captain Ball that the members put up such good scores.

TWO TOURNEY TEAMS KEEP THE GAMES AGOING.

VanEmburgh and Blatz Get a Total of 420 On One Occasion.

Tourney games divided attention with the Pythian match at McLaughlin's last niht and the former furnished some good entertainment for the gallery. Four teams competed and though a few low scores were handed in, the majority of them were good. Nash and Skelly took two games from Causebrook and McLaughlin and VanEmburgh and Blatz did the same trick to Mack and Meyer. In their first game VanEmburgh and Blatz rolled a total of 420, the best for the night.

The scores:

McLaughlin	128	166	169
Causebrook	136	199	159
vs.
Skelly	176	190	211
Nash	204	151	159
	380	341	370
Mack	197	125	180
Meyer	164	194	213
	361	319	393
vs.
VanEmburgh	220	172	191
Blatz	200	176	192

GOLF.

The new officers and governors of the Westfield Golf Club held Monday night their first meeting since the annual election. The officers are: E. F. Low, president; H. E. Knight, vice-president; C. C. Marshall, secretary; R. L. VanDyke, treasurer. C. C. Marshall is chairman of the handicap committee for the coming season. E. R. Perkins, greens committee; H. W. Gladwin, house committee; Mrs. E. F. Low, ladies' entertainment committee. The ladies' committee expects to arrange an interesting programme of social events for the spring season. The clubhouse is now being redecorated and painted and the furnishings renovated. As yet no plans have been made for the coming season but a programme of events will be made up in April. It is anticipated that the coming season will be a most attractive season at the Golf Club.

BOWLING.

The scores put up by the Perseverance Lodge rollers in the contest with the Newark Knights last night were "awful." The only man in the lot who did anything at all was John Cose and his figures were 'way below his average. The remainder seemingly had a bad attack of stage fright and "Fozzy" Firstbrook has been kept busy explaining matters and declaring that the Newarkers can't do it again.

Tourney games scheduled for tonight at McLaughlin's: Woolston and Cunningham against W. and J. Schaub; Gaddis and Dilks against Sheelen and Alberts. It is possible that Chief Kiely and Judge Runyon may roll the series with the Schaubs postponed from last week because of Chief Kiely injuring his knee.

BASKETBALL.

The disputed game between the Plainfield and Rahway Y. M. C. A. basketball teams has been ordered replayed by the league contest committee in Rahway.

Y. M. C. A. Basketball.

The Passaic team will play here in the Y. M. C. A. league race Monday night. The Passaic second team will play the home seconds.

Floral Fete For Nursery.

The members of the City Union, King's Daughters, who are interested in the forthcoming fair to be held at the Casino for the benefit of the Day Nursey at the home of Mrs. F. W. Butler, this morning decided to change the date for the event to April 11, 12 and 13, and it will be called a "Floral Fete."

OBITUARY.

Daniel Swenson.

Daniel Swenson, for thirty-seven years a resident of Stirling, died at his home there yesterday morning. He had been ill for a long time with a complication of troubles. Mr. Swenson was in his seventy-second year and beside farming was engaged in the milk business, having a large route in this city conducted by his sons. He belonged to the Stirling Presbyterian church and was one of its most prominent workers. A wife, three daughters and six sons survive him. The funeral will be held at the Presbyterian church Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be at Stirling.

Mrs. Leslie M. Cobbs.

Mrs. Nettie I. Cobbs, wife of Leslie M. Cobbs, died at her home on West Third street, this morning, after a brief illness. She was twenty-one years old. The funeral will be held at the house Friday afternoon at 2:30 and interment will be at Hillside.

Mrs. John Prugh.

Mrs. Mary Prugh, wife of John Prugh, died early this morning at the home of her daughter, Mrs. R. V. Kinney, of Somerset street. She had been an invalid for the past two years from paralysis but death was immediately due to a stroke that came a few days ago. Mrs. Prugh was in her eighty-first year and came to this city from South Bound Brook. She was a member of the Reformed church at that place and also the W. C. T. U. She was an energetic worker in the latter organization for many years and did much for the advancement of the cause. Beside her husband there are surviving four children, Mrs. C. S. Ulmer, of South Bound Brook; M. F. Prugh, of Shell Rock, Iowa; Mrs. R. V. Kinney, of Somerset street, and Mrs. W. B. Grannatt, Jr., of West Fifth street. Mr. and Mrs. Prugh celebrated the fifty-ninth anniversary of their wedding two weeks ago. The funeral will be held at Mrs. Kinney's home Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and interment will be at Easton, Pa.

IN COUNTY COURT.

Ticket Agent On Trial For Alleged Assault.

The case of Jacob Tarlan, a Hebrew grocer of Cranford, against Charles Foster, also of that place, on a charge of assault and battery, is occupying the attention of the Union County Court, today. Mr. Foster is the New York ticket agent for the Illinois Central Railroad, and it is charged that he went into Tarlan's grocery last October and assaulted the palintiff, claiming that he had circulated reports that he owned him $15 and wouldn't pay it.

The defendant does not deny that he struck Tarlan, but claims that he did so in self-defense. He says that he went into the store ready to pay a debt of $9.54 and that there was an argument as to the amount alleged to be due. A bystander, he says, pushed him into Tarlan, whereupon the latter struck him. Then he defended himself. The weight of opinion appears to favor the defendant.

Real Estate Transfers.

The following real estate transfers have been recorded at Elizabeth: Irving W. Marclay et al. to Mary D. Vail, Webster place, 655 feet northeasterly of Putnam avenue, Plainfield, $1; Clara A. Stelle to Julia R. Stelle, westerly side Central avenue, 135 feet northerly of Stelle avenue, Plainfield, $1; Peter M. Felmley et al. to Thomas Hyland, southeasterly side East Fourth street, 40 feet northeasterly of Emmons' land, Plainfield, $1; Same to same, southeasterly side East Fourth street, corner Emmons, Plainfield, $1.

Newark Gets Light Cheaper.

Pending the expiration of the present contracts, which have about eighteen months to run, the P. S. C. will furnish light to the city of Newark for $85 an arc lamp, a reduction of $10. The new contracts will be for lamps at $70 a year, the rate announced by the P. S. C. as part of its general plan from reduction.

Memorial Service.

Under the auspices of the W. C. T. U. a Frances E. Willard memorial service will be held in the rooms on Madison avenue tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. P. C. Bodine will be in charge of the service.

Root Guest of Kean.

The Secretary of State and Mrs. Root were the guests of honor of Senator and Miss Kean at dinner at Washington last night.

GOV. STOKES WILL REVIEW REGIMENT

EXECUTIVE WILL PRESENT MEDALS FOR LONG AND FAITHFUL SERVICE.

Company commandants of the Second Regiment of the National Guard of New Jersey have submitted to regimental headquarters their lists of members of the respective companies who are this year entitled to long and faithful service medals.

Along with these lists Regimental Adjutant John M. Rogers has compiled a list of the man and companies winning special prizes during the past year for marksmanship and duty.

These prizes will be presented tomorrow night at Trenton by Hon. Edward C. Stokes, governor of New Jersey and commander-in-chief, who also officiated in that capacity last year. The review of the Second Regiment tomorrow night will be in honor of the executive.

The exercises will open at 8:30 p. m., when the first call will be announced. At 9 o'clock the adjutant's call will be given, followed by the formation of the battalions. At 9:45 the adjutant's call will be sounded and the companies will form for review. Following the review the governor will present the medals.

After the presentations the regimental parade will take place. At the conclusion of the retreat the band will play "The Star Spangled Banner."

The event will be brought to a close with a dance.

The members of Company K and their guests will make the trip in a special car, leaving the North Avenue Station tomorrow night at 7:20.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., will meet tomorrow night when matters of importance will be considered.

Franklin, Somerset, Benevolent and Plainfield Councils, Jr. O. U. A. M., are planning to give an entertainment in the near future. An exceptionally strong programme will be arranged.

A temporary organization of Perth Amboy Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, was formed Monday night with 150 charter members. There will be another meeting next Monday, at which officers will be chosen. The charter is expected within a few days. The membership of the aerie includes many city officials and others prominent in city affairs.

PERSONAL.

Miss Julia G. Shinn, who has been a missionary in Burma for the past seven years, is visiting her friend, Mrs. George Batchelor, of West Seventh street.

Richard Waring, of Park avenue, left this morning by boat for New Orleans from which place he will proceed to southern California. He will locate there for an indefinite period looking after a timber tract recently purchased by his father.

Mrs. O. L. Jenkins and her brother, George A. Hallock, of East Front street, will leave on Friday for Pittsburg to visit their brother, Fletcher Hallock. George Hallock will return home on Monday, but his sister will remain for a longer time.

PROVIDES ELECTROCUTIONS.

Senate Passes Bill Appropriating $10,000 for Building.

Trenton, Feb. 20.—The Wakelee bill appropriating $10,000 for the erection of a building for the electrocution of criminals was passed by the Senate last night. This measure will make effective the law for electrocution passed last year. That act takes effect March 1 next. Though hanging was abolished and the new method of execution created by the present law, no appropriation was made for the change. That made the Wakelee bill necessary.

Senator Wakelee introduced a bill last night fixing those who may be present at electrocutions. It provides for twelve citizens, two of whom shall be physicians, to be selected by the prison keeper, to be present at electrocutions of criminals; limits clergymen to two and reporters to six as witnesses.

COLBY WON'T QUIT POLITICS.

Essex Senator Dennis Emphatically That He Intends to Withdraw.

Trenton, Feb. 20.—Senator Everett Colby, of Essex, denies emphatically that he intends to withdraw from participation in the political affairs if this State. He said that he did not intend for a while to devote his whole time to politics as he had done in the past two years. His wife's health was in such an impaired condition that her physician had ordered him to take her abroad, and he intended to do so in the spring, when the Legislature adjourned. He expected, however, to return in the fall in time to do his share of the work in the primary fight in this county.

Rev. E. E. Roberson will deliver the third of his special subject sermons at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday afternoon, on "Bright Spots On the Bridge of Sighs."

BOYS' BATTLE SERIOUS

Twelve - Year - Old Unconscious Nine Hours After Being Hit.

STRUCK BY 10-YEAR-OLD

Head Hit Sidewalk and Concussion of the Brain Resulted—Colored Boy Who Struck Him Arrested.

As a result of a blow struck in a boyish quarrel, Orel Victorson, 12 years old, who lives with his parents at 53 Brook avenue, lay in an unconscious state for more than nine hours last night and early this morning. He was hit at Washington and East Front streets, at 7:50 o'clock, by Matthew Austin, a ten-year-old colored boy, son of Mrs. Hetty Austin, of Elm street.

Orel and Matthew quarreled several weeks ago, and a number of battles were fought. The boys would fall to with their fists working like flails whenever they met and keep at it until separated by passersby. When they got within reach of each other at the Washington street corner last night the usual result followed. Matthew is a muscular lad and strikes a hard blow. One of his swings caught Orel full on the side of the head and the white boy tumbled forward. His forehead struck on the sidewalk, and he lay still. Matthew decided that the best place for colored small boys was home, and he headed for Elm place on a run.

The Victorson boy was picked up, unconscious, and carried to the workshop of Charles Keiderling, a furniture and glass packer, nearby. Keiderling telephoned to the police and summoned Dr. A. Gesswein, of East Front street. The physician, Chief Kiely and Patrolman O'Keefe reached the Kiederling shop at the same time. The doctor could not bring the boy to his senses and had him removed to his home. Chief Kiely learned who had struck Orel from Walter Southers and Eddie Drake, small boys who witnessed the fight, and O'Keefe arrested the colored boy at his home.

Orel remained in an unconscious state until 5 o'clock this morning. Dr. Gesswein said at 10 o'clock that the boy was suffering from concussion of the brain, brought on by the contact of his head against the sidewalk. He is expected to recover in three or four days. The skull is not fractured.

Matthew was arraigned before Judge Runyon, and remained until this afternoon, to await the result of Orel's injuries. In view of the doctor's report, it is expected that he will be released. They are convinced that he did not hit Orel with anything but his fist, and there is reason to believe that Orel started the fight, as Matthew claims.

Matthew took his arrest without excitement. He was cheerful in his cell this morning, and enjoyed the three big sandwiches and the huge tin cup of coffee that were given him for breakfast. He maintained stoutly that Orel began the fight and was helped by his brother, and seemed quite confident that the righteousness of his cause would triumph. His mother came down early to comfort him, and Chief Kiely soothed her agitation by telling her how probable was the release of Matthew this afternoon.

LAFAYETTE GRADUATES TO ORGANIZE A CLUB.

Call Issued for Preliminary Meeting to Be Held in Newark February 28.

For the purpose of forming a permanent organization of Lafayette College, a call has been issued by a committee of six, of which Joseph O. Skinner, '02, 164 Market street, Newark, is one, for a meeting to be held Thursday night, February 28, at the Union Club, 35 Clinton street, Newark.

This gathering will be an informal one and it is proposed to form a temporary organization and select committees to look after the various details of a big dinner a few weeks later. All Lafayette men are urged to attend this meeting and help to make the movement a success. There are a number of Lafayette men in Plainfield who are expected to attend the meeting. The call is issued by George W. W. Porter, '85; Fred F. Kennedy, '98; Joseph O. Skinner, '02, of Newark; Wayne Dumont, '92, Paterson; John J. Voorhees, '98, Jersey City, and L. P. Runyon, '01, Perth Amboy. All communications should be sent to Mr. Skinner.

Police Appointments.

It is reported that the police promotion list to be sent to the Common Council by Mayor Fisk on Monday night will include the appointment of Patrolman Herbert Overbaugh for sergeant and Roundsman John Flynn for detective-sergeant, and not the reverse as stated in last night's issue.

SENATOR KEAN VOTES FOR MORMAN APOSTLE

REED SMOOT SEATED IN U. S. SENATE —DRYDEN WAS ABSENT.

Senator Reed Smooth, of Utah, stays in the United States Senate despite the fact he is an apostle of the Mormon church. The Senate yesterday sustained his right to the seat, which he has occupied four years, although he has been all the time a target for attack.

Among those who voted to unseat him was LaFollette, of Wisconsin. John Kean, of New Jersey, cast his vote in Smoot's favor. His colleague, John F. Dryden, was absent. The gallery was filled with women at the time, but they were prevented from hissing when the result was announced. The fight had lasted over a period of three years.

The original Burrows resolution read: "Resolved, That Reed Smoot is not entitled to a seat in the United States Senate as a Senator from Utah." Before this could be voted upon, Senator Hopkins, of Illinois, offered an amendment inserting after the word "resolved," "Two-thirds of the Senators present concurring." This really provided that the resolution should require a two-thirds vote for adoption. Forty-nine Senators voted affirmatively on the amendment and twenty-eight negatively. Senator Carmack, of Tennessee, then offered as a substitute a resolution providing that Reed Smoot be expelled from the Senate. This was defeated 43 votes to 27. Then the vote came on the original resolution, and was lost, the vote being 42 nays to 28 yeas.

LUCIUS T. KOONS WEDS MISS OLIVE BOGARDUS.

Ceremony At Home of Bride's Mother Performed By Phillipsburg Minister.

Miss Olive Bogardus, daughter of Mrs. E. H. Bogardus, of Putnam avenue, and Lucius T. Koons, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Koons, of Sandford avenue, this city, were quietly married last night at 6:30 o'clock at the bride's home. Only the immediate families were present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Percy Y. Schelley, of Phillipsburg, N. J., an old friend of the groom.

The house was attractively decorated with greens and cut flowers, the bride and groom being married under a bower of green.

After the wedding supper Mr. and Mrs. Koons left for a few weeks' tour in the South. Upon their return they will make their home in this city.

Both are well known in Plainfield, the groom being a graduate of the Plainfield High School. He is vice president of the Palmer Lime and Cement Company, of New York.

FREEHOLDERS GUESTS OF MAYOR N. B. SMALLEY.

Somerset Board at Pedeflous' For Lunch and at Iroquois for Dinner.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders are spending the day at the North Plainfield end of the county, the purpose being to examine the borough side of the West End avenue bridge, where it is proposed to build wing walls and to inspect the Warren township road. This morning the bride was inspected and plans submitted by the engineers from both counties were examined. The estimated cost for wing walls on both sides of the bridge is about $2,600.

Afterwards the freeholders took a trip over the road in Warren township and stopped at Pedeflous' Hotel for lunch. Later in the afternoon the members will have dinner at the Hotel Iroquois. They are the guests of Mayor Smalley.

Will Celebrate Fifth Anniversary.

H. J. Martin's Bible class, "The Willing Workers," of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, has invited its friends to the celebration of the fifth anniversary of the organization to be held in the lecture room of the church Monday night at 8 o'clock. There will be a musical and literary entertainment, followed by a social hour. The programme will be given by Prof. Martin A. Korff's Orchestra; Mrs. Thomas McDonald, soprano; Miss Caroline Lambert, reader; Miss Hazel Martin, accompanist.

First Rehearsal of "Pinafore."

The Plainfield Operatic Association held its first rehearsal of "Pinafore" on Tuesday night. The music is by far the most catchy and easier to learn than the other productions. Rehearsals will be held every Tuesday night at the Casino until the date of the performance, May 2.

Plainfield Clinical Society to Organize a Tuberculosis Association.

PLAN A CAMPAIGN

Dr. B. VanD. Hedges and Dr. Bailey to Deliver Lectures Here in Connection With Exhibition.

Steps were taken last night at a meeting of the committee on tuberculosis from the Plainfield Clinical Society, toward forming a permanent organization in Plainfield. There is now a State organization, and it is the desire of those interested in fighting tuberculosis and lung troubles in general to organize a local society with definite aims and purposes.

This action was the result of a discussion regarding the State exhibit to be held in the Stirling building for one week, beginning March 4. A committee on advertising and publicity will be appointed soon and it was decided to expend $150 for the use of the committee. As stated yesterday, Dr. B. VanD. Hedges, as president of the Board of Health, will have general charge of the exhibit here and there will be a trained nurse in attendance throughout the week to explain the object of it. Dr. Hedges will also give lectures and if it can be arranged Dr. Bailey, of Elizabeth, will exhibit a number of lantern slides on the subject in the evening. He has expressed his willingness to do this. In speaking of the exhibit, Dr. Hedges said today:

"This is a campaign of information pure and simple and judging by the interest shown it speaks well for the effort to put tuberculosis down and out. This is only one of many campaigns started throughout the country and there has been a notable diminution of the disease ever since. If we can properly educate the people up to that point where they thoroughly understand how to prevent and care for the disease, a great work will be accomplished."

B. C. FIRSTBROOK WEDS MISS GERTRUDE T. GEIER

CEREMONY PERFORMED BY REV. A. C. M'CREA AT HIS HOME LAST NIGHT.

Miss Gertrude T. Geier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Geier, of Madison avenue, and Bertram Collins Firstbrook, of Grant avenue, were quietly married at 6 o'clock last night. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, at his home on Central avenue. City Judge William N. Runyon, an intimate friend of the groom, was the only witness outside of the bridal party.

Miss Geier was gowned in brown broadcloth, trimmed with velvet, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. She was attended by Miss Kathryne Slade, of West Front street, who wore gray broadcloth with velvet trimmings. The groom's attendant was Thomas M. Muir.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Firstbrook left for New York from which place they started on a short bridal trip. On returning they will make their home on Madison avenue. Both young people are well known throughout the city, the groom having an unusually large circle of friends. He is engaged in the grocery and milk business and has been prominent for several years in amateur theatricals.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Firstbrook received an attractive array of gifts, principally cut glass and furniture. The bride presented her attendant with a pearl clasp pin and the best man received from the groom a diamond stickpin.

S. B. Howe, Jr., Lectures.

Samuel B. Howe, Jr., who is at the head of the history department in the Plainfield High School, delivered an address in the Goshe, N. Y., High School lecture course last night on "The George Washington of the Netherlands." His talk brought out the similarity between the career of William of Orange, the founder of the Dutch Republic, and that of the founder of our own country.

Charles Foster Found Guilty.

Charles Foster, of Cranford, the New York ticket agent for the Illinois Central Railroad, who was the defendant in an action brought by Jacob Tarlan, also of Cranford, charging assault and battery, was found guilty in the Union County Court, yesterday, as charged in the indictment. Sentence will be pronounced in a few days.

—Preparations are bing made to repaper and repaint police headquarters.

Y. M. C. A.'S CONVENTION

Will Open In Elizabeth This Evening and Run Four Days.

W. D. MURRAY TO TALK

He Will Address the Convention Tomorrow On the State Work—Secretary Robbie On Committee.

The Plainfield Y. M. C. A. will be well represented at the thirty-fourth annual State convention of the Y. M. C. A., which will open in Elizabeth this evening. The convention will last four days. W. D. Murray, of this city, a member of the State executive committee, will address the convention tomorrow morning, on "The State—New Jersey." Kenneth Robbie, the Plainfield secretary, is on the education committee. H. W. Barrows, who left the boys' secretaryship here this week, was on the social committee.

The meetings, conferences and banquets will be held in Association Hall, the City Hall Armory, and the various uptown Presbyterian churches. They will be attended and addressed by well-known Y. M. C. A. leaders from all parts of the country.

The programme for the first two The programme for tonight will be as follows:

5 to 6:30 p. m.—Registration; assignment for entertainment. 6:30 p. m.—Informal reception, the Armory, West Scott place. 7:00 p. m—Delegates' dinner; organization of the convention; address, the Rev. Dr. Arthur Judson Brown, secretary Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions, "The Young Men's Christian Association, An Effective Agency in the Life of the Community;" announcement of convention committees; 9:30 p. m.—Adjournment.

MR. ACKERMAN'S BILL WAS MISUNDERSTOOD.

Merely Allows Counties to Increase Appropriations to Hospitals.

Newspapers all over the State announced yesterday that Senator Ernest R. Ackerman, of Union, had introduced a bill, Senate No. 110, allowing counties to build county hospitals at an expense of not more than $200,000.

Senator Ackerman informed a reporter last night that it was an error. The bill he introduced was one brought to Trenton by the Legislative committee of the Union County Board of Freeholders and its purport was to allow Boards of Freeholders to increase the amount that counties might give to hospitals from $15,000 to $20,000 a year. The bill is in the interest of Union county and will probably pass without opposition as it is not mandatory in its provisions.

Kean As Everybody's Friend.

In this week's issue of the Saturday Evening Post, United States Senator John Kean is dissected in the "Who's Who and Why" page. He is pictured as "Everybody's Friend"—fills the role of listening to everyone's troubles and is in fact a receptable for all confidences worth having. As the right hand man of Senator Nelson W. Aldrich, probably the strongest man in the Upper House, he learns what he can and only lets the Rhode Island statesman into his secrets. The character sketch writer gives him credit for always being present while Congress is in session.

Gift from Colonel Collins.

At the review of the Second Regiment will be held tonight at the Armory in Trenton Colonel Dennis F. Collins will be presented with a fine oil painting, the work of a New York artist, and which was secured by his friends in this and other cities. The picture is valued at about $400.

In Union County Court.

Agnes Bushman, formerly of Westfield, is the defendant in the Union County Court, today, in an action brought by the State on a charge of larceny at the jewelry store of Rudolph Brunner, Westfield, on December 23, 1905. The case will probably take all day.

Minch is Acting Governor.

Trenton, Feb. 21.—When Governor Stokes started yesterday on a business trip to Virginia, which will last until Sunday or Monday, Senator Bloomfield H. Minch became acting Governor by virtue of his office as president of the Senate.

Vine Trimmer Arrested.

Daniel Conway, an old vine trimmer, was arrested on a main line trolley car at Richmond street at noon today for drunkenness. He was taken to the station house in the patrol wagon shouting protestations.

—Tomorrow being a legal holiday The Daily Press will not be issued.

—Lovers of good tea and coffee are reminded that Neuman Brothers' store is the place to get them. Nothing but the best grades sold and always at honest prices.

BROWN FOR SURROGATE

Nomination Likely to Go to North Plainfield and Collector is Being Boomed.

ROWLEY A POSSIBILITY

G. O. P. Shrievalty Nomination Will Go To Bernards Man If Cooper Declines—Democrats Prefer Carney.

In Somerset county, the voters will be called upon in the fall to choose not only an assemblyman but a surrogate and a sheriff as well. North Plainfield will be satisfied if the surrogateship plum comes its way and friends of two active Republicans are at work in their behalf. The men in question are Collector George F. Brown and Borough Clerk Frank Rowley. Brown in particular has strong backing, the powers that be looking with favor upon the mention of his name in connection with the nomination.

Mr. Brown's health is not of the best, but it is not expected that that fact would deter him from accepting a nomination, provided he does not want to hold on to the collectorship. Mr. Rowley's friends are also at work and it is believed that a strong fight will be made at the convention to land him in the berth. The Democrats are expected to renominate the present incumbent, William DeMond, of Bridgewater. DeMond is an model official and this fact will draw him many votes from the opposition party.

So far as the shrievalty is concerned, there seems to be an unanimity of opinion in favor of renominating the present incumbent, Edward Cooper, of Warren township. Cooper has given satisfactory service to the county and the Republicans feel that he deserve another term. There is, however, a movement on foot to name a Bernards man. The only other nomination to be made is that of assemblyman. W. W. Cooper, of Bound Brook, will be renominated. As for the Democrats, it is said that David J. Carney would have an excellent chance of nomination for sheriff if he would only say the word. The nomination for assembly is apt to go abegging at the party convention.

WANSER TO REVIEW IN STOKES' ABSENCE

SECOND REGIMENT WILL HAVE MILITARY FUNCTION TONIGHT.

Because of the departure yesterday of Gov. E. C. Stokes on a business trip to the South, plans for the review of the Second Regiment of the National Guard of New Jersey tonight in the Armory at Trenton have been changed and the review of the militia will be by Major General P. Farmer Wanser, of Jersey City, instead of by the Governor. All other details of the review will be carried out as originally planned.

The first call for the review will be sounded in the armory at 8 o'clock. The adjutant's call will be at 9 o'clock. The regiment will pass in review at 9:05 o'clock.

Following the review various military trophies and medals offered during the past year will be presented. The regiment will then participate in a regimental parade which will be followed by a salute to colors. There will be an informal dance at the close of the review and other ceremonies. Music for the dancing will be by Winkler's Second Regiment Band.

Admission to the armory for the review will be by ticket only. Luncheon will be served after the review and this will be strictly confined to tickets of invitation.

Company K and its guests will leave here at 7:20 from the North avenue station.

BIG ICE CROP.

One Company Has Ten Houses Filled.

There is now every prospect that the Natural Ice Company will have a sufficient crop of ice to supply the local trade next summer. The cold weather during the past few weeks has given the company an exceptional opportunity to gather plenty of ice. Ten houses at Watchung are now filled and this week work was started filling the four smaller houses near Wilson's pond. This is by far a greater harvest than was gathered at this time last winter.

The ice is of good thickness, averaging from nine to twelve and fifteen inches. The crop during the latest cold spell was about the finest ever seen in this vicinity, and contains but a very small proportion of snow. The company is naturally much pleased over the result of its work.

MISS WILBUR BECOMES BRIDE OF PHILADELPHIAN

FREEHOLDER'S DAUGHTER WEDDED TO BLAKE BROADHEAD TATHAM AT HOME.

Miss Louise Fink Wilbur, daughter of Freeholder and Mrs. Samuel P. T. Wilbur, and Blake Broadhead Tatham, of Philadelphia, were married last night at the home of the bride, 51 Westervelt avenue. The guests numbered 175. The house was handsomely decorated in pink and white, with pink roses and carnations, to bring out the color scheme against a background of smilax and palms.

The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church. The bridal party entered the parlor, where the marriage was solemnized, from the dining room, through an aisle of ribbons, halting before a bank of palms beside a window. Miss Wilbur was attended by Miss Adele E. Black, of New York, and the best man was Filmore A. Drake, of Akron, O. The ushers were Edward Tatham and Charles Tatham, of Newark, brothers of the groom. James F. Buckle, Jr., was page and Ruth Smith, of Cranford, was flower girl. The wedding music was played by an orchestra.

The bride was dressed in white leary lace over white chiffon and taffeta, and carried white roses and lilies of the valley. She wore a veil caught up with a spray of the lilies. The maid-of-honor was gowned in cream lace over white chiffon and taffeta; she carried pink roses and sweet peas. The flower girl was dressed in white. Mrs. Wilbur was gowned in a handsome creation of gray silk aeolian, trimmed with panels of pan velvet; she wore violets.

A reception followed the ceremony. Among the guests were residents of New York, Brooklyn, Philadelphia, Easton, Westfield, and Newark. After the reception the bride and groom left for a honeymoon trip to the South.

They will make their home in Philadelphia, where the groom is in the automobile business. Mr. Tatham is the son of Mrs. Mary A. Tatham, of Philadelphia.

The bride received a roomful of gifts. They included furniture, china, objects of art, silver and cut glass. Fine pieces of the latter were conspicuous in the array.

The bride's gift to the groom was a pair of gold cuff buttons and his gift to her was a check. The best man and ushers received stickpins and the maid-of-honor a pearl daisy pin. The page received a stickpin and the flower girl a baby pin.

CITY'S FIRST NEWSDEALER DIES AT HIS WESTERN HOME.

W. H. Forman, Aged Sixty-five Years, Passes Away at St. Louis.

W. H. Forman, a cousin of Former Freeholder L. E. Barkalew, of the borough, the first man to sell New York newspapers in Plainfield, died recently in St. Louis, where he was living. It was about sixty-five years ago that he was engaged in selling papers here. He lived in the house now occupied by W. M. Angleman, the grocer, No. 45 Somerset street. He first started business by selling the New York Sun, being assisted in securing The Sun by Robert Anderson, who was in Moses Beach's bank at East Front street and Bank place. Mr. Beach was the owner of the New York Sun at that time. He will be remembered by some of the older residents.

PEOPLE'S LOBBY WANT BILLS REFERRED TO THE PEOPLE.

Essex County Branch Meet and Effect Permanent Organization.

Walter Linbarger, the representative from North Plainfield, attended a meeting of the Executive Committee of the People's Lobby in Newark, last night, to make arrangements for introducing the referendum bills in the Legislature next week. These measures provide that bills shall be referred to the people.

In connection with this meeting the Essex County Branch effected an organization by electing Former Assemblyman O'Hines as permanent secretary; William Hoerster, secretary; Dr. Adolph Roeder, F. W. Kelsey and Charles H. Ingersoll as an executive committee.

Death of T. C. F. Fingerhut.

Theodore C. F. Fingerhut, aged fifty-six years, for many years a resident at Mt. Bethel, where he had a chicken farm, died yesterday morning from Bright's disease. The funeral services will be held from the Mt. Bethel church, tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and interment will be at Mt. Bethel.

Entertainment Tonight.

S. S. Swackhamer will make an address at the entertainment to be given by the Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church tonight.

N. B. SMALLEY SAYS "NO"

Mayor Thinks Four Terms Enough and Will Decline Another Nomination.

POLITICS IN BOROUGH

Mayor, Collector, Assessor, Two Councilmen and Freeholder to Be Elected In North Plainfield in the Fall.

Not only will the boroughites have to select a new mayor in the fall but it will also have to a collector, an assessor, two councilmen and a freeholder. Mayor Newton B. Smalley won't be re-elected for the simple reason that he will refuse to accept a renomination. He says so, himself, so that ends it. After having filled the office—most creditably too—for four consecutive terms, His Honor has resolved to retire from the limelight of publicity. Higher honors are in store for him, says his friends but just what they may be can not be learned.

Neither party has brought out any candidate as yet and there is likely to be "nothing doing" until fall. There is an abundance of good material within the ranks of both the Democratic and the Republican parties, however, and it is not thought that the nominations will go begging. One politician in the borough said last night that he had heard the name of former Councilman James K. Arnold mentioned by Republicans, and he had also heard of a little boom for Samuel Townsend by Democrats. Mr. Townsend is now one of the members of the Board of Education and like Mr. Arnold has always taken a deep interest in borough affairs.

There appears to be no question that George F. Brown will be renominated by the Republicans for collector provided he wants another term, but there are whispers that he will get a bigger job next fall. Assessor J. H. Cooley will be unopposed for another nomination, it has been learned on good authority, and the same applies to Freeholder Smith. The terms of two councilmen, John H. VanWinkle, Jr., and Frank Krewson, will also expire. Nothing has been said as to these positions, but it is likely that the Republicans will have a large field to pick from in making these nominations.

"UNCLE" NORTON ALL RIGHT.

No Need For Customers of Pawnbroker Who Moved to Worry.

Harry A. Norton, the pawnbroker who conducted a shop on East Front street, for several weeks, has moved to Newark. The business outlook here was not promising enough.

One or two of the few people who had pledged jewelry with him have been worried over their goods, but their worriment was needless. He left his address with Chief of Police Kiely and anyone who wants to learn it can get the information at police headquarters. Norton came here from Trenton and there was the same perturbation among his customers there until the Trenton police gave out his address here. The police vouch for Norton's squareness. They investigated him when he first came to the city. "Norton is all right," said Chief Kiely this morning. "Anyone who has stuff pledged with him can get it back whenever they are ready to redeem it."

Slipped on Walk; Broke an Arm.

Mrs. Aaron Mattox, of Spruce street, slipped on an icy walk on West Seventh street, Tuesday night, and fell heavily, sustaining a broken arm and several bad bruises. She was assisted home and a physician was called to attend her injuries.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

Sheelen Bros., of Fanwood, have purchased of the Central New Jersey Land Improvement Co. the store property they have occupied ever since they went into business. The property is located on South avenue, opposite the club house, and is considered the most desirable business property in the borough. The price paid has not been announced, but papers in the deal were passed Monday. The firm is composed of Borough Collector Charles Sheelen and Augustus Sheelen, the well known bowler. Both are popular among a large circle and this together with square dealing with the public has built them up a large trade among the borough and 'Plains residents.

The fair of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company opens tonight in the hall. Everything is ready and all that is needed to make the three days' sale the success it should be is the support and liberal patronage of the residents. The fair will be open tomorrow afternoon on account of its being a holiday.

The pupils of the public school held their Washington Birthday exercises this afternoon in the assembly room. A pleasing patriotic programme was rendered and enjoyed by a number of the parents and friends. At the close of the programme school was dismissed until Monday morning at 9 o'clock.

Washington's Birthday will be appropriately observed here tomorrow. The stores will close part of the day, the pupils of the school will enjoy a full holiday and the majority of the residents will honor the day.

George Baldwin is again detained at home with sciatic rheumatism, having suffered a relapse on account of going out too soon.

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

The annual school meeting will be held March 19. The budget will be about the same. If the State apportionment is larger than expected, teachers' salaries will be raised.

The Martha Washington supper of the Baptist church tomorrow night will begin at 6 o'clock and last until 9. "Martha" and "George" will receive the guests.

Friendship Lodge is growing rapidly. Six applications were brought in at the last meeting by C. T. Rogers and others are expected at the next session.

In the first five months of the school year 103 pupils have kept their attendance record clear. The total enrollment is 230.

The suit of the Syracuse Stove Co. against George Steengraafe, on contract, will be heard by Justice Von Minden on Monday.

Another match between Thomas Groves and Frank Smalley is being arranged. A purse will be hung up, probably.

C. T. Rogers & Co. has sued A. A. Stryker, on contract, in Justice Von Minden's court. It will probably be settled.

The sight of one of Peter Benward's eyes has been lost beyond repair. It is hoped to save the other.

There will be a meeting of the men of the Presbyterian church tomorrow night to organize a brotherhood.

Devotions will be held in St. John's church on Wednesday and Friday nights during Lent.

Miss Mabel Cole has returned from a visit to friends in Jersey City.

SOMERVILLE.

Camp Middlebrook Chapter, D. A. R., was entertained Tuesday, at the home of Mrs. Green, by Mrs. Green and Mrs. Stillwell.

Mrs. Cassie Garretson, of Millstone, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Clare Brown, on Staten Island.

Nickel Saves His Life.

New York, Feb. 21.—Deflecting the course of a bullet, a five cent piece yesterday saved the life of Samuel Poemerantz, a plumber, of 86 Watkins street, who was shot by Samuel Fischer, twenty-four years old, who describes himself as an actor, of No. 486 Rockaway avenue, in No. 309 East New York avenue. Striking against the coin, which Poemerantz had in his vest pocket, the bullet pierced his shirts, but only caused a slight flesh wound of the abdomen. Fischer says he fired in self-defence.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Miss Ida Tarbell, the magazine writer who exposed Standard Oil for the first time, attended a matinee at the New York Hippodrome last week, and with a woman friend occupied seats HH-36-37 in the top gallery, these seats being in about the tenth row of the cheapest seats. Miss Tarbell explained at the box office, when she secured the tickets, that she wanted to view the Hippodrome performance from the standpoint of the masses, and voluntary went into the chaeper seats so as to observe the effect of this performance upon the people around her. After the matinee she said the effect of the dazzling extravaganza on the people near her was phenomenal, and that hundreds of them remained motionless in their seats after the final curtain, evidently unable to realize that the dream of fairyland was over and that they must depart.

When it is to happen no one knows—not even Miss Starr knows—but some day the dainty little actress, who has leaped into immediate popularity by her captivating portrayal of the leading role in Mr. Belasco's "Rose of the Rancho," hopes to have an opportunity to interpret her heart's idol, Juliet, Shakespeare's star-crossed heroine.

Miss Starr confessed her ambition to a woman friend the other day under a pledge of secrecy, which is why it appears here in cold type, for she is too modest to proclaim it from the housetops. She wouldn't play Juliet now, though she had the chance. With characteristic good sense she recognizes the intricacies of tragedy and is content to wait until her style and method have matured. Her ambition is to work and become a serious actress.

"Some people think that small women should play youthful parts always," she said. "That's beautiful; but to get away from that and to be taken seriously on the strength of your art, that's real ambition."

She has a scrapbook containing some fine notices of her serious work during her brief career as a stock actress, particularly of a death scene she played in Pinero's 'Lady Bountiful,' in San Francisco. The tenor of those notices is sufficiently flattering to warrant her in raising longing eyes to the altitude where Juliet sits enthroned. And with her own delightful personality for a premise, how she would play the part under Belasco's quickening touch!

For Glasses you formerly paid other dealers from $5 to $10 for, including lenses,

Gold Seamless Wire Frames and No Charge for Examining the Eyes.

ONE DAY ONLY

Parlors of the Hotel Kensington, Plainfield,

Saturday, Feb. 23,

HOURS 9 A. M. UNTIL 8 P. M.

Your eyes will be examined by THE DAMMERS SCIENTIFIC METHOD. Positively the only absolutely correct way to fit glasses.

(NO DROPS USED.) Those who have been examined for GLASSES by men who claim to examine eyes by the old, incorrect way, which is done by everyone who supplies glasses but us, will be agreeably surprised by our scientific and wonderful methods of Examining Eyes, and fitting glasses.

We correct your eye defects by looking in the eyes, taking the exact scientific measurement of the focus and shape of the eyes.

NO QUESTIONS ASKED, no trying glasses on your face, until we have determined your exact optical error.

The old tedious and tiresome way of trying to fit glasses is either putting drops in the eyes, which often causes BLINDNESS, or by trying on a lot of glasses, and asking you "can you see these letters?" or "Do these glasses make you see better?"

After your Optician does a lot of guessing, and has your eyes all out of shape, you think you have been examined.

Think this over, and you can readily see that you have been doing your own examining, and that is no doubt the reason you have had trouble to get glasses correct.

THIS IS ABSOLUTELY THE HIGHEST CLASS WORK DONE IN FITTING GLASSES IN AMERICA.—DON'T SUFFER WITH HEADACHE.

We have produced astonishing results from brain fag, nervous debility, insomnia, dizziness, nausea, WATERY EYES, blurry vision, and other troubles caused by EYE STRAIN. We have corrected by the use of glasses cross eyes and Astigmatism, by our scientific methods of Examining.

GERMS CAUSE DYSPEPSIA

IF YOU DON'T KILL THE DISEASE GERMS THEY WILL KILL YOU. PEPSOIDS DRIVE THE GERMS OUT OF THE STOMACH AND REBUILDS IT. WRITE FOR A FULL SIZED BOTTLE—FREE.

A noted physician of Pittsburg, Pa., in a recent letter to Dr. Oidman says:

"In your prpscription known as 'Pepsoids' you have given the medical world the greatest and most valued discovery in medicine of the present century. You have at last solved the problem that has baffled the skill of the best physicians of recent times, how to cure permanently all Acute or Chronic Stomach Diseases known as Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Catarrh of the Stomach and Digestive Weakness. I have used your prescription, 'Pepsoids,' in hundreds of cases without a single failure. I attribute the success of your treatment mainly to the fact that the disease germs of the stomach cannot resist Pepsoids. Your theory that most Stomach Diseases are brought about by multitudes of nefarious disease-breeding germs must be correct, judging from the remarkable results attained from the use of your 'Pepsoids.' I consider 'Pepsoids' the best and most valuable remedy yet discovered, for the treatment of stubborn stomach ailments."

Pepsoids cure Dyspepsia and all Stomach Diseases, in a new way, by repairing the wornout lining of the Stomach and at the same time, destroy all disease-breeding germs. Dyspepsia and the worst forms of Stomach Disorders once cured in this way never returns.

Pepsoids are sold at drug stores at 50c. a bottle on an absolute guarantee or money refunded.

If you have not used Pepsoids before, we will send you a 50-cent bottle FREE. Send us your name and address and you will receive promptly, a full sized bottle.

You do not obligate yourself to pay a cent. All we ask, after Pepsoids have cured or greatly benefitted you is, that you recommend Pepsoids to your friends. Try Pepsoids to-day—they will cure you. The Vio Chemical Co., Chicago, Ill. 9

Rev. Dr. J. S. Zelie, of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, will deliver the second of the series of special sermons on "Lessons from the Book of Proverbs," on Sunday night. The subject will be "Some People Whom the Wise Men Observed."

It is expected that either Dr. Waldo or Maurice Audsley will assist at the free Lenten recital to be given at the Church of the Holy Cross Saturday afternoon. Dr. Waldo is a 'cello player of note and Mr. Audsley is well-known as a violin player.

Under the auspices of the Missionary and Aid Society of Warren chapel an entertainment will be held in the chapel Wednesday night, February 27, for the benefit of the building fund. No admission fee will be charged, but a silver offering will be received.

More Space for Union Celebration.

Elizabeth, Feb. 21.—From present indications, the "Old Home Week" executive committee will have to provide more room than was originally contemplated to accommodate the large number of manufacturers, business firms and amusement enterprises seeking concessions to exhibit within the "Old Home Week" grounds. The prices which the committee is being offered for privileges to exhibit are increasing from week to week, and the revenue from this source will be much larger than had been expected. The parade committee will meet tonight to outline arrangements for the big pageant which it is proposed to hold during the week of the celebration, and which will be the largest and most elaborate ever witnessed in this city. In the meantime the committee on sports is contemplating the largest and most interesting athletic program ever offered in Union county.

Douglass Jumps His Bonds.

Stewart Douglass, who was arrested for chicken stealing, and was released on $400 bonds furnished by his counsel, Abe David, has departed for parts unknown. Yesterday morning application was made in the Union County Court for the forfeiture of the bonds, and the same was granted. Douglass was indicted by the Grand Jury and his case was to have been called soon.

—The workmen are making excellent progress in the work of remodelling the Plainfield Savings Bank building and it is expected that the bank will be ready for business during the early part of the summer.

EVENTS SCHEDULED FOR THE HOLIDAY

ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATRE, Y. M. C. A., HIGH SCHOOL AND ELSEWHERE.

Washington's Birthday, a legal holiday, will be generally observed in this city tomorrow. Although there are a limited number of attractions, there are enough to provide a pleasant day and evening for all. At the Y. M. C. A. two strong and pleasing programmes are booked. The afternoon matinee by the D. W. Robertson projectoscope company will present everything new in the moving picture world, including the latest illustrated songs and Young, the wonderful Japanese juggler. The evening programme, the last of the season's Star Course entertainments, will be presented by the Mendelssohn Concert Company—a combination of artists strongly endorsed by the press as entertainers of rare ability in the musical and literary field.

Another strong attraction will be at The New Plainfield theatre, where a matinee and evening performance of Charles Klein's great play, "The Daughters of Men," will be given by a metropolitan cast. It portrays the struggle between capital and labor. The problem is the labor union question.

An event of special interest to pupils and graduates of the Plainfield High School will be the annual reception and dance of the Alumni Association to Miss Ellen Niles, who has completed a long service as one of the faculty. Frank Moss, the New York lawyer, will also make an address.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church, has arranged a "Mother Goose Bazaar," which commences tonight and will continue tomorrow afternoon and night, where many attractions will be offered.

Tomorrow night the Young Men's Association of Hope Chapel, assisted by the young women, will give an Old Folks' concert at the chapel under the leadership of Judge William N. Runyon.

In addition to the above there will be a number of smaller celebrations of a private character, appropriate to the day, and altogether the holiday primeses to be an enjoyable one for young and old.

NEW THEATRE PROBABLE FOR NEW BRUNSWICK.

A new theatre, devoted exclusively to vaudeville, with nightly performances and frequent matinees, is one of the probabilities of the near future for New Brunswick. Vaudeville managers have had their eye on that city for some time, thinking that there is a good opening here for first class vaudeville, but no one has cared to go to the expense of putting up a building for that purpose and there were no properties that could be readily converted into a comfortable theatre. The decision of the Y. M. C. A. directors to sell their building on Church street solves the problem.

J. Brognard Wright, the real estate man who has this building for sale, is in communication with capitalists who are considering taking the building for the purpose of utilizing the theatre part of it. The theatre is fully equipped with scenery and has a seating capacity for 400 people, and is comfortably arranged. It is just the kind of a place that a vaudeville manager would want.

It is understood that the directors want $30,000 for the building. It is argued that by utilizing the small frame building now used as a photograph gallery, alongside of the building and extending it two very deep stores could be made out of the building without molesting the auditorium part at all.

GRAND LODGE SESSION

New Jersey Knights of Pythias Holding Annual Convention at Trenton.

REPORTS PRESENTED

Three Plainfielders In Class of Fifty-Seven That Received Grand Lodge Degree.

The forty-fourth annual convention of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Pythias of New Jersey was opened at Trenton yesterday to continue until Friday. The feature of the opening session was the conferring of the grand lodge rank on fifty-seven candidates. The work was performed in the presence of more than 300 grand knights from all parts of the State.

The Plainfielders who received the Grand Lodge degree were Philip Jahn, Elmer D. Cutting and Walter L. Hetfield, Jr., while Harry Werner, Morgan Turton and M. F. Cano were among the witnesses. Following the business session for the day, the Plainfielders secured a special permit to visit the State prison and were shown through the most interesting parts of the big structure.

The reports of the officers show the organization to be flourishing financially, but for the first time in many years there is shown a decrease in membership. An effort will be made during the coming year to regain this loss in members and to increase the membership to a point never attained before.

Grand Chancellor Joseph Wilson, Jr., of South Amboy, in his annual report, said that there were 81,819 members in good standing in the insurance department of the order, carrying a protection of $125,445,000. This is a net increase in membership during 1906 of 6,962 and in insurance in force of $8,239,500. During 1906 860 death claims were paid, entailing $1,593,269.80 for settlement.

Speaking of the uniform branch, the grand chancellor said there were 500 members in the two regiments, and that there should be 5,000 in the State. Concerning the Pythian sisters, he said there were two branches of this department, the Pythian Sisterhood and the Rathbone Sisters, the former composed of women only and the latter of both sexes.

Elmer E. Margerum, of Trenton, grand keeper of the records and seals, in his annual report said that there was a gain of $22,702.17 over last year in the finances of the grand lodge. The total membership was 15,021, showing a net loss for the year of 84. The receipts during the year were $158,295.51. For the relief of widows' families, burial of the dead, etc., $70,792.91 were spent. The total expenses of the grand lodge during the year were $4,197.59.

The following officers were elected: Past grand chancellor, Joseph Wilson, Jr., South Amboy; grand chancellor, William T. Hilliard, Salem; grand vice-chancellor, Abram Klenert, Paterson; grand keeper of records and seal, Elmer E. Margerum, of Trenton; grand master of exchequer, John Patrick, of Rutherford; grand prelate, Henry A. Heinrichs, Paterson; grand master at arms, A. Lewis Drucker, Elizabeth; grand guard, Harry C. Keeler, Newark; grand outer guard, William S. Quick, Somerville.

WANT TUBERCULOSIS HOSPITAL FOR VERONA.

Women Plead With Newark Board of Health to Establish One.

At a meeting of the Newark Board of Health last night Mrs. Edwin A. Prieth and Mrs. Mary Wilson, of Montclair, appeared and asked sanction for a plan which they have evolved for the establishment of a tuberculosis sanitarium on the grounds of the Newark City Home at Verona.

It is proposed by them to use for that purpose a girls' cottage in the group of buildings which is not now in use. It would accommodate about sixty patients, is at high altitude and is surrounded by about six acres of land. The two women are engaged in the matter from motives of voluntary charity.

They said their attention had been called to the need of an institution for lung tuberculosis victims by a case in Newark of which they had knowledge. It was that of a man for whom they were obtaining hospital treatment. They investigated and found that there were scores of similar cases. They enlisted the sympathy of Newark officials. Their idea was to have the city provide and operate the place and to receive pay patients as well as others.

Dr. H. C. H. Herrold, president of the Board of Health, told the women that the matter will be taken up by the board with the Common Council, the Finance Committee of which would have to provide the means for the operation of such an institution. It is expected that the cost would approximate $40,000 a year, and many phases of the practical workings would have to be decided upon before it could be undertaken.

Levi Bird, of Somerset street, is critically ill with pneumonia.

Among the Washington Birthday events will be a lunch-box social to be held tomorrow night under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps in G. A. R. Hall.

SMOKING ROOM FEATURE OF KING'S DAUGHTERS' FETE.

Plans for Three Days' Event at the Casino in April.

The Floral Fete to be held at the Casino on April 11, 12 and 13 for the Day Nursery, under the auspices of the City Union, King's Daughters, will be one of the most elaborate of the kind ever given in town. The enthusiasm with which the members and the various committees are taking hold of the details assures a great success. As the name of the affair implies flowers will form a large part of the decorations. Each one of the several booths will be arranged with some particular flower.

The Casino has been engaged for the fete, and aming the features will be a smoking room for the men and another room will be reserved for light suppers and chafing dishes. This will be in charge of Miss Rafferty. The various booths, the circles in charge and the articles for sale will be as follows:

Charity, useful articles; Golden Rule, lemonade; Daughters of the Cross, misscellaneous; Cheerful Workers, flowers; Benevolent, cake; Brightside, books, stationery; Whatsoever, Japanese tea room and fishing pond for children; Loyal Daughters, Red Cross, bath room accessories, etc.; Cup Bearers, candy; Silver Cross, will furnish entertainment Thursday afternoon and night; Emanuel, ice cream.

Besides the above there will be tables for the sale of fancy hat pins to be in charge of Mrs. George A. Beaton and another table of jewelry to be in charge of Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney. In the effort being made to secure funds for the maintenance of the Day Nursery, the committee wants it known that rugs and pictures are much needed at the nursery and if anyone has a piano which they would like to donate it would be greatly appreciated.

It has also been arranged to have Mrs. Daniel F. Ginna take charge of the sale of small plain and fancy tables and Mrs. Dorsey Hyde will sell dolls.

TO ARGUE FRED LANG APPEAL NEXT WEEK.

Supreme Court to Take Up the Case of Hungarian Youth—Under Sentence of Death.

New Brunswick, Feb. 21.—The appeal in the case of Fred Lang, sentenced to death for the murder of his niece, Kate Gordon, near Piscataway Town, last April, will probably be argued before the Supreme Court next week. The day will most likely be Monday. Alan H. and Theodore Strong will appear for the prisoner and Prosecutor George Berdine for the State.

Lang was tried in July last before Supreme Court Justice Swayze. At the opening of the trial Alan Strong, who with Senator Strong, had been assigned for the defense, sought to have the indictment dismissed because two of the grand jurors of that term, which found the indictment, were over the statutory age of sixty-five. Justice Swayze refused the application. Exception was also taken to certain evidence introduced, but the appeal was based principally on the age of the jurors.

Lang was sentenced to be hanged on August 28, but the execution was stayed by Chancellor Magie, of the Court of Errors and Appeals, granting the appeal and sending it to the Supreme Court for argument. Had the Chancellor refused, the case would have gone directly to the Court of Errors. As the case stands now, if the Supreme Court denies the appeal, the case can still be carried up.

Since his conviction Lang has shown signs of a peculiar mental condition and has once been examined for his sanity. The physicians declined to pronounce him insane.

Once he made a rope from the bedtick and said he was going to hang himself. He wanted Warden Rogers to let him go out to a tree to do the job, and when refused, surrendered the rope. Another time he set fire to his bed. Frequently he has set up all night and disturbed the jail by singing and shouting. Lately, however, he has been pretty quiet.

Lang is only 23 years of age, and is of Hungarian birth. He shot Katie Gordon because she refused to marry him. He admitted this in a letter he wrote in jail to his mother, and which, being interpreted, formed a strong point for the State at the trial. He escaped after his crime and wandered about a couple of months, then returned to this city and was captured in a saloon.

VAIN CHASE AFTER INTRUDER.

Auto and Carriage Employed in Pursuit of a Supposed Sneak Thief at Cranford.

Cranford, Feb. 21.—A man, supposed to be a sneak thief, entered Dr. J. K. MacConnell's house yesterday afternoon and had reached the head of the stairs leading to the bedroom when the doctor heard footsteps. The physician asked what the man was doing, and the latter replied he was looking for board.

The doctor told him he had no business there, and ordered him to leave. The man descended the stairs, rushed out the front door and fled down Eastman street. The doctor blew a police whistle, and soon a crowd of boys started in pursuit.

Policeman Otto Bernert secured an automobile and chased the man along Springfield avenue for about a mile, when the machine broke down. The man was then about half a mile in the lead. After a rig was secured the chase was continued, but the fugiitve was not seen again. Arriving at the railroad station at Westfield, the policeman learned that the man had boarded an eastbound train.

The chase was then abandoned. The intruder's coat, which had been discarded, was picked up and taken to the police station, where a search revealed a skeleton key and a pair of gloves.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Charles Klein's latest play, "The Daughters of Men," which had a successful run at the Astor theatre, New York, will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night. The play is in three acts and the author has chosen for his theme, the struggle between labor and capital. He skillfully presents both sides of the question. The story involves the fortune of John Stedman, a labor leader; who believes in the working class and who has worked sincerely and faithfully for their advancement. It also tells the story of the love of this labor leader for the daughter of one of the capitalists, Grace Crosby, whose father was the founder of the Milbank & Crosby Federated Companies. Her father is dead but the business is carried on by her two brothers and another young man, with her uncle, who has retired from business, acting in the capacity of adviser. Grace Crosby at commencement at her college hears a speech by John Stedman; they fall in love and Stedman finally brings about a happy solution of the conflict between both parties and succeeds in winning the hand of Miss Crosby. For the production of this latest play from the pen of Charles Klein, Mr. Harris has selected a cast of unusual strength including Dorothy Donnelly, George W. Howard, Sydney Oring, Walter S. Craven, Marie Shotwell, E. W. Morrison, Margaret Drew, Frank Brownlee, Al R. Phillips, Edwin Brandt, Carl Ahrendt, George W. Deyo, Jos. Adelman, Kate McLaurin and Gollan Campbell.

A musical treat is in store for the local lovers of good and wholesome entertainment, for Manager Connihan has secured for Saturday afternoon and night the Whitney production of the rollicking three act musical farce comedy, "My Wife's Family," the comedy hit of last season, written by Hal Stephens and Harry Linton. The piece is full of ginger, snap and action, so essential to a musical show. There is nothing serious about it, although there is a consistent plot and a well told story. It is replete with brilliant repartee and unlimited laughable situations. There is the usual abundance of bright and up-to-date vaudeville specialities introduced, and entertaining and original musical numbers that are sure to be whistled and sung by street urchins, a positive sign of popularity. "My Wife's Family" met with instantaneous success last season and return dates were played by request in many cities.

Jefferson De Angelis, drollest and most legitimate of comic opera comedians, brings his latest success, "The Girl and the Governor," to the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night. Here is real comic opera with a consistent plot. It depends for success upon clever acting, fine singing, nimble dancing and clean wholesome humor. "The Girl and the Governor" dwells in the "Never-never-Land" of South America in the sixteenth century. They are surrounded by gayly garbed peasant girls, soldiers, Indians, sailors, Spanish knights, by dreamy-eyed senoritas and dashing cavaliers, all combining to make a stage picture full of color and beauty. Julian Edwards, whose successes are legion, such as "The Three Musketeers," "Dolly Varden," and "The Wedding Day," has supplied the most delightful melodies. It is all real comic opera, not rude burlesque and horse play. Among the principals of this fine organization comprising 70 people are Estelle Wentworth, Lillian Rhoades, Anna Boyd, Richie Ling and J. C. Miron. There is a chorus of handsome girls who can really sing.

Wants Passaic River Improved.

New Providence, Feb. 21.—There is a movement on foot to have the Passaic River dredged, widened and cleaned from Stanley Dam, near Summit, to Townley's bridge. It was thought that the State could be induced to take the matter up, and Freeholder Brandford Jones, who is one of those interested, wrote recently to Trenton to see what could be done in the matter. He has received a reply from Edward Gray, formerly of this place, but now private secretary to the Governor. Mr. Gray said that the theory of riparian rights and ownership made it impossible for the State to do anything because the property owners on each side owned to the middle of the stream. He said that personally he was interested in the scheme and would do all in his power to help it along, because he had spent many pleasant hours on the river. He suggested that the matter be taken up by subscription, and that a public fair also be given to raise funds.

Trolley Dives Through Ice.

Kingston, N. Y., Feb. 21.—Owing to ice next the rail flange a trolley car on the Colonial Railroad jumped the track on the Strand yesterday afternoon, crashed into a big telephone pole, breaking it, and then plunged into a slip at the Rondout Creek, going through fifteen inches of ice. Mrs. John B. Osterhoudt had an ankle broken and John H. Haynes' scalp and face were cut. As the water entered the car only for a couple of feet the passengers were easily rescued.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of Central avenue, has returned from a few days' visit out of town.

Mrs. J. B. Probasco, of East Front street, is entertaining her sister from Paris. She intends to make Plainfield her home permanently.

BAMBERGER'S
"THE ALWAYS BUSY STORE"
MARKET, HALSEY & BANK STS.

A SEWING MACHINE OFFER
in which we exploit for the first time our new and generous "Elbeco" club plan—the most helpful merchandising offer ever made by the Bamberger organization.

Would you buy a machine with our own trade mark on it instead of the maker's, provided, of course, that we could prove to your entire satisfaction that the machine which we sell at $22.50 is positively the same as the one sold under the maker's name and by his regularly organized agencies at from $45.00 to $60.00?

OUR CLUB PLAN
Ours is a distinctively new and different club offer—one that is broad in its purposes and marked with extreme liberality—there are no "strings" attached to it or so called "membership fees." Simply pay $2.00 as a guarantee of good faith when you join. We then send a machine to your home, the balance ($20.50) payable in sums of $1.00 a week or in monthly parts if so desired. No interest is charged and there are no extras of any kind; the payments are arranged, too, in such a manner that you will never miss the amount expended, besides you will have the use of and permanent ownership of a machine sold in the old way, i. e., by the maker's regular "agents" from Maine to California and from Canada to the Gulf, at from $45.00 to $60.00.

22.50.

CHAPTER XIII.

A Pair of Eavesdroppers.

When I came down after dressing for dinner, Bates called my attention to a belated mail. I pounced eagerly upon a letter in Laurance Donovan's well known hand, bearing, to my surprise, an American stamp and postmarked New Orleans. It was dated, however, at Vera Cruz, Mexico, December 15, 1901, and gave a characteristically racy account of his efforts to dodge the British detective who was pursuing him. He hoped, he wrote, to cross the borders into Texas, but declared that he should keep clear of Indiana, as he was unacquainted with the Indian language.

Bates gave me my coffee in the library, as I wished to settle down to an evening of reflection without delay. Larry's report of himself was not reassuring, despite its cheerful tone. I knew that if he had any idea of trying to reach me he would not mention it in a letter which might fall into the hands of the authorities, and the hope that he might join me grew. I was not, perhaps, entitled to a companion at Glenarm under the terms of my exile, but as a matter of protection in the existing condition of affairs there could be no legal or moral reason why I should not defend myself against my foes, and Larry was an ally worth having.

My neighbor, the chaplain, had inadvertently given me a bit of important news; and my mind kept reverting to the fact that Morgan was reporting his injury to the executor of my grandfather's estate in New York. Everything else that had happened was tame and unimportant compared with this. Why had John Marshall Glenarm made Arthur Pickering the executor of his estate? He knew that I detested him, that Pickering's noble aims and high ambitions had been praised by my family until his very name sickened me; and yet my own grandfather had thought it wise to intrust his fortune and my future to the man of all men who was most repugnant to me. I rose and paced the floor in anger.

My rage must fasten upon some one, and Bates was the nearest target for it. I went to the kitchen, where he usually spent his evenings, to vent my feelings upon him, only to find him gone. I climbed to his room and found it empty. Very likely he was off condoling with his friend and fellow conspirator, the caretaker, and I fumed with rage and disappointment. I was thoroughly tired,—as tired as on days when I had beaten my way through tropical jungles without food or water; but I wished, in my impotent anger against I knew not what agencies, to punish myself,—to induce an utter weariness that would send me exhausted to bed.

The snow in the highway was well beaten down and I swung off countryward past St. Agatha's. A gray mist hung over the fields in whirling clouds, breaking away occasionally and showing the throbbing winter stars. The walk and my interest in the alternation of star-lighted and mist-wrapped landscape won me to a better state of mind, and after tramping a couple of miles, I set out for home. Several times on my tramp I had caught myself whistling the air of a majestic old hymn, and smiled, remembering my young friend Olivia, and her playing in the chapel. She was an amusing child; the thought of her further lifted my spirit; and I turned into the school park when I reached the outer gate with a half-recognized wish to pass near the barracks where she spent her days.

At the school gate the lamps of a carriage suddenly blurred in the mist. Carriages are not common in this region, and I was not surprised to find that this was the familiar village hack that met trains day and night at Annandale. Some parent, I conjectured, paying a visit to St Agatha's; possibly—and the thought gave me pleasure—perhaps the father of Miss Olivia Gladys Armstrong had come to carry her home for a stricter discipline than Sister Theresa's school afforded.

The driver sat asleep on his box, and I passed him and went on into the grounds. A whim seized me to visit the crypt of the chapel and examine the opening to the tunnel. As I passed the little group of school buildings a man came hurriedly from one of them and turned toward the chapel.

I first thought it was Stoddard, but I could not make him out in the mist and in my uncertainty waited for him to put 20 paces between us before I followed.

He strode into the chapel porch with an air of assurance and I heard him address some one who had been waiting. The mist was now so heavy that I could not see my hand before my face, and I stole forward until I heard the voices of two men distinctly.

"Bates!"

"Yes, sir."

I heard feet scraping on the stone floor of the porch.

"This is a devil of a place to talk in, but it's the best we can do. Did the young man know I sent for you?"

"No, sir. I kept him quite busy with his books and papers."

"Humph! We can never be sure of him."

"I suppose that is correct, sir."

"Well, you and Morgan are a fine pair, I must say! I thought he had some sense and that you'd see to it that he didn't make a mess of this whole thing. He's in bed now with a hole in his arm and you've got to go on alone."

"I'll do my best, Mr. Pickering."

"Don't call me by name, you idiot. We're not advertising our business from the housetops."

"Certainly not," replied Bates humbly.

The blood was roaring through my head, and my hands clenched as I stood there listening to this colloquy.

Pickering's voice was—and is—unmistakable. There was always a purring softness in it. He used to remind me at school of a sleek, complacent cat, and I hate cats with particular loathing.

"Is Morgan lying or not when he says he shot himself accidentally?" demanded Pickering petulantly.

"I only know what I heard from the gardener here at the school. You'll understand, I hope, that I can't be seen going to Morgan's house."

"Of course not. But he says you haven't played fair with him, that you even attacked him a few days after Glenarm came."

"Yes, and he hit me over the head with a club. It was his indiscretion, sir. He wanted to go through the library in broad daylight, and it wasn't any use, anyhow. There's nothing there."

"But I don't like the looks of this shooting. Morgan's sick and out of his head. But a fellow like Morgan isn't likely to shoot himself accidentally, and now that it's done the work's stopped and the time is running on. What do you think Glenarm suspects?"

"I can't tell, sir, but mighty little, I should say. The shot through the window the first night he was here seemed to shake him a trifle, but he's quite settled down now, I should say, sir. That shot of Morgan's was a great mistake. The young gentleman isn't to be frightened away as easily as that."

ALUMNI REUNION.

P. H. S. Graduates to Meet Tomorrow Night.

It will be Plainfield's first opportunity to hear that prominent member of the New York bar, Frank Moss, counsel for the Society for the Prevention of Crime, when he speaks at the meeting of the Plainfield High School Alumni Association, to be held at the new High School building tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. The public is invited to hear his address. Following the public meeting the Alumni Association will hold its annual business session, after which will follow an informal reception to Miss Ellen E. Niles, of the school faculty. The evening will close with the alumni dance.

While the open meeting is intended for the public, all graduates of the High School and those who attended that school for one or more years are invited to the reception, whether they are members of the Alumni Association or not.

BOWLING.

P. L. Gaddis' "Keystone" team was unable to roll Greenwald's five at New Brunswick, last Monday night, because of a previously arranged contest that the Brunswickers had to take care of. They will come to this city next Wednesday night and will start the series planned for. The "Keystone" aggregation will comprise Captain Gaddis, F. J. Blatz, Chief Kiely, W. C. Causebrook and "Bill" Dilks. Louis Skelly and George Voehl will be on the reserve list.

Plans are now under way for a twelve-hour endurance contest to be started at McLaughlin's in about two weeks. Those interested contemplate teaming up and rolling for a series of prizes, probably first, second and third. The details are now being arranged and from the interest manifested a large number of the city's best known bowlers will compete.

GOOD SHOOTING IN LAST NIGHT'S TOURNEY GAMES.

Four Teams Competed and Close Scores Furnish Entertainment for the Gallery.

Good scores were the rule in six tourney games rolled at McLaughlin's last night. The competing teams were Woolston and Cunningham, who lost two out of three to W. and J. Schaub, and Gaddis and Dilks, who dropped one out of three to Sheelen and Alberts. Woolston and Cunningham got their one game by a solitary pin, the scores standing 366 to 365. The same thing happened in the second game rolled by Gaddis and Dilks who took it away from Sheelen and Alberts by a score of 326 to 325.

John Schaub went over the 200 mark twice and Dilks and Alberts also got over the double century line. Woolston did some nice shooting and handed in scores of 192, 161 and 190. None of the teams went below the 300 mark in totals.

The scores:

Woolston	192	161	190
Cunningham	181	245	176
	373	306	366
vs.
W. Schaub	171	178	161
J. Schaub	226	170	204
	397	348	365
Gaddis	168	159	181
Dilks	173	167	203
	341	326	384
vs.
Sheelen	176	149	148
Alberts	192	176	201

SILVER CUP UP.

Change In Trophy Offered In Duel Y. M. C. A. Meet.

All the plans for the dual athletic meet between the Plainfield and Passaic Y. M. C. A.'s at the local gymnasium, tonight, have been completed. Both teams are trained to the minute and ready for the starting signal. Physical Director Listman is confident that the Plainfield team will win.

The winning team will get a silver cup, instead of a shield, as originally announced. The change in the trophy has increased the interest in the competition.

The only open entries for Plainfield, the potato race, were filled last night. Odell, Douglass, Templin, Hoagland and Burgess were picked.

APACHES DROP.

Displaced From Lead In Local Basketball League By Sioux.

The Sioux defeated the Apaches in a close game in the local basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. last night. The score was 9 to 8, and the contest was as hot as it indicates. The defeat cost Apaches their position as leaders, tied with the Mohicans, in the race:

The line-up: Apaches—Wattrous, Hansen, Kinsman, Burgess, Hoagland; Sioux—Templin, Manning, Doerrer, Spear, Lueder.

—Dr. Albert Pittis' store properties in East Front street are being improved inside and out, including interior decorations and new roofs.

P. H. S. DEFEATED.

Erasmus Hall Wins on Local Court —Score 57-22.

The Plainfield High School basketball five was defeated by the Erasmus Hall team of New York, yesterday, in the Plainfield High School gymnasium by the score of 57 to 22. Erasmus Hall has a large number of students to pick from and they brought a winning team. They were all heavy men and excelled in team work and shooting goals. The team was a sportsman-like bunch and played a clean game, only two fouls being called.

The line-up:

P. H. S.	Erasmus.
Line	Suelly
Doane	Hannon
Caldwell forwards
Gavett	Schradiech centre
Freeman	Thompson
Loizeaux	Peterken

141 DIE IN GREAT STEAMSHIP DISASTER.

Londan, Feb. 21.—The passenger steamship Berlin, of 1,775 tons, owned by the Great Eastern Railway Company, on her way from Harwich stranded off the north pier of the Hook of Holland, at the mouth of the Maas, at 5 o'clock this morning in stormy weather. Tugs were sent to the Berlin's assistance, but she broke up and the passengers and crew, to the number of 142, were drowned.

The Berlin stuck a sandbank outside the harbor, in sight of land, but the seas were so tremendous that rescue was entirely out of the question.

Fagan for Governor.

Jersey City, Feb. 21.—Mayor Mark M. Fagan, of Jersey City, was introduced by James W. McCarthy as a "future Governor of New Jersey" at the first anniversary of the organization of the Seventh Ward Republican Club last night. The Mayor's followers cheered for several minutes, and then Mr. Fagan made a short speech which was accepted as a declaration that he is not in favor of harmonizing with the regulars.

OBITUARY.

Death of John Beatty.

John Beatty, aged fifty-six years, of South Plainfield, died at Muhlenberg Hospital Tuesday night, following an illness from pneumonia. He was for several years employed at South Plainfield and vicinty as a farm helper. The funeral services and interment will be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the South Plainfield cemetery.

Margaret A. Pangborn.

Margaret A. Pangborn, the nine-year-old daughter of Lloyd H. Pangborn, of Watchung avenue, died last night after a brief illness. The funeral will be held at the father's residence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

Mrs. Sarah E. R. Webb.

Mrs. Sarah E. R. Webb, widow of Moses F. Webb, died at her home on Park avenue, early this morning. Her demise was indirectly due to a fall which she sustained in her room two weeks ago. She was in her eighty-seventh year and the shock caused her to take to her bed and she began to fail immediately. Mrs. Webb and her husband came from New Brunswick and they had lived in this city for a long time. Previous to Mr. Webb's death they travelled extensively and generally spent their winters in California. There is one son surviving, George Webb, of Texas, who is in the city at the present time. The funeral will be held at Runyon's undertaking parlors Saturday morning at 10 o'clock and interment will be at New Brunswick.

ARGUES OVER FIRE MATTERS.

Rahway Council Decides to Disband Engine Company.

Rahway, Feb. 21.—In the City Council, Tuesday night, the matter of the disbanding of Franklin Engine Company came up for discussion and a warm time followed. Those in favor of doing away with the company claimed that the organization is virtually out of commission and not needed. The engine has not been used for three years, during which time the company has attended almost no fires.

The money appropriated by the city for the firemen, in place of allowing a rebate on personal taxes, is also under dispute on account of the disordered state of affairs. The company, however, claims the money belongs to it, as it is still in existence. A petition for the retaining of the company, signed by about 100 residents, was presented to the Council and evidently carried weight. The final vote left the company still in the field, the Council lacking one vote of carrying the order to disband. The company's forces were led by D. G. Hetfield, one of the oldest active firemen in the State.

BELLEW'S NEW PLAY.

Meritorious in Every Kay But Viewed By a Small Audience.

Kyrle Bellew, the actor whose name has been linked with "Raffles" for several years, returned to Plainfield last night and presented J. Hartley Manners' new play, "A Marriage of Reason." It was written especially for his distinctive talents and with the elaborate cast and setting that has been provided for it by Klaw & Erlanger it proved one of the most meritorious productions that has been at the local theatre this season. Mr. Bellew was delightfully refreshing in the role of a dashing English earl and the story told as the play progressed was a decided treat.

The only drawback to the success of the presentation was the fact that the audience was one of the "small but appreciative" kind. Plainfielders have a habit of letting the best artistic productions to be secured go by unnoticed and last night's result showed it. It was a big surprise to the management as Kyrle Bellew has an international reputation and made a lasting impression when he was here last season.

STOKES OFF FOR THE SOUTH.

Leaves, With Senator-elect Briggs and Several Others as Guests.

Trenton, Feb. 21.—Governor E. C. Stokes, United States Senator-elect Frank O. Briggs, Charles G. Roebling, Karl G. Roebling and Ferdinand W. Roebling, Jr., left here yesterday afternoon for a business trip to Virginia as the guests of Chandler Brothers and Middenoorf & Williams, financial agents and brokers, of Philadelphia. The party left Philadelphia in a special car of the Pennsylvania Railroad for Baltimore.

At 6:30 o'clock last evening the party boarded the steamship Charlotte at Baltimore for Norfolk. While in the South the party will visit the Jamestown Exposition grounds, Richmond, Norfolk and Old Point Comfort. They will return to Trenton Sunday.

Because of this business trip of Governor Stokes, Major-General J. Farmer Wanser, of Jersey City, will be the reviewing officer tonight at a review of the Second Regiment of the National Guard of New Jersey in the Trenton Armory. This review was originally planned for Mr. Stokes.

—"General," the horse belonging to No. 2 hose wagon at fire headquarters, which injured itself, yesterday, will not be returned to duty for many weeks if at all. The animal evidently sprained a ligament and is in pretty bad shape. Another horse has been secured to take "General's" place.

STOKES FOR CHAIRMAN

Friends of Governor Start Movement to Make Him F. O. Brigg's Successor.

LATTER TO RESIGN

Suggestion That Stokes Fill Vacancy On Committee Caused by Resignation of Thomas N. McCarter.

In anticipation of changes in the makeup of the Republican State Committee, owing to the election of Chairman Frank O. Briggs to the United States Senatorship, friends of Governor Edward C. Stokes have started a movement, it is said, to put him in the chairmanship. Mr. Briggs will probably retire when he assumes the duties of United States Senator.

The Governor's friends point to the ability of the executive in directing the party's affairs. They say he is the shrewdest politician in the State, and has proved on more than one occasion that he possesses all the requisites for a leader of the party.

There are some influential friends of Mr. Briggs, however, who, while not openly opposed to the idea of Governor Stokes becoming the State chairman, have expressed themselves as wishing the United States Senator-elect to retain his place at the head of the party. They say there is no reason why he should relinquish the seat because of his election to the Senate and in support of their contentions point out that he has managed the party's affairs with discretion, which has enabled it to survive many crises.

They say that a precedent was established by Governor Franklin Murphy, who was at the head of the State committee while in the Executive's chair. Those who are in favor of the proposed retirement of Mr. Briggs declare, however, that ex-Governor Murphy's incumbency could not be called a precedent, since a greater part of that time Mr. Stokes, as the vice-chairman of the committee, which office he now holds, was really in charge of the committee's affairs.

To his intimate friends, it is said, Chairman Briggs has signfied his intention to give up his office in the committee on March 4.

From personal friends of Governor Stokes it was learned that the Executive looked with favor upon the proposition that he be selected to head the committee, and assured his friends that if he were chosen for the place he would readily accept it. It is said that plans have been carefully laid by the Governor's admirers, that in the retirement of Mr. Briggs the committee will not be deprived of his service. It is proposed that he be made a member-at-large to fill the vacancy made by the resignation some months ago of Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service Corporation.

No action has been taken as yet by the committee on Mr. McCarter's resignation, and the friends of Governor Stokes are urging that the committee accept it at the meeting at which Chairman Briggs' successor is chosen.

SERVED 200 SUPPERS.

Women of Monroe Ave. Church Netted Handsome Profit In Consequence.

The annual chicken supper was given at the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, Thursday night, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society. Nearly 200 suppers were served during the evening and the net proceeds will amount to about $50. Mrs. Frederick Wenzel is president of the society, and she was assisted in giving the supper by Mrs. Robert L. Lee, Mrs. John Daub, Mrs. William Stein, Mrs. Winfield Decker, Mrs. J. C. Pierson, Mrs. Fred Phillips, Mrs. John J. Praed, Mrs. J. S. Higham, Miss Mary Pound, Mrs. I. P. LaRue, Mrs. N. Mansfield Smith and Mrs. William Travell, Mrs. William Gunzelman and Mrs. Emma Mathews.

The rooms were decorated in patriotic style, there being an arrangement of American flags and bunting. There was also a table devoted to the sale of candy and this was in charge of Miss Ada Decker and Miss Minnie Gunzelman. An extra attraction was a programme of piano and vocal selections given by some of the women of the church.

Funeral of Daniel Swenson.

The funeral of Daniel Swenson, who died at his home in Stirling, Tuesday morning, was held in the Presbyterian church at Stirling, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Nicholas Bowers officiated in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, many of the latter being from this city. Interment was made in the Stirling cemetery.

Miss Bertha Hoagland and Russel Hoagland, of Somerset street, spent yesterday in Raritan.

WILLIAM H. HICKS, EX-SHERIFF DEAD

WAS SHERIFF OF UNION COUNTY FROM 1890 TO 1893.

William H. Hicks, who was elected sheriff of Union county in 1890, died at 7:30 o'clock yesterday morning, at his home, 214 Elizabeth avenue, Elizabeth, after an illness of a week from pneumonia.

Mr. Hicks was born at Asbury, Warren county, sixty-nine years ago, and the early years of his life were spent on his father's farm. He came to this city a half-century ago, and established himself in the clothing and shoe business at First street and Broadway, but for the last thirty years had conducted the shoe business at 150 First street, where he formerly resided also. In recent years his home was at 214 Elizabeth avenue.

He was a lifelong Democrat, and was chosen sheriff over James Clark, now deputy sheriff. He was one of the founders of the Elizabethport Mutual Building and Loan Association, and for twenty-five years its treasurer. The office of the association was for many years in the store of Mr. Hicks, First street, and it was here the meetings were held. Hundreds of depositors called upon him from time to time, in these days, for all kinds of advice and he was usually ready to tell them just what they should do. He was also a director in the Union County Savings Bank and of the Elizabethport Banking Company.

SOMERSET FREEHOLDERS DISCUSS IMPROVEMENTS

INSPECT WEST END AVE. BRIDGE AND GO OVER PROPOSED WARREN ROAD.

The Somerset County Board of Freeholders on Thursday inspected the West End avenue bridge, where it is proposed to erect wing walls, and decided to arrange for a joint meeting with the bridge committee from the Union County Board, to determine about the wing walls on the new bridge. There seems to be no question but that Somerset county will agree to make the improvement, although it is doubtful whether the plans as drawn by Engineer F. J. Hubbard will be adopted. The freeholders from Somerset county believe that they are too elaborate. The bridge committee from Union county has already authorized the improvement on the Plainfield side, action being taken at the December meeting of the board.

As for the Warren Township road, it was decided to wait until State Superintendent of Roads Hutchinson is heard from. If his reply is favorable to the improvement the freeholders will at once undertake the work of grading the road, as desired by abutting property-owners. After inspecting the route, the freeholders stopped at Pedefious' for lunch and later they were the guests of Mayor N. B. Smalley at dinner at the Hotel Iroquois.

WILLARD MEMORIAL SERVICE.

W. C. T. U. Honor Memory of Its Late Leader.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held a service in its rooms Thursday afternoon in memory of Francis E. Willard, who for many years was the national president of the organization. Mrs. P. C. Bodine was in charge of the meeting and she related many interesting incidents in the life of the late temperance leader. There were also readings from the life of Miss Willard by Mrs. T. H. Tomlinson, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, Miss May E. Howlett and Mrs. Gilbert VanNest.

During the service there were appropriate songs and a solo by Mrs. Udell, accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Charles L. Lewis, on the piano. After the meeting there was discussion about a parlor meeting which will be held in the near future.

Funeral of Margaret Pangborn.

The funeral of Margaret Pangborn, the nine-year-old daughter of Lloyd Pangborn, of Watchung avenue, was held at the father's home yesterday morning. It was conducted by Rev. Father Bogan, rector of St. Mary's church. Interment in Hillside cemetery followed.

Greater Plainfield.

A review of ten years' effort to bring about the consolidation of Plainfield, which now seems to be a thing of the near future, will be found in the Jersey edition of the New York Herald tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter C. Saums, of Somerville, was tendered a pleasant surprise party at their home Thursday night by several friends from this city. Progressive euchre was the feature and refreshments were served at a late hour.

P. P. A. & B. OF T. TO MERGE

Suggested By Men Who Belong to Both of the Organizations.

WOOLSTON APPROVES

Board of Trade President Says the Older Body Has Been Working on the Same Lines —Mr. Case's Idea.

A movement for the union of the Plainfield Protective Association and the Board of Trade has been started. The union is favored by prominent members of the P. P. A. who are also members of the Board, and President L. B. Woolston, of the latter organization, has expressed decided approval of the proposition.

Many citizens, members of both bodies among them, have been saying ever since the P. P. A. organization was accomplished that the association was engaged in work that should be done by the Board of Trade. The conviction grew to a point where it crystalized into action, and steps were taken to have the two bodies take up the suggestion.

In connection with the proposition, members of the bodies have said that the separate organization of the P. P. A. was wholly unnecessary. It is argued that the citizens in it could have accomplished all they have done with a saving of time and effort by joining the Board of Trade and working within that organization with the same energy expended as members of the P. P. A.

A reporter for The Daily Press asked Mr. Woolston, yesterday, what he thought of the proposition. He expressed decided approval of it.

"So far as I am concerned," said Mr. Woolston, "there is no objection to the union. I am willing to do everything to advance the interests of the city, and it seems to me that the proposed union would help to further advance the city. I feel sure the majority of the members of the Board of trade would favor the union.

"The P. P. A. members will not find the Board unfamiliar with the work the association has been doing. The Board started out to accomplish what the P. P. A. has been working on. For almost two years we have known all about the lighting situation and have had a line on just what the P. P. A. has brought out. We did not have large funds. We believed not so much in money and high assessments as in public sentiment. It was the feeling that an aroused public sentiment could enable the Board to accomplish all the reforms desired."

Mr. Woolston said he did not know whether or not the matter would be brought up at the next meeting of the Board. It is very likely that the union will be broached then.

President R. Henry Depew, of the P. P. A., is in the South and could not be interviewed regarding the merger.

J. Herbert Case, treasurer of the Plainfield Protective Association, when questioned this morning as to his views regarding the consolidation of the association with the Board of Trade, said:

"I am heartily in favor of the merger and have been since it was first spoken of. Both organizations have good members and by combining the interests of them much good could be accomplished. However, I would favor a constructive policy for the combined organizations, one that would help to build up and advertise Plainfield throughout the country.

"Plainfield certainly has the attractions to advertise and there is no reason why people as well as industries should not be attracted here. The objects of the association are good, but I believe that one strong organization conducted along more liberal lines would be of incalcuable benefit. We want to do more than watch the Public Service Corporation or any other corporation, and if the merger is made it should be the policy of the members to have the co-operation and help of the Common Council, all striving for one common end, the good of Plainfield and its many interests. One thing is certain, that is the association has been more aggressive and progressive than the Board of Trade, and I believe that by a combination new life would be infused which would tend to awaken every member to a more lively sense of the importance of doing things that will benefit Plainfield."

Threw Snowballs.

Lewis Dixon, Walter Wilson, John Boyle and Daniel Nugent, all about 16 years old, were arraigned before Judge Runyon in the city court this morning, charged with throwing snowballs at Zusman Block. Sentence was suspended.

Sprained His Ankle.

John Vardon, a painter employed by Woolston & Buckle, fell from a low scaffold at the Netherwood Hotel Thursday afternoon and sprained his ankle. He was taken home in a hack.

FIX ANNIVERSARY DATE

First M. E. Church Congregation to Celebrate Seventy-Fifth Year of Effort.

FROM OCT. 13 TO 20

Invitation Extended to General Conference to Meet Here In April, 1908—700 Delegates.

The official board of the First M. E. church has fixed the date for the observance of the seventy-fifth anniversary of the organization of the church. The celebration will commence on Sunday, October 13, and continue every day until and including Sunday, October 20. The committee is now busily engaged on the programme, which will be an elaborate one. It is expected that many of the most prominent leaders in the denomination will be present and it is also proposed to have the former pastors there to take part in the services. The music will be a special feature.

Another event of more than special interest is that the official board has extended an invitation to the General Conference of New Jersey to meet at the First M. E. church in April, 1908. As there are 260 churches in the conference and there are two lay delegates and the minister from each church expected to attend, it would bring together a gathering of over 700 people. Of course, the board is not sure that the invitation will be accepted, but every effort will be made to bring the conference here.

It was planned to invite the conference here this year, it being the fiftieth anniversary of that body. But inasmuch as the conference was organized at Morristown, the Methodists there were particularly anxious to have the gathering at their town. It will be held at the usual time in April.

BAXTER ISSUES NOTICE TO ALL SCHOOL BOARDS

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION SAYS R.R. TAX MONEY IS TIED UP

Charles J. Baxter, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, believes that the immediate wants of the public school system are seriously threatened by the popular belief that because of the largely increased tax levied against railroads it will not be necessary to make the usual provision for maintaining the schools. Circular letters were sent from his office at Trenton yesterday declaring that the public has been sadly misinformed as to the situation. He says the apportionment of money that is assured is insufficient to make adequate provision for the unusual outlay that will be required for the school year of 1907-'08.

Mr. Baxter points out that the additional money expected from the railroads is now tied up by litigation, which may mean a long delay. He urges boards of estimate to make out their budgets independently of the taxes in dispute. The amount needed for schools next year is estimated at $7,883,000.

JR. O. U. A. M. CELEBRATES WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

Rev. E. E. Roberson Speaks On "The Bible, the Flag and Our Country."

Following the regular session of Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., last night, the members provided an entertainment including speeches and a smoker. Councilor G. F. Hulit, who was in the chair, called upon Past Councilor George F. Watts to deliver the address of welcome.

Rev. E. E. Roberson, pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, made the address of the evening. It was a patriotic oration on "The Bible, the Flag and Our Country." Mr. Watts presented the council with a picture of George Washington and one of the old American flags bearing the thirteen stars, which was made by himself.

During the evening Naylor's orchestra rendered selections and Mr. Pierre gave piano selections. The rooms was elaborately decorated with flags and bunting in honor of the day. After the entertainment refreshments were served and cigars passed around. The committee in charge consisted of George F. Watts, J. A. Dow, Henry VanArsdale, F. L. Soper, Jr., LeRoy Clawson and Robert Metler.

—The Jolly Twenty-Four Club gave a euchre party and dance in the Camera Club, last night. The usual prizes were presented after the card playing and then dancing continued until a late hour.

ALUMNI HONORS TEACHER

Members Combine Pleasure With Business at Second Annual Gathering.

GIFT FOR MISS NILES

Presented With Engrossed Resolutions in Recognition of Her Long Service As a Teacher.

The Alumni Association of the Plainfield High School held its second annual meeting, last night, and combined the gathering with a reception to Miss Ellen E. Niles, the oldest teacher in point of service in the city corps. Both business and social affairs were held in the new High School building and the attendance occupied the greater part of the auditorium.

President William D. Murray, of the association, presided over the open meeting held first and introduced Frank Moss, of New York, counsel for the Society for the Prevention of Crime, as the speaker for the occasion. The subject of his address was "George Washington—the Man and the Citizen" and proved decidedly entertaining. Mr. Moss is eloquent and convincing in his delivery and his address was enjoyed from an oratorical as well as reasonig point of view. The audience united in singing "America" at the close.

The annual business meeting of the Alumni Association was called to order by President Murray and a large amount of work was accomplished. The report of Secretary Franklin S. Smith was read and showed a membership of 250 out of 625 living graduates. The nominating committee composed of William C. Hubbard, E. J. Patterson and Vincent B. Miner, reported and the following officers were elected:

President, Arthur L. Titsworth, class 1870; vice president, A. McClean Parker, '74; secretary and treasurer, Franklin S. Smith, '80; members of the general committee: William M. Stillman, '72; Miss Anna W. Marsh, '73; Miss Jessie M. Utter, '74; William D. Murray, '75; Walter M. McGee, '76; Townsend Rushmore, '77; Mrs. John Ulrich, '78; Mrs. C. Frank French, '79; R. H. Depew, '80; Mrs. E. H. Hatch, '81; George M. Kirkner, '82; Miss Roberta L. Bass, '83; Miss S. Lena Bass, '84; Mrs. Isaac M. Wyckoff, '85; Miss Flora R. Petrie, '86; Edward T. B. Perrine, '88; Miss Dora D. Wenzel, '89; William W. Corlell, '90; Mrs. Philip S. Suffern, '91; Mrs. Edgar D. Williams, '92; Mrs. Charles McNabb, '93; C. L. Riley, '94; C. B. Morse, '95; Dr. F. W. Cornwell, '96; Miss Louise Egan, '97; Henry W. Brower, '98; Miss Helen Lovell, '99; Miss Edna Burr, '00; Miss Ethel L. Titsworth, '01; Erwin Leland, '02; Vincent B. Miner, '03; Miss Mildred J. Spicer, '04; Theodore O. Gavett, '05; Howard Freeman, '06.

At the conclusion of the elections, Mr. Murray called upon Miss Niles and presented her with a testimonial in the form of a set of resolutions engrossed in a leather bound book and signed by many members of the Alumni Association. They also expressed in writing their congratulations on the completion of her thirty-eight years of service and made mention of the love and esteem in which she is held by all who have been her pupils. A reception followed in the school library, at which Miss Niles received, assisted by Miss S. Lena Bass. Dancing was in order in the school hall and it was enjoyed until midnight by a majority of the attendants. Music was furnished by Suhr's Imperial orchestra and DeMolli was the caterer. The main hall was profusely decorated with American flags.

The committee of arrangements comprised the following: Charles B. Morse, chairman; Miss Ellen Osgood, Miss Dorothy Fleming, Theodore O. Gavett and Vincent B. Miner.

The regiment was presented with a $1,000 oil painting of Col. D. F. Collins, on behalf of the citizens of Elizabeth. Supper and dancing followed the review. A npmber of Plainfield women were present.

OLD FASHIONED SINGING CONCERT AT HOPE CHAPEL

UNIQUE AFFAIR ENJOYED BY A LARGE GATHERING.

Something new in the way of musical entertainment was provided at Hope chapel, last night, when forty members presented an "old fashioned singing concert." It was arranged and conducted by Judge William N. Runyon and was attended by an audience that filled the Sunday-school room to its capacity.

The singers occupied seats on the platform and at the opening sang songs that are known as "old fashioned." Before each one was presented, Judge Runyon told something about its origin and the way he did it was a feature in itself. The solo parts were taken by Elmer D. Cutting, John V. Todd, Harry Roberts, Miss Edna Eckert, F. C. Iglehart and Mrs. L. R. Howard. The chorus wore appropriate costumes.

Edmund Young performed on the cornet, giving a medlay of Scotch and Irish airs, and the Four H. quartette made its first appearance in the West End. It is composed of Harry Roberts, Hugh Ricketts, Horace J. Martin, Jr., and Harry Blimm, and they kept the audience in good humor for twenty minutes with their singing and talking act.

The proceeds are to be added to the organ fund of the chapel and will reach a large amount.

King's Horse to Be Sold.

Acting on an order from the trolley officials, George W. Cole will sell at auction at his stables on West Second street Monday afternoon, the horse belonging to John King, of Bound Brook, which was injured in a trolley collision two months ago. It was placed in the stable by the local police and after King received a settlement from the trolley company he neglected to redeem the animal. Cole has been keeping it ever since and as no other convenient way was open to secure payment of the board bill the sale was decided upon.

Fire in Borough Residence.

From a cause that none of the occupants could explain, a slight fire broke out in a rear room on the third floor of Isaac Giles' residence on Fairview avenue, shortly before noon today. A still alarm was sent in and while the firemen were busy with the chemical hose, an alarm was turned in from box 143 at Grandview avenue and Somerset street by Fred Martin. The damage was confined to the burning of a drawer filled with linens and a hole in a side wall. It will amount in all to about $100, covered by insurance.

Miss Schleif Surprised.

Miss Gertrude Schleif, of Park avenue, was tendered a surprise party by thirty of her young friends, Thursday night. Games and music were enjoyed until 11 o'clock, when refreshments were served in conclusion. The affair was arranged by Miss Edna Cole.

At Y. M. C. A. Convention.

Physical Director C. L. Listman is attending the Y. M. C. A. convention at Elizabeth today. General Secretary Robbie attended it Thursday night.

RIVAL ICE CONCERN WITH $150,000 CAPITAL

Watchung Ice and Storage Company to Dig Immense Artificial Lake.

CONTRACTS AWARDED

Lake At Watchung To Be 30 Feet Deep—Ice Houses, Cold Storage House and Artificial Plant Included.

The Watchung Ice and Cold Storage Company has been incorporated at Trenton with a capital stock of $150,000, and when the concern's plans are carried out there promises to be a great improvement in the ice business in this city. A number of New York capitalists have interested themselves in the enterprise and it is their intention to carry out the original plans made by Plainfield men.

About 400 acres of property at Watchung, located south of the plant of the Natural Ice Company, has been acquired. The tract is directly on the road leading to Pedefious' Hotel and is well adapted for the purposes desired. It forms a natural basin. It is proposed to establish a lake there about a mile and a quarter long, from 400 to 900 feet wide, with an average depth of thirty feet.

Besides making the large lake, where it is expected to gather ice during the winter season, a number of modern ice-houses will be located on the banks. In addition a cold storage building will be erected for the convenience of the farmers and other residents during the summer season. To provide against any possible loss by reason of a mild winter, the company will erect an up-to-date artificial ice plant. The company will operate the artificial plant and store its product so that in any event there will be no possibility of a shortage in warm weather.

It is estimated that there will be an outlay at the start of at least $100,000. Of this amount $25,000 will be used to build a dam, and the balance will be used for the erection of an ice plant and storage houses. It is expected that work will be started early in the spring so that the plant will be completed in the fall.

The Consolidated Engineering Co., of 43 Exchange place, New York, which did all the work for the Niagara, Lockport and Ontario Power Company at Niagara Falls, has been engaged to do the engineering work at Watchung. The company will put a large force of men at work with the idea of completing the contract at the earliest possible date.

While the incorporators are all New York men, inducements are offered the local merchants. It is proposed to issue 6 per cent. interest-bearing debenture bonds and an opportunity will be given to Plainfield people to subscribe to these in any amount they desire. In this way it is expected to make the company one of mutual interest. The idea is that any person may subscribe for bonds according to the amount of ice used by them during the season, and besides getting the ice at wholesale price will also receive interest on their investment.

Lunch Box Social.

Under the auspices of the Women's Relief Corps, a lunch-box social was held in G. A. R. Hall last night. The affair was to celebrate Washington's Birthday and a programme of vocal and instrumental selections were given by a quartette composed of Mrs. W. E. Gibbons, Mrs. Andrew Cox, Mrs. E. P. T. Smith and Mrs. Sadie Baglin. There were also vocal solos by Mrs. John Manley and Alfred Manley, together with addresses by W. C. Smith, I. L. McVoy and M. C. Dobbins. Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, attired in Martha Washington costume, had charge of the programme. Capt. William Hand was the auctioneer and he sold all of the lunch-boxes at good prices.

Fought at Swedish Ball.

For fighting at a Swedish ball in Central Hall, North and Park avenues, Walter Abramson, Tunis Vail, Harry Molleson and Edward Britton were arrested Thursday night. Abramson is said to have attacked Britton, because the latter won his girl for a dance. Vail and Molleson became involved in the scrap that followed. Britton's clothes were hanging together by a few feeble threads when he was arragned yesterday, and Abramson had a generally debilitated look. Sentence was suspended in all four cases.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The three days' fair being held by Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company opened in the hall Thursday night with a good attendance. The attendance yesterday afternoon and last night was even better, the hall being filled with a happy, good natured holiday crowd which was ready to part with their money and try their luck at winning the Uncle Sam sofa cushion, the Victor talking machine or the life size doll, which are being chanced off. The several booths, prettily trimmed with bunting and flags, were well stocked with fancy articles, cakes and candy. These were presided over by the feminine friends of the company, and did a rushing business, smiling faces, pretty gowns and a tempting array of good things proving to be a temptation which could not be resisted. The fish pond was the favorite spot for the younger element, and it did a rushing business. The fair will be brought to a close tonight, when the winners of the several contests will be announced. Foreman Philip Spencer Jahn and his committee have worked hard to make the affair the success it is. They have been ably assisted by the women of the town.

Services at the Baptist church tomorrow will be: Sunday-school, 9:30 a. m.; morning preaching, 10:45, by the pastor, Rev. T. Moore-Smith, subject, "Christian Baptism—What It Is;" B. Y. P. U. meeting, 7:15; evening service, 8 o'clock; baptism.

Henry Alberts has resigned his position with the Rushmore Dynamo Company to take a similar one with the Hall Signal Company, Garwood.

The Misses Gallagher, of Raritan, have been visiting Mrs. Stevens, of Watchung avenue.

Miss Nellie Swithers, of New York, who has been spending several days with Plainfield friends, has returned home.

Rev. E. E. Roberson, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, has returned from a visit with Somerville friends.

Mrs. Edith Mellick, of East Front street, has returned from a visit with friends and relatives at North Branch.

Dr. and Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson, of Park avenue, entertained the Fortnightly Whist Club at their home Wednesday night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

That the musical comedy success of the season, "My Wife's Family," which will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight, will be welcomed with an overflow audience, there is scarcely any doubt. The many inquiries respecting this comedy with music at the box office, bears out the fact that theatregoers here will attend in large numbers.

The greatest musical event of the season will be Jefferson De Angelis' appearance at the New Plainfield theatre next Tuesday night in "The Girl and the Governor," which has added new laurels to those gained in the long series of previous successes. "The Girl and the Governor" is real comic opera with real music. The compositions of Julian Edwards are said to be more charming and tuneful then any contributed to his earlier successes. "The Wedding Day," "Brian Boru," "The Three Musketeers," "Dolly Darven," and a host of others. "The Girl and the Governor" is a straight, clean comic opera and does not reek of the Tenderloin. It has proved a delight to all lovers of delightful music and clean humor. The story has to do with the adventures of a pretty English girl who is taken captive by a floppish Spanish governor in the sixteenth century. To prevent an enforced marriage the girl pretends to be a shrew and holds her spitor aloof, until she is rescued by her English sailor lad. There is a company of 70 people, including such popular favorites as Estelle Wentworth, Richie Ling, Anna Boyd, Lillian Rhoades and J. C. Miron, the deep throated basso.

Estelle Wentworth,
Who Portrays the "Girl" in "The Girl and the Governor," at the New Plainfield Theatre Next Tuesday Night.

Gordon and Gilbert, under the management of Walters and Mathews, presenting the new edition of the musical gayety, "Hans and Nix," will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night. Gordon and Gilbert and this musical piece were one of the phenomenal successes of last season. "Hans and Nix" is said to be a very laughable conceit with the central characters exactly suited to the peculiarities of Gordon and Gilbert, and containing a great variety of excellent musical numbers. The supporting company includes names of prominence in the comedy line. Special scenic sets and complete electrical equipment are carried by the company this season, which enables them to offer a complete performance of a high order.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Rev. E. G. Bowers, of Christ church, Elizabeth, was the special preacher at St. Stephen's church last night.

The special Lenten preacher at Grace church Wednesday night was the Rev. Frederick A. Wright, of Brooklyn. Rev. E. J. Knight, of Christ church, will preach next Wednesday night.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, of the First Baptist church, will speak at the dedicatory exercises to be held at the new Baptist church, Rahway, tomorrow night. Rev. J. W. Musson, of Faith chapel, will preach for Dr. Chambliss in the evening.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, former pastor of the First M. E. church, but now of Perth Amboy, will exchange pulpits tomorrow with Rev. A. C. McCrea. This will be the first time Dr. Snodgrass has preached here since going to Perth Amboy.

Mrs. Minnie Marshall-Smith will give recitations and a stringed trio will render musical selections at an entertainment to be given at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, Tuesday night, under the auspices of the Young People's Association.

Miss Mabel Cardner, of Orange place, has been detained at home by illness.

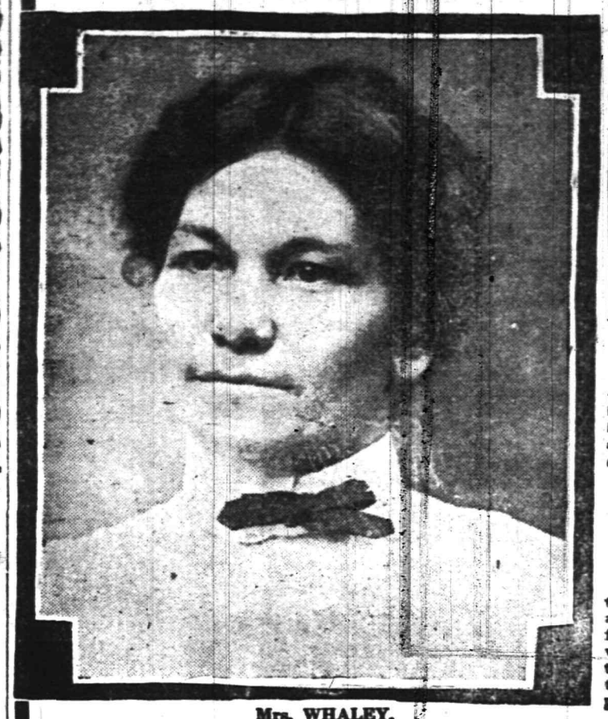
"I WAS A VICTIM OF STOMACH TROUBLE"



Mrs. WHALEY.

"Two Bottles of Cooper's New Discovery Cured Me" Writes Mrs. Frank Whaley of 1021 Capitol Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

THE COOPER MEDICINE CO.,

GENTLEMEN:—For years I have been a victim of stomach trouble. Everything I ate disagreed with me and I did not seem to derive any nourishment or strength from my food.

When I began taking Cooper's New Discovery, I did not expect the results would be different from all the other medicines I had used, but before the second bottle was gone, every trace of my ailment had disappeared and I could eat and enjoy a hearty meal, and am gaining in strength and flesh. Cooper's New Discovery is a splendid remedy. I know that it cures stomach trouble. Signed: MRS. FRANK WHALEY, 1021 Capitol Ave., Indianapolis, Ind.

Can You Eat and Enjoy a Hearty Meal?

If not, then you need Cooper's New Discovery. It builds up the gastric juices of the stomach, so that food digests instead of fermenting, and the blood receiving pure nourishment from the digested food, instead of the poisonous acid from food which has fermented, strengthens every organ of the body through which it flows.

PURE BLOOD IS THE LIFE. COOPER'S NEW DISCOVERY MAKES PURE BLOOD.

Cooper's New Discovery Costs $1.00 per bottle; six for $5.00. Cooper's Quick Relief, the assistant remedy, costs 50c. per bottle. Buy from the dealer whose name appears below, or where we have no dealer send the price direct to the Cooper medicine Co., Dayton, Ohio, and the medicines will be forwarded to you charges prepaid.

MANY LOOPHOLES IN THE MOTOR LAWS

QUESTIONS DECIDED AT MEETING OF JERSEY MOTOR CLUB.

The most important happening in the local motor world last week was the meeting of the New Jersey Automobile and Motor Club to consider legal questions which have arisen during the last six months. The sense of the meeting was that the present law provides entirely too many loopholes for motorists who are reckless and who do not propose to obey the law if they can avoid doing so. One of the most important of the resolutions passed was in favor of having all license pads issued by the State, thus attaining the uniformity of design that has been such a successful feature of the Pennsylvania law.

Another resolution of vast importance was that which calls for the carrying of lights at night by all vehicles, whether horse-drawn or propelled by motors. There has already been introduced into the Legislature a bill calling for the carrying of two lights on all vehicles. The New Jersey Automobile Club has decided not to support this, however, for the reason that in many cases it would work a hardship to owners of horse vehicles, although it is practically a necessity in the case of automobiles. The motor club's resolution calls for only one light. In its present form, as given below, it has received the sanction of the Road Drivers' Association. With the backing of two such powerful organizations, both of which have the welfare of vehicular traffic at heart, the measure should not fail of passing. It was stipulated that this provision go as an amendment to the general road laws and not to the Frelinghuysen automobile act.

Other resolutions having to do with the increasing of the force of motor vehicle inspectors, with power to arrest without warrant and to require motorists to show licenses; the throwing of glass and nails upon highways, and the establishment of a permanent legal committee by the club were passed. The resolutions, as finally passed and recorded officially by the secretary, are as follows:

"Resolved, That it is the sentiment of this club that a bill be introduced for passage by the Legislature requiring all vehicles other than those included under the provisions of the motor vehicle law, when using the highways of this State during the period of time between one h aur after sunset and one hour before sunrise, and whenever fog renders it impossible to see a long distance, to carry a lighted lamp showing a white light in all directions if suspended under the body of such vehicle or showing a white light from the front and a red light from the rear to be attached to the left side of the vehicle. That such bill be proposed as an amendment to the present highway law and not to affect in any way the requirements of the present motor vehicle law.

"That it be made a misdemeanor to throw, place or deposit any glass upon the public highways of this State.

"That a legislative committee of five members be appointed annually by the president of this club for the purpose of facilitating the enforcement of the motor vehicle law and to advance all measures suggested for the advancement by statutory provisions of the interest of and protection to automobilists in general in this State and for the better protection, improvement and building of highways in this State.

"That the department of motor vehicle registration and regulation issue and furnish the number tag required by the motor vehicle law, and that all such tags be of uniform size and design.

"That the corps of inspectors of the department of motor vehicle registration and regulation, acting under the provisions of the motor vehicle law, be increased to twenty members.

"Resolved, That all automobilists who are regularly registered in their native states shall have the right, by application to the federal government, to a certificate that will give them the right to pass through any State in the Union."

THE SALOON PROBLEM SOLVED.

The Newark Evening News gives Plainfield credit for solving the saloon question and deservingly so. As has been repeatedly stated in these columns, Plainfield arrived at a satisfactory solution of the problem long before a Bishops bill was ever dreamed of; in fact the principal features of that meritorious law have been in force here for years. In commenting on the subject, the Newark paper says:

"The city of Plainfield has been exploited again and again, with reference to its management of saloons, yet each year brings to the front new reasons for making further comments upon the same topic. At the March meeting of the Plainfield Council, it is now probable, there will be no new applications whatever for saloon licenses. Twelve men who have been granted licenses for the past fifteen or twenty years have applied for renewals and will be granted them. There are no remonstrances against them, no complaints by the police, they have kept decent, orderly, all-abiding places and they will be permitted to continue in business upon payment of the license feet of $1,000 each. Since 1897 the number of hotels and saloons in Plainfield has been reduced from seventeen to twelve and the fees have been increased from $700 to $1,000. The Plainfield Council has come to the conclusion that twelve drinking places are enough for the city, and those who might have some inclination to open new places have about made up their minds that it is not worth while to apply for new licenses. Certainly Plainfield seems to have solved the saloon question, even if it has not solved the liquor question."

CHERRY TREE SOCIAL AT PARK AVE. BAPTIST CHURCH.

Washington's Birthday Observed by Rev. A. E. Finn's Flock In Fitting Way.

At the Park Avenue Baptist church a "Cherry Tree Social" was held on Thursday night. It was arranged in honor of George E. Hall, superintendent of the Sunday-school, whose birthday anniversary occurred yesterday, by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Finn's Bible classes, but Mr. Hall was detained at home by illness. There was a presentation of a birthday cake to Mr. Hall, it being received by Mr. Finn as proxy. The cake was brought in by Mabel Stutsman and Gordon Moy dressed as George and Martha Washington, and G. W. V. Moy made the presentation. The cake was taken to Mr. Hall's home yesterday.

The programme, under the direction of Harry C. Runyon, as bandmaster, was greatly enjoyed. It was as follows: Selection by orchestra, meeting of ole time sinin' school chorus, Sound the Loud Timbrel; recitation, Mrs. Charles Steiner; chorus, Strike the Cymbal; solo and chorus, Cousin Jedediah, Miss Alma Runyon; recitation, Aunty Doleful's Visit, Mrs. Herbert Henry; solo, Grandma's Advice," Miss Cora Brokaw; selection, mock orchestra; recitation, A Surprise," G. W. V. Moy; chorus, Red, White and Blue; selection, orchestra; distribution of hatchets.

The mock orchestra furnished lots of fun. About thirty young people dressed in old-time costume appeared playing all sorts of instruments and while the harmony was not always the best, there was plenty of music that delighted all. Another feature was the fireworks. These were furnished by paper novelties and all sorts of pretty figures were displayed, carrying out the patriotic idea.

After the entertainment there was a social hour and ice cream and cake were served.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Boman, of Putnam avenue, are spending a few weeks in Europe.

By Tom Muir.

Elaborate preparations are being made by William A. Brady and Jos. R. Grismer for the celebration of the one hundredth performance in New York of "The Man of the Hour," which takes place at the Savoy theatre, Monday, Feb. 25th. The record of the Broadhurst play it no less remarkable than the play itself which has been pronounced by the most eminent reviewers of dramatic subjects to be by all odds the best play of the season. "The Man of the Hour" is destined, it is believed, to have a longer run than any other piece produced in the past decade. That prediction is based upon the extraordinary interest which has centered in this play since its initial presentation. "The Man of the Hour" has to an unusual degree a combination of a live and interesting subject treated in a masterly manner by an experienced playwright, and enacted by a company of superior entertainers and wide capabilities.

"The Belle of Mayfair" has taken such a hold upon New York City that it has been decided to retain the dainty musical attraction at Daly's theatre until the end of the season. Preparations are now under way to transfer it to another Broadway house at the expiration of the Daly estate lease of this historical theatre. As soon as "The White Chrysanthemum" is launched Thomas W. Ryley who is responsible in a great measure for the success of "The Belle of Mayfair" in this country, will make his annual trip to London and Paris to see new productions of which he has options for the American and Canadian rights.

Of the illuminated theatre signs that grace Broadway there is perhaps none that shows such originality in design and treatment as that of the electric sign over the entrance at Daly's theatre. In a huge frame giving the title of the play as well as the principal members of the cast, all in electric letters, there is surmounted on either end a huge bell made of electric lights as is also the clapper which comes up to the rim, and as it does, the harmonious strike of the bell is heard producing the effect as though the lighted glass clapper produced the sound. The chimes used in the bells are an exact duplicate of those that are used at St. George's church, West End, Mayfair, London.

PENNSY FLYER PLUNGES INTO RIVER; 20 MISSING.

Cars Jump Over 60-Foot Cliff Into the Water—Passengers Asleep.

Johnstown, Pa., Feb. 23.—Train No. 29, the eighteen-hour flyer from New York to Chicago on the Pennsylvania line, jumped the track on a curve near South Fork just before midnight this morning, and three sleepers plunged over a sixty-foot cliff into the Conemaugh River.

There were fifty-four passengers in the three coaches, and not one of them escaped injury. Eight of them are said to be mortally hurt and twenty-nine others seriously. Twenty are said to be missing, and are believed to have been killed.

The three coaches that went into the river were quickly submerged. The escape from death of the passengers was miraculous.

Almost all of the passengers were in their berths asleep when the train left the track on a curve. The accident was caused by the dropping of a brake rigging on the combination car next to the engine.

The curve is between South Fork and Minteral Point and is so sharp that engineers fear it.

The train left New York at 3:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and arrived at Altoona one hour late. The engineer was endeavoring to make up this lost time, and was bowling along at seventy miles an hour when he struck the curve.

The train plunged through telephone and telegraph poles, and with a great crash the three sleepers turned completely over and rolled down the embankment, landing on their sides in the water.

A HANDKERCHIEF SOAWER.

Arranged By Miss Bessie Bond for Miss Jessie Stevens.

In honor of Miss Jessie Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick R. Stevens, of Second place, whose marriage to Walter Cahoone, of Watchung avenue, will take place in May, Miss Bessie Bond, of East Front street, gave a handkerchief shower at her home, Thursday afternoon. There were about thirty friends present and Miss Stevens received a handsome collection of handkerchiefs.

A feature of the affair was that each one attending was expected to express their acceptance in rhyme and prizes were given to those composing the best verse. Miss Stevens received first prize and Miss Helen Robins the second prize. After the social features refreshments were served. The decorations in the dining room were very attractive, red being the prevailing color.

William C. Leek will conduct the services at the Hunter Avenue Tabernacle tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. There will be special music.

K. OF P.'S GRAND LODGE PLANS SOMETHING NEW.

General Lodge to Be Composed of Members of Defunct Lodges.

Something entirely new to fraternal orders was discussed by the Grand Lodge of New Jersey, Knights of Pythias, at its annual session, which closed at Trenton Thursday afternoon. The proposition was to take care of members of defunct lodges by placing them in a general lodge, working under a special charter. Owing to the fact that the members of the lodge would come from different sections of the State, it would be practically impossible to hold meetings, and so it was proposed to administer its financial affairs from the office of the grand lodge.

It was argued by many that many members of the new branch would in time seek admission into a regular lodge, and so the membership would be undergoing a steady change. Others claimed the inactive members of defunct lodges would be satisfied, and that, in time, the lodge would have a big membership.

"No matter from what point you view the plan," said one delegate, "it would save to the order all members of defunct lodges, and that is the sole aim of the idea."

The legality of the plan was attacked and a long argument resulted. It was proposed to call the branch "State Lodge No. 200," the right to receive candidates by initiation being denied. Final disposition of the plan was made by adopting a motion to charter the special lodge. It is thought that other fraternal orders will watch with considerable interest the result of the experiment.

No change was made in the amount of per capita tax to be levied. The June tax will be fifteen cents, and the December levy will call for twenty cents. During the coming year the grand lodge will be called upon to pay the supreme lodge about $300 more than last year, the tax levy having been increased two cents.

The appropriation bill was made up of these items: Compensation of grand chancellor, $700; salary of grand master of exchequer, $100; salary of grand keeper of records and seal, $800; office rent of grand lodge, $180; supreme lodge per capita tax, $1,000; printing for grand lodge, $900; supplies, $300; expenses of vice-chancellor, $200; expenses of grand record keeper, $200; expenses of grand master of exchequer, $50; expenses of grand tribune, $100; incidentals, $200; total, $4,730.

One Good Act.

The children's moving picture show at the Y. M. C. A. attracted a large house yesterday afternoon. The pictures were the poorest D. W. Robert son has ever shown here, and a so-called comedy team created agony, but Robin, the grotesque juggler, was as good as he vaudeville stage affords. He was so good as to make the rest of the show forgiveable.

Second Lented Recital.

The second free Lenten recital will be given at the Church of the Holy Cross, this afternoon at 4 o'clock, by F. Clinton Lee, assistant organist of Trinity chapel, New York city. He will be assisted by Miss Leila Druse, soprano, of the First Baptist church choir.

Benefit for Joseph Jones.

For the benefit of Joseph H. Jones, a graduate of the Plainfield High School, class '06, and a student at Oberlin College, a vaudeville concert was given at Bethel chapel last night by the Vivtor talking machine. It is believed that $200 will be realized.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Keith & Proctor's Shows.

Recent important happenings in vaudeville have again brought the seven Keith & Proctor houses in Manhattan and Jersey City before the public in a most prominent way. In the new alliance of Percy G. Williams and Oscar Hammerstein with the booking offices of B. F. Keith has evolved one immense clearing house for the vaudeville performers who are now enabled to negotiate contracts through the United Booking Offices of America for a term of years instead of weeks as heretofore. Coincidental with the publication of the union for booking purposes only of Williams & Hammerstein with Keith and Proctor came the announcements of a direct transfer of policy in the entertainments at Keith & Proctor's uptown houses. Beginning with the usual matinees on Monday, February 25, Keith & Proctor's stock company, which for several years past has won an enviable success at the 125th Street theatre between Park and Lexington avenues, will open at the Harlem Opera House on West 125th street, near Seventh avenue and make its permanent home there hereafter and continue the presentation of the great dramatic successes of the season as heretofore. The popular favorites of the stock, including Miss Morgan, Mr. McAllister, Miss Scott, Mr. Norton, Mr. Hanley, Mr. Hill, Miss Deshan, Miss Randolph, r. Howell, and Barry O'Neil, the stage director with others will all be moved in this transfer and the same identical policy of stock plays and vaudeville at the same popular prices will prevail. For the future the home of Harlem's favorite stock company will be at the Harlem Opera House instead of at the 125th Street theatre. When the stock policy begins next week at the Harlem Opera House, the transfer of Keith & Proctor's all star vaudeville, which has been so successfully conducted at the Harlem Opera House, will be made at the East 125th Street theatre and the same big high-class Harlem Opera House shows will find an abiding place in the new environment further East on 125th street, which has been the scene of so many dramatic triumphs of the stock company. In this complete exchange and transference of policies between the Harlem Opera House and the 125th Street theatre, uptown patrons of Keith & Proctor's have expressed genuine pleasure. The admirers of the stock company are delighted to know their favorites are to be housed hereafter in the spacious opera house and the great legion of vaudeville devotees welcome the presentation of all star vaudeville in the 125th Street theatre with special fervor.

The triumph of Miss Frances Starr in "The Rose of the Rancho," the new Belasco-Tully drama which is crowding the Belasco theatre to its doors at every performance, is still the talk of the town. Never has the success of an individual artist, hitherto comparatively unknown, been more emphatic or genuine. It is not the sudden outburst of a clever young girl who has merely hit the right opportunity, but the substantial, enduring, unqualified triumph which always is the reward of definite and deserving genius. Under the sure but gentle guidance of Mr. Belasco, Miss Starr has been brought to that point of excellence in her art which places her at once among the most applauded artists, and carries the fame of her fine achievement to every household through the country. Her personality and work seem to appeal with particular earnestness to the ladies; for, while every night at the Belasco sees the house entirely sold out, the rush at the matinees has been necessary to close the dors long before 2 o'clock and refuse the further sale of tickets.

Philosophy of "The Man of the Hour."

Horrigan (the Political Boss)—"It's best to keep them judges on the anxious seat—it teaches 'em their place!"

"The man who desn't 'graft' hasn't the chance—or he's a fool."

Gibbs—"The people have the votes, you know."

Horrigan—"Yes, they vote—but we count."

Ald. Phelan (after he had defeated his old enemy, Horrigan) "Yes, Horigan's a game bird—but he flies funny."

The Mayor—"When it comes to following the styles the men are just as bad as the women."

Dallas (his fiancee)—"They are, but you are the first man who ever acknowledged it."

It's a wise playwright who recognizes his own play after the manager, stage manager and star have taken a fall out of it.

This "government by injunction" habit has spread to the stage. A Pittsburg authoress threatened proceedings to prevent mutilation of her play by a star, and a New York playwright followed suit with effective results—another proof of "commercialism of the drama."

Briggs—"What's the difference between a show girl with a pale blue voice and a comic opera prima donna? (average type)."

Jiggs—"A large sum of money."

"An uncommonly good play and an excellent performance, made 'Clothes,' as presented by Grace George and company, at the Illinois a source of genuine enjoyment." W. L. Hubbard in the Chicago Tribune.

Otto Fenn, one of the fishermen of "Neptune's Daughter" at the New York Hippodrome, dived into the water tank one afternoon last week with such force that he went to the bottom of the tank. He is an expert swimmer and always swims under water with his eyes open. The water was remarkably clear owing to the great illumination overhead, and near the bottom of the tank, nine feet below the surface, Mr. Fenn saw a large mud turtle. The turtle tried to escape him, but Mr. Fenn chased it and grabbed it with one hand. Then he came up to the surface and proudly exhibited his catch. The mud turtle is now an honored guest in his dressing room at the Hippodrome, and will be promptly adopted into the Hippodrome menagerie. The turtle is five inches long, and is believed to have been a resident of the water tank since it was an infant, having entered through the water main when it was very small.

Hippodrome—Neptune's Daughter, Pioneer Days and European Circus Specialties. In "Neptune's Daughter," twenty-five people disappear in real water. The most gorgeous ballet ever seen. "Pioneer Days" is a great western spectacle.

Lyric Theatre—Mr. Sothern and Miss Marlowe for week of February 25, Monday "Jeanne d'Arc," Tuesday, "Twelfth Night;" Wednesday, "Hamlet;" Thursday and Friday, "Romeo and Juliet;" Saturday matinee, "Jeanne d'Arc," Saturday night, "Hamlet."

Princess—Margaret Anglin and Henry Miller in William Vaughn Moody's "The Great Divide."

Casino Theatre—Louis Mann in Roderick C. Penfield and Gustave Kerker's musical comedy, "The Girl From Vienna."

Majestic Theatre—Henry Miller will present a military drama by Louis E. Shipman, "On Parole."

Lew Fields' Herald Square Theatre—Evelyn Greenleaf Sutherland and Beulah M. Dix's play, "The Road to Yesterday," with Minnie Dupree, opened at Lew Fields' Herald Square theatre on New Year's Eve.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

TenEyck & Harris, the coal dealers, are always ready to sell you the best coal at lowest prices. Give the firm your next order.

The best way to save your earnings is to place them in the Plainfield Savings Bank. They will be absolutely safe and besides you will get liberal interest on your deposits.

One of the most useful things in the world is a watch that keeps perfect time. If you want such a one go to Charles E. Vail's jewelry store on Park avenue. Prices right.

Dudley S. Miller, the Park avenue druggist, has just the kind of medicine that will cure all kinds of ills and pains. His stock of drugs and medicines is large, also toilet articles.

Trade with S. Scheuer & Co., of West Front street, if you want to be sure of getting the highest grade groceries and meats. This firm prides itself on selling only one grade and the prices are very reasonable. Fruits and vegetables also to be had and deliveries promptly made to all parts of the city and vicinity.

GIVING A DINNER.

Hints For the Hostess Who Wishes to Be Up to Date.

Either six or eight is a good number to have at dinner, eight if you play cards afterward.

Have a distinct color scheme and have your candles and flowers match.

The name cards at each place can be painted the same tint or tied with ribbon.

Fancy sets for each course are the order of the day. The same dinner service is not used throughout.

Oyster cocktails are pretty served in china tomatoes on china green leaf plates.

The salad is served on lettuce leaf plates.

Ramequins are very elaborate, and fish baked in these is best for the fish course, and there is no odor in preparing it. Ramequins also may be used for creamed sweetbreads or mushrooms.

After dinner coffee cups should be very gay in design. They may all be different or else fit in with the general color scheme or else match the handsome dessert plates.

Glass single candlesticks with the old fashioned drops have come in again.

Tall compotes filled with gay bonbons are a necessity.

Gold marked glassware and small dishes are very smart.

The latest is to serve after dinner coffee in the drawing room. English fashion, around the open fire.—Natalie Emerson.

Commissioner Brown's Work.

Our Board of Commissioners was exceedingly fortunate in its unanimous choice of Commissioner Durling as the head of the Police Department. He succeeds Commissioner Brown, who has removed to North Plainfield. The latter gentleman is entitled to no small degree of praise for his services as a Commissioner—much more than some people were willing to credit him with. Mr. Darling's former experience assures our citizens of admirable conduct of the department.—Somerville Somerset Messenger.

AUTHOR OF "THE MAIN CHANCE," "ZELDA DANEFORD," ETC.

COPYRIGHT 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

"Morgan's a fool. But what is Glenarm doing? He probably doesn't spend much time on this side of the fence—doesn't haunt the chapel, I fancy?"

"Lord, no! I hardly suspect the young gentleman of being a praying man."

"You haven't seen him prowling about the house analyzing the architecture—"

"Not a bit of it, sir! He hasn't, I should say, what his revered grandfather called the analytical mind."

Pickering stamped his feet upon the paved porch floor in a way that I remembered of old. It marked a conclusion, and preluded serious mistakes.

"Now, Bates," he said with a ring of authority and speaking in a louder key than he had yet used, "it's your duty under all circumstances to help discover the hidden assets of the estate. We've got to pluck the mystery from that architectural monster over there, and the time for doing it is short enough. Mr. Glenarm was a rich man. To my own knowledge he had a couple of millions, and he couldn't have spent it all on that house. He reduced his bank account to a few thousand dollars and swept out his safety deposit boxes with a broom before his last trip to Vermont. He didn't die with the stuff in his clothes, did he?"

"Lord bless me, no, sir! There was little enough cash to bury him, with you out of the country and me alone with him."

"He was a crank and I suppose he got a lot of satisfaction out of burying his money. But this hunt for it isn't funny. I supposed of course we'd dig it up before Glenarm got here or I shouldn't have been in such a hurry to send for him. But it's over there somewhere in the grounds. There must be a plan of the house that would help. I'll give you a thousand dollars the day you wire me you have found any sort of clue."

"Thank you, sir."

"I don't want thanks, I want the money or securities, or whatever it is. I've got to go back to my car now, and you'd better skip home. You need't tell your young master that I've been here."

I was trying hard to remember, as I stood there with clenched hands outside the chapel porch, that Arthur Pickering's name was written in the list of directors of one of the largest trust companies in America and that he belonged to the most exclusive clubs in New York. I had come out for my walk with only an inverness over my dinner jacket, and I was thoroughly chilled by the cold mist. I was experiencing, too, an inner cold as I reflected upon the greed and perfidy of man.

"Keep an eye on Morgan," said Pickering.

"Certainly, sir."

"And be careful what you write or wire."

"I'll mind those points, sir. But I'd suggest, if you please, sir—"

"Well?" demanded Pickering impatiently.

"That you should call at the house. It would look rather strange to the young gentleman if you'd come to St. Agatha's and not see him."

"I haven't the slightest errand with him. And besides I haven't time. If he learns that I've been here you may say that my business was with Sister Theresa and that I regretted very much not having the opportunity to call on him."

The irony of this was not lost on Bates, who chuckled softly. He came out into the open and turned away toward the Glenarm gate. Pickering passed me, so near that I might have put out my hand and touched him, and in a moment I heard the carriage drive off rapidly toward the village.

I heard Bates running home over the snow and listened to the clatter of the village hack as it bore Pickering back to Annandale.

Then out of the depths of the chapel porch—out of the depths of time and space, it seemed, so dazed I stood—some one came swiftly toward me, some one light of foot like a woman, ran down the walk a little way into the fog and paused.

An exclamation broke from me.

"Eavesdropping for two!"—it was the voice of Olivia. "I'd take pretty good care of myself if I were you, Squire Glenarm! Good night!"

"Good-by!" I faltered, as she sped away in the mist toward St. Agatha's.

CHAPTER XIV.

The Girl in Gray.

My first thought was to find the crypt door and return through the tunnel before Bates could reach the house. The chapel was open, and by lighting matches I found my way to the map and panel. I slipped through and closed the opening; then ran through the passage with gratitude to the generous builder who had given it a clear floor and an ample roof. In my haste I miscalculated its length, pitching headlong into the steps under the trap beneath Glenarm House at a gait that sent me sprawling. In a moment more I had jammed the trap into place and was running up the cellar steps, breathless, with my cap smashed down over my eyes.

I heard Bates entering at the rear and knew that I had won the race by a scratch. There was but a moment in which to throw my coat and cap under the divan in the library, slap the dust from my clothes and seat my self at the great table where the candles blazed tranquilly.

Bates' step was as steady as ever—there was not the slightest hint of excitement in it—as he came and stood within the door.

"Beg pardon, Mr. Glenarm, did you wish anything, sir?"

"Oh, no, thank you, Bates."

"I had stepped down to the village, sir, to speak to the grocer. The eggs he sent this morning were not quite up to the mark. I warned him not to send any of the storage article to this house."

"That's right, Bates." I folded my arms to hide my hands, which were black from contact with the passage, and faced my man servant. My respect for his rascally powers had increased immensely since he gave me my coffee. A contest with so clever a rogue was worth while.

"I'm grateful for your care of me, Bates. I had expected to perish of discomfort out here, but you are treating me like a lord."

"Thank you, Mr. Glenarm. I do what I can, sir."

He brought fresh candles for the table candelabra, going about with his accustomed noiseless step. I felt a cold chill creep down my spine as he passed behind me on these errands. His transition from the role of conspirator to that of my flawless servant was almost too abrupt.

I dismissed him as quickly as possible, and listened to his step through the halls as he went about locking the doors. The locking-up process had rather bored me before; to-night I listened with interest for every sound.

When I heard Bates clumbing to his own quarters I quietly went the rounds of my own account and found everything as tight as a drum.

I was tired enough to sleep when I went to my room, and after an eventless night woke to a clear day and keener air.

"I'm going to take a little run into the village, Bates," I remarked at breakfast.

"Very good, sir."

"If any should call I'll be back in an hour or so."

"Yes, sir."

Rid Yourself of Unnecessary Burdens—A Plainfield Citizen Shows You How.

Don't bear unnecessary burdens.

Burdens of a bad back are unnecessary.

Get rid of them.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure bad backs;

Cure lame, weak and aching backs;

Cure every form of kidney ills.

Lots of local endorsement to prove this.

Mrs. E. Derflinger, of 219 Mansion place, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Several weeks ago I began to have heavy dull pains in the top and back of my hea. Backache continually clung to me and it seemed to me that my kidneys were weak and gradually breaking down. I also had a tired feeling, with a sort of languor or general depression. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised, and as it was a case of 'any port in a storm,' I got a supply of this medicine at Randolph's pharmacy and before I had taken two boxes of it I found that my kidneys were acting stronger and better and the pains were leaving me. I continued with the treatment and am now able to say that Doan's Kidney Pills have cured me,—at least I am not troubled any more and feel well and strong in every way."

NOTABLES TO SPEAK AT U. P. ALUMNI BANQUET.

The North Jersey Alumni Association of the University of Pennsylvania will have its annual meeting and banquet in the colonial room of the Trenton House, at Trenton, Monday night. Governor Edward C. Stokes will be one of the speakers, as will Judge John G. Horner, of Burlington county, a graduate of Pennsylvania. Dr. James M. Green, principal of the State schools, will speak on the relationship between the preparatory schools and the universities.

The university will be represented by Charles C. Harrison, A. M. LL. D.; Vice Provost Edgar Fahs Smith and Dr. Edward Martin, professor of clinical surgery.

There are nearly 75 graduates of Pennsylvania in Mercer county, and it is expected that most of them will be present, besides many others from the counties north of Mercer, and from Monmouth, Burlington and Ocean counties.

The committee in charge of arrangements consists of Charles H. Dilts, '91, dental; Francis B. Lee, '90, Wharton; Edward S. Hawke, '95, medical; A. E. Boice, '00, dental; William S. Collier, '02, medical; James McGuire, '02, medical; John C. Forsythe, '99, dental, all of Trenton.

The officers of the society are: William H. Parry, '99C., president, Newark; Elbert S. Sherman, '97M., Newark, first vice president; August Lochnberg, '99C., Newark, second vice president; John C. Forsythe, '99D., Trenton, secretary-treasurer.

READY FOR MEETING OF METHODIST CONFERENCE.

Residents of Red Bank Will Entertain the Clergymen of the Body.

Arrangements are completed for the entertainment of the three hundred or more preachers of the New Jersey Methodist Episcopal Conference, which will convene at Red Bank the week beginning March 13. The conference promises to be more interesting than usual on account of the large number of changes that are probable among the ministers of the conference.

The New Jersey Conference extends from the Raritan river to Cape May and from the Delaware river to the ocean. There are about 250 ministers in that district and the probationers and visiting clergymen will bring the total number up to 300. Bishop Henry W. Warren, of Denver, will preside.

The ministers will be entertained at the homes in Red Bank. The committee met last night and assigned the preachers to the various homes. The entertaining church will be the First Methodist and conference anniversaries and similar services will be held in Grace Methodist. Rev. Alfred Wagg, pastor of the First Methodist church, is chairman of the committee and George A. Longstreet is the secretary.

UNWRITTEN LAW IS NOT GOOD IN JERSEY.

William Griggs was convicted in Mercer Court this week at Trenton on a charge of assault and battery on William Bowers, a groceryman, at the corner of Prospect street and Pennington avenue in that city.

Bowers claimed that Griggs came into his grocery store at Prospect street and Pennington avenue, and accused him of interfering with his wife. Bowers denied the accusation and told Griggs if he did not get out of the store he would throw him out. Bowers said that Griggs then made an assault on him, choking him.

The defense claimed justification in defending the good name of his wife, but Judge Reilstab reminded Messrs. Hunt and Kafes, who represented Griggs, that the unwritten law does not go in New Jersey. William R. Piper conducted the prosecution.

HROMODKO'S DIPLOMAS WORTHLESS IN JERSEY.

Frank J. Hromodko, who was convicted early in the term for practicing medicine without a license, was sentenced this week by Judge Reilstab at Trenton to pay a fine of $50 and the costs of prosecution.

Hromodko is the man who was doing a great business among the Polish people in Trenton until some of the doctors who were called in to treat cases where Hromodko's efforts had failed. The physicians had the matter investigated, which resulted in the arrest and indictment and subsequent conviction of Hromodko.

Hromodko had a number of diplomas from foreign colleges, but he had never taken the State examination here and was, therefore, acting unlawfully.

MARCH 9 THE DATE FOR MAIN STEM TAX FIGHT.

By special arrangement made with the Supreme Court the certiorari proceedings instituted by the railroads to test the validity of the Perkins main stem tax act of last winter will be argued in Newark March 9. It will be heard by the main branch of the Supreme Court, consisting of Justices Fort, Pitney and Hendrickson.

The State will be represented by Attorney General McCarter, assisted by former Supreme Court Justice Bennett VanSyckle, of Trenton, and John R. Hardin, of Newark.

Collins and Corbin will be present for the railroads.

PLAINFIELD WON THE DUAL ATHLETIC MEET

BURGESS WAS THE STAR PERFORMER; CLINCHED THE TROPHY FOR LOCALS.

Plainfield won the dual Y. M. C. A. athletic meet from Passaic at the Association gymnasium Thursday night. The winners got three firsts in the five events. They made a clean sweep of the potato race and clinched the meet.

Burgess was the star of the contest. His splendid work gave Plainfield the premier place, and he showed a brand of pluck that makes him worthy of all the cordial things that are said of his performance. His battle with Grubb in the high dive was heroic. Grubb held the event in the hollow his hand, but Burgess clung to him pluckily and fell down at the 5 feet 9 inch dive after gallant attempts at a mark that was hopelessly beyond him. He went over the 5 feet 8 inch raise wholly on his nerve.

The events:

Standing broad jump—Burgess, 9 feet 5 inches; Grubb, 9 feet 3½ inches; Adelson, 9 feet 2 inches.

Shot put—Leonard, 37 feet, 9¾ inches; Collier, 34 feet 8 inches; Collins, 33 feet 5¼ inches.

Running high jump—Burgess, 5 feet 1 inch; Grubb, 5 feet 1 inch; Odell, 4 feet 11 inches.

High dive—Grubb, 5 feet 9 inches; Burgess, 5 feet 8 inches; Stutsman, 5 feet 4 inches.

Potato race—Collins, first; Douglass, second; Templin, third; time, (Douglass) 58 seconds; 250 yards.

Officials—Referee, E. B. Barnes, A. L. N. A.; judges, F. H. Baker, Passaic; J. Hemlock, Passaic; Harry Scull, Plainfield; G. L. Listman, Plainfield.

The Plainfield team gets a silver cup. The individual winners received badges after the meet. The Passaic team and the officials were entertained at supper.

PARKS WIN FIVE GAMES OUT OF SEVEN AT ELIZABETH.

New Series Arranged Between Crack Bowlers of Central Journal League Beginning March 1.

F. O. Ball and William Barlow, of the Park Club bowling team, rolled a return match with West and Howe on the Elizabeth Club alleys, last night. The Park team won five out of seven games, making a total of eleven out of fourteen games in both series. Another series has been arranged and the first match will be rolled Friday night, March 1, on the Park Club alleys. Last night's scores follow:

AT THE TRAPS.

A large number of shooting enthusiasts witnessed several good matches at Tom Brantingham's clubhouse on Park avenue, Thursday afternoon. Brantingham was beaten twice, the first time by Forman Bissett, of South river, who won out by three birds in a match of 100. The second defeat was at the hands of John Belloff, of New Brunswick, who beat his opponent five birds in a race of 100, though Brantingham gave him a handicap of ten. "Jim" Duane, of Metuchen, was defeated by Peter Lott, of Dark Lane, three birds out of twenty-five.

Two other matches will take place at the clubhouse on March 7. Belloff will shoot S. A. Sabbacher 100 birds for $25 a side, and a team shoot will be held between Brantingham and Roochetti and Bissett and Belloff, fifty birds at $5 a corner.

BASKETBALL.

The girls' basketball team of the Stillman Grammar School defeated the girls' team of the Westfield High School on the Plainfield High School floor, Thursday afternoon, by a score of 32 to 4. A feature of the game was the playing of Kathryn Sminck. She threw all of the goals, sixteen, for the local team, and played a strong game throughout. The Plainfield lineup follows: Forwards—Kathryn Sminck, Ruth Wean; center, Adele vonBrakle; guards, Ruth Mahaffey, Anna Johnson.

EX-REP. JOHN T. DUNN HAS PASSED AWAY

SERVED TERM IN CONGRESS FROM OLD EIGHTH DISTRICT.

Former Congressman John T. Dunn died at the Alexian Hospital, at Elizabeth, at noon yesterday. He was in his 69th year. He had been a sufferer from kidney trouble for several years. He leaves a widow and one daughter, who is the wife of Lawyer John F. Brown.

John T. Dunn was born in Tipperary, Ireland, in 1838, and came to this country with his parents. He came to New Jersey in 1845. The story of his life is one of extraordinary interest. He was self-educated, and although in the latter years of his life a lawyer by profession and at one time a representative of the people in the halls of Congress, he started in life at the age of seven years as a farm boy in this State. Tiring of this he, at the age of eleven, shipped at Atlantic City as a cabin boy on a trading vessel bound for the West Indies. For two years he followed the fortunes of the sailorman and then turned up at Gloucester City, where he secured employment as a bobbin boy in a mill. He next turned his attention to iron molding and some time afterward tried his hand at brass turning and as a silver burnisher at Frankford, Pa. He subsequently served his time as a house painter and followed that business for a number of years.

He manifested about this time a deep interest in politics and spoke at Norwich, Conn., during the D ouglass campaign on the same platform with the "Little Giant." He was elected councilman in Elizabeth in 1878 and again in 1891. He served as a member of the Assembly from Union county in 1878, '78, '80, '81 and '82, being the Speaker of the House during the latter term. In 1892 he was elected to Congress from the old Eighth district, over Winfield S. Chamberlain, Republican, of Bayonne, by a majority of 993.

In the contest for the Democratic nomination for Congress he was opposed by James E. Martine and for a time the contest was a warm one and Martine was confident of success. Martine assured his friends of his own triumph up to the last moment. But Dunn had the votes.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of Hope chapel will meet in the Sunday-school rooms Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Rally day exercises will be held at the Ebenezer Baptist church tomorrow night, under the auspices of the Willing Workers Society.

Rev. L. R. Howard will preach the second of his Lenten series of sermons at Hope chapel tomorrow night. The subject will be "Betting and Gambling."

The Men's Association of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will attend divine worship in the church tomorrow night in a body. The members will assemble in Epworth House at 7:30 and the services will begin at 8 o'clock.

Rev. Dr. C. S. Morris, pastor of the Abyssinian Baptist church, New York, will preach at the Mt. Olive Baptist church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock in exchange with the pastor, Rev. M. A. Alexander. They will occupy their own pulpits in the evening.

Miss Julia G. Shinn, principal of a boarding school for girls at Rangoon, Burma, will speak at the Chrustian Endeavor Society meeting at Faith chapel tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. Miss Shinn left Plainfield seven years ago to engage in missionary work and she will describe interesting incidents in connection with it.

Boat Club's Annual Dinner.

The Wanamassa Boat Club held its fifth annual dinner at the Hotel Churchill, New York, last night. It was attended by twenty-five members from New York, Brooklyn, Jersey City, Elizabeth and other places. The Plainfielders who attended were Percy Phillips, Den J. Galbraith, G. Harold Whitney, Arthur Aalholm, Richard Randolph, William Pope, Wilburt Bentliff, Fred A. Martin and E. C. Hardingham.

A Mother Goose Bazaar.

The Ladies' Aid Society of Grace M. E. church conducted a "Mother Goose" bazaar and entertainment in the church Thursday and last nights. The various booths represented Mother Goose happenings and the attendants wore appropriate costume. Large attendances were present on both nights and the society netted a substantial amount for church work.

Surprise for Miss Richter.

Thirty friends of Miss Ernestine Richter, of Pearl street, tendered her a surprise party at her home last night, a feature of the evening's enjoyment was various games in which prizes were won by Miss Carrie Beiter and Miss Richter. Music and dancing were also enjoyed and refreshments were served at a late hour.

Star Course Show Good.

The programme presented by the Mendelssohn Concert Company at the Y. M. C. A. Star Course last night was vastly enjoyed by a good sized audience. The songs were admirably sung, and the reader, Mrs. Alkire, was excellent.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Annie Odiorne.

Mrs. Annie Munnelle Odiorne, daughter of the late Dr. William Munnelle, and wife of George F. Odiorne, died this morning at 5 o'clock at her home, 514 Madison avenue, from paralysis, following an attack of Bright's disease. She suffered a slight stroke before Christmas. On Thursday night, while her husband was reading the Bible to her, she was stricken again. She is survived by a husband and a sister, Mrs. Frank Willett Runyon. The funeral services will be held from the late home Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be at the convenience of the family.

COMMITTEES OF THE Y. M. C. A. CONVENTION.

AUSTIN BOY FREED.

Orel Victorson is Recovering and Mrs. Austin Will Pay Doctor.

Assured by a physician that Orel Victorson, the boy who lay unconscious for nine hours after a knockdown blow from 10-year-old Matthew Austin, colored, would be all right in a day or two, City Judge Runyon discharged the colored lad from custody Thursday afternoon.

The boy's hearing was brief. Mrs. Victorson said she did not want to see Matthew punished and would be willing to drop the case if the doctor's bill was paid. Mrs. Austin lost no time in offering to pay it, and the understanding that she meet all the medical expense was made part of the disposition of the case.

Dr. C. A. Gesswein is attending the Victorson boy. He expects to have him as well as he ever was within three days.

THIRTY YEARS FOR AHL.

Wife-Slayer Will Be Taken to Trenton State Prison on Monday.

Jersey City, Feb. 23.—Herman A. Ahl, who was convicted of murder in the second degree last week before Judge John A. Blair in the Hudson Court of Oyer and Terminer, was sentenced Thursday to serve a term of thirty years in State Prison.

Last June Ahl quarreled with his wife, and the result of the argument was that he whipped out a razor and cut her throat almost from ear to ear. He will be taken to Trenton Monday morning.

Former Postmaster Badly Hurt.

Califon, Feb. 23.—Former Postmaster Manches H. Hann is in a serious condition at his home at Pleasant Grove. He suffers a broken shoulder, a badly cut face and internal injuries. Mr. Hann was riding a horse and leading another Thursday night, when the equines became unmanageable. The animal he was riding bolted and ran under a stay wire of a telephone pole. The wire cut a severe gash in the man's face and he was pulled from the back of the animal. In falling his left shoulder was broken and he suffered internal injuries. He was removed to his home nearby and Dr. M. S. Simpson, of Middle Valley, dressed the injuries and set the dislocated member.

To Be Foreign Manager.

BAD TIME FOR A RAISE

State Superintendent Baxter Warns School Board to Figure Closely.

R. R. TAX IS UNCERTAIN

Shouldn't Be Counted Upon, He Says, and Figuring On Certainties Boards Should Make Bigger Budgets.

In a circular letter to all the school boards of the State, Charles J. Baxter, State superintendent of public instruction, has warned the governing bodies of all the school districts to be careful of their estimates of moneys to be received from the local taxpayers, and the amount to come from the State apportionment. The warning of the especial interest to Plainfield because the school board has just voted to raise salaries.

Mr. Baxter advises the boards to ask for more money in their budget, instead of less, because the only increase they can count upon, that growing out of the large amount of ratables, will be over-balanced by enlarged expenditures.

He says:

"This increase will not be sufficient to make adequate provision for the unusual outlay that will be required for the ensuing school year. Our rapid growth in population, the general tendency toward higher educational standards and the greater demand for well-equipped teachers, together with the necessity of increasing their salaries, will make a material and inevitable increase in 'current expenses.' Therefore, to provide against financial embarrassment and possible detriment to our schools, it will be necessary for boards of education and boards of school estimate to assign the items of this year's budget a larger total sum than was appropriated one year ago."

Especially vehement warning is given against counting upon the railroad tax money, the payment of which is being contested in the courts.

"Though the amount due from the said increase in railroad tax has been apportioned among the several counties," says the circular, "and, as provided by law, will be sub-apportioned among the school districts, it has not been collected. As you are undoubtedly aware, the allied railroads have paid the former tax of one-half of one per cent. into the State treasury and propose to contest, on the ground of unconstitutionality, the payment of all direct tax upon main stem property. How long this will take and the ultimate result are matters entirely problematical. We believe, however, that because of the said contest, the much needed fruition of the Acts of 1906 is almost certain to be delayed.

"At no time in the past have you permitted any portion of the support of your schools to be precarious, and you are not justified in taking such risk now. Therefore, in making provision for the school year of 1907-1908, boards of education and boards of school estimate should not take into account the amount apportioned from railroad tax. An apportionment whose validity is contingent upon the outcome of a contest in the courts is not an appropriation, and contracts for the ensuing year cannot be made in anticipation of funds whose availability is not assured.

"It is greatly to be regretted that many who are regarded as worthy citizens and as good friends of the schools, either fail to appreciate the magnitude of our school system or are sadly misinformed as to the amount expected from the railroads. Said amount, when received, will not, as has been asserted, be sufficient 'to wipe out the district school tax,' or 'provide boards of education with an embarrassment of school funds.' These are not simply harmless day dreams, but obstructive and mischievous delusions. Those who indulge them and give them currency are doing much to create an unfortunate public sentiment, to stimulate false hopes and to embarrass those intrusted with the responsibilities of school administration."

Whether or not the Plainfield board counted on the railroad money in ordering the raise in salaries could not be learned today, for everybody connected with the board, excepting President Probasco, was out of town, and the president was not at home. If the board was figuring on that money the circular will disturb the members mightly.

Something to add to the disturbance is brewing now. The State board is said to have prepared an order asking Union county to pay $200,000 State school tax this year, which is exactly $102,000 more than last year. The school tax rate a year ago was 9.8 points; the new rate may be 20 points.

HIS DEATH MYSTERIOUS

Body of Rev. Dr. Burr, a Former Plainfielder, Found on Railroad Tracks.

BELIEVED ACCIDENTAL

Graduate of Plainfield High School and Son of Late Stephen Burr—A Brilliant Man.

The mutilated and dismembered body of Rev. Dr. Everett T. Burr, a former resident of this city, was found yesterday lying beside the eastbound tracks of the Boston and Albany division of the New York Central, near the Sumner street bridge, Westboro, Mass. The body was discovered by the crew of a Worcester bound freight train. Dr. Burr's home was at Newton Centre, Mass. He spent his boyhood days here, attended the Plainfield High School, from which he was graduated. His father which he was graduated in 1876. His father, Stephen H. Burr, was for several years superintendent of the First Baptist church Sunday-school.

During the past few months Dr. Burr had been engaged in visiting various Baptist churches in the interest of the reform movement in behalf of the Congo Free State and he spoke at the First Baptist church here on the first Sunday in December last.

Dr. Burr left his home at Newton Centre Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock without informing his family as to his destination. Earlier in the day he received a telegram from a friend in New York, and it was supposed that he was on his way to that city in response to it. He had been suffering from a severe attack of grip, and had not fully recovered. It is the opinion of his friends that he was suddenly attacked by dizziness while passing from one car to another on one of the New York trains and fell to the tracks. It was a matter of surprise that both Dr. Burr's watch and purse were missing when the body was found. The watch was a valuable one and it was known that the purse contained between $50 and $100.

In the opinion of Medical Examiner Charles S. Knight, of Westboro, who viewed the body, death was due to accident. He said that the victim had undoubtedly fallen from a moving train while passing from one car to another; that his clothing had been caught by some p ortion of the train and the body dragged over the ties for about 400 feet, the blood on the sleepers indicating that the body had been dragged that distance.

Papers and a memorandum book found in the clothing disclosed the identity of the victim. No hat or coat was found. The body was frozen, showing that it had been beside the track for a number of hours. The memorandum book contained a number of preaching dates, and showed that Dr. Burr had spoken at Cleveland last week and later in New York city.

Dr. Burr was one of the best known clergymen of the Baptist denomination in Massachusetts. He was an alumnus of Brown University at Providence and Crozier Theological Seminary at Chester, Pa. He attended Yale for a time prior to going to Brown and was for a short period a student at Rochester Theological Seminary before going to Crozier. For several years he was pastor of the Ruggles Street Baptist church, Boston, one of the wealthiest in that part of the country. Six years ago he declined a nunanimous call to John D. Rockefeller's church in New York. He was forty-five years old and a wife and two children survive him.

"Washington" Supper.

The women of the First Baptist church of New Market held a successful "Washington" supper at Friendship Hall Friday night. Covers for 200 were laid. Three large tables were handsomely decorated with bunting and flowers. A. G. Nelson, dressed as George Washington, and Mrs. W. J. Nelson, costumed as Martha Washington, received the guests. Souvenir hatchets were distributed. Mrs. Harry Piddington was chairman of the committee in charge.

Broke Arm in Fall.

While on her way to Hope chapel Sunday-school, yesterday afternoon, Mrs. Edward Fluck, of West Fifth street, slipped on a snow-covered patch of ice and fell heavily. She broke her arm and sustained several bad bruises. She was assisted home and a physician was called to attend her.

Mr. Dolliver's Cousin Dead.

Victor B. Dolliver, forty-six years old, a brother of Senator Dolliver, of Iowa, and a cousin of G. Q. Dolliver, of North Plainfield, was found dead in bed at his home in Fort Dodge, Ia., last evening. He retired last night apparently in good health. An inquest will be held today.

BIG DEVELOPMENT SCHEME

Option Obtained by Local Men at Watchung and Surrounding Countryside.

TO ERECT COTTAGES

Handsome Country Places to Be Built On Slope of Watchung Mountain—Trolley to Be Extended.

There is much more in store for Watchung and the surrounding countryside in the way of improvement besides a big artificial ice lake. It has been learned that the lake, plans for the digging of which by a company of capitalists, were made public exclusively in the Daily Press Saturday, is only one step in the development of the district.

Convinced that the Watchung district has a splendid future as a location for all-the-year-round and summer residences, real estate investors of this city and other places nearby have secured options on many hundreds of acres in the mountain neighborhood. The ice company holds 400 acres suitable for building purposes. It is the general idea of the men interested in the development of the district to put model villas, bungalows, cottages and more elaborate country places all along the slope of the mountain, upon the mountain top and in the valley beyond. The land holdings making such operations possible have been brought within the reach of the men working on the scheme.

The aspect of the country will not be changed. The semi-rugged beauty of the locality is its chief asset and it will be conserved. The roads will be macadamized, and the trolley line may be extended to the base of the mountain, but there will be no landscape flippery or puerile "parking."

REV. DR. J. A. CHAMBLISS ASSISTS AT DEDICATION.

Preaches Scholarly Sermon in the New Baptist Church at Rahway Last Night.

Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss, pastor of the First Baptist church, was the principal speaker at the dedication services held in the new Baptist church, Rahway, last night. Despite the bad storm, the recently-built edifice was crowded with worshippers, and all enjoyed the scholarly sermon by the Plainfield divine.

The dedication services began yesterday morning and will continue until Wednesday night. Yesterday morning Rev. Dr. J.E.Vassar, of Elizabeth, preached the sermon and in the afternoon the formal delication took place, when Rev. W. G. Fennell, of Newark, preached the sermon. There was the reading of the church history and dedicatory poem by H. S. Barnes, deacon; dedication hymn, composed by Abram Coles, M. D., LL. Dd., of Newark; responsive dedicatory service, prayer and dedication, hymn and benediction.

The new building is situated at Elm and Esterbrook avenues. Its exterior architecture is pleasing in design. The church will seat 300 and the Sunday-school room has a seating capacity of 200. The two rooms can be thrown into one. The cost of the building was $25,000. Operations were begun in May and the cornerstone was laid in July of last year.

S. P. C. A. BOARD ENLARGED.

Time For the Enrollment of Charter Members Extended.

Final details of organization were completed by the S. P. C. A. this morning at a meeting in W. A. Coddington's law office. The time for the enrollment of charter members was extended to April 1. The executive board was enlarged from five to seven members, and Mr. Coddington, who is counsel for the s ociety, and Mrs. G. W. Bunnell, the treasurer, were placed on the body. Booklets containing the constitution, by-laws, charter and kindred facts will be printed.

The society has engaged in active work in its field. A number of complaints have been attended to satisfactorily. The next meeting will be held on March 25.

Miss Shinn Tells of Her Work.

Miss Julia G. Shinn, a returned missionary from Rangoon, Burmah, who is spending several days in this city as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Batchelor, of West Seventh street, addressed the members of the Baptist church, Roselle, yesterday following the morning service. Last night she spoke at Faith chapel before the Christian Endeavor Society, and tomorrow afternoon she will address the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First Baptist church, and on Wednesday will leave for Philadelphia, where she will remain for several days.

PRIEST DENOUNCES THE DANCE HALLS

FATHER DELEHANTY SPEAKS AT ST. MARY'S ON THEIR EVILS.

Rev. Father Delehanty addressed the congregation at St. Mary's church yesterday morning concerning the practice on the part of some of the parishioners of attending dances at public halls. The priest cautioned the members of his church against following such amusements, particularly during Lent, and urged them to refrain from visiting various halls. He said that he did not approve the practice at any time, and told his people that they were to avoid all appearance of secular amusement during this season of the church year; a time for fasting and prayer.

Father Delehanty also spoke on divorces, declaring them to be one of the crying evils of the day. In seven cities in America in ten years past there were 40,038 decrees granted. He deplored this condition of affairs and told of the terrible effect it is having on American life.

BIG HOME PLANNED FOR FIRST NATIONAL

REPORTED THAT BANK IS NEGOTIATING FOR FINGER PROPERTY.

Keeping pace with the progressive spirit shown by the banking institutions of Plainfield generally, the First National Bank, it is said, is considering an improvement which will make its building one of the ornaments of the city. The plan in question, according to report is nothing less than a scheme to more than double the size of its present accommodations, which in turn will give it unusual facilities for conducting its business.

Negotiations are underway, it is said, for the taking over of the property on Somerset street, near Front, owned by George Finger. The deal will also include the large driveway which like the Finger building runs back of the bank's present structure, having a frontage on Somerset street of about 80 feet. This will give the bank the full depth of the property from Front street back to the raceway and will alow it an entrance on Somerset street.

The plan is said to include the transforming of the present rectangular building into an "L" shapestructure, with entrances on both thoroughfares. This will allow a large lobby and reception space in the Front street entrance and will also give a similarly large space for patrons in the Somerset street entrance. Moreover, the bank will also be able to install more safe deposit vaults and other similar facilities.

The Plainfield Trust Company took the initiative some time ago by erecting what is considered the handsomest banking building in this section of the State. The Plainfield Savings Bank is now remodelling its building and when the improvements are completed it too will have one of the finest buildings in the vicinity.

Miss Leila Druse Assisted.

The second free Lenten recital attracted a large number of worshippers to the Church of the Holy Cross, Saturday afternoon. F. Clinton Lee, assistant organist at Trinity chapel, New York, presided at the organ and he was assisted b Miss Leila Druse, of the First Baptist church, who sang "O Lord Be Merciful," and "The Plains of Peace." Evening prayer followed the recital.

Reginal Roome Injured.

Reginald Roome, of this city, brother of Howard Roome, the star football at Yale, and who is a Yale student, class 1910, received a gash in the back of the head in the First Washington's Birthday fight between Yale freshmen and sophomores. The fight under the new rules went to a finish. Another freshman was blinded by a gash over the eye.

Gave a Heart Party.

Miss Stella Boss, of West Front street, gave a heart party at her home on Friday night, entertaining about thirty guests. V. W. Nash, Jr., won the first prize for the men and Miss Ida Furman the first prize for the women. After the play there was a musical programme, including the singing of patriotic songs. Supper was served at midnight.

Lectures On Commercial Law.

J. Henri Crane, a lawyer, whose office is in the Jeffrey building, Park avenue, has taken charge of a class in commercial law at the Plainfield Business College. He will lecture every Monday morning. There are 100 pupils in the class.

DIED WHILE AT PRAYER

Charles C. Burnett Stricken With Apoplexy While Making His Private Devotions.

FOUND BY HIS WIFE

Indentified With Many Local Lodges—A Jolly, Whole-Souled Citizen—Aged Fifty-two.

Stricken with apoplexy, Charles C. Burnett, one of the best known residents of the city, died suddenly at his home on Madison avenue, sometime late Saturday night. He returned home after spending the evening with friends in town and busied himself about the lower rooms, the members of the family having retired. Mrs. Burnett heard him putting coal on the range and fell asleep shortly afterward. She awoke again at 4 o'clock and then noticed that Mr. Burnett was missing.

Surmising that something was wrong she hurried downstairs and found his body in a recumbent position beside a chair. It had been his custom to kneel in the same spot in prayer every night before retiring and he was evidently doing so when death came upon him. Mrs. Burnett summoned County Physician Westcott, but on his arrival he declared that life had been extinct about four hours.

Mr. Burnett was fifty-two years old and had lived in Plainfield the greater part of his life. He was engaged in the stationery business on Pine street, New York, under the firm name of C. C. Burnett & Co. and the concern is well known in the metropolitan district. Mr. Burnett was one of the organizers of the Alert Hose Company, now exempt, and while it was in existence was one of its most active members. He also belonged to Plainfield Lodge, No. 885, B. P. O. E., Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum; Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., and had taken his first and second degrees in Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M. He was of a particularly sunny disposition and had a host of warm friends.

Mr. Burnett married Miss Claire Force, daughter of the late George Force, who resided for many years on West Second street, and she with two daughters survive him. They are the Misses Claire and Clyde Burnett, both of whom are at home.

The funeral will be held at his late home and will be private. Friends wishing to see the body may call tomorrow morning from 11 until 12 o'clock. Interment will be in Greenwood cemetery.

CHANGES IN THE CHOIR AT FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

Miss Etta Raybert, Soprano Soloist, Resigns, and Miss Nicholl Will Also Leave.

Miss Etta Raybert, who has been the soprano soloist at the First Presbyterian church during the past two years, resigned on Saturday. The resignation will take effect immediately. Yesterday morning Miss Josephine Serrell, of the First Baptist church, filled the position, and in the evening Miss Marie Hortense Sheldon, of Cranford, who has taken leading parts in the amateur productions of the Plainfield Operatic Association, sang.

Miss Sheldon, who at present sings in the Presbyterian church, Cranford, will probably be the soloist at the East Front street church from now on. Another change will be made by the resignation of Miss Nicholl, the contralto, who will leave the church May 1. No one has been secured to take her place, as yet. Clifford A. Braider, the organist, as well as Elmer D. Cutting, tenor, and F. C. Iglehart, Jr., baritone, will continue another year.

Sailing Up the Nile.

The second lecture by Dr. Charles Moldenke, of Watchung, will be given on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in St. Peter's church, Grove street. The subject is "Sailing Up the Nile from Cairo to Thebes." The lecture will be superbly illustrated with lantern slides, many of which were taken by the doctor himself while in Egypt. Dr. Moldenke, who is a well known egyptologist, will also go into the language, customs, and the civilization of both the modern and the ancient Egyptians, and as he is an authority on this subject, it will prove highly interesting to those who attend. The proceeds are for the benefit of the church.

"BLACK HAND" WARNING

Girl Threatened With Harm Unless Guardian Placed Money as Directed.

POLICE AID SOUGHT

Young Woman Mentioned Ill In Bed Through Worriment Over the Notice.

The local police have a "Black Hand" mystery to unravel and since the matter has come beneath their notice have gotten pretty close to the perpetrator. It originated in a letter sent to Dr. A. H. Dundon, of the borough, who is executor of the estate of the late Mrs. Catherine Carney, of Dunellen, and guardian of her two daughters, the Misses Bertha and Catherine Flynn. The message was written in a scrawling hand, badly composed and was embellished with the crosses and death insignia supposed to be used by all dyed-in-the-blood members of the "Black Hand" Federation. This is what it said:

"Dr. Dundon: Put $300 under Grove street bridge February 21, of Bertha Flynn's money or she will be shot or she will be mine. Beware. Black Hand."

Dr. Dundon at first ignored the note but thinking it better to warn the girl's relatives, informed her grandmother, with whom she is living in this city, but gave instructions that Bertha should not hear of the matter. The grandmother became worried and incautionsly told the girl with the result that she was badly frightened. The matter preyed upon her mind so that she became sick and is now confined to her bed in consequence. The physician subsequently gave the letter to Chief Kiely and he and his men are trying to locate the author. They have several good clues and an arrest is likely to occur.

When Mrs. Carney died she named Dr. Dundon as the executor of the estate, which amounts to about $1,800, and he offered the will for probate in the Middlesex county court last December. All the money was left to the two daughters by a previous marriage and Carney filed a caveat. This was released about two weeks ago and the probate was only then carried out. The "Black Hand" letter came shortly afterward.

OCCUPIES FORMER PULPIT.

Rev. Dr. Snodgrass Delivers Excellent Sermons at First M. E.

Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, formerly pastor of the First M. E. church, but now of Perth Amboy, exchanged pulpits yesterday with Rev. A. C. McCrea, and was given a cordial reception. In the morning his theme referred to a Christian walking humbly before God and following Christ. He described the way in which Christians should be humble, that they should be meek and mild and not feel as though they were so much better than anybody else. He impressed upon all the necessity of following Christ and then they would not meet with difficulty in living humble lives. Dr. Snodgrass referred to helpful influences that would aid a person in living a Christian life and gave many valuable suggestions that would be of incalculable value to Christians, if followed.

Stole Osteopathist's Trousers.

Dr. F. F. Wilcox, of Watchung avenue, an osteopathist, is minus three pairs of trousers. Somebody stole them from his home Saturday night, while he and his wife were out. The thief gained entrance into the place through a pantry room window. There was a lot of silver in reach but the thief didn't touch it.

THINKS CHURCH DOOMED

Rev. Phil A. Parsons Declares That Institution Has Fallen to Decay.

ASSIGNS HIS REASONS

"It Smiles Indulgently at the Waywardness of the Young and Reaches Greedily Toward Illicit Profits."

That the church of today is doomed was the somewhat startling opinion advanced by Rev. Phil A. Parsons last night at the Christian church. His subject was "The Passing of the Church," and in the course of his sermon he said:

"A great deal has been said of the little red schoolhouse in connection with our present progress. The building up of our great institutions has been the outcome of its development, yet few have sung the praises of the little white church which usually occupied the opposite corner of the cross roads. The red schoolhouse has developed into the great American school system. The little church has fallen to decay. Nor do we fail to feel and see the results of this education of the head to the neglect of the heart.

Rev. Phil. A. Parsons.

"The two great safeguards of the social system have been removed with the passing of the church; namely, the great moral influence of the church itself and the influence of the Christian home, the product of it. Yesterday the home was the place where men and women were made with a sublime regard for morals and the rights of others. Today it is the place where we recuperate from or prepare for the commercial struggle or gratify our social ambitions. Let us stop for a moment in the mad rush for social position and the making of fortunes and make a few men, they will be needed in the next generation. Instead of bringing up families today we let them grow.

"Nothing is more significant of this man than the present brazen corruption in politics and the acknowledged and shameless immorality of modern business methods. Our courts have become tribunals before which naked corruption gambols unafair, our penitentiaries swarm with petty offenders languishing in barbarous confinement for long periods, while the millionaire criminal perpetrates his outrages unpunished and unrestrained.

"When the murderer of hundreds who kills not with the knife or merciful pistol, but starves or freezes his victims by withholding the necessites of life, is unscathed by the sword of justice, is it any wonder that an outraged populace seizes an occasional offender and hangs him to a nearby tree? Can you, in sober judgement, condemn, when the pendulum of righteous indignation, held so long at one extreme, swings to the other, and the frenzied mob fills the swinging body with bullets? When officials, by their corruption and greed, permit vice and immorality to flourish unrebuked, do you wonder that occasionally an insane Thaw rises up and removes a leprous spot from the face of society? We need to learn that society is responsible for its criminals. The same code of laws that hangs murderers produces them.

"But someone asks, 'Is the church not with us?' It is indeed, but it is but the shell of a once powerful institution functioning for righteousness. The moral influence of the church of fifty, aye twenty-five years ago is gone. The masses no longer hand upon its words or tremble at its mandates. To find the reason for this condition we have not far to seek. It is with regret that we point the accusing finger at the church it-

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

With an auction, which cleaned up the remnants, the three days' fair of Excelsior Hook and Ladder Company was brought to a close Saturday night. The several drawings were held, the lucky winners being Mrs. R. P. Clark on the Uncle Sam sofa cushion, which seemed to be the most popular drawing of the fair, Mrs. Edward L. Hand, who donated it, turning in $52 as proceeds; the phonograph went to Chief William B. Noble; the life size doll went to Freeholder John Robison; the copper vase and fern were won by Andrew Bozark; the umbrella given to the one guessing nearest to the number of beans in the jar was won by Mr. Ranson. William Noble, as auctioneer, sold the balance of the stock. The firemen are quite certain the proceeds will be about $400. Those who assisted in making the affair the success it was outside of Foreman Philip Jahn and his committee were the Misses Edna, Florence and Louise Nichols, and Mrs. Samuel Hollingsworth at the collar and hankerchief booth; Mrs. James Pope and the Misses Klemser, Miller, Elliott, Cook and Demott, who had charge of fancy goods; the clipping table and fish pond in charge of the Misses Robison, Elliott and Mrs. George L. Dunn; also cakes and pastry, Mrs. Edward L. Hand, Mrs. William Reynolds and Miss Eller, as well as the candy booth in charge of Misses Meyer, Misses Emma and Lena Jahn and Mrs. Robert Guttridge. All worked hard and much of the success is due to their efforts.

Owing to the illness of Rev. T. Moore-Smith no evening preaching service was held at the Baptist church last night. At the morning service, Capt. H. B. Saunders made an address. The baptism of the several candidates for church membership was postponed until next Sunday night.

Capt. H. B. Saunders, who has been spending several weeks along the Massachusetts coast in the interest of an insurance company, has returned to his home, "Crow Nest," Washington Valley.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The Junior Society will meet at the Congregational church Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The fourth quarterly conference of the First M. E. church will be held in Vincent chapel Wednesday night, March 6, after prayer meeting.

The Mission Study Class of the Congregational church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock with Mrs. Eugene A. Laing, of Trueli Court.

The Epworth League of the First M. E. church will hold a business and social meeting in Vincent chapel Friday night. This meeting was postponed from last week.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the First M. E. church will meet in Vincent chapel tomorow afternoon at 3 o'clock. The thank-offering will be received.

The annual meeting of the Young Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will be held Friday afternoon. This meeting was postponed from last Friday.

Preparatory services will be held at the Congregational church Wednesday night, and communion services with reception of new members will be held Sunday morning.

There will be communion and reception of new members at the First M. E. church on Sunday morning and in the evening the choir will render West's cantata, "Love and Praise."

An interdenominational meeting for prayer for home missions will be held at the Congregational church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Bates will be in charge of the meeting.

The women of the churches throughout the city have received an invitation to attend a union prayer meeting in the interests of home missions to be held in the Congregational church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The Young People's Association of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will give an entertainment tomorrow night in the chapel, consisting of readings by Mrs. Minnie Marshall-Smith and music by a stringed orchestra.

The Women's Home Missionary Society meeting of the First Baptist church postponed from last week will be held tomorrow afternoon at the usual hour. Miss Julia G. Shinn, who recently returned from India, will speak.

A special offering will be made Sunday morning for the benefit of Abraham Staats, who for twenty-five years or more has faithfully served as organ blower at the First Baptist church. He is now advanced in years, out of health and otherwise incapacitated for work.

Rev. Dr. Henry Stout will be installed as pastor of the Reformed church, South Bound Brook, tonight. Rev. E. J. Meeker, president of the classis, will preside and deliver the charge to the pastor, and Rev. Dr. James LeFevre, of Somerville, will preach the sermon.

The M. E. conference, which has been invited by the official board of the First M. E. church to meet in Plainfield in April, 1908, is the annual conference of New Jersey and not the general conference. The latter body will meet in Baltimore in 1908, the place and time for the gathering being determined by an executive committee of the church.

The minutes of the New Jersey Baptist convention, just published, show that there are 352 Baptist churches in the State, with an enrolled membership of 61,324. New Jersey has a population of 250 to the square mile. Fifty-four per cent. are of foreign birth or born of foreign parentage. This makes New Jersey a mission field with many churchless communities. During the past year fifty weak churches of the denomination and nine mission stations have been helped. The First Baptist church has contributed toward this work $365 and the Sunday-school $25.

John I. Mitchell, of this city, has been visiting friends at Junction, Hunterdon county.

Mrs. Adam Zimmerman and daughter, of Bound Brook, have been visiting relatives in town.

Jefferson DeAngelis,

In "The Girl and the Governor," at the New Plainfield Theatre Tomorrow Night.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Jefferson De Angelis, the most quaint and legitimately amusing of comic opera comedians, presents his latest success, "he Girl and the Governor," at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. It is genuine comic opera devoid of anything suggestive or unwholesome; the sort of thing that appeals to everyone with the love of clean humor and genuine melody. The music is by Julian Edwards, the most famous of our latter day composers, and he is said to have fairly surpassed the success of his previous efforts, "The Wedding Day," "Dolly Darven," "Brian Boru," "The Three Muskateers," and others that have delighted thousands from ocean to ocean. Mr. De Angelis is supported by a very fine organization of 70 people including a real beauty chorus and such favorite artists as Estelle Wentworth, prima donna; Richie Ling, tenor; J. C. Miron, famous basso; Anna Boyd, contralto, and Lillian Rhoades, a very dainty little comedienne. The scenery, depicting a Spanish American colony of the sixteenth centruy, is opulent in color and true Spanish extravagance. The costumes are rich and picturesque. The production in its entirety is precisely that seen in the New York production up to last week.

A magnificent array of moving pictures by the Archie L. Shepard Co. will be the bill at the New Plainfield theatre Wednesday afternoon and night. The chief object of the select programme is to divert in the form of most polite entertainment with a kaludiscopic array of unique, sensational comic and dramatic subjects embracing every phrase of human interest. One particular subject can hardly be praise over the other, so uniform a bill in respect to its excellence, will be given.

The resourceful genius of stage direction is said to be amply exemplified in the extravagant production of "Happy Hooligan's Trip Around the World," which is underlined at the New Plainfield theatre Thursday afternoon and night as Treasurer Cunningham's annual benefit. As a musical comedy attraction of unqualified novelty, aside from the out of the ordinary features with which this success abounds, it is credited with supplying a logical story of fun and frolic around which cluster as it were certain musical selections all gems of catchy melody, while during the progress of the complicated dramatic action several highly interesting laugh surprises are contributed by well known and respected specialty artists who have adroitly arranged their stunts so as not to mar the stability of the plot or interfere with the dashing participations of a large size bevy of smartly gowned girls of beauty and form. "Happy Hooligan's Trip Around the World" will also reveal several unique scenic fixtures that have commanded much attention and admiration all along the route of its successful travels.

"Happy Hooligan,"

At the New Plainfield theatre Thursday Afternoon and Night.

A brand new edition of "Hans and Nix," under the management of Walters and Mathews, with Gordon and Gilbert, the well-known German comedians, in the title roles, will be presented here for the first time at the New Plainfield theatre next Friday night. While the piece is built along the line of musical comedy, in some instances its score is said to rise to the dignity of light opera. The play itself is reported to be highly entertaining and diverting, and to sparkle with musical and terpsichorean novelties. As a vehicle for the introduction of Gordon and Gilbert's inimitable drolleries, it is apparently perfect. The supporting company is very meritorious. Several unusually catchy airs are spoken of as being prominent in the musical score—"My Pansy," "Hey Rube," "Is Everybody Happy?" "Toyland," "Unsophisticated Maid," "Idaho," "Milo," "My Irish Rose," "Beatrice Fairfacts," have become some of the famous ditties of the day.

In "A Woman of Fire," the new four act melodrama that comes to the New Plainfield theatre next Saturday afternoon and night, the old saying, "The Wages of Sin is Death," is clearly exemplified. A young married couple are parted by a scheming adventuress in love with the husband, and through four acts and nine scenes, the audience witnesses the most sensational, thrilling and dramatic scenes ever conceived. Like the good tales in a fairy story, the bad woman meets her just deserts; the loving husband and wife are reunited and everything ends happily. The play is the latest creation of that prolific author Theodere Kremer and he pronounces this his best work. A wealth of scenery, the best in mechanical and electrical effects and a strong acting cast materially enhance the worth of this production.

POINTS FOR THE BUYERS

For art materials and works of art patronize the Plainfield Art Store in the Y. M. C. A. building, J. W. Brady, proprietor.

Don t forget that William Hand & Sons, of East Second street, are reliable truckers and that the firm contracts to move goods to any part of the country.

Harry K. Lister, of North avenue, sells Edison phonographs and Victor talking machines and he also carries a big stock of the latest records. Drop in and hear the machines.

A. M. Griffen, the hardware merchant, sells the best hardware and housefurnishing goods and cutlery. He also contracts to do all kinds of heating and plumbing as well as tinning.

The Woodhull & Martin Company is offering exceptional bargains in every department, closing out the winter line of goods, peparatory to the spring opening. A visit to this large department store will convince you of the merits of the goods and the fact that it is not necessary to trade in New York. Special sales are being conducted in nearly every department and you will make no mistake in trading here.

NEW JERSEY BOYS CAMP

Meeting of Chamber Leader In Elizabeth Yesterday.

W. H. TAYLOR LEADER

Charles R. Scott, Boys State Secretary, to Be Relieved—Annual Bulletin Just Issued.

Elizabeth, Feb. 25.—W. H. Taylor will be the leader this year in charge of the Jersey Boys' Camp, which is conducted under the auspices of the State Executive Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association each summer on the shore of Lake Wawayanda, in the Sussex hills of this State.

Charles R. Scott, the State secretary of boys' work, is to be relieved, so that he may have more time to supervise this and the several other association camps of New Jersey. His headquarters during the summer will be at Wawayanda, just the same as in former years, but he will spend three or more days a week in the other camps. Mr. Taylor is well qualified to superintend the State camp, as he has camped and canoed in Maine and New Brunswick. He is graduate of Allegheny College, and while there was pitcher of the baseball team for four years and captain of the football team during his junior year. After leaving college he was secretary of the boys' department of the Montclair Y. M. C. A., and later accepted the position of physical director of the East Orange High School, where he is now located. Mr. Taylor was an assistant leader to Mr. Scott during the last two years, and so is familiar with the details and principles of the association camp.

The committee of which Charles T. Kilborne is chairman has just issued the annual bulletin announcing the camp for this year. It will open Thursday, June 27, and three periods of two weeks each will be conducted. This will make it possible to accommodate 300 campers. Last year fifty were unable to attend on account of lack of room, and it is expected that the applications will come in just as rapidly as in former years. A special camp for employed boys will again be conducted over Labor Day.

During the last six years nearly 800 young men and boys from every section of the State have been in attendance, and the equipment has been steadily improved, until now it is valued at about $3,000. Last year a lodge was erected, which includes a dining-room, with open fireplace, kitchen and storeroom. A shop has also been placed at the disposal of the campers fully equipped with tools, so that they may make souvenirs, camp furniture and boats. Geo. H. Hogeman, of Orange, was elected camp treasurer at the recent meeting, and Frank F. Gray, of Montclair, recording secretary. The other members of the executive committee are Charles T. Kilborne, Orange, chairman; H. S. Park, Paterson, and Ival P. Flood, of Poughkeepsie, who will succeed W. H. Wones as secretary of the Newark boys' department on April 1. L. E. Hawkins and Charles R. Scott, the State secretaries, are ex-officio members.

The meeting of the camp leaders held here yesterday was presided over by Mr. Kilborne, and those present were L. E. Hawkins, State secretary; Charles R. Scott, camp supervisor; P. D. Fagans, leader of the Trenton camp; F. G. Moran, of the Camden camp; W. E. Bunn, of Lakewood camp leader; Archibald Cullens, leader of the southern county camp; Mr. Taylor, the leader-elect of the State camp; A. H. Bull, member of the State camp committee, and others who are considering the establishment of local camps in other parts of the State.

self and say, 'Yours is the blame.'

"As has ever been the case in matters of faith, the church has clung zealously to the faith of bygone centuries, hurling anathemas at those who dared to depart from the beaten paths, instead of adapting itself to new conditions and maintaining its place and function at the head of the ever rising, ever broadening spiral of progress. In an age when punishment is coming to be looked upon as barbarous and unsatisfying to justice, it still proclaims a God who thirsts for blood and condemns to everlasting torment innocent children who, on account of the neglect or unbelief of their parents, chance to die without baptism. In matters of faith the butcher sits in judgement upon the theologian and the scholar. But some babbler of esthetical essays says 'the people must be educated.' Granted. But millions upon millions are expended annually upon our schools for this purpose. Let the church stand to its guns, the foe is in the land.

"Instead of thundering with the voice of the prophet at all forms of sin and picturing the clear paths of righteousness, it has come to smile indulgently at the waywardness of the young and reach greedily toward the enormous though illicit profits of the old. It now extolls the esthetical in the place of the ethical. Where once one heard the old time songs of the soul, he now hears a sacriligious rendering, by the unbelieving lips of a salaried choir, of some noble sentiment of a sublime faith.

"Last week the papers were full of ministerial eulogies of Lincoln. Tomorrow they will tell of Washington. Could they read they would cry out that so much good talent had been wasted in extolling their qualities while no voice was raised to right the wrongs of the people or execrate the corruption of the institutions the one fought to establish the other died to preserve. Until recently the evil of division has not been appreciated by the church. Despite the fact that the Nazarene prayer almost in the hour of his death that his cause might be spared the misfortune of division, millions in money and a tremendous amount of zeal and ability, which should have been devoted to correcting the evils of society, have been expended for the building up of party and annihilation of opposition, even though that opposition bore the banner of the common cause. Pride of institution has been the incentive rather than the love of mankind.

"This picture is awful true. A remedy? There is but one. When party line and denominationalism have been given up; when creeds have been relegated to the attic of the past, from the peaceful repose of which they have already been kept too long; when form and ritualism in worship have been given back to barbarism from which they were taken; then there will be a hope for the church. In the place of these must be substituted the central teaching of the life of Jesus—love for mankind and the establishment of the kingdom of righteousness, the kingdom of Heaven upon earth. But to this time and state the church must come with much labor and tears."

Pierced By Tree Limb.

Elmira, N. Y., Feb. 23.—While coasting on the grounds of Representative J. Sloat Fassett here yesterday, a boy named James Buckley met death in a peculiar manner. He attempted to pass under an apple tree, the limbs of which hung close to the ground. One of the limbs pierced the lad's neck, passing clear through and coming out on the opposite side under the collarbone. He lived but a few minutes.

By Tom Muir.

"Uncle Sam" Cunningham, who presides over the destinies of the box office at the New Plainfield, earns a large part of his salary by answering questions over the telephone and generally does it with credit to himself and the management. There are times, however, when some of the interrogations ruffle even his placid temper and one of them came early last week. The 'phone jingled and when he placed the receiver to his ear a feminine voice inquired:

"Will you kindly tell me what plays you have coming soon?"

"Sam" responded graciously by informing her that "Checkers" was due Tuesday, Kyrle Bellew in his new production Wednesday and Dorothy Samuel Cunningham.

Donnelly in "The Daughters of Men" Friday.

"Oh, I've heard about them," replied the fair one, "but when are you going to have some good shows?"

After passing out such a high class list "Sam" was nearly floored by the last question but when he came out of his daze he shouted back:

"Nellie, the Beautiful Cloak Model," by Theodore Kremer, is booked for next Monday and we have hopes of getting a return of "Deserted at the Altar' in March."

A sweet "Good, oh thank you," repaid him for his trouble and the incident closed. "Sam's annual benefit comes next Thursday afternoon and night and he says if he answers any more questions like that one he'll have to have two a year.

An incident not on the programme concluded the four weeks' engagement of David Warfield in "The Music Master" at the Academy of Music Saturday night. David Belasco, on behalf of himself and E. G. Gilmore, manager of the theatre, presented the star with a handsome silver loving-cup as an appreciation of his qualities as a man and an artist. Mr. Belasco, in making the presentation speech, congratulated his star on the success he has achieved, and referring to the close personal and professional relations existing between them, said that he was speaking not as a manager, but as an old friend. Mr. Warfield made a brief reply, thanking the donors of the gift—and thus closed his final appearance in New York city as Herr von Barwig. He will next be seen in the city next October, on the opening night of Belasco's new theatre, the Stuyvesant, when he will appear in a new character and a new play, on which Mr. Belasco is now working. The receipts of the engagement at the Academy are worth noting. Affidavits now preparing by both managements will show that for the final week the total sale amounted to $30,000. The grand aggregate for the four weeks will be about $100,000. Booth and Barrett once played to $42,000 in two weeks at the Academy.

Jefferson De Angelis, one of the very foremost comic opera comedians, brings his big opera company to the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night. Mr. De Angelis presents "The Girl and the Governor," the new comic opera in which he has enjoyed the greatest success of his versatile career. It is the most pretentious musical play in which he has appeared, involving a magnificent scenic production, costly and picturesque costumes, and the services of one of the best singing organizations ever combined. Among the well known people supporting Mr. De Angelis are Estelle Wentworth as the girl; Richie Ling as the young English sailor; Anna Boyd as the jealous Spanish woman; Lillian Rhoades as the graceful little dancing maid, and J. C. Miron, the robust basso.

Gift to P. H. S.

The Plainfield High School is the recipient of a valuable collection of one hundred lantern slides given by Franklin S. Smith, of the class of 1880. The slides show a series of subjects in bacteriology and a large number of views incident to a trip through the Mediterannean to India and around the world. Mr. Smith was at one time instructor in science in the High School, and is the present secretary of the Alumni Association.

Captain and Mrs. DeKyne, of Bound Brook, have moved to Plainfield, where they will reside in the future.

RUTHERFORD M. SHEPARD WEDS MISS WINIFRED P. KAY.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus D. Shepard Becomes a Benedict.

Miss Winifred Prentiss Kay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Murray Kay, of Gardner road, Brookline, Mass., and Rutherford Mead Shepard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus D. Shepard, of "The Gables," Fanwood, were married at the Arlington Street church, Brookline, Saturday afternoon, in the presence of a large assemblage of society people from Boston, New York, Philadelphia and other distant points. The ceremony was performed by Rev. William H. Lyon, of the First parish church, Brookline. The decoration of the church was simple and effective, consisting of a grouping of palms and foliage about the chancel, together with white lilies and white azaleas.

The bride, who was escorted to the chancel and given in marriage by her father, was handsomely gowned in white satin, with white lace trimmings. She wore the conventional bridal veil, fastened with a coronet of lilies of the valley, and carried a large bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor was Miss Rawson P. Kay, who was very picturesque in an empire gown of lavender silk with white lace trimmings. She wore a large hat trimmed with lavender, sweet peas and white ostrich plumes. She carried a bouquet of white roses and white hyacinths. The bridesmaids were similarly gowned in lavender silk, and wore large white hats trimmed with white roses and white plumes. They were Miss Mary Murray Kay, of Brookline; Miss Edith H. Smalley, of Painfield; Miss Maud Baker, of Montreal, and Miss Katherine Foote, of Dedham.

The best man was Burritt H. Shepard, and the ushers were Augustus D. Shepard, Jr., brothers of the groom; John W. Prentiss, A. Stewart Walker, C. S. Miller, E. G. Burgess, Jr., all of New York; J. Murray Kay, Jr., Herbert R. Burgess and Mr. Winthrop Bouve, of Brookline.

Mr. Shepard is a graduate of Harvard, Class '98, and a member of the Calumet Club, New York. He is also a member of the Plainfield Country Club and has always been interested in the game of golf. He has been associated with his father in business with the American Bank Note Company.

GLASS EYE FOR POODLE.

Atlantic City Man's Pet Lost Optic in Fight With Cur.

Atlantic City, Feb. 25.—Whipped in a fight with a plebeian cur which he met in his daily walk, "Toddles," a valuable poodle owned by Councilman John Donnelly, recived injuries that destroyed the sight of one eye and caused its removal by an expert surgeon. A glass eye to take the place of the destroyed eye will be inserted as soon as furnished by an optician.

"Toddles" is one of the finest dogs of his breed in the country and a prize winner at local dog shows. When he was brought home cut and torn by the contest with the other canine the Donnelly children were nearly frantic. The surgical expert declared that only the removal of the eye would save the life of the dog. He received $100 as his fee for the operation. The new eye will be made to match "Toddle's" other optic.

ELABORATE PLANS FOR ELKS GATHERING

After careful consideration of the points where financial encouragement would be likely to produce the best results, the Executive Committee of Philadelphia Lodge, No. 2, has compiled its schedule for the distribution of $18,000 in prizes when the Elks go there for their annual reunion, the week beginning July 15.

The Executive Committee has entire charge of this great gathering—doubtless the greatest that Philadelphia has ever seen since the Centennial year, for 250,000 visitors are expected to be in that city throughout the week.

Of the little fortune which will be distributed in money prizes $12,000 will be devoted to what is known as "special prizes," or band prizes.

In order that a lodge may win a special prize it is necessary that its band participate not only in the grand parade of lodges, on July 18, but in the mass band parade, on Wednesday, July 17. That is to be the great spectacular event of the week, only it will be a spectacle for the ear, rather than for the eye. It unquestionably will be one of the most remarkable musical experiments ever made in the world. In the Elks' mass band parade there are to be 100 bands, averaging thirty pieces or more. In other words, the total number of instruments in this titanic sound battalion will exceed 3,000. If they are arranged to fill Broad street from curb to curb, each line following closely upon the heels of the line in front, the combined band will fill nearly three blocks.

To each lodge that has a band of thirty or more pieces participating in the two parades the Executive Committee will give $100, a certificate of superior merit being awarded to the band itself. An additional prize of $250 will go to the lodge having the largest band in both events, and there will be another prize of $100 to the lodge having the second largest band.

To lodges which have the largest number of members in line, all duly registered at the Philadelphia registration headquarters, there will be a first prize of $500, a second prize of $200 and a third prize of $100. Lodges within a radius of seventy-five miles of Philadelphia are not allowed to compete in this contest. To lodges presenting the best appearance in the big parade there will be three prizes of $300, $150 and $100. In making the award the judges will count uniform as 40 per cent.; marching as 40 per cent., and general appearance as 20 per cent. This is a prize which every lodge is striving for. Word comes from Toledo, Ohio, that the famous "Cherry Pickers" drill corps of the Toledo lodge is drilling regularly for the reunion, and will continue its practice straight through to the reunion week. The Cherry Pickers is only one of the famous marching organizations in the Order of Elks.

An effort is always made to have a great variety of uniforms in the parade. For instance, the Philadelphia delegation went to Denver last year with Quaker uniforms, and the Wilkes-Barre lodge will probably march there next summer dressed as miners. To the lodges appearing in the "most unique" uniforms there will be three prizes of $500, $200 and $100.

Prizes will be awarded to lodges having the greatest aggregate mileage, as computed by the Philadelphia Registration Committee. Lodges outside the boundary of the United States proper and lodges within the seventy-five mile radius of Philadelphia will not be recognized in this award. The reason is obvious. A lodge within a few miles of the city might easily arrange to send every member it has, or the Hawaii lodge, by sending half a dozen delegates, would roll up a mileage against which a Chicago, Cleveland or St. Louis lodge would have no show. The first prize in the aggregate mileage contest will be $300; second, $150, and third, $100.

Three prizes, $150, $100 and $50, will be awarded to the lodges having the largest number of women folk in attendance at the reunion, the award being made according to the number of women registered at the general registration headquarters and according to percentage of membership of lodge. This prize will be duplicated for lodges within the seventy-five-mile radius.

Upon the basis of artistic merit and originality of design prizes of $300, $200 and $100 will be awarded for the most attractive floats in the Thursday parade.

The fattest Elk will get $25; the leanest, $25; the tallest, $25, and the shortest, $25.

There will be a prize of $150 for the prettiest banner.

For lodges within the seventy-five-mile radius having the largest number of members registered and marching in the Thursday parade there will be three prizes—$300, $150 and $100.

Special prizes amounting to $2,550 have been offered for decorations and illuminations of business houses and dwellings.

The first prize will be $500; the second, $400; third, $300; fourth, $200, and fifth, $100.

Then, there will be another set of prizes for daylight decorations exclusively. The smallest private dwelling has just as much opportunity of winning one of these prizes as the biggest store or office block. The judges will not take into consideration the amount of money spent on a decoration nor the size of the display. Taste and effect will be the only decorations. Winners of the daylight decoration prizes will receive $450, $250, $150, $100 and $50. In no instance will more than one prize be awarded to a single concern.

CHILD LABOR IN STATE.

Colonel Bryant Denies Charges Made By Senator Beveridge.

Trenton, Feb. 25.—Colonel Lewis T. Bryant, Commissioner of Labor of New Jersey, has written letters to Governor Stokes and United States Senator John Kean, in which he takes exception to parts of the recent speech of Senator Beveridge relating to child labor conditions in this State.

The letters were in reply to requests for information as to the truth of some of the extraordinary charges of Senator Beveridge, who, among other things, cited the case of a three-year-old child of Paterson, who, it was alleged, was compelled to work from eight to ten hours a day assisting her mother making garters.

After telling of this case Senator Beveridge, according to the revised edition of his speech published in the Congressional Record, asked: "If the law could not be enforced against people in as humble circumstances as these, can we think it would be enforced against the great glass mills that have great walls abou them?"

To this charge Colonel Bryant retorts that the slurring inference drawn by Senator Beveridge is not warranted by facts, and declares that no business interests in the State have been able to exert sufficient influence to prevent the enforcement of the State's child labor laws.

Admitting that the condition of a three-year-old child working ten hours a day is a pitiful one, Colonel Bryant asserts that the failure of the State to go into the private home to alleviate the suffering due to extreme poverty was not a justification for the sweeping charge of the Indiana Senator that the State feared or failed to enforce its laws for commercial reasons.

Colonel Bryant also deals specifically with other allegations of Senator Beveridge, which, he contends, were contrary to fact. He makes no denial of the fact that extremely young children are compelled to work in this State, as elsewhere, but discusses only the alleged wholesale violations of law charged by Senator Beveridge.

His Sleep Lasted Two Years.

Staunton, Va., Feb. 25.—Leslie Chewning, of Spottsylvania Court House, has lost at least two years out of the fourteen that he has lived through incessant sleep. His protracted slumber lasted practically through the entire two years, all endeavors to arouse him being in vain. The young man dropped asleep two years ago at his home. After having slept continuously for two days his family became alarmed and summoned a physician. The man of science, however, found himself at a complete loss, the youth failing to respond to the most drastic treatment. Days passed into weeks and weeks into months and he couldn't be aroused. Finally he was sent to the Western State Hospital, at this place, for treatment. Here he remained during the balance of the time until his final awakening. His mind is in an apparently normal condition, but he has forgotten entirely how to walk.

LITERARY.

The March issue of The Metropolitan Magazine might well be set up as the standard of American magazine publication. The first instalment of "The Mexican War," a series of important historical value, by Professor Robert McNutt McElroy, of the Department of History of Princeton University, begins what gives promise of being the most fascinating and important journey into the past of this country that has appeared in recent years. He furnishes what we have never had—a complete history for the people of the most romantic period in our country's growth. "The Fur Seal Fisheries," containing portions of the President's Message and illustrated in color and with photographs by the United States Government Agents, opens one's eyes to the crime against the seal. W. S. Dudley, Secretary of the Motor Boat Association, has written an article of absorbing interest on "Motor Boating" in all its phases, commercial and amateur.

The March Everybody's preserves its customary fair balance between information and entertainment. The informing articles are of unusual significance and timeliness. In accordance with cabled instructions, Vance Thompson undertook to interview Cardinal Merry del Val, Papal Secretary of State, on the church question in France, and succeeded far beyond his expectations. "War Against Christ" is the title of his remarkable resultant article. "The Needless Slaughter by Street-Cars," by John P. Fox, is an expert consideration of American street-railway conditions. Its conclusions are eye-opening. "The Shadow in High Finance," by David Ferguson, is an account of the entrance of detectives into present-day financial operations. Olivia Howard Dunbar writes of the woman's rights movements of the world in an article entitled "The World's Half-Citizens."

Beyond question the two merriest rogues of current fiction are Rex Beach's "Kink" and "Mojave Mike Butters," who have figured in his "Pot-Hunter" stories that deal with western foot-racing and sports. They are ever welcome visitors to the one who enjoys a laugh, and their latest escapade, "The Colognizing of Kansas," in the March McClure's, is as full of comedy situations and side-splitting laughter as an reader could wish. "Kink" begins the yarn by describing how he broke a bank and recovered the roll he had lost on the "brace" faro lay-out; and then narrates how he and Mojave Mike with "The Butters-Martin Mastodon Minstrels" "that busts into Kansas, and lays waste every hamlet play." The main object of the minisrelsy is to sell cologne at an unheard of profit and thereby increase their stake. The history of that cyclonic theatrical tour is a capital farce—the best Rex Beach has written. You want to avoid it if it hurts you to laugh.

Farmers have the advantage over millionaires, according to David Grayson, who, in The American Magazine for March, reports an argument he had lately with John Starkweather, a very rich man. Here is a little of the plain talk which Farmer Grayson gave to Millionaire Starkweather: "We dig and plant and produce and having eaten at the first table we pass what is left to the bankers and millionaires. Did you ever think, stranger, that most of the wars of the world have been fought for the control of this farmer's second table? We farmers, sit back comfortably after dinner, and joke with our wives and play with our babies, and let all the rest of you fight for the crumbs that fall from our abundant tables."

PLAYING CARDS.

Peculiarities of Those Used by the Different Nations.

"One of the most interesting collections of foreign loot that I've seen recently," said a man ordinarily too busy to make the trip over the seas himself, "is an assortment of playing cards from various parts of the world.

"In every country the owner of the collection visited—and he went to a good many—picked up cards of local manufacture and so representative of the nation.

"The Russian cards are perhaps the most elaborate. The faces of the kings and queens are different in each suit, indicating the racial elements that go to compose the empire.

"On the Greek cards classical heroes and heroines are represented. Nestor, for example, is the king of hearts and Orestes the knave. Agamemnon is the king of clubs, Hercules the jack of spades and Minos and Danae the king and queen of diamonds. The Greek pack is rather a cheap one and scarcely does honor to the celebrities portrayed.

"Cadiz is a center for card manufacturing. The idea of the Spanish cardmaker seems to ge to get as much color on the cards as possible. The royal robes are of unusual magnificence. The clubs are big bludgeons in green and red, and the knave of clubs, gayly caparisoned on a prancing horse, reminds you instantly of Jack the Giant Killer. The spades are ugly little daggers, and for hearts and diamonds there are disks and dice cups. The cards in some of the Spanish packs are very thin and have a capital spring.

"The Madeira cards come from Lisbon. The figures are more conventional in design than on the Spanish. The ace cards are adorned with typical Portuguese scenes.

"A peculiarity of the pack bought in Constantinople is that the ace cards, in addition to the single spade, diamond, club or heart in the center of each, have diminutive aces at the upper left hand and lower right hand corners.

"The Italian face cards portray decidedly gloomy personages. Each one of the face cards, by the way, carries in small print the name and address of the maker. There are tiny packs, an inch and a quarter by an inch and three-quarters in size, which can be bought on the streets of Naples for a soldo. These resemble the Spanish cards to some extent, although the royalties are more dignified.

"Cairo is a great card emporium, and Mousky street offers rich returns to the card hunter. Fortune telling cards must be in demand there, to judge from the samples I saw in the collection. The Cairo playing cards come mostly from Germany. They are brilliant in their coloring. The aces carry scenes from lands both west and east.

"The gem of all the packs comes from Switzerland. The cards are small, one and three-quarters by two and a half inches in size, and the back design is the edilweiss. The kings, queens and jacks are delightful studies in Swiss costume, and the purchaser certainly gets his money's worth, for each face card has two half figures quite unlike. On the aces are Swiss scenes and objects of interest, also two to a card, the subjects including the castle of Chillon, the Matterhorn, the bridge at Lucerne and the Lion of Lucerne."—Indianapolis Star.

GOOD COLLATERAL.

The Way Tom Fitch of Nevada Used to "Raise the Wind."

Tom Fitch, of Nevada, was a bright fellow and one of the best writers and stump speakers of the west, but he was thriftless and when he got hard up would resort to almost any means to get a stake.

One day he wrote a scathing speech denouncing Sharon, then president of the Bank of California and afterward United States Senator from Nevada. In it he charged Sharon with almost every crime known to the Decalogue or the statutes. He put the manuscript in a large envelope and walked into the Bank of California.

"Here," he said to the cashier, handing the package through the window, "there are some securities which I offer as collateral on a loan. Please hand them to Mr. Sharon in person, and I will wait for his answer."

Mr. Sharon was in his private office. Breaking the seal of the envelope, he found the speech and read it through, together with a note from Fitch, informing him that unless he was paid $5,000 he would deliver the speech in every town in the State. In a few minutes the cashier, on Mr. Sharon's order, reported that the collateral was all right and paid the happy Fitch the desired amount.

Three months afterward, having gone through the money in speculation and dissipation, Mr. Fitch made his appearance with another speech, this time of a very complimentary character, which he promised to deliver at every convenient opportunity for the same amount. This, too, proved good collateral, and the story would never have come to light if Fitch had not, in a moment of drunken frankness, told it himself.

NOTES AND INCIDENTS OF FOREIGN LIFE.

The British Admiralty has ordered all warships at sea to make meterological reports, morning and evening, to wireless stations every day as long as they can keep in communication. This is to help the Meterorological Office in its forecasting.

Thomas King was fined in a London police court the other day for taking his baby to a pawnshop and trying to pawn it for 50 cents, wherewith to buy gin.

Japanese jinrikisha men disapprove of the advent of the auto. They see in it a dangerous rival. The expression of their disapproval usually takes the form of a brick or cobblestone.

In a six-weeks' run at Drury Lane theatre 250,153 men, women and children saw the pantomime "Sindbad the Sailor."

"Fred Marshal" Tom Thumb (Richard Garnsey), who attracted large audiences by his diminutive stature fifty years ago, has just died at Wellington, Somerset, England, at the age of 73.

At a London mission meeting a man arose in the audience and asked the pathetic question: "Is it possible for a typewriter agent to be an honest man?" The missioner paused a few seconds in thought and then replied solemnly: "With God all things are possible."

Finding that stone-breaking and oakum-picking were not profitable enough, the authorities of Horsham, England, decided to put able-bodied paupers to work at grinding corn in a mill. Next day not a pauper was left in the almhouse.

The British Medical Journal wants to know why people can sit out a play in a theatre without coughing and cannot do the same in the case of a sermon in a church.

A small table that had been many years in an almshouse at Bristol, England, was sent recently with other discarded furniture to an auction room, where it was recognized as a Chippendale and sold for $367.50.

I really had an errand in the village. I wished to visit the hardware store and buy some cartridges, but Pickering's presence in the community was a disturbing factor in my mind. I had resolved to get sight of him—to meet him, if possible, and see how a man whose schemes were so deep looked in the light of day.

As I left the grounds and gained the highway Stoddard fell in with me.

"Well, Mr. Glenarm, I'm glad to see you abroad so early. With that library of yours the temptation must be strong to stay within doors. But a man's got to subject himself to the sun and wind. Even a good wetting now and then is salutary."

"I try to get out every day," I answered. "But I've chiefly limited myself to my own grounds."

An ancient omnibus, filled with young women passed at a gallop, bound for the station, and we took off our hats.

"Christmas holidays," explained the chaplain. "Practically all the students go home."

"Lucky kids, to have homes with Christmas trees. I envy them."

"I suppose, Mr. Pickering got away last night?" he observed, and my pulse quickened at the name.

"I haven't seen him yet," I answered.

"Then of course he hasn't gone!" and these words, uttered in the big clergyman's deep tones, seemed wholly plausible. There was, to be sure, nothing so unlikely as that Arthur Pickering, executor of my grandfather's estate, would come to Glenarm without seeing me.

"Sister Theresa told me this morning he was there. He called on her and Miss Devereux last night. I haven't seen him myself. I thought possibly I might run into him in the village. His car's very likely on the station switch."

"No doubt we shall find him there," I answered easily.

The Annandale station presented an appearance of unusual gaiety when we reached the main street of the village. There, to be sure, lay the private car in the siding, and on the platform was a group of 20 or more girls, with several of the brown-habited Sisters of St. Agatha. There was something a little foreign in the picture; the girls in their bright colors talking gaily, the Sisters in their somber garb hovering about, suggesting France or Italy rather than Indiana.

We stepped upon the platform. The private car lay on the opposite side of the station, having been switched into a siding of the east and west road. Pickering was certainly getting on. There is something wholly regal in a private car. Any one may boast a catboat and call it a yacht; but there is no known substitution for a private car. As I lounged across the platform with Stoddard, Pickering came out into the vestibule of his car, followed by two ladies and an elderly gentleman. They all descended and began a promenade on the plank walk.

Pickering saw me an instant later and hurried up with outstretched hand.

"This is indeed good fortune! We dropped off here last night rather unexpectedly to rest a hot box and should have been picked up by the early express for Chicago; but there was a miscarriage of orders somewhere and we now have to wait for the nine o'clock, and it's late. If I'd known how much behind it was I should have run out to see you. How are things going?"

"As smooth as a whistle! It really isn't so bad when you face it. And the fact is I'm actually at work."

"That's splendid. The year will go fast enough, never fear. I suppose you pine for a little human society now and then. A man can never strike the right medium in such things. In New York we are all rushed to death. I sometimes feel that I'd like a little rustication myself. I get nervous, and working for corporations is wearing. The old gentleman there is Taylor, president of the Mid-Western and Southern. The ladies are his wife and a friend of hers. I'd like to introduce you." He ran his eyes over my corduroys and leggings in amiable acceptance of my rusticity. He had not in years addressed me so pleasantly.

Stoddard had left me to go to the other end of the platform to speak to some of the students. I followed Pickering rather reluctantly to where the companions of his travels were pacing to and fro in the crisp morning air.

As soon as Pickering had got me well under way in conversation with Taylor, he excused himself hurriedly and went off, as I assumed, to be sure the station agent had received orders for attaching the private car to the Chicago express. Taylor proved to be a supercilious person,—I believe they call him Chilly Billy at the Metropolitan club,—and our efforts to converse were pathetically unfruitful. The two ladies stood by, making no concealment of their impatience. Their eyes were upon the girls from St. Agatha's on the other platform, whom they could see beyond me. I had jumped the conversation from Indiana farm values to the recent disorders in Bulgaria, which interested me more, when Mrs. Taylor, ignoring me, spoke abruptly to her sister.

"That's she—the one in the gray coat, talking to the clergyman. She came a moment ago in the carriage."

"The one with the umbrella? I thought you said—"

Mrs. Taylor glanced at her sister warningly, and they both looked at me. Then they detached themselves and moved away. There was some one on the farther platform whom they wished to see, and Taylor, not understanding their maneuver—he was really anxious, I think, not to be left alone with me—started down the platform after them, I following. Mrs. Taylor and her sister walked to the end of the platform and looked across, a biscuit toss away, to where Stoddard stood talking to the girl I had already heard described as wearing a gray coat and carrying an umbrella.

The girl in gray crossed the track quickly and addressed the two women cordially. Taylor's back was to her and he was growing eloquent in a mild well-bred way over the dullness of our statesmen in not seeing the advantages that would accrue to the United States in fostering our shipping industry. His wife, her sister and the girl in gray were so near that I could hear plainly what they were saying. They were referring apparently to the girl's refusal of an invitation to accompany them to California.

"So you can't go—it's too bad! We had hoped that when you really saw us on the way you would relent," said Mrs. Taylor.

"But there are many reasons; and above all Sister Theresa needs me."

It was the voice of Olivia, a little lower, a little more restrained than I had known it; but undeniably it was she.

"But think of the rose gardens that are waiting for us out there!" said the other lady. They were showing her the deference that elderly women always have for pretty girls.

"Alas, and again alas!" exclaimed Olivia. "Please don't make it harder for me than necessary. But I gave my promise a year ago to spend these holidays in Cincinnati."

She ignored me wholly and after shaking hands with the ladies returned to the other platform. I wondered whether she was overlooking Taylor on purpose to cut me.

Taylor was still at his lecture on the needs of our American merchant marine when Pickering passed hurriedly, crossed the track and began speaking earnestly to the girl in gray.

"The American flag should command the seas. What we need is not more battleships but more freight carriers—" Taylor was saying.

But I was watching Olivia Gladys Armstrong. In a long skirt, with her hair caught up under a gray toque that matched her coat perfectly, she was not my Olivia of the tam-o'-shanter, who had pursued the rabbit; nor yet the unsophisticated school girl, who had suffered my idiotic babble; nor, again, the dreamy rapt organist of the chapel. She was a grown woman with at least 20 summers to her credit, and there was about her an air of knowing the world, and of not being at all a person one would make foolish speeches to. She spoke to Pickering gravely. Once she smiled dolefully and shook her head, and I vaguely strove to remember where I had seen that look in her eyes before. Her gold beads, which I had once carried in my pocket, were clasped tight about the close collar of her dress; and I was glad, very glad, that I had ever touched anything that belonged to her.

Who was Olivia Gladys Armstrong and what was Arthur Pickering's business with her? And what was it she had said to me that evening when I had found her playing on the chapel organ? So much happened that day that I had almost forgotten, and, indeed, I had tried to forget that I made a fool of myself for the edification of an amusing little school girl. "Then you prefer to ignore the first time I ever saw you," she had said; but if I had thought of it at all it had been with righteous self-contempt. Or, I may have flattered my vanity with the reflection that she had eyed me—her hero, perhaps—with wistful admiration across the wall.

Meanwhile the Chicago express roared into Annandale and the private car was attached. Taylor watched the trainmen with the cool interest of a man for whom the proceeding had no novelty, while he continued to dilate upon the nation's commercial opportunities. I turned perforce, and walked with him back toward the station, where Mrs. Taylor and her sister were talking to the conductor.

Pickering came running across the platform with several telegrams in his hand.

"I'm awfully sorry, Glenarm, that our stop's so short,"—and Pickering's face wore a worried look as he addressed me, his eyes on the conductor.

"How far do you go?" I asked.

"California. We have large interests out there and I have to attend some stockholders' meetings in Colorado in January."

"Ah, you business men! You business men!" I said reproachfully. I wished to call him a blackguard then and there, and it was on my tongue to do so, but I concluded that to wait until he had shown his hand fully was the better game.

The ladies entered the car and I shook hands with Taylor, who threatened to send me his pamphlet on The Needs of American Shipping when he got back to New York.

"It's too bad she wouldn't go with us. Poor girl! this must be a dreary hole for her," he said to Pickering, who helped him upon the platform of the car with what seemed to be unnecessary precipitation.

"You little know us," I declared, for Pickering's benefit. "Life in Annandale is nothing if not exciting. The people here are indifferent marksmen or there'd be murders galore."

"Mr. Glenarm is a good deal of a wag," explained Pickering, hastily swinging himself aboard as the train started.

"Yes; it's my humor that keeps me alive," I responded, and taking off my hat I saluted Arthur Pickering with my broadest salaam.

CHAPTER XV.

I Make an Engagement.

The south bound train was now due in ten minutes. A few students had boarded the Chicago train, but a greater number still waited on the farther platform. The girl in gray was surrounded by half a dozen students, all talking animatedly. As I walked toward them I could not justify my stupidity in mistaking a school girl of 15 or 16 for a grown woman; but it was the tam-o'-shanter, the short skirt, the youthful joy in the outdoor world that had disguised her as effectually as Rosalind to the eyes of Orlando. She was probably a teacher—quite likely the teacher of music, I argued, who had amused herself at my expense.

It had seemed the easiest thing in the world to approach her with an apology or a farewell, but those few inches added to her skirt and that pretty gray toque substituted for the tam-o-shanter set up a barrier that did not yield at all as I drew nearer. At the last moment, as I crossed the track and stepped upon the other platform, it occurred to me that while I might have some claim upon the attention of Olivia Gladys Armstrong, a wayward school girl of athletic tastes, I had none whatever upon a person whom it was proper to address as Miss Armstrong—who was, I felt sure, quite capable of snubbing me if snubbing fell in with her mood.

She glanced toward me and bowed instantly, and her young companions withdrew to a conservative distance. I will say this for the students at St. Agatha's, Annandale: Their manners are beyond criticism, and an affable discretion is one of their most admirable traits.

"I didn't know they ever grew up so fast—in a day and a night!"

I was glad I remembered the number of beads in her chain; the item seemed at once to become important.

"It's the air, I suppose. It's praised by excellent critics," she laughed.

"But you are going to an ampler ether, a diviner air. You have attained the beatific state and at once take flight. If they confer perfection like an academic degree at St. Agatha's, then—"

I had never felt so stupidly helpless in my life. There were a thousand things I wished to say to her; there were countless questions I wished to ask; but her calmness and poise were disconcerting. Her eyes met mine easily; their azure depths puzzled me. She was almost, but not quite, some one I had seen before, and it was not my woodland Olivia. Her eyes, the sofe curve of her cheek, the light in her hair—but the memory of another time, another place, another girl, lured only to baffle me.

She laughed—a little murmuring laugh.

"I'll never tell if you won't," she said.

"But I don't see how that helps me with you?"

"It certainly does not! That is a much more serious matter, Mr. Glenarm."

"And the worst of it is that I haven't a single thing to say for myself. It wasn't the not knowing that was so utterly dull—"

"Certainly not! It was talking that ridiculous twaddle. It was trying to flirt with a silly school girl. What will do for 15 is somewhat vacuous for—"

She paused abruptly, colored and laughed.

"I am 27!"

"And I am just the usual age," she said.

"Ages don't count, but time is important. There are many things I wish you would tell me—you who hold the key of the gate of mystery."

"Then you'll have to pick the lock!"

She laughed lightly. The somber Sisters patrolling the platform with their charges heeded us little.

"I had no idea you knew Arthur Pickering—when you were just Olivia in the tam-o'-shanter."

"Maybe you think he wouldn't have cared for my acquaintance—as Olivia in the tam-o'-shanter. Men are very queer!"

"But Arthur Pickering is an old friend of mine."

"So he told me."

"We were neighbors in our youth."

"I believe I have heard him mention it."

"And we did our prep school together, and then parted!"

"You tell exactly the same story, so it must be true. He went to college and you went to Tech."

"And you knew him—?" I began, my curiosity thoroughly aroused.

"Not at college, any more than I knew you at Tech."

"The train's coming," I said earnestly, "and I wish you would tell me—when I shall see you again!"

BASKETBALL STANDING.

Teams In the Bible Class League Are Prettily Bunched.

The standings, to date, of the two minor basketball leagues are as follows; the Bible Class teams are in a hot fight:

Bible Class league:

	W.	L.	P. C.
Storks	4	3	.530
Hawks	4	3	.530
Crows	4	3	.530
Eagles	2	5	.290

Local league:

	W.	L.	P. C.
Mohicans	3	0	1,000
Apaches	2	2	.500
Sioux	2	2	.500
Cherokees	0	3	.000

CHAMPIONSHIP TIMBER.

Leaders of the Three Athletic Competitions at Y. M. C. A.

The standings of the leaders in the three athletic competions at the Y. M. C. A., to date, are as follows:

Senior — Burgess, 622; Banks, 621; Douglass, 511; Rumsey, 492; Lueder, 472; Odell, 451. Junior—Conroy, 359; R. Miller, 286; Vail, 26. High School—Morris, 219; Freeman, 199; D. Wilcox, 142.

Arrangements are practically completed now for meets with Elizabeth and Hudson City. Both will be held here the first on March 8 and the second on March 16. The events in the meet with Elizabeth will be the same as that with Passaic, excepting that three standing broad jumps will take the place of the high dive.

All the dual meets are designed to lead up to the State meet, which will be held in Paterson the first week in April. They will serve not only as tryouts but as a seasoning process and develop the public competition style and poise, which is something entirely different from the style and poise under which the average athlete works in private and semi-private meetings.

FOR MORE MEETS.

Y. M. C. A. Is Planning to Take On Several Other Associations.

So much success attended the dual meet between the Plainfield and Passaic Y. M. C. A. athletic teams last week that plans are being made to arrange events of similar character between the local organizations and Y. M. C. A.'s of all the nearby places. The meet last Thursday night was chock full of clean, enthusiastic sportsmanlike feeling, and although no records were shattered, the meet had just as high an educational value for the entrants as if there had been a smash in every event.

Montclair, Newark, Paterson, Summit and other State associations will be invited to take Plainfield on for meets in the near future. Physical Director Listman is confident Plainfield will win the majority of the competitions, if not all of them. The local men were seasoned Thursday and what stage fright bothered them when they began the competition was worked out of them.

GOLF.

The Metropolitan Golf Association has decided to hold its third annual open tournament for professionals and amateurs some time during the month of September, 1907, provided there is a club in the association willing to offer its links for the event. The expenses for prizes, score bulletins, programmes, etc., will probably approximate $750. The above notice has been sent to all the clubs in the association by Leighton Calkins, the secretary.

BASKETBALL.

Several basketball enthusiasts from this city witnessed the game Saturday night between the Orange Y. M. C. A. and Yale, at Orange.

The Plainfield High School basketball five will meet the Hasbrouck Institute team, of Jersey City, on the Plainfield High School court, Friday afternoon, March 1.

The Mohicans and the Apaches and the Sioux and the Cherokees will play in the local basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow ight.

VARIOUS SPORTS.

The potato race and the high kick will be run off in the Y. M. C. A. all around athletic championship, on Thursday night.

Y. M. C. A. League Games.

The first and second teams of the Passaic Y. M. C. A. will play the local Y. M. C. A. teams here tonight. The first five's contest is a league game.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Muir's Gold Medal minstrel troupe, which showed in Washington hall last year, will give another performance there Wednesday night for the benefit of the South Plainfield school piano fund. The company will number twenty performers and will present one of the best entertainments seen at a local hall.

John Hover Fractures His Leg.

OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS

OBITUARY.

Miss Ethel J. Reynolds.

Miss Ethel J. Reynolds, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hazelton Reynolds, died at the home of her parents on Summit avenue shortly before 6 o'clock last night. She had been ill for nearly three years with a lingering complaint but only recently had been compelled to keep to her bed. Miss Reynolds was but twenty-two years old and was an exceptionally bright young woman. She had a host of friends in the city and borough who admired her greatly for her sunny disposition and the fortitude displayed during her long sickness. She was a member of Warren chapel and up to the time her illness began was prominent in its religious and social affairs. Beside her parents she is survived by three sisters, Bessie, Jessie and Anna, and three brothers, Herbert, Frank and Donald.

The funeral will be held at the parents' residence Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Mrs. Virginia Nolting.

Mrs. Virginia T. Nolting, wife of A. W. Nolting, Jr., and mother of J. Paul Nolting, of West Seventh street, this city, died at her home in Rowland Park, Baltimore, Md., last week. The funeral and interment took place at Rowland Park.

Miss Laurena A. Smith.

Miss Laurena A. Smith, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William C. Smith, of West End avenue, North Plainfield, died this morning after a long illness. The notice of funeral will be given later.

Levi Bird.

Following an illness of one week with pleuro-pneumonia, Levi Bird died at his home on Somerset street yesterday. He was fifty-eight years old and was born at Mount Bethel, but had lived in North Plainfield for many years. He was engaged in teaming and was well known throughout this section as a buyer and carter of telephone and telegraph poles. He leaves a wife and three children.

Milton Ford.

Milton Ford, father of Mrs. C. W. Parsons, of Park place, died at his home at Fairfield, N. Y., this morning. Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Parsons left for there today. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The monthly meeting of the Ladies' Home Missionary Society, of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of Mrs. Samuel Huntington, on Franklin place. Mrs. W. M. Sandford will read a paper on Anna Dickinson.

DATES FOR HORSE SHOWS.

Season Will Open at Durland's Riding Academy April 2.

Horse shows in New York and vicinity will foll ow one another in rapid succession this year. The season opens at Durland's Riding Academy April 2 to 5. Brooklyn follows April 9 to 13. Then comes the Orange Riding and Driving Club, which after a lapse of one year is to be held from April 18 to 20. Giving the horses a short rest after three weeks of constant showing, Baltimore is next in line with a show to be held at the grounds of the Elk Ridge Club on May 23, 24 and 25. Philadelphia's annual exhibition fills out the following week, beginning on May 27 and ending June 1. Plainfield then takes the horses for a three days' show on June 6, 7 and 8.

The seashore shows will begin at Atlantic City during the week of July 16. Long Banch comes the week after Atlantic City, with a four days' show, beginning on July 24, and Bayshore opens two weeks later with a three days' show, beginning Aug. 8. Three weeks of rest will then be proided for the horses before the opening of Newport's annual exhibition on Labor Day, Sept. 2. Syracuse follows Newport, Sept. 10 to 14, and then will come a succession of autumn shows, including Mineola, Sept. 26 to 28; Brocton, Oct. 1 to 4; Locust Valley, Belle Haen, Bryn Mawr, Morristown, White Plains, Bernardsville, Montclair, and others on dates not yet arranged.

In the Borough Court.

Oscar Waldron, arrested an a d. and d. charge, was fined $3 by Recorder Dolliver Saturday night. He paid up in preference to taking an equivalent in days.

DEPLORES ILLICIT GAINS

Rev. Mr. Howard Points Out Evils of Church Fair Raffles and Whist Prizes.

HABIT SPELLS RUIN

Amount at Stake of No Consequence —Principle of the Thing in Question—Strong Sermon.

Rev. L. R. Howard, pastor of Hope chapel, made a vigorous attack on gambling in all forms in his discourse at the chapel, last night. He handled the subject without gloves and spared neither the church fair or the more common games of chance, such as playing whist and euchre for prizes.

Mr. Howard took two texts, the first being "I have smitten mine hand at thy dishonest gain which thou hast made," Ezekel 22:13, and "He earneth wages to put it into a bag with holes," Hagai 1:6.

He said that while the two verses were not written with reference to gambling they described two of its chief aspects, that is money gained by gambling is dishonest gain and the habitual gambler is earning wages to put into a bag with holes. The speaker declared that gambling is dishonest and the habit leads to ruin, and that gambling is becoming more recognized as an evil, because of its evil results. He added that people should recognize the fact that gambling is evil in principle; therefore the gambling in the smallest sum is in some senses as bad as gambling with the largest sums.

The preacher discussed briefly the various forms of gambling, beginning with "marbles for keeps," the buying of chances on objects for sale, raffles at church fairs, betting on games, card playing for money, betting on races or futures in wheat. He said that the principle involved is that of getting something for nothing by an appeal to luck or chance, with a small element of skill sometimes included.

"The purpose does not alter the principle," declared Mr. Howard. "Because lotteries are conducted for the benefit of colleges; raffles for church fairs and the betting on a game to show one's loyalty does not alter the principle and there is the inevitable loss in pursuing the habit of gambling.' Mr. Howard cited instances from observation in his connection with the Charity Organized Aid Association to show how men have gone to pieces through the gambling habit and put their money in bags with holes.

PERSONAL.

Dr. J. T. Fritts, of Park avenue, who has been quite ill, is reported to be improved.

Mrs. A. D. Edgar, of East Front street, has returned from a visit of several days with relatives at Lebanon.

Charles Dressent and family, of Lincoln, place, attended the wedding of Miss Julia Henschen and Charles Peterson, at Jersey City Heights, yesterday.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Parse, of Grove street, leaves on Wednesday for Knoxville, Tenn., where she will make her annual visit with her brother, John Honeyman. D. Corra Adams, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. D. C. Adams, will accompany her.

CLOSED PORTALS.

Central Lodge, No. 48, A. O. U. W., will hold a "ladies' night" entertainment in its lodge rooms, 109 Park avenue, Thursday night at 8 o'clock.

country on the eastern slope of the Andes, into which she penetrated. She will picture the rubber industry telling of a visit to a rubber camp. The savage tribes which inhabit the country at the head water of the Amazon will be described—a people child like and care free, unmarred by civilization. Two hundred color pictures of great beauty illustrate Mrs. Adams' story of edventures in ancient and unknown Peru. The lecture has been postponed from tomorrow night.

SALE OF CIGARETTES ON THE INCREASE.

Despite Adverse Laws More Are Sold Than Ever Before.

Official statistics and data gathered by the United States Tobacco Journal show that, notwithstanding the enactment of plenary anti-cigarette laws by some State legislatures, the use of cigarettes is continually increasing, the year 1906 being a record year in the industry.

The iincrease in the sale of cigarettes for the last twelve months reached the enormous figures of 851,000,000. There also was an increase in 1906 of nearly 1,000,000 pounds in the import of Turkish tobacco. From Cuba were exported last year 15,643,000 packages of cigarettes, an increase of 4,000,000 over 1905.

The United States Tobacco Journal says that in the States where anti-cigarette laws are in force, these laws frequently serve to bring all such restrictive measures into contempt, particularly the really useful ones, prohibiting juvenile smoking etc. In one instance, indeed, advantage was taken of an anti-cigarette crusade to actually promote the sale of the article.

"The usual wild statements about cigarettes containing all kinds of poisons having been circulated," says The United States Tobacco Journal, "one of the largest manufacturers in the country caused his principal brand to be analyzed by responsible medical bodies, who rendered the usual verdict that the cigarettes were entirely free from foreign deleterious matter. The results of these analyses were gathered together by the manufacturer; and, together with other authentic matter favorable to cigarettes in general, printed in pamphlet form and widely circulated throughout the country, with the consequence that popular prejudice against the article was considerably abated."

Even in Pennsylvania, with its great tobacco industry, an anti-cigarette bill has been presented to the Legislature. It virtually prohibits the sale of cigarettes, and also of cigarette paper or wrappers. The penalty is fixed at not less than $25 or more than $100 for each offense. The bill does not include the jobbers doing an interstate business.

On the Job.

A Baltimore man, who was recently a passenger on a Cunarder, tells of an incident of his trip that led him to the conclusion that your average seaman is not apt to waste much thought on his personal troubles. This sailor had met with an accident the second day out, the result of which was a bad cut on the head. The Baltimorian was most solicitous in his inquiries as to the seaman's welfare when he next saw the captain, and would undoubtedly have continued his sympathy had not a rough sea called to his mind his own sufferings. Several days later, when he emerged, white and weak, from his stateroom, he suddenly remembered the poor sailor. In the course of the day the Baltimore man saw the man, with a strip of plaster on his forehead. "How is your head?" he asked, sympathetically. "West by south, sir," was the reply.—Harper's Weekly.

CO. K'S ANNUAL BANQUET

Major Martin, Their Honored Captain, Acted as Toastmaster at Casino Feast.

SPEECHES INFORMAL

Mayor Buckle, Judge Newcorn, County Chairman Smith and Dr. Corbusier Among the Speakers.

Major W. B. Martin, until recently captain of the company, presided at the sixth annual banquet of Company K held at Truell Inn, last night. The guests were Lieutenant Harry B. Kitchell, the company's choice for captain; Judge William Newcorn, County Registrar of Deeds F. H. Smith, Former Mayor J. F. Buckle, Dr. W. Kempton Browning, Dr. Harold Corbusier, L. B. Woolston, Captain John Wherely, of Somerville; Sergeant Pearsall and T. Astley Weaver.

Major Martin announced before the speech-making that he would distribute the discharge papers to fifteen members of the company, whose terms of enlistment had expired. They are Sergeants Charles Peterson, A. I. Littell, George Apgar, O. R. Pearson, Alfred Tranchand; Corporals Bilyeu, Goldsack, DeCamp, Niles, Sampson; Privates Douglass, Dorman, Archibald Niles, Vail and Judson. After the men had received their papers Major Martin stated that he was glad to say that every one had re-enlisted. The fifteen men were charter members of the company.

The first speaker of the evening was Lieut. Pearsall, who gave a brief history of the company. He said he regretted the absence of Col. Collins and Major Dungan, but expressed the hope that the former would soon wear the star of Brig.-General, which brought forth great applause. He also announced the fact that the company's percentage for the past year for figure of merit was 89.7, while that of Co. L, of Somerville, was 86.1. He said that there are eighteen men in the company who have a percentage of 100, which represents obedience, strict attention to duty and faithfulness in drills.

Lieut. Pearsall referred to the need of an up-to-date armory for the company and he said that he believed that Plainfield would respond to the call. He thought that the State should appropriate a certain amount of money each year for the construction of suitable armories and cited the fact that the rent now paid for leased buildings would more than pay the interest on a $15,000 or $20,000 investment.

Former Mayor Buckle was the next speaker. He referred to his boyhood days when he was a member of a militia company. He believed that Co. K was better than those of other days. A compliment was paid by him to the members for going to Elizabeth to get such an efficient captain, and he paid a compliment to Major Martin in referring to the fact that he never had taken a drink of liquor, which he considered to be a great moral example. The speaker in referring to his last official position said that the people sought him for mayor, that he never sought the office, and that he did the best he could. He said that no one man makes a people great, but it is the united efforts of all and here he paid a tribute to the citizen soldiery and he urged every member of the company to do his duty.

Freeholder J. Hervey Doane congratulated the members upon their fine showing. He hoped that if the test should ever come that the company would prove true and follow the flag to the ends of the earth.

Judge Newcorn, who is popular with the company by reason of his interest in its affairs and who a few years ago, when a member of the Assembly succeeded in securing the passage of an armory bill for Plainfield, was given a hearty welcome when he arose to speak. He said that if he had the power there were three things he would do. Rirst, elect Col. Collins Brig.-General; secondly, make Major Martin Colonel of the Second Regiment, and thirdly, give Co. K an armory. Continuing Judge Newcorn said that when the members of the company think the time is ripe he will draft an armory bill for Plainfield. He commented on one fact that in particular that Co. K had not been prolific in promises, but in good deeds. In conclusion he paid deserving tribute to Major Martin for his painstaking efforts in behalf of Co. K, and he hoped that the new captain would be as successful.

Dr. Harold Corbusier, who as a army surgeon saw considerable service during the Spanish-American War in the Philippines as well as in China during the Boxer troubles, gave an interesting talk concerning his experiences. He commented upon the rules and regulations of the regular army and the National Guard and said that he believed that the

HUGH FOX CHAMPIONS CHILD LABOR MEASURE

ALEXANDER BILL SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION AT COMMITTEE HEARING.

Hugh Fox, of this city, president of the State's Charities and Aid Association, was one of the principal speakers on the Child-Labor bills at a hearing before the House committee at Trenton, yesterday, after the introduction of the subject by Mrs. Emily Williamson, of Elizabeth. She talked of the selfish interest of glassblowers in South Jersey, who stated that they would not allow their sons to work in the glass factories.

Mr. Fox charged that the workmen themselves were opposed to the proposed measure. He asked where were the manufacturers? None of the latter appeared in opposition to the bill.

Mrs. Williamson asked every glassblower in succession if he would allow his child to go into the factory, and every man said "No." But they all said that the industry would go to pieces if the age limit was raised to sixteen years.

The Alexander measure prohibits children from working in factories before sixteen years of age, working more than ten hours a day, or fifty-five hours a week, and not before the age of sixteen between the hours of 6 p. m. and 6 a. m. It is stated that the bill will be reported favorably.

MERGER HEARINGS TO BEGIN MONDAY

COMMISSION AT LAST DECIDES TO HAVE OPEN SESSIONS.

Having listened to the views of a number of men prominent in both city and borough who are familiar with the subject, the bi-municipal consolidation commission has at last decided to throw its meetings open to the public, that conclusion having been arrived at yesterday afternoon when the commissioners held a session in Mayor Fisk's office. Only one citizen was heard yesterday, former Mayor Benjamin A. Hegeman, of North Plainfield, responding to an invitation to give his views. W. W. Howland, one of the leaders of the anti-annexationists in the campaign five years ago, had also been invited to be present but he sent a short formal letter of declination.

For half an hour, Mayor Hegeman discussed the subject in its various aspects, dwelling at length upon the history of the movement to merge the two places. In his usual forceful manner he explained clearly why he had always favored an union, adding that time had not changed his views in the least for in his opinion the longer the delay the greater the hardships the borough would have to endure. North Plainfield had not kept pace with Plainfield in the way of progress and improvements and to support this assertion he pictured how the city had grown so rapidly while the borough had made little headway. During the course of his remarks, the former mayor explained the reasons why the borough could not hope to make any rapid progress without consolidation with the city.

W. W. Howland in his letter stated that while some had changed their views regarding the merits of the question, time had not given him any different opinion than he held five years ago. He admitted, however, that there might be some good reasons for a merger as proposed, but added that he did not care to enter into the controversy again.

By an unanimous vote the commission passed a resolution inviting all interested citizens of both city and borough to attend the first of a series of public meetings to be held in the city mayor's office on Monday afternoon at 4:30. Those who cannot attend are asked to send their views by letter.

To Consider Kinsman Device.

F. E. Kinsman, who has just returned from Washington, where he has been interested in the adoption of a bill which provides for an exhaustive examination into the various devices which are intended to prevent railroad collisions, says that he is much gratified over the passage of the bill. He now believes that his invention, which is now in use on the express tracks of the New York subway, will receive full consideration and ultimate adoption by the leading railroads.

Boy Struck By Trolley.

While crossing West Front street at Grant avenue at 8 o'clock this morning, Frederick Dilks, aged fourteen years, became confused and received a glancing blow from a westbound trolley car. He was knocked down and slightly bruised about the head and hands. Dr. Albert Pittis found that the boy was not seriously hurt.

TREE COMMISSION WILL BE APPOINTED

RESOLUTION TO THAT EFFECT PASSED BY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT.

Councilman Montgomery's plan to establish a tree commission in the city, as broached by him at the regular session early in the month, met with success when introduced at last night's council meeting. He presented a resolution to the effect that three commissioners be appointed, whose purpose it will be to direct the care of the city's trees, and it was passed unanimously.

At Mr. Montgomery's request, President Daniel invited Mayor Fisk to address the Council on the matter as the commission has long been desired by him. He declared that Plainfield's trees form one of its principal attractions but that insects and lack of care were rapidly destroying them. There is no city official at the present time, he said, whose duty it is to look after them and the appointment of a commission would bring them in direct charge. The commission cannot ask for more than $3,000 a year to follow up its work and it is probable that half that amount will be enough.

"My idea has been to appoint Elliott T. Barrows as chairman of the commission, as he is a man thoroughly acquainted with the needs of trees, and he has consented to act in that capacity. The commissioners would be appointed at the start for terms of three, four and five years and they would have full say about the trees adorning the public thoroughfares, in fact, they would have more power in this respect than the Council."

When the Mayor had ceased speaking, a vote was called for and Councilman Montgomery's resolution went through quickly. The commissioners will be appointed in a short time.

ANNA DICKINSON THE SUBJECT OF PAPER.

Equal Suffrage League Discuss Character of Noted Suffragist.

The Equal Suffrage League of Plainfield and North Plainfield was entertained yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Samuel Huntington on Franklin place, when a paper on Anna Dickinson was read by Mrs. William M. Sandford and many anecdotes concerning the noted woman were related by other members of the league.

Mrs. Sandford's paper brought out the fact that Anna Dickinson was a woman of strong force of character and exceptionally brilliant, and while most women of her character were usually leaders of women, she was a leader of men and was engaged to make political speeches throughout the country. She was considered a valuable ally in any great movement.

After the programme Mrs. Huntington served tea to the members and a social time was enjoyed. The next meeting of the league will be on Monday, March 25, at a place to be decided upon later.

Somerset Club May Disband.

The future of the Somerset Club, of the borough, will be determined at a meeting of the members to be held Friday night at the club rooms at Somerset street and Manning avenue. The club was organized in May of last year, but during the past few months there has been a lack of interest. Unless new life is infused in the organization it is quite likely that it will cease to exist after Thursday night. The club room is provided with pool and billiard tables and is a comfortable place to spend idle moments, but the membership has fallen off until quick action is necessary to determine whether the club be continued or not. Several members of the club favor the plan of selling the furnishings, which are worth several hundred dollars, and giving the proceeds to the Children's Home or some other local charity. Others, it is said, want to continue the organization.

District Court.

There was only one contested case in the District Court this morning, a landlord and tenant action by Franklin P. Coddington against James M. Taylor, for the possession of a hotel at Dog Corner. Taylor has been paying his rent. He set up as defense the alleged fact that the building was not tenantable and that the plaintiff had promised to repair it. The court ruled that there were no grounds for withholding the rent, and that the defendant's only recourse would have been a suit for whatever damage might be sustained through the condition of the building. The retrial of the Siche Gas Co. against W. W. Warnock was laid over for a week.

Appointed to School Estimate Board.

Councilmen Ralph I. Tolles and W. S. Tyler were appointed members of the Board of School Estimate, last night. They will act in conjunction with two members appointed by the Board of Education and the president of the Council makes a fifth member.

SALOON POLICY IS FIXED

By Unanimous Vote, Without Remonstrance, Twelve Licenses Are Granted.

NET THE CITY $11,600

For the first time in the history of the Common Council, the customary applications for liquor licenses were granted without a dissenting vote, last night, and with nothing but a harmonious spirit prevailing upon the members. An absence of remonstrances from citizens was also apparent, the only petition presented coming from the Society of Friends, which does the same thing with unceasing regularity year after year. The occurrence was so noteworthy that Councilman Tyler took occasion to comment upon it and assert that Plainfield could justifiably praise itself for its handling of the saloon question.

There were ten retail and two wholesale licenses granted as follows: Retail, John A. Staats, John and Frank Clark, Jacob Blimm, Henry Haurand, Jerome W. Leary, Michael F. Watson, Henry Windham, John Rafferty, Christian Gloekler and A. D. Findlay; wholesale, Eastern Bottling Company and Frank Linke. The retail places pay $1,000 each a year for the privilege of selling liquors and the wholesalers ge their license for $800. Thus it will be seen that the net returns to the city are $11,600.

When the license applications have been made from year to year there was always a hitch over some one of them and there were times when the arguments led to a feeling of bitterness among the councilmen. The remonstrances have also been noticeable and as a rule when the clerk was ready to begin proceedings he would have to reel off several yards of names, the owners asking that the applicants be given the "go by." The number of licensed places has been getting lower and lower and it is now thought the traffic is well in hand.

After the last one had been granted, last night, Mr. Tyler took the floor and said that it was such an extra occasion for congratulation that it was fitting to call attention to it. Plainfield's settlement of the saloon question, he said, has been watched by the entire State and he hoped it would continue this way. Public opinion is the solution after all, he continued, and to the people belongs the credit. In concluding he declared that the saloon district ordinance had proven satisfactory and that Mayor Fisk was among those greatly pleased with its success.

At Mr. Buxton's request, all hack, truck, peddler and other licenses except liquor, be extended to March 15 and all new applications be referred to the license committee.

PROMOTED POLICEMEN SWORN INTO NEW PLACES.

Proceeding Took Place in Mayor Fsik's Office Following Last Night's Council Meeting.

Following last night's Council meeting, the members of the police force who received promotion, were sworn into their new positions by Mayor Fisk. Those who witnessed the proceeding were Councilmen Hibbard, Daniel, Mellick, Gloak and Frank Randolph.

The mayor took occasion to compliment the men on their past records and stated that the promotions had been based purely on merit and fitness for the positions. He predicted a continuance of their faithful discharge of duties and assured them of his hearty support.

The change in positions will go into effect within the next few days. The placing of the men has been left entirely to Chief Kiely.

Borough School Board Meeting.

The Borough Board of Education held its regular monthly meeting but transacted little beyond routine business. The budget for the coming year was discussed in executive session. It was reported that the position of assistant janitor at the Somerset school is vacant and it will be filled next month.

Martine Addresses Editors.

Hon. James E. Martine and Governor Stokes were the principal speakers at the fiftieth anniversary of the New Jersey Editorial Association observed at Hildebrecht's, Trenton, yesterday afternoon.

Engagement Announced.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Luders, of East Millstone, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Anna Luders, to Charles R. Winn, of Linden avenue, the borough.

AUTO OWNERS GIVE $80,000 FOR ROADS

PLAINFIELD CONTRIBUTES MORE THAN $1,000 IN SHAPE OF FEES.

An estimate of the receipts of the State Department of Motor Vehicles for the fiscal year ending May 1 next is placed by Commissioner J. B. R. Smith at not less than $80,000. Plainfield alone contributed $1,222.75 in the shape of fees. The whole money is to be devoted to the repairing of the improved roads of the State, but the affirmative action of the Legislature will be required to make it available for this purpose.

Up to January 1 the department registered 13,759 vehicles and issued 15,269 licenses to drivers. At that date the amount of fees collected was $62,233.91. The receipts of the department in January for registration and licensing amounted to $1,193.17, and at the close of business last Saturday the receipts from these sources were $506, making the total receipts from May 1 $63,933.08.

Up to January 1 there had been collected $991 in fines. In January the fines collected amounted to $111 and in February, $470, making the total receipts from this source $1,572.50. The aggregate receipts of the department to date are $65,505.58.

The amount received in fees from each of the egencies in the State to January 1 is as follows: Trenton, $12,854; Camden, $9,586.36; Jersey City, $15,995; Newark, $11,860; Phillipsburg, $948.75; Morristown, $1,347.05; Hackensack, $3,069.50; Rahway, $465; Asbury Park, $1,615.50; Bridgeton, $483.75; Sea Bright, $1,006; Plainfield, $1,222.75; Freehold, $909.50; Lakewood, $42; Branchville, $220.25.

Magistrates have turned over fines as follows: Union, $25; Waterford, $10; West Orange, $35; Belmar, $20; Mount Arlington, $40; East Orange, $50; Chatham, $45; Hammonton, $5; Hackensack, $200; Morristown, $5; Milburn, $10; Magnolia, $215; Washington, $15; Clementon, $10; Perth Amboy, $50; Haddon Heights, $10; Princeton, $10; Glen Ridge, $5; Hoboken, $161; Red Bank, $15; Phillipsburg, $10; New Providence, $20, and Dover, $5.

In addition to the sums turned over the sum of $4,738.08 was retained by the agents as fees authorized by the law. The maintenance of the registration and licensing department amounted to $1,853.33 for clerical services and $2,422.67 for printing, blanks, stationery and other equipment.

RETURNED $20.25 TAX.

But Council Wishes It Understood It's Not to Be a Precedent.

Acting on a resolution introduced by Mr. Tolles, the Common Council, last night, returned $20.25 in taxes that had been paid to the city by Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers. It came about in an unusual way and Mr. Tolles was induced to remark that he didn't want it to be regarded in the light of a precedent.

When Mrs. Myers' property, which is located at 130-134 East Sixth street, was assessed for the 1906 tax, she regarded it as too high and appealed to the County Board for the Equalization of Taxes. In the meantime she paid the full tax without protest. The Board reduced her assessment and the difference between the original tax and the one on the new figure was $20.25 in her favor.

She accordingly asked for its return and after consultation with the corporation counsel Mr. Tolles decided to introduce the resolution. He reported that counsel had informed him that the city was not obliged to pay it back but could do so as a matter of principle. The money could have been handed back much easier if Mr. Myers had paid the original tax "under protest."

Plainfielders at the Wedding.

A party of thirty relatives and friends from New York and Plainfield accompanied Rutherford Mead Shepard, of "The Gables," Fanwood, to Boston, on Thursday, to attend his marriage to Miss Winifred Prentiss Kay. Among those in the party were Mr. and Mrs. Augustus D. Shepard, Mr. and Mrs. John Doull Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Osborn W. Bright, Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, Miss Margaret Mead, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lowe and Miss Waring, Mr. and Mrs. W. Palmer Smith and Miss Trottie Smith.

Co. K to Elect Officers.

When Co. K meets on Monday night the newly chosen officers will be formally elected according to the rules. At a previous meeting the members picked Lieut. Harry B. Kitchell for captain, Charles Peterson for first lieutenant; Albert I. Littell for second lieutenant, and O. R. Pearson for first sergeant. Following the election there will be the installation. The new captain will announce his plans for the coming year.

NEEDLE IS IN HIM SOMEWHERE, BUT WHERE?

CASE THAT IS PUZZLING MEDICAL FRATERNITY OF THIS CITY.

Rudolph Buck, of West Front street, accidentally ran a needle into his arm, and now the medical sharps of Plainfield are wondering where the needle is. It is somewhere in Buck, they believe, but just where they do not know.

The neeaie was stuck in the sleeve of a coat which Buck put on. He didn't notice it, and as his arm slid into the sleeve, the needle entered the flesh. He tried to get the needle out, but couldn't.

His arm began to pain him, and the pain increased until the services of a physician became necessary. A cursory examination gave the doctor no idea where the needle had settled itself, and the patient was taken to the hospital for X-ray treatment. Several examinations were made with the machine, but the physicians could not find the piece of steel. The arm is greatly swollen and Buck suffers much pain. Efforts to remove the needle have not been given up and constant examinations will be made in the hope of finding it.

JURY DELIBERATED FOR OVER 23 HOURS

AND THEN COULDN'T AGREE THAT GIRL STOLE FOUR RINGS.

After being locked up for twenty-three hours and a half the jury in the case of the State against Agnes Cushman, of Westfield, charged with the larceny of four rings from the jewelry store of Rudolph Brunner, of that place, returned to court at Elizabeth, this morning and reported that they were unable to agree. The jury retired at 11 o'clock yesterday morning and came into court at 11 o'clock this morning. The court expressed regrets over the disagreement and added that the case would have to be tried over again. All jurors were then discharged until March 26.

It was expected that the case of John Bozuns, charged with heinous offense against a fifteen-year-old girl, would be called this morning, but owing to the illness of the principal witness an adjournment to March 26 was announced.

FIRST NATIONAL PLANS ITS NEW BUILDING.

Proposed Addition To Be An Ornate Structure—French the Agent.

Ax exclusively announced in yesterday's Daily Press, the First National Bank has completed the purchase of a strip of land on Somerset street just off Front and plans are now being formed for the erection of a building that will be made a part if the institutions present structure, the two forming an "L." It will be a big improvement to that section and the work is being so planned that the actual work of construction can be commenced early in the spring.

The property acquired comprises fifty-three feet front and came from two owners. Thirty feet nearest East Front street was purchased from George Finger and the remainder was taken from the French estate, being part of what is commonly known as the mill property. It extends back to the bank's original holding which is almost entirely occupied by the present four-story building. The new part is to be equally imposing and will be devoted to the bank's increasing needs. The vaults will be removed to it.

The negotiations for the property were conducted by Elston M. French. He had previously sold the thirty foot strip to Mr. Finger and resold it for him to the bank.

Want a Pool Table.

The Misses Tweedy have given a fine billiard table to the Y. M. C. A. and the directors will be grateful if some other generous persons will donate a pool table. Anyone wishing to do so may address Joseph W. Gavett.

TWENTY-TWO REGULARS

Limit Placed When Tyler Opposes to Board's Recommendation—Specials Appointed.

As exclusively predicted in The Daily Press last week, the long contemplated promotions in the city police department were presented to the Common Council by Mayor Charles J. Fisk, last night, and confirmed without a dissenting vote. In addition the force was designated to consist of twenty-two regular men instead of seventeen and the change will permit the addition of four men to do regular buty but to be listed as probationers. The latter move was brought about after an interesting debate in which Councilman Tyler blocked a move to make the regular force twenty-six men, compelling his colleagues to view the matter from his standpoint.

The promotions were intended to be put through soon after Mayor Fisk assumed office and the slate presented at the January meeting was as follows: For captain, Sergeant Christian Frederickson; for sergeant, Roundsman John Flynn; for detective-sergeant, Patrolman Florence S. McCarthy. Opposition developed in the Council, however, and the change was not brought about. Chairman Frank Randolph, of the police committee, afterward asked permission to withdraw the appointments and when it was granted him Mayor Fisk did some sponging. The slate was made over again and this is the way it went through last night:

For captain, Sergeant Christian Frederickson; for sergeant, Patrolman Herbert L. Overbaugh; for detective-sergeant, Roundsman John Flynn; for roundsman, Patrolman Morris Higgins. The promotions were acted upon singly and there was not a word of comment made from start to finish.

Later in the evening, Chairman Frank Randolph brought up the increased force project and offered a resolution, specifying that the number of regular men should be twenty-six and that the mayor be empowered to make the necessary number of appointments to fill up. He added by way of explanation that while the department at the present time is allotted seventeen regular men, it has twenty-two, five of them being probation men. The change would allow their confimration and the appointment of four others.

Mr. Tyler was quickly on his feet to remonstrate against what he called "more than a fifty per cent. increase in the regular force" and asserted the belief that twenty-two would be plenty enough at this time.

"If you want more men to do active duty," he said, addressing Mr. Randolph, "you can appoint probationers as you have been doing and so get your twenty-six. I for one do not like the idea of this jump from seventeen to twenty-six and I make an amendment to the motion that the regular number be twenty-two."

Further sparring followed this move and when the vote was called for, only Messrs. Buxton, Montgomery, Charles Randolph and Frank Randolph stood against the amendment. As Councilman Tyler had won out they made it unanimous when the regular vote was taken.

In connection with police business, George Dobson and Theodore Martin, who have been probation men, were made regulars and four new probationers were named. They are Tobias Nolan, Richard Overland, Frank Sweeney and Cornelius McCarthy.

Mayor Fisk named the usual list of special policemen and appointed several new ones, among them Joseph Cooney, who has been a private watchman in the West Seventh street section for many years. A resolution introduced by Mr. Mellick further in the meeting fixes the number of specials at fifty-five.

Building Auto Garage.

Andrew C. Thompson, automobile dealer, is having a cement block one-story automobile garage and salesroom built on Park avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets, next to Harper's stationery store, which will be one of the best equipped automobile garages in this city. Contracts have been given out and work will commence at once, and will be completed about April 1.

George Whitlock Unfortunate.

George Whitlock, of East Front street, only a few months ago he fell and fractured his arm, which laid him up three or four weeks. Last week he slipped and fell on the ice in front of his home and severely injured his knee which now detains him at home.

Storing Dynamite Carelessly.

New York, Feb. 26.—Seven permits for the storing of dynamite held by the contractors who are digging the Pennsylvania tunnel and the Belmont tunnels were revoked yesterday afternoon by Hugh Bonner, acting commissioner of the Fire Department. His action was based upon the report of the acting chief inspector of the Bureau of Combustibles, Franz S. Wolf, who had addressed letters to him in which it was declared that carelessness in the storage of explosives by the contractors had resulted in loss of life and menace to workingmen employed in the two tunnels. The contractors concerned are the Degnon Contracting Company, which is driving the Belmont tube to Queens borough, and S. Pearson & Son, the British firm which is engaged in making the Pennsylvania tunnel under the East river, and in Thirty-third street.

Mother Saw Son End Life.

New York, Feb. 26.—Jacob Gross, thirty-two years old, a once prosperous dyer at No. 132 West Twentieth street, committed suicide with poison in the presence of his aged mother, dying before a physician could reach his side. He had been out playing cards with friends in a cafe for an hour or more before taking the poison in his brother's stationery store, at No. 331 East 100th street, where his mother was. "That is the last of me," he exclaimed to her as he swallowed the dose.

Secretary Shaw Gets a Job.

New York, Feb. 26.—Leslie M. HAS NO RIGHT TO FIX RATES OF FARE.

Supreme Court Decision Upsets Contention of Hudson Board of Freeholders.

Trenton, Feb. 26.—Justice Swayze yesterday handed down an opinion in the Supreme Court holding that the State of New Jersey has no right to fix the rates of fare for passengers on ferries crossing the Hudson river.

This important public question was raised in certiorari proceedings instituted by the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad Company against the Hudson County Board of Freeholders, who claimed the right to limit ferry fares under an ancient act of 1797. The court holds that the subject is one involving interstate commerce, and as such the power of the government is absolute. Neither the freeholders nor the Legislature has any rights in the premises.

The court yesterday reversed the action of Judge Frederick W. Stuhr, of the District Court of Hoboken, in granting a non-suit in the proceedings instituted by Colonel Lewis T. Bryant, as commissioner of Labor, against George Mandel, of Hoboken, for the illegal employment of child labor. The court directed a new trial. This, however, will not take place, as the defendant's counsel, in anticipation of an adverse decision, settled the case by paying the penalty sued for after the case had been argued before the Supreme Court.

Justice Fort filed an opinion which is adverse to Andrew McNeal, of Burlington, in the fight he has been waging against the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry Company, formerly known as the Pipe Trust. Mr. McNeal attacked the election of directors upon various grounds. The court holds that where a corporation keeps no transfer book, but uses its stock certificate book in lieu thereof, if the latter be present at the time of the election, together with all other books of the company, then the resulting election of directors is not illegal.

The result of the decision is to dismiss the petition with costs. Ex-Mayor Katzenbach, of Trenton, who represented McNeal, said that an appeal would be taken immediately.

—The Jolly Twenty-four Club will hold a dance in the Camera Club rooms Friday night.

—Judge William Newcorn, of the district court, has frequently been called upon to preside in the district court, Elizabeth, on account of the illness of Judge C. Addison Swift. The latter is now quite ill with pleurisy.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac L. Brown, of Brooklyn, who have been visiting Mrs. L. J. Denton, of Washington avenue, have returned home.

NEW DRESS FABRICS.

FOREIGN AND AMERICAN LOOMS CONTRIBUTE.

Distinctive and beautiful weaves from France form the great bulk of this splendid collection of dress fabrics. Surely we have not presented richer stuffs than these. Certainly no other store in Jersey has shown a line nearly so elegant, refined and truly exclusive. Voiles as well to the fore. In Paris voiles are universal—worn on the street, at receptions, at evening functions—everywhere. But voiles do not by any means monopolize the field, as you will learn when you see the wide variety embraced in the magnificent stocks here assembled.

Here are hints:

COLORED FABRICS.

Fancy Mixtures; strictly all wool; 45 inches wide in many pretty checked and striped effects, in gray and tan; sure to prove immensely popular at our low price of $1.00.

French Suitings—46 inches wide; medium weight; strictly all wool; in gray, tan, blue and green mixtures for only $1.10.

Fancy Checks and Plaids in neat hairline effects on rich light grounds, at $1.25 and $1.50.

Imported Suitings from Bradford; 45 inches wide; in exquisite stripes and checks; sponged and shrunk ready for the needle; particularly beautiful; priced at $1.89.

Imported French Suitings; 46 inches wide, in richest pastel shades—grays, greens, tans, and others in an exceptional variety of pretty checks, stripes and plaids; exclusive and rich; $1.50, $1.75, $1.89 and $2.25.

Lupin's Chiffon Voile—46 inches wide; strictly all wool; light and crisp; will drape beautifully; all colors to choose from; a prime favorite; only $1.25.

Lupin's Shadow Checked Taffeta—44 inches wide; very light in weight and soft in finish; may be had in all the new street shades as well as in cream; priced at only $1.00.

Shadow Striped Batiste—44 inches wide; French make; soft and light; here in all the leading Spring shades for only 89c.

All-wool Suitings—In novelty plaids and stripes; 52 inches wide, good weight; excellent for tailored suits; priced at $1.00.

Lansdowne—Too well known to need any description here; sure to be one of the big sellers this season; fully 40 shades here to choose from; priced at $1.25.

BLACK DRESS GOODS.

See this season's beautiful Fancy Voiles, Eoliennes, Silk Voiles, All Wool Voiles, Chiffon Voiles, Panamas, Batiste, Taffetas and Silk Warp Fabrics, Henriettas, Fancy Mohairs and others equally good.

Lupin's Batiste in stripes and checks; fine and soft; a rich, deep black; 44 inches wide; 89c and $1.00 a yard.

Lupin's All-Wool Taffetas; 44 inches wide; medium weight; a rich guaranteed black, $1.00 and $1.25.

Priestly's All-Wool Voile; extremely light, a beautiful silk finish; 42 to 45 inches wide; $1.00, $1.25 and $1.50.

Priestley's Eudors; beautiful jet black; soft, silken finish; 40 inches wide, at $1.50.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Jolly Jefferson De Angelis, foremost of American comic opera comedians, assisted by one of the strongest singing organizations ever combined, will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tonight in his newest comic opera success, "The Girl and the Governor." The librettist is S. M. Brenner, and the music is by Julian Edwards, who is credited with contributing the most delightful melodies that he has ever composed, and it will be remembered that he is responsible for such famous successes as "The Wedding Day," "Dolly Varden," "The Three Muskateers," "Brian Boru" and a dozen others.

At the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night Archie L. Shepard will present an excellent programme of high class moving pictures that for excellence of material and choice of selection has not been equalled in the course of such entertainments hertofore. Comedy of course will be uppermost in the programme though care has been taken to install as great a variety of subjects as is possible in order that all may be entertained and pleased. It is an entertainment that especially appeals to everybody to while away an evening pleasantly. Constant changes is the watchword and a variety that includes subjects of travel, current events, magic, mirth, mystery, vaudeville, comedy, drama, history, pageant and every phase of the commercial and theatrical life will be a sure antidote for ennui.

For the most part the average musical comedy is an ill-assorted conglomeration of vaudeville specialties and the latest catchy song hits strung together without semblance of plot, and with but a faint attempt towards coherence. "Happy Hooligan's Trip Around the World," the attraction booked at the New Plainfield theatre Thursday afternoon and night as a benefit to Treasurer Cunningham, differs materially in this respect as the announcements give absolute assurance of the employment of a comprehensive story, fraught with rollicking humor and unfolding a long list of genuine laugh surprises, while the musical numbers are free from interpolations, all of them having been specially composed for the purpose of fitting the dramatic action of the comedy. Not a few of these compositions have preceded the forthcoming visit of "Happy Hooligan's Trip Around the World," and have for some time past been whistled, hummed and played hereabouts with keenest delight and therefore to hear them rendered by a conspicuous aggregation of talented actors is anticipated with no small pleasure.

A brand new edition of "Hans and Nix," under the management of Walters and Mathews, with Gordon and Gilbert, the well-known German comedians, in the title roles, will be presented here for the first time at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night. While the piece is built along the line of musical comedy, in some instances its score is said to rise to the dignity of light opera. The play itself is reported to be highly entertaining and diverting, and to sparkle with musical and terpsichorean novelties. As a vehicle for the introduction of Gordon and Gilbert's inimitable drolleries, it is apparently perfect. The supporting company is very meritorious. Several unusually catchy airs are spoken of as being prominent in the musical score—"My Pansy," "Hey Rube," "Is Everybody Happy?" "Toyland," "Unsophisticated Maid," "Idaho," "Milo," "My Irish Rose," "Beatrice Fairfacts," have become some of the famous ditties of the day.

The New Plainfield theatre has an attraction next Saturday afternoon and night by P. H. Sullivan's big production of "A Woman of Fire." The play was written by Theo. Kremer and is in four acts and nine sensational scenes. It is entirely different from all previous attempts in melodramas. There is enough of comedy running through the performance to make it one of the interesting features. Thrilling climaxes and sensational situations abound, which keep the audience in a constant state of excitement from start to finish. The opium joint scene showing men and women in the folds of the drug, is realistic enough to cause a shudder, as the awful depravity of the friends is ably presented. The startling mechanical effects bring about thrilling climaxes. The cast is an unusually good one, while the scenic, electrical and mechanical effects are all that can be desired.

FOR POPULAR ELECTION.

In very short order last night, the Assembly passed a resolution providing that the Legislature as soon as possible notify Congress that New Jersey desires an amendment to the Federal Constitution to permit the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people. This resolution was introduced by Assemblyman Alexander and went through without a dissenting vote. The reason for such action just at this time is best explained by the Hudson lawmaker who stated to the House that:

"There is a popular sentiment toward this amendment. In view of the fact that Congress will adjourn March 4, it is necessary that this resolution be passed at once. By doing so Congress can make the amendment this year, and it can be submitted to the Legislatures of the respective States next year. If this is not done promptly another year will have been lost."

Article V, of the Constitution of the United States, makes provision for the necessary amendment. The article in question is couched in this language: "The Congress, whenever two-thirds of both Houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this Constitution; or, on the applications of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several Sates, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which in either case shall be valid, to all intents and purposes, as part of this Constitution, when ratified by the Legislatures of three-fourths of the several States, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the Congress * *."

MORE REGULAR POLICEMEN.

No great harm would have been done the city had the Common Council last night seen fit to increase the regular police force to twenty-six men. It appears to be a sad condition of affairs when second story jobs and other forms of burglaries are commonly attributed to the fact that there are not a sufficient number of policemen patrolling the streets at night; yet such is the case. When it is realized that some of those on duty after nightfall have "beats" covering over five miles of city streets, anyone can readily see why it is next to impossible for the department to obtain the best possible results. According to reliable reports, Orange, Montclair and many other nearby places have a larger proportion of policemen.

If Chief Kiely is to be expected to maintain his department at the very highest possible standard of excellence, his recommendations should be complied with. There is no criticism to be made in this respect so far as the Councilmanic police board is concerned for that body was fully in accord with his views. The trouble lay with the Common Council.

An exchange works itself into a frenzy for fear that Mr. Stokes runs the risk of being nominated for the Vice Presidency of the United States. The Governor is an exceptionally capable man without doubt but anyone at all acquainted with politics knows that there is just as much danger of his being picked as the candidate for this high office as there is of James E. Martine being the next Governor of New Jersey.

Each succeeding meeting demonstrates more clearly that before anything can get through the Common Council it must first satisfy the Tyler.

Westfield's New Policeman.

Henry J. Gaffney, who has been connected with the Central Railroad police department for the last seven years, and whose home is at Somerville, was appointed a regular policeman on the town force of Westfield by the Council last night. He is a brother of John J. Gaffney, a local reporter.

latter body should be fully supported not only by the Government but by the various States and local municipalities. In giving a brief history of the army from its inception he compared the soldiers from the different nations as he met them in China and praised the United States troops for their gallant service and heroic deeds at that time. Yet he believed that much remains to be done to bring the regular army and its system up to a high standard of efficiency. He did not fail to note the cleverness of the Japanese soldiers.

County Chairman F. H. Smith accepting the opportunity to add to Judge Newcorn's words that if the latter would draft a bill for an armory in Plainfield, he thought he would be able to secure its introduction in the Legislature, although he was not prepared to state just what influence he has at the present time. He added that the Republicans of Union county are not trying to defeat Col. Collins for the position of Brig.-General, but on the contrary are giving him their united support and he himself had spoken to Governor Stokes, asking him to do what he could for his election.

L. B. Wooiston congratulated the members upon their excellent showing and thanked them for their hospitality. In concluding the speechmaking, Major Martin made a few remarks, commenting upon the excellent record since its organization six years ago as the baby company in the regiment, and in speaking of the election of a Brig.-General he said that he was pleased to state that he has a vote and that the officers of the Second Regiment will stand pat for Col. Collins. It has five votes, six being necessary for a choice out of ten, and he added if the Governor attempts to appoint a successor to Gen. Gilmore there will be "nothing doing" for a man must be elected.

Dr. Kempton Browning, former captain, recounted the company's success from organization and predicted a great future for it.

Major Martin said that he intended to lend his best efforts to the promotion of rifle practice and that he would challenge Co. K to a match to be held at the local armory. He also intends to take up the instruction of first aid to the injured.

The festivities closed with a few remarks by Lieut. Kitchell, who is to be the new captain; First Lieut. Charles Peterson and Second Lieut. A. I. Littell, each one thanking the members for the honors conferred and promising to do all in their power to make the company the best in the State.

"THE WILLING WORKERS" OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY.

H. J. Martin's Bible Class Provide an Excellent Entertainment for Its Friends.

H. J. Martin's Bible Class, "The Willing Workers," of Trinity Reformed church Sunday-school, celebrated its fifth anniversary in the lecture room of the church, last night, with a musical and literary entertainment. Mr. Martin and his class extended an invitation to the various Bible classes of the school and there was a large attendance of members and friends to enjoy the social features as well as the entertainment.

The programme opened with a selection by Prof. Martin A. Korff's Vivo Orchestra and several numbers were rendered throughout the evening. In place of Miss Caroline Lambert, reader, who could not be present, Miss Justine Roberts, of Brooklyn, appeared. She was given a hearty welcome by her many friends and her recitations were well received, being obliged to respond to several encores. Another feature of the programme was the singing by Mrs. Thomas McDonald, soprano. She was accompanied by Miss Hazel Martin on the piano.

During the social hour which followed the rendition of the programme, refreshments were served by the members of Mr. Martin's class. This organization was formed in 1902 by Mr. Martin and since that time it has been an important factor in the Christian activities of the Sunday-school and church.

Lecture on Peru.

The New York Herald says of Harriet Chalmers Adams, who is to deliver a travel talk on "Peru" Friday night at the Y. M. C. A. Hall:

"There arrived in New York about a month ago a little Western woman whose travels during the last three years are worthy of note. A native of California, Mrs. Franklin Adams had been interested since childhood in the early Spanish history of her State and, after visiting Mexico, determined to know Latin America as no traveller before her had known it. With her husband she sailed three winters ago out of the Golden Gate and toward those faraway south lands so rich in the promise of unusual experiences. After crossing the far famed Lake of Titicaca and visiting La Paz, the quaint capital of Bolivia, came a journey in the saddle during which the most severe hardships were endued, for the trail lay along that bleak plateau which rivals Thibet as the roof of the world. Here scattered groups of the Quichuas still exist, unchanged since the days of the Spanish conquest, the remnants of that mighty race, greatest of the New World aborigines." Two hundred color pictures illustrate the lecture. Seats on sale at Hodge's drug store.

$300,000 BOND FOR VOORHEES.

New State Treasurer's Surety to Be Reported Today.

State House, Trenton, Feb. 26.—The bond of State Treasurer Daniel S. Voorhees, in the sum of $300,000, was read by Secretary Howard L. Tyler and approved by the Senate. The bondsmen are Edward Spath, Anthony R. Kuser, James H. McGraw, John S. Kuser, Moses K. Everett, David P. McClellan, John H. Capstick, David Young, John C. Eisele and George A. Squire.

In the House a special committee, composed of Abram Klenert, Alfred N. Barber and John J. Baader, was appointed to pass on the bond and report today.

Mae Wood Sues Platt Again.

New York, Feb. 26.—Suit has been brought in the Supreme Court of this city by Miss Mae Catherine Wood against United States Senator Thomas C. Platt, and there is every likelihood that it will create a sensation when it comes to trial. As the case now stands the complaint and the answer have been served, and unless the lawyers go into court with some motion the suit cannot be heard until it is reached on the calendar for trial. Miss Wood, who is at Colon, Mich., is quoted as saying: "I instituted divorce proceedings on December 27 last in New York against Senator Platt through my attorney, Mr. O'Flaharity. I have named sixteen women as co-respondents. The trial will disclose crimes of various kinds."

FEAR BROOK POLLUTION

Improvement Association Objects to City Making Sewage Contract.

HOSPITAL GETS $1,000

Allotment By Common Council For Care of Poor Patients—Money for Firemen's Fund.

Besides disposing of the liquor license applications and the police promotions, the Common Council transacted a large amount of routine business at the special meeting last night.

The Greenbrook Improvement Association, an organization composed of residents living just east of Bound Brook, presented a long communication protesting against any contract being entered into which will permit North Plainfield to empty sewage in the city contact beds. They asserted that it was likely to pollute Green Brook and endanger the health of the residents along the stream; also that the city and borough would be jointly held liable. The matter was referred to the committee on streets and sewers.

Residents of Berkeley avenue and Denmark road complained of lack of fire protection and as a started asked that an alarm box be located at the intersection of those thoroughfares. F. Ferbert asked permission to erect a one-story cement block building at 415 Park avenue to be used as an auto garage. Mr. Hibbard recommended that it be granted and it was referred to the fire and buildings committee. Another petition came from residents of Jackson avenue, between East Front and East Second streets, who feel that a hydrant is needed in that section.

An appropriation of $1,000 was made for the care of the city's patients at Muhlenberg Hospital for the coming year and $300 was fixed as the sum for keeping the city dumps in shape. An application from B. Fosgate to alter the building at 120 West Fourth street, owned by Bernard Mann, was granted and John J. Neylon was appointed a call man in the fire department to succeed Daniel Force, resigned.

On a resolution introduced by Mr. Hibbard, the theatre license collected for 1905 was turned over to the firemen's pension fund. It amounts to $50. Another resolution was introduced, ordering the publishing of the consolidation commission's notice in both city newspapers.

Mr. Hibbard introduced a resolution calling for the purchase of 1,000 feet of fire hose for the use of the city department, at a cost not to exceed ninety cents per feet. Mr. Buxton promptly oered an amendment to make it 2,000 feet and was seconded by Frank Randolph, but the amendment was lost. The resolution was carried as originally put.

WANT PAY FOR COUNCILMEN.

Orange Citizens Appear at Hearing at Trenton.

Trenton, Feb. 26.—The house committee on municipal corporations gave a hearing last night on Assemblyman Daniel J. Brady's bill, providing that common councils or governing bodies of cities may fix the salaries of their members, not exceeding $500 a year. City Counsel William A. Lord, Councilman E. Sperry and Arthur B. Seymour, of Orange, spoke. They favored a salary of $300 for aldermen. Orange Councilmen not get $2 a meeting, an average of $70 a year.

An informal discussion followed, and the matter will be decided at a later meeting.

Window Cleaners Killed.

New York, Feb. 26.—Miachel Kepeffy, thirty-one years old, employed by the Cosmopolitan Window Cleaning Company, while cleaning a window at No. 102 Warren street, slipped and fell five stories, crashed through a glass awning and died a few minutes later at the Hudson Street Hospital. Less than an hour later another cleaner, employed by the same company, at work at No. 15 Mercer street, slipped, and he fell to the street and was killed. It was his first day's work for the company and his name had not been obtained.

LAWS FOR CORPORATION OF JERSEY TRUSTS REVISED.

Orange New England Society Names Committee to Present Subject to the Legislature.

Orange, Feb. 26.—President Wilson Farrand, of the New England Society of the Oranges, has announced the following committee on revision of the corporation laws of New Jersey: Wilson Farrand, chairman ex-officio; Charles A. Boston, Frederick W. Kelsey, Alexander King, Lawrence A. Norton, the Rev. Adolph Roeder and Albridge C. Smith.

To this committee has been delegated the duty of going to Trenton this week to present a bill amending the corporation laws of the State in several particulars. The document will be the result of months of work on the part of the society, the members of which have gone over the corporation laws picking out the sections which authorize fraud and amending them so that stockholders and the general public will be protected.

Probably the most important amendments the committee will ask the Legislature to pass deals with the law authorizing the incorporation of holding companies. The society has adopted a resolution declaring in favor of an amendment of the statute so as to prevent absolutely the control of one company by another.

To prevent over-capitalization, it is proposed that the certificate of capital filed by a corporation must state the value of the real property of the corporation, and must show how much, if any, of the stock issue was for the purpose of paying dividends or for expenses incurred. There is also a section providing for the repeal of the iniquitous promoters' liability bill, in accordance with the bill Senator Colby tried to get through last year.

MR. OSBORNE FAVORS ABOLISHING DUNGEON.

Move Is Along Lines He Has Already Taken Up and Which Has Been Copied at Sing Sing.

Principal Keeper George O. Osborne of the New Jersey State prison is heartily in favor of removing the dark dungeons in the prison as provided by the bill introduced by Mr. Tumulty, of Hudson county, at the request of Speaker Lethbridge.

The bill was inspired by a lecture in East Orange recently by Mrs. Maybrick, who for many years was confined in prison in England on the charge of poisoning her husband. She has lectured all over the country and said New Jersey was one of the few states in the union which still permitted dungeons to be used.

When asked for his views on the bill yesterday by a reporter, Mr. Osborne said: "That bill will give me the power which I have longed for ever since I came to the institution, March 5, 1902. We need places for punishing men who refuse to work or obey the keepers. My idea of this is to keep them in solitary confinement away from the other prisoners, but with the proper convenience of light and air. I have remedied this partly by having windows placed in the basement of the tier on the east side. These windows open in the yard but are away from the other prisoners, and the only inconvenience a man suffers is isolation. The old dungeons were hard, dark cells and the only person the prisoner saw was the man who served him with his meals. There was neither light nor air and the man was compelled to sleep on the hard stone floor.

"I want plenty of light and air in these so-called dungeons. Solitary confinement will soon make a man submit to the rules and behave himself. The old style dungeons are horrifying holes and no matter how bad a prisoner has been I have always felt that some other punishment should be meeted out to him rather than confinement in such a place.

"The abolition of the lock-step, the stripes and the hair-shaving by me after I came has had its telling effect upon the men. One form of punishment here is to place a man back in stripes for a period of three months, and he must work his way back to the gray clothes by good behaviour. This good behaviour must be attested to by the shop deputy and the deputy directly over the man, that he has conducted himself in an orderly manner during that time.

"Sing Sing and other institutions have followed my precedent along these lines and they all report good results. I have found in my 30 years and more handling such persons as come to these institutions that treatment such as you would like yourself is the best means of persuasion, and nine cases out of ten you can conquer a man in this way rather than by dark and airless dungeons."

THE GENTLER SEX.

Sunday afternoon an Atchison young lady complained of sore and tired feet. She was so crippled that her father carried her up stairs. A few hours later she was invited to attend a dancing party that night. She not only went, but danced until 3 o'clock Sunday morning.—Atchison Globe.

In one of his essays Mr. Benson pictures a simple life as led by a charming and fashionable lady of his acquaintance. Although she was the possessor of several magnificent residences, she purchased a cottage in a secluded spot, furnished it in the most austere—and expensive—fashion, and several times a year motored down there with two or three friends to spend three days in simple living. The only signs of simplicity to the complex mind, Mr. Benson declares, were that there were only five courses at dinner and that two goats were tethered on the lawn. The goats were understood to be the seal and symbol of the simple life. No use was made of them, and they were decidedly in the way, but without them life would have become complicated at once.—Youth's Companion.

The intelligent women of Washington, and there are many, who are inclined to like politics, much after the manner of Lady Glencora Palliser, will find Mrs. James Bryce very entertaining. She is the daughter of a wealthy cotton spinning house, the Ashtons of Flowery Field, her father being one of those British manufacturers who flourished intellectually as well as pecuniarily in the time of Gladstone, Bright and Cobden. The Ashton daughters were brought up in an atmosphere of politics, when politics consisted especially of questions of principle and the houses of the northern and western captains of finance and industry resounded with argumentation heated in the fire of moral indignation. The women of that kind of family know about that kind of politics, and if any ladies in Washington are ready to discuss free trade, reciprocity, universal peace, woman suffrage or colonial problems Mrs. Brice will be a very stimulating lady for them to know. But perhaps they would not find her caring much for the personal fortunes of any statesman but Mr. Bryce. Besides, she is very pleasant to look upon.—Harper's Weekly.

TEMPLE AND HIS MOTHER.

"In the biography of Archbishop Temple, one of the most robust and masculine minds that ever sat in the throne of Canterbury, there is placed opposite the title page a photograph of Temple and his mother, taken when he was head master of Rugby," says Bishop Potter, in Harper's Bazar for March. "It was an intuition of genius that placed it there; for nobody can read the splendid story of Temple's life so resolute, so courageous, so untiring, without seeing that in that woman, humanely speaking, was his highest inspiration. It was not a great while before the widow of Captain Temple and the contributor to 'Essays and Reviews' drew apart, so far as their theological opinions were concerned; but never, through all his long and memorable life, was there in Temple the faintest movement of surrender of that high ideal of duty which his mother, long before, had taught him!

"Turn now, if you will, to the modern mother and the modern home. 'Oh, Tom, you must not bother me! I am dressing to go to the play, and your father is swearing downstairs that if I'm not ready in five minutes he will go without me!' Oh, mother, suppose that you had let him go without you, and had given your evening to your boy; perhaps the time would never have come when, a few years later, he sat at your table with coarse speech and averted eye, and went from it to companionship so vile and vicious that you dared not even think of them."

The Land of Opportunity.

Twenty-five years ago the cattle trade of Western Canada totaled twenty-five head. Now there are a million and a quarter animals grazing on these great pastures; just double that of two years ago. One-half of this number, it can be safely said, are cattle, the rest sheep and horses. An authority claims that there are not less than one hundred million acres of good grazing country in Canada's west. The figures are staggering, but they are no doubt true. The possibilities of stock-raising pass beyond the limits of mathematical computation. Horses, cattle and sheep winter out well, and in many sections no shelter is provided against the snow and winter cold, for the simple reason that none is needed.

A Big Calculation in Water.

The ocean, sea and lake surface of our planet is estimated at something like 145,000,000 square miles, with an average depth of 12,000 feet, and is calculated to contain not less than 3,270,600,000,000,000 tons of water. The rivers of the earth are estimated to have a flow sufficient to cover thirty-six cubic miles of the above area each day. Now, if all the oceans were suddenly dried and the rivers could keep up their present rate of flow, which, of course, they could not without ocean evaporation, it would take 3,500 years to fill the basin.

OPEN SATURDAY EVENINGS

By MEREDITH NICHOLSON

AUTHOR OF "THE MAIN CHANCE," "ZELDA DANEROFF," ETC.

COPYRIGHT 1905 BY BOBBS-MERRILL CO.

"Before we part for ever?" There was a mischievous hint of the Olivia in short skirts in her tone.

"Please don't suggest it! Our times have been strange and few. There was that first night when you called to me from the lake."

"How impertinent! How dare you remember that?"

"And there was the snow storm and at the chapel porch last night. Neither you nor I had the slightest business there. But you spoke as though you understood what you must have heard, and you say you know Arthur Pickering. It is important for me to know—I have a right to know just what you meant by that warning."

Real distress showed in her face for an instant. The agent and his helpers rushed the last baggage down the platform as the rails hummed their warning of the approaching train.

Her Eyes Met Mine Easily; Their Azure Depths Puzzled Me.

"I was eavesdropping on my own account," she said hurriedly, and with a note of finality. "I was there by intention, and"—there was another hint of the tam-o'-shanter in the mirth that seemed to bubble for a moment in her throat—"it's too bad you did not see me, for I had on my prettiest gown, and the fog wasn't good for it. But you know as much of what was said as I do. You are a man, and I have heard that you have had some experience in taking care of yourself, Mr. Glenarm."

"To be sure; but there are times—"

"Yes, there are times when the odds seem rather heavy. I have noticed that myself."

She smiled, but for an instant a sad look came into her eyes—a look that vaguely but insistently suggested another time and place.

"I want you to come back," I said boldly, for the train was very near and I felt that the eyes of the Sisters were upon us. "You can not go away where I shall not find you!"

I did not know who this girl was, her home, or her relation to the school, but I knew that her life and mine had touched strangely; that her eyes were blue, and that her voice had called to me twice through the dark, in mockery once, and in warning another time, and that the sense of having seen her before, of having looked into her eyes haunted me. The youth in her was so luring; she was at once so frank and so guarded—breeding and the taste and training of an ampler world than that of Annandale were so evidenced in the witchery of her voice, in the grace and ease that marked her every motion, in the soft gray tone of hat, dress and gloves, that a new mood, a new hope and faith sang in my pulses. There, on that platform, I felt again the sweet heartache I had known as a boy, when spring first warmed the Vermont hillsides and the monutains sent the last snows singing in joy of their release down through the brook-beds and into the wakened heart of youth.

She met my eyes steadily.

"If I thought there was the slightest chance of my ever seeing you again I shouldn't be talking to you here. But I thought—I thought it would be good fun to see how you really talked to a grown-up. So I am risking the displeasure of these good Sisters just to test your conversational powers, Mr. Glenarm. You see how perfectly frank I am."

"But you forget that I can follow you; I don't intend to sit down in this hole and dream about you. You can't go anywhere but I shall follow and find you."

"That is finely spoken, Squire Glenarm! But I imagine you are hardly likely to go far from Glenarm very soon. I don't hesitate to say that I feel perfectly safe from pursuit!"—and she laughed her little low laugh that was delicious in its mockery.

I felt the blood mounting to my cheek. She knew, then, that I was virtually a prisoner at Glenarm, and for once in my life, at least, I was ashamed of my folly that had caused my grandfather to hold and check me from the grave, as he had never been able to control me in his life. The countryside knew why I was at Glenarm, and that did not matter, but my heart rebelled at the thought that this girl knew and mocked me with her knowledge.

"I shall follow and find you," I repeated. "I shall see you Christmas eve," I said, "wherever you may be."

"In three days! Then you will come to my Christmas eve party. I shall be delighted to see you,—and flattered! Just think of throwing away a fortune to satisfy one's curiosity! I'm surprised at you, but gratified, on the whole, Mr. Glenarm!"

"I will give more than a fortune; I will give the honor I have pledged to my grandfather's memory to hear your voice again."

"That is a great deal,—for so small a voice; but money, fortune! A man will risk his honor readily enough, but his fortune is a more serious matter. I'm sorry we shall not meet again. It would be pleasant to discuss the subject further. It interests me particularly."

"In three days I shall see you," I said.

She was instantly grave.

"No! Please do not try. It would be a very great mistake. And, anyhow, you can hardly come to my party without being invited."

"That matter is closed. Wherever you are on Christmas eve I shall find you," I said, and felt my heart leap, knowing that I meant what I said.

"Good-by," she said, turning away. "I'm sorry I shan't ever chase rabbits at Glenarm any more."

"Or paddle a canoe, or play wonderful celestial music on the organ."

"Or be an eavesdropper or hear pleasant words from the master of Glenarm—"

"But I don't know where you are going—you haven't told me anything—you are slipping out into the world—"

She did not hear or would not answer. The train roared up to the platform, and she was at once surrounded by a laughing throng of departing students. Two brown-robed Sisters stood like sentinels, one at either side, as she stepped into the car. I was conscious of a feeling that from the depths of their hoods they regarded me with un-Christian disdain. Through the windows I could see the students fluttering to seats, and the girl in gray seemed to be marshaling them. The gray hat appeared at a window for an instant, and her smiling face gladdened, I am sure, the guardians of the peace at St. Agatha's.

The last trunk crashed into the baggage car, every window framed a girl's face, and the train was gone.

CHAPTER XVI.
The Passing of Olivia.

It was from Stoddard that I learned the truth about Olivia, and I am not, I fear, greatly ashamed of having invited him to dinner merely to pump him as to the Armstrongs of Cincinnati and their daughter. Olivia's father, Stoddard informed me, was a retired physician of wealth, who lived at Walnut Hills. I can hear now the great roars of laughter that broke from him as I kept protesting that the girl in gray I had seen at the Annandale station was Olivia Gladys Armstrong. It was only when we settled down to a comparison of our impressions that the truth gradually dawned upon me—that the girl in gray was not Olivia Gladys Armstrong but Marian Devereux. The whole thing was ridiculous—my density, my stupid acceptance of the ground on which Marian Devereux had chosen to meet me; and I was not convinced until the big chaplain had given me a circumstantial description of the real Olivia—a child of 15, with a gypsy face and dark hair and eyes.

"Where has Miss Devereux gone?"

"Why, to Cincinnati, with Olivia Gladys Armstrong," he answered. "They's great chums, you know."

On top of my mail next morning lay a small envelope, unstamped, and addressed to me in a free running hand.

"Ferguson, the gardner, left it," explained Bates.

I opened and read:

"If convenient will Mr. Glenarm kindly look in at St. Agatha's some day this week at four o'clock. Sister Theresa wishes to see him."

I whistled softly. My feelings toward Sister Theresa had been those of utter repugnance and antagonism. I had been avoiding her studiously and was not a little surprised that she should seek an interview with me. Quite possibly she wished to inquire how soon I expected to abandon Glenarm House; or perhaps she wished to admonish me as to the perils of my soul. In any event I liked the quality of her note and I was curious to know why she sent for me; moreover, Marian Devereux was her niece and this knowledge had changed my attitude toward the institution beyond the wall.

At four o'clock I passed into St. Agatha's territory and rang the bell at the door of the building where I had left Olivia the evening I found her in the chapel. A Sister admitted me, led the way to a small reception room where, I imagined, the visiting parent was received, and left me. I felt a good deal like a school boy who has been summoned before a severe master for discipline. I was idly beating my hat with my gloves when a quick step sounded in the hall and instantly a brown-clad figure appeared in the doorway.

It was a deep, rich voice, a voice of assurance, a voice, let me say, of the world—the voice, too, I may add, of a woman who is likely to come to the point without ado. The white hand at her forehead brought into relief two wonderful gray eyes that were alight with kindliness. She surveyed me a moment, then her lips parted with a smile.

"This room is rather forbidding; if you will come with me—"

She turned with an air of authority that was a part of her undeniable distinction, and I was seated a moment later in a pretty sitting room whose windows gave a view of the dark winter wood and frozen lake beyond.

"I'm afraid, Mr. Glenarm, that you are not disposed to be neighborly, and you must pardon me if I seem to be pursuing you."

Her smile, her voice, her manner were charming. I had pictured her a sour old woman, who had hidden away from a world that had offered her no pleasure.

"The apologies must all be on my side, Sister Theresa. I have been greatly occupied since coming here—distressed and perplexed, even."

"Our young ladies treasure the illusion that there are ghosts in your house," she said, with a smile that disposed of the matter.

She folded her slim white hands and spoke with simple directness.

"Mr. Glenarm, there is something I wish to ask you, but I can say it only if we are to be friends. I have feared you might look upon us here as enemies."

"That is a strong word," I replied evasively.

"Let me say to you that I hope very much that nothing will prevent your inheriting all that Mr. Glenarm wished you to have from him."

"Thank you; that is both kind and generous," I said with no little surprise.

"Not in the least. I should be disloyal to your grandfather, who was my friend and the friend of my family if I did not feel kindly toward you and wish you well. And I must say for my niece—"

"Miss Devereux." I found a certain pleasure in pronouncing her name.

"Miss Devereux is very greatly disturbed over the good intentions of your grandfather in placing her name in his will. You can doubtless understand how uncomfortable a person of any sensibility would be under the circumstances. I'm sorry you have never met her. She is a very charming young lady whose happiness does not, I may say, depend on other people's money."

She had never told, then! I smiled at the recollection of our interviews.

SEQUEL TO AN ODD ROMANCE.

Back of Wedding Commissioner and Widow Lies a Strange Story.

Red Bank, Feb. 26.—Commissioner Robert T. Smith and Mrs. James Brown were married Sunday night, and their wedding is the sequel to a romance. Ten years ago Miss Elizabeth T. Reed was married to James Brown, who at that time conducted a grocery store at Little Silver. Because Mrs. Maria A. Coburn, Miss Reed's aunt, objected to Brown's suit, she was for a long while kept in ignorance of the wedding. The couple did not live together, and finally Brown, tiring of that sort of a married life, concluded to let the cat out of the bag.

His wife, however, got him to change his mind, for a time at least. A few years later Brown made the marriage public, and the announcement made quite a stir. A short time afterward Mrs. Brown instituted proceedings for divorce from Brown on the ground of desertion. Two weeks ago Brown died at the Long Branch Hospital, thus ending the divorce proceedings. Last Wednesday morning Mrs. Maria Coburn, the aunt, died. Last night Mrs. Brown and Commissioner Smith were married by Rev. Alfred Wagg, pastor of the First Methodist church. A few of Mrs. Brown's relatives witnessed the ceremony.

PASSAIC PLAYERS HELP THEM SLIDE INTO THE LEAGUE CELLAR.

There was only one lower place left open for the Y. M. C. A. basketball team when the league game against Passaic opened last night and the Plainfielders promptly fell into it. Passaic won, 29 to 20, and Plainfield is tied for last last place with Rahways. The pessimistic followers of the five see no hope of its ever getting up out of the cellar.

Plainfield played pluckily and well the first half, and led their opponents by 11 to 8 at its close, but Passaic had all the best of it in the second half in form and performance. Collier made a good showing for Plainfield.

ROBBED EMPLOYERS.

Arrest of Two Lithograph Company Employees is Sequel to Thefts.

Elizabeth, Feb. 26.—On a charge of robbing the United States Lithograph Company, two of its employees were arraigned in the Elizabeth Police Court before Judge Mahon yesterday. The prisoners, Frederick Crogue, thirty-six years old, who was engineer of the concern, and Michael Cooney, twenty-eight years old, who was boss steamfitter at the plant, were arrested last Saturday afternoon by Police Captain O'Leary on a complaint made by Superintendent Lee, of the company.

Later, the police say, the men confessed their guilt and implicated Clement G. Lambert, who runs a small machine shop at 447 East Jersey street, Elizabethport. The latter, the prisoners declared, according to the authorities, was a receiver of the stolen goods. The articles missing consist chiefly of brass valves, journals and other machine fittings. The men were bailed to await the grand jury's action.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

The phonograph concert given in Bethel chapel on the night of Washington's Birthday as a benefit for Joseph H. Jones, has netted about $25. Joseph Jones graduated from the city High School last June and is now a freshman at Oberlin College.

The combined choirs of the First M. E. church, this city, and the Presbyterian church, Westfield, will render West's cantata, "Love and Praise," at the Presbyterian church, Westfield, Sunday afternoon, and at the First M. E. church here Sunday night, under the direction of J. Edmund Skiff, organist and choirmaster. The cantata will occupy the whole evening.

The music committee of the First M. E. church has practically decided upon the music for the coming year. J. Edmund Skiff, the present organist and choirmaster, will continue for another year and the vested choir will also be engaged as at present. This form of music has appealed to the members of the church as the best for congregational singing and solo work. The church year will not be up until May 1, but a decision is generally reached at this time of the year to provide against any contingencies that might arise on either side.

YORK, PA., TROOPS NOT THE FIRST TO RESPOND.

Company A of Trenton Was Mustered Into Service Day After President Lincoln's Call.

Dr. Carlos E. Godfrey, historical attache of the adjutant general's department at the State house, has taken exception to a claim for fire defenders' medals which has been made by the members of the old Worth infantry of York, Pa.

The Worth troopers base their claim for such recognition on the minutes of their company, which show that they went into service April 20, 1861, five days after President Lincoln's call for troops to protect the union from secession, asserting that this record makes them the first to respond.

Dr. Godfrey produces records to show that Company A of the National Guard of New Jersey, composed of Trenton men, was sworn into the Federal service April 16, 1861, the morning following the call of Lincoln, and that command was immediately pressed into service to guard the arsenal in Trenton.

This, he asserts, was the first response to the call by any organization in the United States. The members of Company A would have been sworn into service the day the call was issued but for the fact that the news that troops were desired did not reach this city until nightfall.

Dr. Godfrey further claims that the York men are not even the first in the own State to respond to the call. He says the 25th Pennsylvania infantry marched into Washington, under orders, April 18, two days previous to the swearing in the York command.

New Jersey has already provided first defender's medals for the members of Company A, and these emblems are now being worn in many parts of the country where they have been sent to survivors of the old command.

Company A, as an organization, is still in existence, it having later become a part of the reorganized national guard, and is now a part of the Second Regiment. Its early records and muster rolls have been carefully preserved.

Peary Coming.

A trip to the North Pole with Peary in an entirely new illustrated lecture at the Plainfield theatre, Monday evening, March 4, is the next most important attraction for the Plainfield public. The relating of Commander Peary's most thrilling experiences in his efforts to reach the North Pole together with his realistic views of scenes of interest present a lecture most entertaining. The theatre will without doubt be filled by a large an appreciative audience as a big advance sale is being made.

OBITUARY.

Richard C. Barkalew.

Richard C. Barkalew, who was born in this city and lived here until about twenty years ago, died suddenly at his home at 26 Chestnut street, Newark, yesterday morning. He was conversing with his wife when he was suddenly stricken with heart trouble and passed away within a few minutes. Mr. Barkalew was seventy-three years old and was a mason by trade, but had amassed sufficient means to live a retired life. He was one of the charter members of the old Gazelle Engine Company, No. 1, and when he left Plainfield was well known in every part of the city. He was a brother to L. E. Barkalew, of Duerr street, but leaves no family beside his wife. The funeral will be held at his late home tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Sam Yatss.

Word has been received here of the death at Redlands, California, of Sam. Yates, son of the late Joseph W. Yates, of East Seventh street, which occurred yesterday at that place. No particulars have as yet been learned. Mr. Yates was a former resident of Plainfield and spent his younger days here. After locating in California he occasionally visited his former home for brief periods.

Mrs. Margaret L. Cramer.

Mrs. Margaret L. Cramer, widow of Peter F. Cramer, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. C. Baker, of West Fifth street, Saturday. She was in her seventy-eighth year. The funeral will be held at Mrs. Baker's home this afternoon.

JOHN J. GOFF GETS A NEW TRIAL GRANTED.

Fined $1,000 but Supreme Court Sends Case Back to County Court.

The Supreme Court yesterday granted the petition of John J. Goff, of this city, for a new trial, and Prosecutor English will probably move for the new trial at the May term. The petition was granted on a technicality.

Mr. Goff was indicted on a charge of keeping a disorderly house under the common law form which charged gambling, selling liquor on Sunday and that of dissolute women frequenting his place. At the trial Lawyer Wilson, who represented Mr. Goff, requested the court to charge the jury that if the only offense proved by the evidence was that of selling without a license that it could not convict. This the court refused to do, and the Supreme Court has now decided that the trial court was in error in not so charging the jury. Goff had been fined $1,000.

Funeral of Mrs. G. F. Odiorne.

The funeral services of Mrs. George F. Odiorne were held from the late home on Madison avenue, yesterday afternoon. Rev. Dr. J. A. Chambliss officiated. Charles L. Lewis sang two selections. The pallbearers were Winfield S. Angleman, G. W. V. Moy, Millard F. Elderton, John R. Truell, Warren Marsh and John J. Randolph. The remains were placed in the receiving vault at Hillside cemetery.

A FRIEND OF EVERYBODY

John Kean as the Natural Receptacle For All Sorts of Confidences.

HIS EARS WIDE OPEN

Saturday Evening Post Says Union County Statesman Is the Ever-Present Man in the Senate.

The word portrait of John Kean, of Elizabeth, in the current number of the Saturday Evening Post is a most lifelike painting in prose of the senior Senator from New Jersey, and as it will prove interesting to Plainfielders who help him draw dividends by patronizing his water works and who aid in keeping him in political power by voting his ticket at election times, it is herewith reproduced by permission of the editors of that excellent weekly publication:

"Naturally, the Boss of the United States Senate needs legs and ears. Nor is this statement to be taken to mean that Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, who holds that powerful job, has not a full assortment, personally, according to correct physiological standards. What is means is that he needs extra ears and extra legs, and being a good, experienced handy boss, with a card from the bosses' union, he has provided himself skillfully.

"The legs are Murray A. Crane, Senator from Massachusetts, and the ears are John Kean, Senator from New Jersey. It is of the sharpness of the ears, rather than the cavortings of the legs, that this chronicle is writen, for, whatever the possibilities of the legs, they are of little use unless the ears have heard something that furnishes work for the legs to do.

"There are men who invite confidence, and men who repel it. John Kean always has cards out to all the world to come and tell him troubles. Superficially, he seems to be a Professional Genial, with no other mission than to weep with you, laugh with you, and present the hearty handclasp that means so much when you have a cargo of thought that must be unloaded on some friendly dock. John Kean has a winning way with him. Four minutes after you have met him you are telling him your real name, how much you owe the bank, where you intend to spend the summer, and how much trouble your daughter is having bringing her children through the heated spell.

"You can't escape it. John Kean is a natural receptacle for all sorts of confidences, and, while you may know it and resolve to be most conventional in your conversation, very soon you are looking on Kean as your original and personal rock, and you are clinging to him with a frenzied grip and simply forcing him to hear all your hopes, fears and aspirations.

"Still, he doesn't need to be forced. He likes it. It is meat and drink to Kean to potter around and talk to people, and he will talk on any subject that may occur to you. If he wanted to, Kean could be the Pepys of this period, for there is no gossip he doesn't know, and no policy he has not the inside of, no motive that has not been explained to him fully, generallly by men who are afraid to let themselves know what their honest thoughts are.

"There is no eavesdropping about it, no spying about it. Kean simply mingles with everybody and hears everything. He permeates. Whenever there is a measure up in the Senate that is vital, and there appears to be opposition to it, Kean starts out to find where the opposition is, what it is and why it is. Aldrich is a kindly enough person, and is likable and all that, but there are many Senators who will not tell him what they intend to do. Everybody will tell Kean, and everybody knows that Kean is finding out for Aldrich, but nobody protests and all confess. It is only John Kean, you know, who is gossiping with them, and, being human, the average Senator likes to gossip back.

Always Among Those Present.

"Only John Kean—simple soul, genial, kindly, sharer of troubles, helper over rough places, bearer of burdens—only John Kean—simple soul! Ah, yes; simple soul. Simple as a fox! Absolutely as unsophisticated as Kean, who has been successful in New Jersey politics and business for thirty years, where unsophistication grows on the trees. Nothing on his mind but interest in the tittle-tattle. Certainly not! Nothing but that and his hair, and as acute an appreciation of what is going on in the Senate and what is needed by the ruling coterie as any member of that coterie, and more acute than most. Oh, simple John!

"When you go into the galleries of the Senate and look down on the statesmen you will always find John Kean in his seat or in the chamber. If there are only a dozen Senators there, Kean is one of them. If there

FATHER BOGAN REHEARSES AUTHOR'S LIFE AT ST. MARY'S SCHOOL.

At St. Mary's School today the pupils of the higher grades observed "Longfellow Day" with a programme of musical and poetical selections from the author's work. A synopsis of the poet's life formed the theme for the introductory remarks of Father Bogan, who presided at the gathering. "My words," he said, "are but the echo of the common tribute of a Nation's aectionate appreciation. The literary style to which a knowledge of Longfellow contributes, need never be purchased at the price of intellectual decency. With the gentle poet as your guide you need never fear the relevations 'close to nature,' for to his eyes Nature turns a face of innocence whose eyes the blue-eyed violets are, and whose rippling rills, the laughter that tells of eternal Spring. Yet, when care and sorrow meet advancing years, he speaks with gentlest sympathy these consoling words:

"These severe afflictions
Not from the ground arise,
But oftentimes celestial benedictions
Assume this dark disguise."

The following programme was rendered: Overture, piano, Miss Mary Agnes Smith; Psalms of Life, Frank Casey; The Builders, Alice Murphy; violin solo, Evangeline, Elizabeth Schuck; The Children's Hour, Madeline Seaman; The Building of the Ship, Frank Hand; chorus, selected, Children of Higher Grades; Footsteps of Angels, Bessie Parent; Sunrise on the Hills, Francis Donnelly; closing chorus, Children's Choir.

MRS. MARSHALL-SMITH AND VAN EPPS ENTERTAIN.

Enjoyable Affair Under the Auspices of Young People of Crescent Avenue Church.

Mrs. Minnie Marshall-Smith, well-known here as a reader, assisted by her husband, Frank Smith, Fred and Willi VanEps, banjo and mandolin players, accompanied by Harry Wetton, pianist, presented a select and enjoyable programme at the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church, last night, under the auspices of the Young People's Association. The chapel was well filled with members and friends of the association and the affair was a success financially and otherwise.

Mrs. Smith gave four numbers and was obliged to respond to an encore each time. Mr. Smith accompanied her on the piano in some of her recitations, which were interspersed by banjo and mandolin selections, which were also encored. After the entertainment refreshments were served.

Silver Anniversary Arranged.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church will celebrate its twenty-fifth anniversary Friday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in the church parlors. Reports of the society's progress will be made and there will be an address by Mrs. D. E. Ward, of the Women's Board, and Mrs. Crane, president of the Presbyterial Society, is expected to be present. The twenty-fifth anniversary offering will be devoted to the work of the Women's Board. The meeting will be followed by a social half-hour.

Rev. S. D. Davis Dead.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis left today for West Virginia to attend the funeral of Rev. S. D. Davis, the father of B. C. Davis, president of Alfred University. For many years Rev. Mr. Davis was pastor at Lost Creek and Salem, W. Va., and shortly after the war Dr. Lewis was associated with him in his work. Mr. Davis was loyal to the Union during the Civil War and as a result had many thrilling experiences in the region where he lived.

P. H. S. Play Committee.

The committee for arrangements of the senior play of the Plainfield High School was elected yesterday and consists of the president, William Douglas; the Misses Helen Johnson, Gertrude Abbott and Mabel Cubberley; Joseph Van Deventer and Weston Gavett.

Six Take the Examination.

A class of six men took the postal civil service examination at the post-office on Saturday, for positions of clerks and carriers. At present there are no substitutes and in case of illness in the regular force the service would be handicapped.

Relief for the Chinese Sufferers.

Mrs. S. S. Higgins, teacher in the public school at Watchung, recently raised $2.50 among the pupils of the grammar grade for the Chinese sufferers, to be sent through the Christian Herald agency.

—Delicious Florida strawberries are received at Neuman Brothers' fresh each day. Lots of other fancy fruits and vegetables.

REDMEN WILL GATHER

Great Council to Begin Annual Meeting In Trenton Tomorrow.

JUDGE NEWCORN GOING

He Will Head Plainfield Delegation, Being Past Great Sachem, and Will Report For Committee on State Legislation.

Judge William N. Newcorn, past great sachem of the order, will head a delegation of Indians at the session of the Great Council, which will meet in Trenton tomorrow, for the fifty-sixth time. Redmen from all parts of the State will assemble at the State capital to take part in the meeting. Judge Newcorn will present a report on the fate of the bills for the advancement of secret societies presented at the last session of the State Legislature.

The Redmen will convene in the Trenton Y. M. C. A. Hall tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, and continue sessions for two days. The order is the second in point of membership in the State, and it is expected that over 400 past sachems will be in attendance at the session. There is much important business to be acted upon this year.

The officers who will serve at the session are: Great prophet, Herbert F. Stetser, Gloucester City; great sachem, Charles Thompson, Atlantic City; great senior sagamore, Frank Jackson, Camden; great junior sagamore, Emile W. Schabilon, Hackensack; great chief of records, Daniel M. Stevens, Camden; great keeper of wampum, William J. Smythe, Long Branch; great sannap, Harry J. Rathbone, Trenton.

The council will be honored by the visit of Past Great Incohonee Robert T. Daniel, of Griffin, Ga., who is considered one of the most learned members of the order in the United States, and who will represent Great Incohonee W. A. S. Bird, of Kansas, who is a member of the State Legislature and cannot attend, as the Legislature is in session.

Great Prophet John W. Cherry, of Norfolk, Va., and Great Chief of Records Thomas K. Donnolly, of Pennsylvania, have also accepted invitations to attend.

A feature of the session will be the reports of Great Sachem Thompson, Great Chief of Records Stevens, Great Keeper of Wampum Smythe and the finance committee.

Great Sachem Thompson will show that the order had a prosperous year, and that the Legislative Committee appointed at the last session was successful in having laws adopted by the State Legislature last year making it a misdemeanor to wear the emblem or use the ritualistic work of any incorporated fraternal organization when not a member.

Great Chief of Records Stevens this year finishes his twenty-first year in that capacity, and his report, reviewing the work during that length of time, will show that the organization has increased in membership from 5,911 to 26,064; that during that time only three years did the order lose in membership, and that was during the general depression in business, when all organizations lost heavily in membership; that the total wealth of the tribes had increased from $77,569 to $522,432,81, and that this year the order increased in membership nearly 1,000. The average increase in membership is nearly 1,000 a year, which is claimed to be the best record of any organization in the State.

Great Keeper of Wampum Smythe's financial report will be as follows: General fund, receipts, $12,964.73; disbursements, $7,759.22, leaving a balance on hand of $5,205.51; old men's fund, receipts, $2,124.91; disbursements, $78; balance, $2,046.91; orphans' fund, receipts, $2,563.65; disbursements, $1,260.75; balance, $1,303.20.

Bible Class League.

There were three games in the Bible class basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. yesterday afternoon. The Crows defeated the Eagles, the Hawks carried off the Storks, and the Crows feasted on the Hawks. By that ornithologically revolutionary victory—did that knock anybody's eye out?—the Crows assumed first place. They are likely to keep to the high latitudes right along.

To Publish Laws in Newspapers.

Senator Joseph T. Frelinghuysen, under the head of miscellaneous business, introduced a bill in the Senate yesterday which provides for the publication of the State laws in the newspapers. He also called for Senate bill concerning the State sanitarium on tuberculosis diseases, and at his suggestion it was placed on second reading.

—Neuman Brothers make a specialty of fresh picked mushrooms. They are also displaying Florida strawberries.

PERMITS DISSECTION OF DEAD BODIES

SENATOR ACKERMAN SECURES PASSAGE OF BILL FOR MEDICAL SCIENCE.

At the request of Dr. F. C. Ard and a number of other physicians in this city and throughout the State, Senator Ernest R. Ackerman introduced a bill incorporating pathological and anatomical associations to whom institutions may deliver dead bodies not claimed by relatives.

The measure was passed yesterday. There has been no State law which would give physicians the right to use dead bodies for dissection in the interest of medical science and it has been their hope that such a law be passed, conforming to those in force in other States.

The bill provides that dissection shall be conducted under proper rules and restrictions, and the measure is drafted purely in the interest of medical science. The petition ruging the adoption of the bill was signed by thirty physicians.

"PEASANT BOY" CAST SELECTED BY AUTHOR.

Comic Opera Plot a Good One—Tallamy As the Prince.

"A Peasant Boy," a comic opera in three acts, by William E. MacClymont, organist and choirmaster at Grace church, will be given its premiere production in May at the Casino, elaborate arrangements now being made for the event. Mr. MacClymont has made nearly all of the selections for the principal parts, those decided upon being Mrs. Theodore Mantz, as the leading soprano; Miss Margaret Yaeger, William N. Runyon as the valet to the prince; William Tallamy as the prince; Joseph C. Martin and Bayard Hawthorne. The words of the opera are by Dr. Charles A. Clinton, of New York, who was a school-mate of Mr. MacClymont. Several New York managers, it is said, have heard the score and are favorably impressed with it.

The scene is laid in the south of France and the opera opens in a village square showing a mill in the distance. The peasants discover the fact that the miller is determined to marry his daughter to a certain wealthy young man because of his money. The daughter dislikes her father's choice. At this juncture the prince arrives at the village, travelling "incog," accompanied only by his valet. The prince's father has disowned him from home and he is roaming about. The miller's daughter at once falls deeply in love with him, though she thinks he is a peasant. Subsequently the prince's father finds out he had wronged his son by sending him from home and he issues a proclamation in an effort to find him.

In the meantime the peasant, who is the choice of the miller for his daughter's hand in marriage, trumps up a flimsy charge and has the prince put in jail. The valet dons his master's clothes and appears as the real prince. When the king locates his son he is surprised to see the valet masquerading as his offspring, but through the efforts of his valet he gets out of jail and is proven to be the true prince. The miller's daughter, who is an adopted child, turns out to be a relative of the king's family and of equal station with his son. Of course, as in all love stories, the prince becomes the husband of the miller's daughter.

K. G. E. OBSERVANCE.

Freedom Castle Holds a Musicale to Celebrate Sixth Birthday.

Freedom Castle, K. G. E., observed its sixth anniversary last night, with a musicale. The lodge room was filled with members and their feminine relatives and friends.

The programme included selections by the K. G. E. orchestra, composed of Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, Mr. A. Korff, L. A. Hummer, Jr., and Ernest Higham; songs by Mrs. C. M. Nagle and addresses by Grand Chief Kirby, of Bridgeton; Grand Vice Chief Condit and Past Grand Chief McKenny, of Philadelphia. The latter made a speech notable for its eloquence. The members were still commenting on it this morning.

The anniversary committee was made up of Dr. J. H. Buchanan, Edward Schmeyer, R. V. Kinney, Raymond Carver and Walter Randall.

Rudolph Buck Operated Upon.

Rudolph Buck, of West Front street, who has been suffering from the effects of a needle in the arm, which found its way there while he was putting on a coat several days ago, underwent an operation at the hospital today for the removal of the small piece of steel. By aid of the X-Ray machine the needle was located imbedded near the elbow and a photograph of it was taken a day or two ago. Dr. W. H. Murray performed the operation, assisted by Dr. Hervey Buchanan.

BOARD BILL OF A HORSE

Liveryman George Cole Having an Interesting Time Collecting It.

ANIMAL AN INVALID

Made So By a P. S. C. Trolley Car But Company Won't Pay; Horse's Former Owner Disclaimed Title To It.

This is the tale of a horse; an ordinary, every day member of the equine family that did the best it knew how as a beast of burden, but has involved the gigantic Public Service Corporation, the city of Plainfield, a liveryman and its owner in a mix-up.

The horse was one of a team belonging to John King, of Bound Brook, which was struck by a P. S. C. trolley car on West Front street early in the winter. One of the animals was killed and the survivor was taken by the police and placed in George Cole's stables on West Second street. It was somewhat crippled but gave evidences of lots of vitality and would undoubtedly be all right if given proper care.

King and the trolley company argued long and excitedly as to who was to blame for the collision and, of course, as to whether the Bound Brook man was to receive damages. In the end, the P. S. C. claims agent agreed to give King a certain amount but specified that he should take the horse at Cole's. The latter, it must be remembered, was giving the animal the care it needed.

King consented and got his money but he might have taken a long trip through the alfalfa district so far as anyone knew for he disappeared from these regions. Cole got anxious and talked with the trolley people but they said "See King, we've settled with him." Seeing King was another matter so Cole had a consultation with the police department. You understand, of course, that the horse was getting the care and it costs money to hand it out in the form of grooming and oats.

The police informed the liveryman that they had forgotten all about the matter and that they believed the P. S. C. would stand good. Of course, they said, they knew they had put the horse there until the owner had gotten straightened out after the collision and so far as they were concerned the incident was closed. Not so with Cole, however, as the animal was still getting its care and waxing fat on fine oats and hay at his stable.

The care-giver finally concluded the only thing o do was to sell the horse and he advertised the fact according to law. It was put at auction by Justice H. K. Hand Monday afternoon and brought the munificent sum of $23, a significant figure from a "skidoo" standpoint. When the sale was over Cole started to figure and this is the way the whole affair came out financially: For giving John King's horse the care it needed for several months—$88; received from sale of John King's horse—$23; amount to be looked for from either John King, the city or the P. S. C. (auctioneer's fee and advertising expenses to be added)—$65.

King has shown a decided disinclination to take a hand in the discussion so developments are being awaited. The horse, however, has stopped loafing and gone to work, fully equipped for service by the care it got at Cole's.

BRIGGS' RECEPTION.

Union County Politicians Among Guests Last Night.

The Republican Club tendered a reception to United States Senator-Elect Franklin O. Briggs last night in the club house on East Hanover street in Trenton. The event was largely attended by members of the Legislature.

Among the invited guests were Frank H. Smith, of Plainfield; Hamilton F. Kean, of Elizabeth, and State Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen, of Raritan.

Senator-Elect Briggs was kept busy from 8 to 10:30 shaking hands with the throng that crowded the club house. During the evening luncheon was served.

In Past Master's Memory.

Anchor Lodge, No. 149, F. and A. M., at its communication last night held a memorial service for Past Master Peter A. Emmons. Addresses were made by District Deputy Townley and Past Masters Stephen Affleck and W. R. Runyon.

To Attend Briggs' Reception.

Senator-Elect Briggs will be tendered a reception tomorrow night by the Camden Republican Club, at Camden. Governor Edward C. Stokes will speak. Among the invited guests are former Mayor James F. Buckle.

SEVEN ARE SENTENCED IN CO. COURT TODAY

CUFF GETS 1 YEAR: REDDINGTON 2 MONTHS AND MOORE 2 MONTHS.

Severe sentences were handed out in the Union County Court, this morning, when several prisoners were arraigned. Edward Cuff, colored, from this city, convicted on a charge of stealing $5 worth of junk from A. M. Griffen's hardware store, was sentenced to one year in State prison. He has a bad record, having previously served a term in the Reformatory at Rahway.

James Leo and Michael Croon, Italians, convicted of the larceny of jewelry from a residence in Fanwood, where Croon was employed, were each given two years in State prison.

Michael Reddington, of this city, convicted of stealing a watch valued at $12, was sent to the county jail for two months, and Robert Moore, convicted of keeping a disorderly house and Sunday selling at Fanwood, was also given two months in the county jail. There was a strong plea in his behalf on account of a large family and the prisoner's circumstances.

James Wilson, of this city, who has a record for stealing bicycles, was not arraigned, his case being postponed for a week. Joseph Espardi, of Elizabeth, convicted of stealing lead pipe from a residence in Roselle, was sent to State prison for two years. He had a bad record, being previously convicted of assaulting a little girl.

WALLACE TO LECTURE.

Explorer to Tell of "Lure of Labador Wild."

Those who read the noble and pathetic story by Dillon Wallace, entitled "The Lure of the Labrador Wild," giving an account of the exploration of the interior of that unknown region, by the late Leonidas Hubbard of "The Outing," Mr. Wallace and the guide George, on which trip through freezing and starving no unkind or acrimonious word was uttered, will be glad to know that an opportunity will be afforded of hearing Mr. Wallace on Monday night, March 11.

The lecture will be given for the benefit of the Boys' Mission Band of the Crescent Avenue church, in its chapel at 8 o'clock. The title is "What I Saw in the Labador and Dr. Grenfell's work," and it will be illustrated by many fine views. Mr. Wallace is greatly interested in Dr. Grenfell's work and will very generously devote his portion of the proceeds of the lecture towards its assistance.

MISS FANCHER ENGAGED.

Announcement Made at Social Gathering at Mrs. Langdon's.

Mrs. Philip Cuyler Langdon gave a charming social function at her home in Fanwood, this afternoon, to announce the engagement of Miss Lillian Fancher, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. W. Westcott, to Edward Frank Howe, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Howe, of Troy, N. Y. Miss Fancher was one of the bridesmaids at Mrs. Langdon's wedding and other members of the bridal party were present, in addition to guests from New York, Brooklyn and other cites nearby. The affair was in the nature of a heart party and that popular game was a feature enjoyed by all. The home was elaborately decorated, the prevailing color being pink.

Mr. Howe is a student at Williams College, class '07, and while no date has been set for the wedding, it is expected that it will not take place until after Mr. Howe's graduation in June.

A Day at Kemendine.

Miss Julia G. Shinn, who has spent seven successful years at the Kemendine Girls' School in Burma, had charge of the devotional service at the postponed meeting of the Home Missionary Society, held yesterday afternoon in the lecture room of the First Baptist church. The subject on the programme was "Lydia or Faithful Service" and Miss Shinn spoke impressively of the power of Christian woman for influence and service. Her observations in both the home and foreign lands had taught her, she said, that the transforming power of Christian women were of incalculable value in bringing the world to the knowledge of Christ. After a series of interesting current events given by Miss Harriet Mattison, Miss Shinn delighted her audience with an account of a day at the Kemendine Girls' School in Burma, giving a vivid description of the duties, vexations and cares of a missionary, with the many opportunities of doing good.

Senate Investigation.

Without a dissenting vote, the State Senate at its afternoon session yesterday adopted Senator Minturn's joint resolution providing for a commission to investigate the increased cost of coal and ice.

BANKER SOUNDS WARNING

L. V. F. Randolph in Address on "February Memorial Days" Points Out Some Dangers.

SPIRITUALITY GONE

Much In Society That Is Vulgar—Broader Education Needed—The Scramble After Riches.

In a scholarly and most instructive address on "American Memorial Days in February," former Mayor L. V. F. Randolph, until recently president of the New York Consolidated Stock Exchange, last night lauded the character of George Washington and Abraham Lincoln. He compared the two, showing their similarity in moral fibre and spirituality and noted the effect they had on American life. Passing on from this subject, the lecturer dwelt upon the unparalleled prosperity being enjoyed today and incidently pointed out the dangers that confront the people.

L. V. F. Randolph.

Mr. Randolph said in part:

"Just one hundred and thirty-one years ago today, General George Washington, then anxiously and energetically gathering his forces for a great effort to expel the British Army from Boston, issued general orders, urging upon the patriot soldiery of his command, such behavior and duties as were specially suitable to their situation and task; and warning them against misconduct and frivolity. He went further than this, and gave his men clearly to understand that misbehavior would be punished, and that no mercy would be shown to the coward or shirk. Some of the words of these 'general orders' of February 26, 1776, are worthy of being quoted here as examples of Puritanlike sternness, high purpose, and strong resolve. 'At this time of public distress,' writes he, 'men may find enough to do in the service of God and their country without abandoning themselves to vice and immorality. It is a noble cause we are engaged in; it is the cause of virtue and mankind; every advantage and comfort to us and our posterity depend upon the vigor of our exertions; in short, freedom or slavery must be the result of our conduct; there can, therefore, be no greater inducement to men to behave well. But it may not be amiss to the troops to know, that, if any man in action shall presume to skulk, hide himself, or retreat from the enemy without the orders of his commanding officer, he will be instantly shot down as an example of cowardice; cowards having too frequently disconcerted the best formed troops by their dastardly behavior.'

Lincoln.

"During the past week we have remembered the birthday of the Father of his Country, who was born February 22, 1732. After a life devoted to the service of his country, he expired almost with the expiring days of the eighteenth century which his life had illuminated and glorified. About ten years after his death a child was born (February 12, 1809) whose life was to go far toward glorifying the nineteenth century. That child became the man, the great leader, the noble martyr, Abraham Lincoln. Washington was a son of Virginia. In some sense the same statement is true of Lincoln. The spot in Kentucky where Lincoln was born was still, in the days of his parents and grandparents, a part of the great territory of Virginia. His grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, was murdered by the Indians, and his father was with difficulty saved from a like fate by the courage and alertness of an older brother. Under such risks and difficulties were preserved to America the blood and character that were to stand it in good stead in the great trial of the Civil War.

A Demon's Crime.

"It is nearly forty-two years ago since this great leader and president, whom we reverenced and idilized, was cruelly slain;—a man who was more to America than perhaps any other man whom the Lord ever gave

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS.

BOUND BROOK.

Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Buer, of South Bound Brook, attended the recent celebration of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. Tingley's and Mrs. Buer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Tingley, Sr., of Dunellen.

CONSTIPATION CURSE OF MANKIND.

Dr. Oidman's Liv-r-oids never fail to cure Constipation, Billiousness and all Liver Complaints. They destroy the germs and thus remove the cause.

You May Try a Full-Sized Bottle Free.

Constipation is the starting point of all kinds of dangerous and distressing diseases, such as Appendicitis, Piles, Billiousness, Sick Headaches, Dyspepsia Female Troubles and scores of others. If your bowels are strong and healthy they will act properly and disease cannot enter or remain in the system. A sound Stomach means sound lasting health.

The true way to cure constipation, Billiousness, Sick Headache and all those diseases arising from a Torpid Liver, has been discovered by Dr. Oidman, and his prescription is known as Liv-r-oids. We ourselves know that Liv-r-oids will cure the worst forms of constipation and all the dangerous diseases of the Bowels and Liver, which are such a great menace to life. If you have never tried Liv-r-oids before, we will send absolutely free to every one sending name and address, a 25 cent bottle of this great remedy. Liv-r-oids make you feel right, and make you look on the bright side of life. Liv-r-oids are not a patent medicine but an eminent physicians prescription in tablet form (formula on bottle). There is no element of doubt in the curing power of Liv-r-oids. They are not a miracle, but only science working along on natural lines assisting nature. We want you to try Liv-r-oids to-day, they sell at 25c. a bottle, but if you have not tried them before, send your name and address and you will receive a full sized bottle free—no obligations—nothing to pay—merely recommend them to your friends if they do what we claim. Funeral of John T. Dunn.

The funeral services of Former Congressman John T. Dunn were held from St. Mary's church, Elizabeth, yesterday morning. It was largely attended by lawyers from all parts of the county, members of the Union County Bar Association and Elizabeth city officials. Six Alexian Brothers acted as pall-bearers.

Woman Drunk Arrested.

Kathryn Becker, a middle-aged woman, was arrested Monday afternoon in East Second street by Sergeant—then plain patrolman—Herbert Overbaugh. She was very drunk. Sentence was suspended yesterday morning in the city court.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

Archie L. Shepard will give one of his unequalled entertainments at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight. No class of public performance is adapted to high grade refined entertainment for polite company than this. The unusual wonders of the world in every walk and stratum of society, from which has been called the interesting, the marvelous, the dramatic in all its phases, the beautiful and artistic are depicted here with naturalness of living.

The play, "Happy Hooligan's Around the World" was invented to make people laugh and if you don't want to laugh stay away from the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow afternoon and night. It is not a children's play alone but a collection of good, wholesome fun. There is a chorus of American beauties who can and do sing, dance and wear pretty costumes. There is not a moment that there isn't something doing in the fun making line. The first act happens at a railroad station, and every one who enters the door takes part in the happenings, either voluntarily or otherwise, mostly otherwise. An electric car in Japan is the means of continuing the fun in the second act. All kinds of passengers are catered to and Jos. Sullivan and Prett Reed as the motorman and conductor certainly have their hands full, and a car full too of entertaining travellers. The last act is a pawn shop in 'Frisco, with a green clerk in charge, and the way he gets things mixed up is nothing to the trouble he has trying to straighten them out when the boss comes in.

Gordon and Gilbert, under the management of Walters and Mathews, presenting the new edition of the musical gayety, "Hans and Nix," will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre Friday night. Gordon and Gilbert and this musical piece were one of the phenomenal successes of last season. "Hans and Nix" is said to be a very laughable conceit with the central characters exactly suited to the peculiarities of Gordon and Gilbert, and containing a great variety of excellent musical numbers. The supporting company includes names of prominence in the comedy line. Special scenic sets and complete electrical equipment are carried by the company this season, which enables them to offer a complete performance of a high order.

P. H. Sullivan's new production, "A Woman of Fire," comes to the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night. The play is a thriller from beginning to end and a number of new characters are introduced that have never been portrayed on any stage. The author of the play is Theodore Kremer, who can write plays and good ones at that, as has been attested by box office receipts. It is in four acts and nine scenes, and the realistic manner in which the localities serving as a background are reproduced, heightens interest in the melodramatic story. These scenes include the East river by night, a Fifth avenue ball room, Scenes from "A Woman of Fire," at New Plainfield Theatre Saturday Afternoon and Night.

Sing Sing prison, the bottom of the sea, a torpedo explosion on a submarine boat, and the sensational rescue at sea. The story of the play deals with the adventures of a couple who fall in the hands of an adventuress, her paramour and a couple of negro allies. The plot is so devised as to involve them in many exciting experiences which are not only thrilling but ultra-sensational. They are finally rescued and like all good melodramas, virtue triumphs and villainy falls, only in this play the plotters meet an untimely end that is not only novel but surprising. The company engaged for the production is composed of clever actors who emphasize the events of the play in a way that meets the approval of audiences in the popular priced theatres.

Planning for Y. W. C. A.

Mrs. Frederick G. Mead, who, with a number of other Plainfield women, are interested in the plan for the organization of a Young Women's Christian Association in this city, has arranged for a conference to be held at her home, "Sunnyside," East Front street, tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. Miss Snider will make an address.

Brought Jag to Headquarters.

Carter Duckwelder, colored, staggered into police headquarters Monday night with a large bundle of liquid things about him, and speechlessly asked for entertainment. He was given the softest malleable iron couch in the place. Judge Runyon suspended sentence yesterday morning.

Wallace Pearce, of Essex street, who was recently operated upon at Muhlenberg Hospital for appendicitis, is doing nicely and will probably be able to return home today.

SMILE WEARER'S CASE OFF.

Bernard Macfadden's Clothless Disciples to Be Heard Monday.

Trenton, Feb. 27.—Bernard Macfadden, the physical culture specialist, with a training school at Spottswood, where the doctrine "Few Clothes and Much Sunshine" is reputed to prevail, was to have been arraigned for trial in the United States District Court yesterday on the charge of sending indecent literature through the mails.

There was no trial, because Macfadden's counsel entered a demurrer to the indictment as being irregular, and the case went over until next Monday, when counsel will endeavor to have the indictment quashed.

Wings and Flies

By Tom Muir.

The famous melodrama, "In Old Kentucky," which laid the foundation of the late Jacob Litt's fortune, will be presented at the New Plainfield theatre next month. Though it has travelled across the continent a dozen times it has never been seen in this city.

Arthur Pryor, the popular bandmaster, has again been engaged by the Asbury Park Common Council to furnish music at the beach Casino during July and August of this year. He will have thirty-five men and the contract states that he must conduct personally.

David Higgins, who has been seen in this city several times in his familiar play of life in the Tennessee mountain, "At Piney Ridge," is to return to Plainfield next week in his present big success, "His Last Dollar." It is a racing play with the scenes laid in Kentucky and is conceded to be one of the best of the kind before the public. It is filled with heart interest and exciting situations, one of them in particular never failing to raise the audience to a high pitch. The hero has lost every penny but one dollar and by placing that on his favorite race horse, wins back his fortune and the girl of his choice. Four horses are used in the great racing scene.

Rumor has it that Miss Ethel Levey, whose husband, George M. Cohan, recently secured a divorce, is to marry Robert Edeson, the star of "Strongheart." Both Edeson and Miss Levey are playing in Chicago at the present time and when taxed by newspapermen as to the truth of the report gave evasive answers.

"Uncle Sam" Cunningham's benefit takes place at the New Plainfield tomorrow afternoon and night and from the advance sale of seats he will have two big houses. "Happy Hooligan's Trip Around the World" is to be the attraction and those who saw it when it was here before know that it is just the show for the occasion. The popular Joe Sullivan will again have the leading comedy role.

Henry B. Harris has bought from Oscar Hammerstein the Hackett theatre on West 42d street, New York, the purchase price being in the neighborhood of $400,000. The theatre will remain under the management of Mr. Hackett until the end of the present lease, which matures in 1910. Rose Stahl is at present appearing there in James Forbes' comedy, "The Chorus Lady" under the management of Mr. Harris.

are eighty there, Kean is one of them. He always has his mind on his number. He listens to the dreariest debate as if he liked it. He rarely says anything, but nobody else says anything that Kean does not hear. He is aware of every quirk and quibble. He knows where every trail leads. He can explain every action, and much of the time he is chatting with other Senators, on one of the big leather sofas, about any incident of the life of Washington that may be chattable, apparently with no concern about what is happening. But let things take a sudden twist and Kean is alert and watchful. He can tell why.

"He moves about the Senate chamber with his eyeglasses in his hand, and stops to talk wherever an opportunity offers. One moment he is laughing with Senator Tillman and another he is gravely discussing something with Senator Lodge. He has a trick of putting his arm around the shoulder that presses against his, and when that arm is there the real confidences begin. Democrats respond as readily as Republicans to his ministrations. Everybody tells him what he wants to know.

His Simple, Winning Ways.

"About the only time Kean takes an active part in the proceedings of the Senate is when he moves an executive session. He has that function down pat, and there are times when the moving of an executive session is of more importance than might be supposed. Kean has rather arrogated to himself this privilege, reminding the older Senators of Don Cameron, whose specialty was moving that the Senate adjourn from Thursday until Monday. It was Cameron who, one Tuesday before the beginning of Lent, and rather bored with the work that was going on, made the celebrated motion: 'Mr. President, as tomorrow is Ash Wednesday and as next Friday will be Good Friday, I move that when the Senate adjourns today it adjourns until Monday.'

"Senator Spooner moved an executive session one time when Kean was ready to do it. Kean protested vigorously. It was right, he said, to make that motion, and he did not intend to be deprived of it. Spooner acquiesced and withdrew his motion. Then Kean made the motion with great dignity, and everybody laughed, including Kean, who, as has been said before, is simple—for purposes of publication.

"There has always been a tendency to make game of Kean because of his dilettante ways and his gossiping proclivities, and, as a matter of fact, from an outside viewpoint, Kean does not loom very large as a statesman. That doesn't worry Kean any. He is carrying out his part in the great drama of the Senate that is played almost everywhere except in the Senate chamber. They put on an act in plain view of the audience, now and then, but mostly the play is played in the committee-rooms and in the conferences, wherever they may be held. There are four or five stage-managers, with Aldrich at the head of them. This group is slowly changing. One or two of the leaders of the Senate are old and tired. It is time for new blood. When the change is made—and it will be a long time, for the Senate works slowly—John Kean will be found in the ruling group. He is too valuable to be left out.

"'Ware Kean, if you would not unnbosom yourself of all that is innermost. Do not get within the range of that hypnotic eye and that magnetic handshake. Do not start to talk about an incident at the latest great reception for fear you will soon be taking out your watch and showing him the picture in the case, and putting your hand on his shoulder and calling him: 'Dear old John.' If you come within the influence you are going to give up.

"The ears of the Boss! If a poll is needed, Kean gets it quickly and correctly. If a recalcitrant is to be sounded to see what he really wants, Kean drops the plummet. If a motive is to be discovered, Kean is the explorer. Aldrich would not be so powerful as he is if he could not get Kean's information. The ears of the Boss—and they hear, they surely hear!"

NEWS IN THE SUBURBS

DUNELLEN AND VICINITY.

As in North Plainfield, the tax bills of the borough are made out wrongly, the valuations being lumped. Assessor J. H. L. Peters says he is not to blame; the county board instructed him to make the lists out in the old way.

It is reported that H. L. Pierce paid between $9,000 and $10,000 for the bank building. He purchased for investment. The building has been thoroughly improved.

The contract case of the Syracuse Stone Works against George Steengrafe, in Justice Von Minden's court has been postponed for two weeks.

Z. P. Osmun attended a meeting of the Society of the Cincinnati, a Revolutionary War organization, in Trenton, last week.

Arvid Johnson, who was detained at home by a sore hand, has returned to work.

Mrs. Helen Farrier has returned from a visit to relatives in Somerville.

Miss Mattie Bonnell, of Union, has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Nelson.

The Athletic Club has made arrangements to purchase a pool table.

Mrs. George Coriell has been entertaining out of town relatives.

Miss Mary Baldwin is very ill. She is threatened with pneumonia.

Mrs. George Caskey is recovering from an attack of grip.

Herbert L. Pierce has purchased a new horse.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

The annual borough report just issued by Collector Charles Sheelen shows 1906 to have been one of the most prosperous years in the history of the borough. The cash balance on hand was $2,917.93. The total amount of delinquent taxes for the year was only $285.75. Much of this has since been collected by Collector Sheelen.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frentz and son, who have been in Washington, D. C., for several months, where Mr. Frentz has been superintending a large contract, are spending several days with relatives and friends in town.

John Reick, who has been detained at home for a week with an attack of grip, has recovered and returned to his position with the Walter Scott Company.

The monthly communion will be held at the close of the sermon at the Baptist church Sunday morning.

Miss Elizabeth Reilley has returned from a two weeks' stay with friends in New York.

Fanwood Council, R. A., held its semi-monthly meeting last night in the Library rooms.

The Suburban Club will omit its March dance on account of being Lent.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

The regular meeting of the P. O. S. of A. will be held in Washington Hall tomorrow night. Routine business will be transacted.

Mrs. William B. Manning is visiting out of town friends today.

Mrs. Giles is confined to her room by illness.

Post Card Swindle.

New York, Feb. 27.—Disclosing an alleged scheme by which the government is said to have been swindled out of many thousands of dollars, Joseph E. Jacobs, Post Office Inspector, arraigned Louis V. Charlat, a dealer in postage stamps at No. 245 Broadway, before United States Commissioner Shields yesterday. Charlat is charged with presenting a false claim for 5,928 uncancelled and unserviceable postal cards. He exhibited an order to Postmaster Wilcox bearing the name of Samuel Freedman, a printer of No. 39 First street, which is alleged to be a forgery. Under the postal law the original purchaser of postal cards uncancelled which have become unserviceable through errors in printing may have them redeemed upon presentation at the General Postoffice at the rate of 75 cents a hundred.

THIS MAY BE MILLION DOLLAR LEGISLATURE

MULTIPLICATION OF STATE COMMISSIONS SADDLE THOUSANDS ON N. J.

Trenton, Feb. 27.—Fear of passing the million-dollar mark has taken hold of members of the Legislature in the matter of extraordinary appropriations. They remember the plea for economy in the last message of Governor Stokes, and the latter's declaration that if his suggestion was not enough, he would use his veto power to enforce carefulness in the spending of the people's money.

One source of expense is the proposed multiplication of State commissions, and the most expensive of these commissions is the State Railroad Commission, provided for in a bill introduced by Assemblyman Wright, one of the Democratic members from Essex county. Assemblyman Wright's commission would cost the State no less than $80,000 a year, and with the other proposed commissions would saddle a burden of $140,000 per annum on the taxpayers.

In addition to this extra expense, there has been introduced in each House of the Legislature a bill providing for daily stenographic reports of the legislative proceedings, with the publication of 5,000 copies daily, and it is estimated this would cost no less than $50,000 for each session.

The Railroad Commission bill provides for five members, four clerks, two expert engineers, counsel, traveling inspectors, stenographers and other attaches, all at high salaries. The Blohm bill provides for the creation of a Public Utility Commission, which would probably cost $20,000 a year, at the least.

Senator Colby has introduced a bill to create a Civil Service Commission, which would cost $20,000 a year, and a similar bill has been introduced by Assemblyman Thompson. A potable Water Commission, proposed by Senator Hillery, would cost $20,000 per year. Two other commissions have been proposed for the investigation of the alleged Stone Road Trust and the dealings of other trusts in the necessities of life, including ice and coal. Each of these commissions is to be temporary, with the State to pay all expenses, which would probably amount to $3,000 for the two.

Some of the other appropriations provided for in pending bills are as follows: Jersey City armory, $175,000; purchase of portraits of former Governors, $2,800; reformatory for women, $40,000; to establish a ceramic course at State College, $2,500; National Guard gymnasium, Jersey City, $40,000; increasing salaries of factory inspectors, $3,300; unveiling Monocacy monument, $1,500; to pay "Rump Senate," $2,100; to improve Manasquan inlet, $200; to provide New Jersey representation at Washington at unveiling of McClellan monument, $15,000; to increase pay of pilot commissioners, $1,200; for lawyer to examine proposed legislation, $5,000; for improved roads, $500,000; for memorial of capture of the Toms River block house, $5,000; for criminal electrocution building, $10,000; for State College, $115,000; $72 per year to New Jersey Civil War veterans; pensions for State employes after twenty years' service and sixty years of age.

THREE RAILROAD BILLS IN THE LOWER HOUSE.

Receivers Provided for — Brady Would Abolish Grade Crossings.

Trenton, Feb. 27.—Three important railroad measures were introduced in the House Monday night. Two of them were presented by Mr. Wright, of Essex. One of them was "an act concerning the appointment of receivers for railroads by the Court of Chaicery of New Jersey." The act provides that the Court of Chancery shall appoint a receiver or receivers for any railroad operating its lines within the State of New Jersey upon the following being shown: That said railroad has failed, neglected or refused to obey any order of any State board of commissioners, now or that may hereafter be established to police and regulate railroads, and that a second order of identical tenor from such board has been served on any officer, agent, trustee, ticket agent or engineer of said railroad, and the terms of said orders and the matters therein commanded have not within ten days from the date of service of such second order been complied with by said railroad.

Another measure is "an act to compel all railroads in this State to make switching connections with private sidings." It provides that when a railroad refuses to make such connections with any "owner, tenant or licensee of lands abutting said railroad, said persons may apply to any State board, nor or hereafter established in this State, to police and regulate railroads, for an order from said board to compel such switching connection with a private siding then existing or to be built on said lands so abutting on said railroad."

The board shall hear all parties interested and take testimony and make an order compelling the railroad to furnish switching connection.

The third measure was put in by Mr. Brady, of Essex. It was an act relating to the elimination of grade crossings. It provides that hearings shall be held by the Railroad Commission, and if it decides, after hearing all parties concerned, that the crossing in question should be abolished, it shall so order. The railroad shall pay all expenses and damages incident to the elimination.

The House Committee on Railroads and Canals held a hearing yesterday afternoon in the Speaker's room on the various measures before it. Except the one to establish a railroad commission, introduced by Mr. Wright, of Essex, the committee decided that, since nearly all the bills were connected more or less closely with the Railroad Commission, if that became a law, it would be a waste of time to discuss this law. Accordingly they were all laid over until next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when the hearing on the commission measure and all measures involved with it will be conducted.

Mr. Alexander's bill allowing railroads not yet completed two years' more time in which to finish the work was approved. A similar bill has passed the Legislature for a number of years.

Fire Laddies Remembered.

Appreciating the prompt response and assistance at the time of the fire at her home on the night of February 11, when her cook received burns which caused her death, Mrs. R. H. McCutcheon, of Plainfield avenue, sent a package to fire headquarters today with a card bearing this message: "With thanks for prompt answer to our call for assistance on the night of February 11." The package contained six decks of fancy playing cards. The gift is appreciated and Mrs. McCutcheon has received the thanks of the men at headquarters.

Another Theatre Meeting.

Rev. Dr. S. Parks Cadman, of Newark, will speak at a Y. M. C. A. theatre meeting April 21. Dr. Cadman was here in the early part of the Y. M. C. A. theatre series, and made the strongest impression of all the speakers secured.

Judge Swift Very Ill.

District Judge Addison Swift, of Elizabeth, is very ill with pneumonia. He is delirious.

—The Sesame Club will meet tomorrow morning at the residence of Mrs. Ira Travell, 816 Third place.

—Mrs. Carrie L. Bennett, corresponding secretary of the W. C. T. U., has written a letter to the chairman of the Jr. O. U. A. M. banquet committee congratulating the order upon the success of the banquet and expressing pleasure and approval of the action of the committee in excluding intoxicating liquors from the table.

us. This noble man at the point of his and our triumph, looking from the Nebo summit, from which the painful and bloody victorious march of the nation could be reviewed, its troops flushed with triumph just then returning from the war with the Union safe and forever assured; and looking forward into the promised land of peace and prosperity; from this vantage ground, surrounded by the happy circumstances of achievement and encouragement, our brother, our friend, our father, Abraham Lincoln, was stricken down! The sorrow of that act is still upon us! The name by which we should fitly characterize it has never yet arisen to human lips. Nothing in thought nor in language can approach it! It was the affliction for all time of a nation! The crime was beyond aught that was possible in the lowest and worst of human and kind. It was the crime of a demon!

"I look back still with something of joy mingling with my sadness, at the thought of the hand-grasp he gave me a few days before the perpetration of the nameless act that took him from us.

"Great souled and heroic was that figure amongst his fellows. Tender and gentle was his heart;—even as the heart of a woman. Clear and prophetic was his mental grasp of the destiny of the Republic. Noble and sweet was he in his life. Beautiful and generous were all of his thoughts on the day when he was called hence. His work and his character are the enduring heritage of us and of our children.

"Something of Lincoln's character shines out from his speeches and addresses. Among the greatest of these was the shortest;—that delivered at the dedication of the cemetery on the battlefield of Gettysburg. 'No finer lines are found in English oratory than those which close this Gettysburg speech: 'We here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain, that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.'

Lincoln and Washington.

"In important respects there may be said to have been a strong resemblance between the elements which went to make up the man, George Washington, and those who constituted the man, Abraham Lincoln. Differences existed, it is true. Lincoln had a sense of humor well-nigh unknown to Washington. Lincoln had a gift of expression which Washington might well have envied;—though he too, on occasion, could speak with rare appositeness, judgment, and force. Lincoln had a marvelous faculty for logic and reason, superadded to the plain, broad, common sense so remarkable in both these men. In Lincoln there was something of the prophet and the poet. Washington was steady to a noble purpose with but little disposition to indulge his imagination. But both men were of mighty courage and unflinching determination. Both were patriots, and, in a very high sense, Christian patriots.

"As we look back tonight over the wonderful careers of these two eminent Americans, we are glad to entertain a sentiment of satisfaction that each of them was permitted to see a practical and successful completion of the line of endeavor in which he had been engaged. Each could say of a truth, 'I have finished my work. I have kept my faith.' Each could mark a great progress in the life of the nation of which he was the leader, as progress which had been accomplished under his leadership. Washington had been the instrument in delivering his country from foreign oppression. Lincoln had been instrumental in its delivery from internal dissension, dismemberment and degradation.

Our Prosperity.

"Looking abroad over our material inheritance, we find no difficulty in answering our question with a joyful and enthusiastic affirmative. And the satisfaction we experience is immensely enhanced as we mark the pregress of the nation and its growth in strength and wealth. In population, since the War of the Revolution, we have increased about thirty fold. The accumulated wealth of the country at that time is hardly comparable, in figures, with America's wealth of today, exceeding as it does, one hundred thousand millions of dollars; or (to use the term billion, in the sense in which it is used ordinarily) one hundred billions. Our population, now rapidly approaching ninety millions of people, inherits a magnificent country of three and one-half millions of square miles, extending from ocean to ocean. We are at peace with the world, and are highly prosperous. But we have a greater wealth even than all this; it consists in personal freedom, and in a scarcely limited opportunity for intellectual and moral improvement. The education of the masses of our population has ever been one of the things most ardently sought after and supported by our people and their leaders. We are rich in intellectual as well as material gains, and the mind of genius and the practiced hand of industry have done much to establish our repute amongst the progressive nations of the earth. Is there no reverse to this brilliant shield upon which the sun of our prosperity so brilliantly beams? Are there no clouds in our sky? No dangers in our path? Is it fully certain that all the hopes for which the fathers suffered and bled are to be realized and that the future of America will justify the sacrifices made by its heroes? We have no right to cherish a feeling of pessimism. It is at once a privilege and a duty that we should give place to our liveliest and warmest hopes. But abreast with our optimism shoulh march the studious efforts of every patriot to keep the nation in the sure path of moral as well as material progress; of spiritual as well as worldly advancement. The Ship of State moves in a course beset now by the hidden rocks of Anarchy, and again by the shoals of irreligion, ignorance and folly.

Notes of Warinings.

"In our own town a certain respected spiritual adviser has recently uttered a note of warning touching the lack of religious instruction to American youth. Whilst there may be honest difference of opinion as to what constitutes religious instruction, there can be hardly a doubt of our lack and danger in this direction. One of the great perils of American life and character is a widespread absence of the spirit and attitude of reverence,—reverence for God and for good. One of the most painful evidences of this lack is the profanity heard in our streets from all sizes and classes of our population: from private citizens, from public officers, and even from the children rushing thoughtlessly and noisely from their school-desks to the street. Unless at this point there shall be a reform, we shall be confronted, at no distant day, with a dark and dreadful danger. There can be no adequate foundation for national life when the spirit of reverence is conspicuously absent; and where irreverence notoriously prevails the national character must weaken and become corrupt.

Spiritually Forgotten.

"Another important danger to American life is what may be called its tendency toward artificiality. In part this proceeds from life's complexity in our day, and this again has reference to our advanced material civilization. So long ago as the days in which Ecclesiastes was written, the wise man wrote: that God had made men upright; but they had sought out many inventions.

"It is fair to insist that the most of the clever inventions of our own day have worked beneficially for the interests of mankind, and toward delivery from the partial bondage in which man is controlled and dominated by his physical wants and requirements. A part of our difficulty consists, however, in the fact that with the advancement of civilization and with the multiplication of modern inventions, our wants increase and our lives thus become more complex on planes of materiality. With the increase of material needs, moral cultivation and spiritual aspirations are crowded out and forgotten. Men of all classes and conditions thus come more and more to find their lives and thoughts occupied in the abundance of things they possess, and perhaps, too, in the still greater number of things which they do not yet possess, but which they think they want. So far as this absorption in things material goes forward, by so much is the moral and spiritual nature hindered and dwarfed, and by so much is a danger to character created in the individual, and in no great length of time this danger becomes national and universal. Already Americans are taunted by the people of other countries with being greedy, grasping, and gross-minded. We are not ready to plead guilty to this indictment; and we may point with just pride to our splendid educational efforts and endowments, but in our heart of hearts we must admit that the chase after material increase has tended to weary and to weaken us in relation to moral and spiritual courses and endeavors.

"We must search out, set free, restore to honor the true life, assign things to their proper places, and remember that the center of human progress is moral growth. We are men and citizens, not by reason of the number of our goods and the pleasure we procure for ourselves, not through our intellectual and artistic culture, nor because of the honors and independence we enjoy; but by virtue of the strength of our moral fibre. And this is not a truth of today but a truth of all times.

Present Dangers.

"The follies of the rich have been suitably described and despised. It is right to condemn and to contemn these absurdities. The artificiality of modern society has in it much that is to be swept out as vulgar, filthy refuse. A part of our difficulty is that these absurdities are imitated by persons who are not rich and who ought to be devoting their attention to nobler aims. So soon as the poor man, or woman, or child of the poor man, begins to taste a little the luxury of abundance; so soon as there is something to spare which might be thriftily saved or judiciously appropriated to mental and moral progress, there is at once born a desire to do and enjoy the things which characterize the lives of the rich. One must needs avoid vulgar labor and 'get into society.' One must have the things and indulgences which appertain to superfluous means. Thus follows the waste—not only of the means which might be better employed, but also to the mental activities which should be occupied in building character and serving mankind. In lieu of breeding workers our system sometimes breeds drones, and produces not a few half-baked 'gentlemen' instead of well rounded and in-

"I am sure that is true, Sister Theresa."

"Now, I wish to speak to you about a matter of some delicacy. It is, I understand perfectly, no business of mine how much of a fortune Mr. Glenarm left. But this matter has been brought to my attention in a disagreeable way. Your grandfather established this school; he gave most of the money for these buildings. I had other friends who offered to contribute but he insisted on doing it all. But now Mr. Pickering takes the ground that the money—or part of it, at least—was only a loan."

"Yes; I understand."

"Mr. Pickering tells me that he has no alternative in the matter, that the law requires him to collect this money as a debt due the estate.

"That is undoubtedly true, as a general proposition. He told me in New York that he had a claim against you for $50,000."

"Yes, that is the amount. I wish to say to you, Mr. Glenarm, that if it is necessary, I can pay that amount."

"Pray do not trouble about it, Sister Theresa. There are a good many things about my grandfather's affairs that I don't understand, but I'm not going to see an old friend of his swindled. There's more in all this than appears. My grandfather seems to have mislaid or lost most of his assets before he died. And yet he had the reputation of being a pretty cautious business man."

"The impression is abroad, as you must know, that your grandfather concealed his fortune before his death. The people hereabouts believe so; and Mr. Pickering, the executor, has been unable to trace it."

"Yes, I believe Mr. Pickering has not been able to solve the problem," I said and laughed.

"But, of course, you and he will cooperate in an effort to find the lost property."

She bent forward slightly; her eyes, as they met mine, examined me with a keen interest.

"Why shouldn't I be frank with you, Sister Theresa? I have every reason for believing Arthur Pickering a scoundrel. He does not care to cooperate with me in searching for the money. The fact is that he is very much wishes to eliminate me as a factor in the settlement of the estate. I speak carefully; I know exactly what I am saying."

She bowed her head slightly and was silent for a moment. The silence was the more marked from the fact that the hood of her habit concealed her face.

"What you say is very serious."

"Yes, and his offense is equally serious. It may seem odd for me to be saying this to you when I am a stranger—when you may be pardoned for having no very high opinion of me."

She turned her face to me—it was singularly gentle and refined—not a face to associate with an idea of self-seeking or duplicity.

"I sent for you, Mr. Glenarm, because I had a very good opinion of you; because, for one reason, you are the grandson of your grandfather"—and the friendly light in her gray eyes drove away any lingering doubt I may have had as to her sincerity. "I wished to warn you to have a care for your own safety. I don't warn you against Arthur Pickering alone; but against the countryside. The idea of a hidden fortune is alluring; a mysterious house and a lost treasure make a very enticing combination. I fancy Mr. Glenarm did not realize that he was creating dangers for the people he wished to help."

She was silent again, her eyes bent meditatively upon me. Then she spoke abruptly

"Mr. Pickering wishes to marry my niece."

"Ah, I have been waiting to hear that. I am exceedingly glad to know that he has so noble an ambition. But Miss Devereux isn't encouraging him, as near as I can make out. She refused to go to California with his party—I happen to know that."

"That whole California episode would have been amusing if it had not been ridiculous. Marian never had the slightest idea of going with him; but she is sometimes a little—shall I say perverse?—"

"Please do! I like the word—and the quality!"

"—And Mr. Pickering's rather elaborate methods of wooing—"

"He's as heavy as lead!" I declared.

"—Amuse Marian up to a certain point; then they annoy her. He has implied pretty strongly that the claim against me could be easily adjusted if Marian marries him. But she will never marry him, whether she benefits by your grandfather's will or however that may be!"

"I should say not," I declared with a warmth that caused Sister Theresa to sweep me with those wonderful gray eyes. "But first he expects to find this fortune and endow Miss Devereux with it. That is a part of the scheme. And my own interest in the estate must be eliminated before he can bring that condition about. But, Sister Theresa, I am not so easily got rid of as Arthur Pickering imagines. My staying qualities, which were always weak in the eyes of my family, have been braced up a trifle."

"Yes."

I thought pleasure and hope were expressed in the monosyllable, and my heart warmed to her.

"Sister Theresa, you and I are understanding each other much better than I imagined we should"—and we both laughed, feeling a real sympathy growing between us."

"Yes, I believe we are"—and the smile lighted her face again.

"So I can tell you two things. The first is that Arthur Pickering will never find my grandfather's lost fortune, assuming that any exists. The second is that in no event will he marry your niece."

"You speak with a good deal of confidence," she said and laughed a low, murmuring laugh. I thought there was relief in it. "But I didn't suppose Marian's affairs interested you."

"They don't, Sister Theresa. Her affairs are not of the slightest importance—but she is!"

There was frank inquiry in her eyes now.

"But you don't know her—you have missed your opportunity."

"To be sure, I don't know her; but I know Olivia Gladys Armstrong. She's a particular friend of mine—we have chased rabbits together, and she told me a great deal. I have formed a very good opinion of Miss Devereux in that way. Oh, that note you wrote about Olivia's intrusions beyond the wall! I ought to thank you for it—but I really didn't mind."

"A note? I never wrote you a note until to-day!"

"Well, some one did!" I said, then she smiled.

"Oh, that must have been Marian! She was always Olivia's loyal friend and apologist."

"I should say so."

"But you shouldn't have known Olivia—it is unpardonable! If she played tricks upon you, you should not have taken advantage of them to make her acquaintance. That wasn't fair to me!"

"I suppose not! But I protest against this deportation. The landscape hereabouts is only so much sky, snow and lumber without Olivia."

"We miss her, too," replied Sister Theresa. "We have less to do!"

I went home and studied the timetable.

Many a Plainfield Reader Will Be Interested.

When people read about the cures made by a medicine endorsed from far away, it is surprising that they wonder if the statements are true? But when they read of cases right here at home, positive proof is within their reach, for close investigation is an easy matter.

Mrs. Julia Molloy, of 740 West Front street, Plainfield, N. J., says: "Many so-called cures for backache and kidney disease have been taken by me, but no medicine ever stopped my aches and pains until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Randolph's pharmacy. I took the pills according to directions, and found before finishing the first box that theye were far more healing and brought even more relief from backache than their owners claim for them. I continued with the treatment and was cured, and now do not suffer from aches or pains or kidney troubles.'

dustrious citizens; and what intelligent observer can fail to see and deprecate such fruits of civilization or of education as the pitifully absurd 'snob' or 'climber' in American society and depraved and dangerous demagogue and trickster in American politics?

"Our school system, excellent as it is, has its defects in two directions: there should be less effort and time given to studies which are ornamental rather than practical, and greater pains should be given to laying foundations in a sense of moral responsibility.

Broader Education.

"There must be something attempted of a deep and fundamental sort in this our plan of public education. It should be so fundamental as to assist its subject to withstand the stress and temptation of later life. It is easy for those who have not wealth to blame the excesses and follies of those who have it. It is not infrequent that the man who today denounces the rich monopolist, becomes himself, by some fortuitous circumstance, the rich monopolist of tomorrow, without desire or liking for denunciation. It is not long ago that a certain foremost opponent of monopoly, a governor of a southwestern State, chanced to become largely interested in oil wells. Immediately thereupon, his own fury against the monopolist dried up more quickly than did ever an exhausted well. We should remember that what is right is right now, and at all times. Our education should proceed upon broad and reasonable lines, and our children should be led to weigh well the questions and problems of life, so that their mental and moral fibre may grow with their growth and strengthen with their strength."

PLAINFIELD IN THE LEAGUE

Lackawanna Baseball Association Admits This City to Membership.

AND ELIZABETH, TOO

Robert Murphy Chosen President —Six Teams in Big Baseball League.

At a meeting of the Lackawanna Baseball League, held last night at the office of A. Philetus Konkle, Broad street, Newark, officers for the ensuing year were elected and Plainfield and Elizabeth were admitted into the league. The Plainfield team will take the place of the Orange-Clifton team and Elizabeth will take the place that Morristown left vacant. The league this season will be made up of the following teams: Dover, Irvington, Summit, Chatham, Plainfield and Elizabeth.

At half past seven Mr. Konkle, who was acting president in place of President Stillwell, of the Morristown club, whose team was withdrawn from the league, called the league to order. Immediately after the meeting was called and the minutes of the last meeting had been read, action was taken on the proposition to admit Plainfield and Elizabeth into the league. After a little discussion, both places were admitted.

After that question had been settled the election of officers was held and it resulted as follows: Robert J. Murphy, of Summit, was elected president; Frank Hopper, of Irvington, vice-president; A. Philetus Konkle, of Chatham, secretary, and William H. Cawley, Jr., of Dover, treasurer. President Murphy appointed the following as the executive committee: A. P. Konkle, W. H. Cawley, Jr., and David F. Driscoll.

The following were appointed to draw up the schedule: Frank Hopper, of Irvington; A. P. Konkle, of Chatham, and D. F. Driscoll, of Elizabeth.

President Murphy was ordered to call the next meeting as soon as the schedules of the Eastern, Atlantic and Tri-State Leagues appeared. The following were at the meeting: Robert J. Murphy, Summit; Frank Hopper, Irvington; A. Philetus Konkle, Chatham; William H. Cawley, Jr., Dover; David F. Driscoll, Elizabeth and Plainfield.

ENDURANCE CONTEST THE LATEST IN BOWLING

TEN TEAMS WILL PARTICIPATE IN TWELVE-HOUR STRUGGLE.

Something new in the way of bowling, which has become a decidedly popular sport in Plainfield this winter, will be introduced at McLaughlin's alleys next Wednesday. Enthusiasts in the game have arranged a twelve-hour endurance contest and it will be the second time that one has been held in this State, the first having taken place at Madison early in the season. The entries have been limited to ten teams and nearly that number have already signified their intention of taking part.

The contest will begin at 1 o'clock in the afternoon and will stop at1 the next morning. According to the rules the members of the teams can relieve each other as often as they please and the aggregate number of pins secured by each two men in the twelve hours will be counted. For the team securing the most pins a prize of $15 is offered and for the second $8. In addition $5 will be presented the bowler making the highest individual score.

Among the teams to take part are P. L. Gaddis and "Steady Bill" Dilks, who have a comfortable lead in the two-man tourney which has been in progress at the alleys all winter; Ed Britton and Joseph Farlee, a strong combination; "Billy" Leland and Sam Dent, two steady rollers; William Skinner and Harry Ackor, also among the tourney leaders; John McLaughlin, Roy Day, Harry Montross and Charles Woolston.

The contest was arranged and will be conducted by George E. Firstbrook, who witnessed the one at Madison and is confident the one in this city will be even more successful.

GETTING TEAM SHAPED.

Y. M. C. A. Athletes Preparing for the State Meet at Paterson.

With two dual meets assured, and one or two more probable, the best material for a championship team to take part in the State meet at Paterson seems likely to be whipped into shape at the Y. M. C. A. in a thorough manner. Physical Director Listman is not ready yet to say who will go on the big team, as a matter of fact, he does not know. The dual meets are designed as try-outs, and the showing made in them will make or mar the athletes so far as the big team is concerned. The dual meet teams will not be kept intact on the basis of one that defeated Passaic. If any of the members can better the performances of the men on the team he will be given a chance to help win a meet.

From now on, Mr. Listman will work on the men to develop their style and form. He has been too busy to individualize the work up to the present, and practically all the men have been going at their own gait and style. Several of them can be improved almost as swiftly as a leaf may be turned by a bit of coaching as to proper methods. In every athletic sport style and knack will help plain strength wonderfully. Men, who left to themselves, would cover a certain distance in a jump, can be taught by a wise coach to stretch their jump by inches. Mr. Listman will try to teach his men all the knack and style there is; and he is a good and experienced coach.

GADDIS AND DILKS LOSE THREE GAMES STRAIGHT.

Leaders Strike Unexpected Defeat at Hands of Causebrook and McLaughlin.

After losing but one game in nearly six weeks, Dilks and Gaddis, leaders in the bowling tourney at McLaughlin's went down in defeat to the tune of three straight last night. They were bested by Causebrook and McLaughlin, who have been rolling good and bad by turns but who had hardly dared to count on a clean sweep themselves. They pulled through the first game by a majority of three, increased it to forty-one in the second and made it twenty-nine in the third.

Both Gaddis and Dilks were well below their average, except in one instance when Dilks made 202. Causebrook was the star roller and kept up an average of 186.1.

The scores:

Causebrook	167	200	192
McLaughlin	189	178	159
	356	378	351
vs.
Gaddis	151	177	167
Dilks	202	160	155
	353	337	322

BASKETBALL.

The Y. M. C. A. boys' basketball team will play Leal's '09, tomorrow afternoon. The Elizabeth Y. M. C. A. juniors will play the local boys here Saturday morning.

The first Y. M. C. A. basketball team will play the fivr of the Prospect Park, Brooklyn, branch, Monday night, here.

GOLF.

As soon as the various committees at the Plainfield Country Club are completed plans will be laid in preparation for the opening of the season. If the weather is favorable the club will be opened early in April.

Mohicans All-Conquering.

The Mohican stook a firm grip on the premier position in the local basketball league last night by defeating the Apaches. They had an easy time doing it. The Sioux defeated the Cherokees. The Mohicans now look like the league winners. They deserve to win; they haven't lost a game.

FOR SENATOR BY BY THE POPULAR VOTE.

Mr. Brady Introduces a New Bill to Permit Voters to Express Their Opinion.

Trenton, Feb. 27.—In the House yesterday Mr. Brady introduced a bill for the popular expression of choice for United States Senator. It provides that in any year preceding the election of a United States Senator by the Legislature, at the primary election, it may be lawful to select a party nominee for United States Senator, and such nominee shall be entitled to have his name placed on the ballots of his party at the general election. Not less than 500 voters of such political party in each of at least seven counties of the State may file a petition with the secretary of State indorsing any member of their political party as a candidate for United States Senator, at least thiray days before the holding of the primary election.

Mrs. Cramer's Funeral.

The funeral of Mrs. Margaret L. Cramer was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. S. C. Baker, of West Fifth street, yesterday afternoon. It was conducted by Rev. A. C. McCrea, pastor of the First M. E. church, and was attended by a large gathering of relatives. Interment was made at Hillside cemetery, the pall-bearers being Joseph Haynes, Elias Haberle, Albert Baker, Charles Roberts, Chas. Vincent and William Waters.

John Culp, formerly of this city, but now of Monticello, N. Y., has been visiting relatives and friends in town for a few weeks. He returns today to take charge of the Spring Valley House, which he will open early in the spring.

CHRISTIAN FIELD.

Miss Grace Carroll, of the Crescent Avenue church choir, will sing at the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon.

A Danish Lutheran service will be held tonight in the W. C. T. U. rooms at 8 o'clock. There will be preaching by Rev. Kiaer.

Under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First M. E. church a birthday social will be held in Vincent chapel, tomorrow night. There will be the exhibition of a number of Japanese slides, a programme of music and refreshments. Admission will be free and the members of the church and congregation are invited.

OBITUARY.

William Toneis.

William Toneis, of Paterson, son-in-law of John Walton, of this city, died last night. A few weeks ago he was taken ill with grip which developed into pneumonia. The direct cause of death, however, was hasty consumption. Funeral services will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the home in Hilton street, Paterson, and interment will be private. Mr. Toneis is confined to her bed with grip.

CLOSED PORTALS.

There will be initiation at the meeting of Franklin Council, No. 41, Jr. O. U. A. M., tomorrow night.

Somerset Council, No. 104, Jr. O. U. A. M., will receive several new applications for members at its meeting Friday night.

WANTS TO BE A CITY.

Special Laws Give Montclair Many Extra Powers—Council to Act.

Montclair, Feb. 27.—At a meeting of the Montclair Town Council Monday night a draft of a bill to be presented to the Legislature for the incorporation of Montclair as a city was read and discussed. For the last few years it has been evident to the citizens of Montclair that the administration of municipal affairs could not be conducted properly under the Voorhees law, which applied to all municipalities other than cites. The town had grown so rapidly since the passage of the law that the Legislature has been appealed to frequently to enact laws for the especial benefit of Montclair, entailing considerable loss of time and expense to the officials and taxpayers of the town.

By the passage of different laws, Montclair at the present time enjoys many of the privileges of a city, but the town officials and many of the leading citizens believe that the time has come for Montclair to become a full-fledged city. For several years the schools have been conducted on the same lines as those in Newark and other cities, the school law having been amended to meet the requirements of Montclair and a few other places in the State. It is not believed that any opposition to the proposed bill will be made here. It is expected that definite action will be taken by the Town Council at its next regular meeting.

BOOMING NEW BOROUGH.

South Plainfielders Go To Trenton; Assemblyman Reassures Villagers.

To further the passage of the bill to make South Plainfield a borough, Archibald Steengraafe and Peter McDonough, leaders of the movement to change the village government, went to Trenton this morning. Assemblyman Drake, of Stelton, who introduced the bill, stoped in the village for a short time before going on his way to the State capital, to tell the South Plainfielders to be of good cheer. He assured them the bill would be passed.

The assurance was received with unconcealed satisfaction in all quarters. Arrangements are being made to celebrate the creation of the new municipality with bonfires.

Colored Coal Thief Jailed.

Oscar Green, colored, was sentenced to 20 days in the county jail for stealing coal, this morning, by Judge Runyon. It was his second offense within two months. Chief Dougherty and Detective Henry Gaffney, of the Central Railroad police, who arrested him, took him to the jail. Eph Carman, colored, arrested on the same charge, was released under suspended sentence. Green is said to have stolen the coal to sell.

New Cop Takes Oath.

All the special officers appointed by the Common Council at its last meeting will be sworn in at Mayor Fisk's office Friday night. They were notified, through Chief Kiely, today, to be at the Mayor's office that night between 7 and 8 o'clock. Tobias Nolan, one of the four men appointed to the regular force, will go on duty tonight. He was sworn in by City Judge Runyon this morning.

Will Give Gounod's "Gallia."

William E. MacClymont, organist and choirmaster of Grace church, is planning to give Gounod's "Gallia," at the church on Tuesday night, March 5, by his regular choir, assisted by many additional voices. This will be the second special musical service given by the choir this winter and is being looked forward to with considerable interest.

Finds His Kidnapped Girl.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 27.—After a search of nearly a year Cecilia Demetro, twelve years old, kidnapped daughter of a wealthy Greek of Little Rock, was found yesterday in a gypsy camp near Thornton, Ill. Leo Demetro, her father, obtained trace of her from a gypsy in Salt Lake City. Accompanied by deputy sheriffs Demetro went to Thornton. Before Demetro could reach his daughter John Joe, king of the camp, burst from a tent and seized Cecilia. Demetro clutched the gypsy by the throat and they fell to the ground. Scores of Joe's followers crowded around, but the sheriffs drew their revolvers and took the girl away.

Legislator Draws a Knife.

Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 27.—The floor of the House of Representatives yesterday was the scene of a vigorous encounter between R. N. Hackett, who has been elected to Congress, and Representative C. G. Bryant, of Wilkes county. Hackett struck Bryant on the ear and jaw. Bryant drew a pocket knife and started for Hackett, but was stopped and disarmed. He then tried to hit Hackett with an ink stand and later with a chair, but the blows fell short. When quiet was restored Bryant apologized for his offensive wards that brought on the fracas during a committee hearing. Hackett is a Democrat and Bryant a Republican.

CHANGING THE AUTO LAW

Senator Jos. Frelinghuysen's Amendments Provides for Twenty-five Inspectors.

TOURISTS' LICENSES

State Commissioner to Get $1,500 Extra a Year—Chief Inspector $1,500—Other Provisions.

In the event of the enactment of a measure introduced in the State Senate by Senator Joseph Frelinghuysen yesterday, there will be two important changes in the present automobile laws.

It provides first, for increasing the number of paid inspectors to 25, and also that there may be appointed 25 additional inspectors who are to serve without pay. The paid inspectors are to receive $3 a day.

The present law provides for seven inspectors, but on the recommendation of the joint committee on appropriations the Legislature last year fixed the compensation so low that only three individuals competent to act in that capacity could be employed with pay and the other four inspectors served without remuneration of any sort.

The services rendered by the unpaid inspectors were of such a high order that State Commissioner of Motor Vehicles J. B. R. Smith gave them praise in his annual report and Senator Frelinghuysen, who has fathered all the automobile legislation in this State, is so pleased that he desires to largely increase their number.

The second feature of the bill provides for short-term licenses for tourists in this State, to be issued in such manner as the State commissioner shall direct. These licenses are for three days and the charge is $1. These tourists must file the address of counsel upon whom service may be made in case of accident in this State.

Another innovation incorporated in the new bill gives the State commissioner $1,500 a year, in addition to his salary as assistant secretary of State, which is $3,000. It also fixes the salary of the chief inspector at $1,500 a year.

The provisions regulating the use and speed, license and registration fees and penalties are practically the same as in the present law.

DOUBLE CELEBRATION AT THE HIGH SCHOOL.

Anniversaries of Washington and Longfellow Appropriately Observed.

Exercises in commemoration of Washington and Longfellow were held yesterday in the Plainfield High School. It was the one hundredth anniversary of the birthday of the great American poet. The programme was of a strictly patriotic nature and one of unusual interest.

The exercises opened with "Hail Columbia," sung by the school. Miss Rose Siegal recited "Under the Elm." "An Appreciation of Longfellow," written by Miss Corleina Lounsbury, was read by her. Miss Sadie Brouwer recited "The Cross of Snow." A trio composed of the Misses Irene Dunham and Henrietta Winn, and the Messrs. Guin Fountain and Doane, sang "She Sleeps, My Lady Sleeps." "Snow Flakes" was recited by Miss Ruth Klein: and "The Skeleton In Armor," by Richard Harrigan. A vocal solo entitled "The Arrow and the Song, was given by Miss Queena Tillotson. "Morituri Salutamus," the poem which Longfellow read at the fiftieth anniversary of his college class, was recited by Adelbert Van Brakle. The exercises concluded with "America," by the school.

Reception to National Commander.

County Chairman F. H. Smith, together with several veterans from this city, were among those who attended a reception last night to Robert B. Brown, of St. Louis, national commander of the G. A. R., and staff, at Bender's Hotel in Lorraine. The affair was arranged by Department Commander Atkinson, of Roselle, and was under the auspices of Ulrich Dahlgren Post, No. 25, of Elizabeth. Commander Atkinson [illegible] and there were speeches by Commander Brown and his staff as well from department officers.

Funeral of Levi Bird.

The funeral of Levi Bird was held at his late home on Somerset street, yesterday afternoon, a large gathering being in attendance. It was conducted by Rev. J. O. McKelvey and Rev. Phil. A. Parsons. Interment was made in the North Plainfield cemetery, the pall-bearers being Worth Codington, John Emmons, Jacob Voehl, Lewis Bird, William Debele and Robert McNabb.

—Augustus Mobus is having a home erected for himself at Watchung and Codington avenues.

PEOPLE'S NATIONAL OPENS DOORS APRIL 1

MESSRS. M'CUTCHEN, SAUNDERS TOWNSEND AND CASE AMONG DIRECTORS.

The People's National Bank, of Westfield, which has been fostered by the Plainfield Trust Company, was formally organized yesterday with a capital stock of $50,000 and a surplus of $10,000. The citizens of that town have been enthusiastic over the proposition and have over-subscribed to the amount of stock issued. It was decided to open the new institution for business in the Abbott building on Broad street, about April 1.

While the directors are mostly Westfield men, several Plainfield capitalists are interested. Yesterday's meeting was held at the Westfield Club. These directors were elected: Joseph E. Gallagher, R. P. Grant, W. E. Tuttle, Jr., E. A. Merrill, E. L. Cole, Dr. R. R. Sinclair and E. T. Perrine, of Westfield, and Charles W. McCutchen, Samuel Townsend, J. Herbert Case and William L. Saunders, of Plainfield. All of the Plainfield directors but Mr. Saunders are directors in the Plainfield Trust Company. A meeting will be held in a few days to elect officers.

BILL THAT AFFECTS UNION COUNTY MUCH

PLACES CERTAIN ROADS UNDER REGULATIONS OF STATE LAW.

Senator Hillery, of Morris county, has introduced a bill in the State Senate which applies to Union county. It provides that roads built under the old county bonding law shall hereafter be under the regulations of the State Aid Road Law.

The bill provides that it shall be lawful for Boards of Freeholders in the several counties of this State that have heretofore acquired and improved, or that may hereafter acquire and improve any road or roads under the act to which this is a supplement, to keep and maintain such roads in repair in the same manner and to the same extent as State aid roads may now be repaired and maintained under the State Aid Act. It shall not be necessary to advertise or contract for work or material for such repairs otherwise than as required for State aid road repairs in and by the State Aid Act of 1905, with its supplements and amendments.

It is made lawful by the bill for the freeholders of any county that has heretofore acquired and improved any road or roads under the act to which this is a supplement (and which has a county supervisor of State aid roads) by resolution to place the repair and maintenance of all such roads under the charge and supervision of such county supervisor of roads. The act is to take effect immediately.

PETER KIERNAN DEAD.

He Was Shortstop On Nine That Defeated Westfield.

Word has been received here of the death of Peter Kiernan, who played shortstop on Philip Daab's championship baseball team in this city two years ago. He was one of the best known semi-professional players in the metropolitan district, and won many friends among the fans here.

He died about a month ago, at his home in New York. He is survived by two small children. His wife died several years ago. Kiernan's work figured largely in the championship baseball race against Westfield; he was a fast fielder and in the majority of the games he started off—he was first on the batting order—with a hit or a base on balls.

Working on Tax Budget.

The March meeting of the Common Council will be held on Monday night, when it is expected that matters of much importance will be taken up. The finance committee just now is busy getting the details in shape for the annual budget which will be announced in a short time. The various committees make their report to the finance committee of the amount thought necessary for each department during the year and all these amounts have to be considered in detail to see whether the amount asked for can be appropriated. It is the general opinion that the appropriations for the coming year will not greatly exceed those of last year.

King's Daughters Musicale.

The Benevolent Band, King's Daughters, will hold a musicale at the residence of Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, 308 West Eighth street, Thursday afternoon, March 14, at 4 o'clock. Tea will be served at 5 o'clock.

TALKS ON TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Livington Farrand and Dr. Frederick Bailly to Speak Here.

AT STATE EXHIBITION

To Be Shown Here Every Day Next Week—Under Direction of the Clinical Society.

The State Tuberculosis exhibit which has been secured by the Committee on Tuberculosis of the Plainfield Clinical Society, will be opened on Monday, March 4. The exhibit will show, by means of charts, photographs, models of tenement house rooms, tents, shacks, and other interesting applicances, the manner in which tuberculosis may be prevented and cured. It contains nothing unpleasant, objectionable or dangerous but is for the purpose of interesting the people in the great question of the prevention and cure of this disease.

Tuberculosis, commonly called consumption, is a preventable and curable disease. It is chiefly caused by the filthy habit of spitting. In the United States there were 200,000 deaths from this cause in 1906; in the State of New Jersey there were 4,000; and in Plainfield exactly twenty-six. These figures are appalling especially when it is realized that if the sputum of the consumptive was properly taken care of, tuberculosis would be as rare as smallpox.

The exhibit will afford the people of Plainfield and North Plainfield an opportunity to learn something about the prevention and cure of this disease. There will be an address by Dr. Livingston Farrand, secretary of the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and also a lecture, illustrated by stereopticon views, by Dr. Frederick Bailey, of Elizabeth, on Tuesday night, March 5, at 8:15 at the exhibition rooms.

The exhibit will be shown in the Stirling building at No. 210 Park avenue. The room will be open every afternoon from 1 until 6 o'clock, and every night from 7 until 10 o'clock, during the week beginning Monday, March 4, and ending Sunday, March 10.

The exhibit arrived last night. The committee on tuberculosis of the Plainfield Clinical Society, which has the matter in charge, will meet tomorrow night to make final arrangements for bringing the attention of the people to this exhibit.

MISS REYNOLDS' FUNERAL.

Service Carried Out As She Had Requested Just Previous to Death.

Before a large gathering of relatives and friends, the funeral of Miss Ethel J. Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hazelton C. Reynolds, of Summit avenue, was held at the parents' home, yesterday afternoon. The service was carried out in strict accordance to the wishes of the young woman as she had planned the details just previous to her death. Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, was in charge and Elmer D. Cutting sang two of Miss Reynolds' favorite hymns, "Some Day We'll Understand" and "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." Judge William N. Runyon acted as accompanist.

There was an unusually large array of floral tributes that included many set pieces, among them a large one from the New York banking house in which Miss Reynolds was employed at the time her illness began.

Interment was made in Evergreen cemetery, the pall bearers being Thomas DeMeza, George Pope, Thomas M. Muir and Harry Blimm.

Swimming Hole to Be Abandoned.

Convinced that the swimming hole on his property is more of a nuisance than a benefit, H. C. Compton, of West Front street, has decided to have the bath-house removed and the place fenced in to prevent its being used during the coming summer. It was through the efforts of the Board of Trade that the place on Mr. Compton's land in the West End was opened as a swimming hole and through the generosity of Senator Ackerman that the bath-house was erected, but the boys have abused the privileges given them. Boys of all sizes have gathered at the place and besides making a nuisance of themselves in cold weather have used the bath-house as a place to play crap. In the future the boys will have to seek another place to swim.

Boys' Mission Band Will Entertain.

The members of the Boys' Mission Band, of Trinity Reformed church, will hold an entertainment in the lecture room of the church Friday night, March 15, at 8 o'clock. The programme will include recitations, vocal and instrumental music and two dialogues. A silver offering will be received.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD BILL INTRODUCED YESTERDAY

HUDSON COUNTY DEMOCRAT SPONSER FOR THE BOROUGH MEASURE.

In the lower house at Trenton, yesterday, Assemblyman James Baker, of Hudson, introduced a bill to incorporate the village of South Plainfield as a borough. The measure was at once referred to the committee on boroughs and it is needless to say that the residents of the Middlesex hamlet will make a strong fight to have favorable action taken on it without delay. The South Plainfield Good Government Club is sponsor for the bill and so far as can be learned it has the almost unanimous support of the taxpayers in general. The Middlesex county politicians, however, are just as much opposed to the scheme as they were a year ago and it is said that they may be depended upon to put every obstacle in the way to prevent its passage.

It is a rather peculiar fact that none of the Middlesex Assemblymen introduced the bill. Just why Assemblymen Drake, Crowther and Haines are opposed to it has not been learned, but the fact remains that a Hudson county Democrat came to the aid of the South Plainfield civic club. It is reported that Senator George S. Silzer, of Metuchen, who is also a Democrat, will take care of the measure when it reaches the upper house.

CONVICTED OF KILLING; HE GETS A NEW TRIAL

ITALIAN WHO FATALLY STABBED FELLOW COUNTRYMAN WINS ON APPEAL.

Luigi Scaduti, of Bayonne, who on June 7, 1905, murdered Lorenz Fauchi, a fellow fish peddler, in this city, and was sentenced by Judge Vail to three years in State Prison for manslaughter, is given a new trial by a decision of the Supreme court given yesterday.

Scaduti was indicted at the October term of the Grand Jury in 1905, tried and convicted of manslaughter. His counsel, J. P. Owens, assisted by W. W. Wilson, of Elizabeth, appealed the case. In the meantime Scaduti was released on bail.

The two Italians at the time of the murder were engaged in selling fish in this city. Each had a certain territory and it was understood that one was not to interfere with the other's customers. It was claimed at the time that Fauchi violated the agreement and repeatedly went into Scaduti's territory. On June 7 the two men quarrelled and Fauchi was killed. Scaduti claimed that he was acting in self-defense.

AGAIN "CONJUNCTION."

Police Court Humorist Wins Suspended Sentence.

Conjunction Jones played his old role of prisoner in the city court this morning. He was charged with stealing coal from Central Railroad cars, by Chief Dougherty, of the railroad police. He was drawn into his usual foolery, and won a suspended sentence. He told Judge Runyon after the hearing that he came into court prepared to go to jail.

Conjunction rung his usual new word. "Sploosibility" is his latest contribution to the language. It means sincerely—"anything in de latitude uv reality an' frum de haht."

Pastor's Aid Society Elects.

The members of the Pastor's Aid Society of the First Presbyterian church met this week and elected these officers for the coming year: President, Mrs. Eugene Bond; first vice president, Mrs. LeRoy Gates; second vice president, Miss McConaughy; secretary, Miss Helen Burroughs; treasurer, Mrs. Freeman Shotwell. The society discussed plans for the year but nothing definite was decided upon for the present. Later an entertainment or reception may be given.

Miss Hamilton Gives Sleighing Party.

Miss Mabel Hamilton, of Fairview avenue, gave a sleiging party last night in honor of her cousin, who is visiting her from Brooklyn. There were thirty young people in the party. Afterward Miss Hamilton entertained the party at her home by serving refreshments.

Missionary Meeting.

The Missionary Society of Hope chapel held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Mary E. Firstbrook, Grant avenue, yesterday afternoon. The attendance was over 40. Refreshments were served after the session.

—Mr. and Mrs. Horace J. Martin, Sr., will move April 1 from 505 Watchung avenue to 26 Duer street, the house now occupied by Frank Lyons.

COME INTO A FORTUNE

Three Plainfielders Get Possession of $500,000 By Court's Decision.

A WILL IS ASSAILED

Third Cousins Try To Break Testament Benefitting H. J. Storrs, Miss Mary Storrs and Mrs. Electa Storrs Craft.

Through a decision of Surrogate Jackson, at Mineola, L. I., Tuesday, Henry J. Storrs, Miss Mary Louise Storrs and Mrs. Electa Storrs Craft, all of this city, have come into possession of half a $1,000,000 estate. They were bequeathed the fortune by the late Stephen Mott Wright, their cousin.

The other half of the estate was left to Mrs. Ida Beach Stuart. William H. Dodge and Stephen S. Dodge, third cousins of the testator, applied for a revocation of the will on the ground that they were not cited when the will was probated, and alleged, further, that fraud and undue influence figured in the drawing of the instrument.

Henry J. Storrs is an assistant controller of New York city. He has lived here, on Kensington avenue, for more than thirty years. The late Mr. Wright spent much of his time with them.

The Wright residence at Sea Cliff, and its contents, go to Mrs. Stuart.

CONTRACTOR DROPS DEAD; STRICKEN WITH APOPLEXY.

William Pangborn, Who Built Many Fine Homes, Dies Suddenly.

While passing from one room to another at his home at 7 o'clock last night, William Pangborn, the well-known contracting mason, was stricken with apoplexy and fell to the floor. By the time members of his family had reached his side life was extinct.

Mr. Pangborn was the son of Stephen Pangborn and brother of Freeman and the late Isaac Pangborn. He had lived in Plainfield practically all his life and had erected many of the finest residences in the city. He was a member of the Odd Fellows and a stockholder in the Watchung Water Company. He leaves a widow, one daughter, Mrs. Harry Weber, and one son, Albert Pangborn.

The funeral will be held at his late home and will be private.

Literature for the Sailors.

In response to a request for magazines and literature of all kinds which can be used for distribution among the sailors, Mrs. M. C. Dobbins, of Elmwood place, sent six barrels of such literature yesterday to Captain George Benn, of the Mission Yacht Association, Brooklyn. Persons having literature which they want to give to this work may send them to Captain George Benn, Mission Yacht Association, No. 619 Fifty-eighth street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

To Study Christianity in India.

The Christian Endeavor Society, of the First Presbyterian church, has arranged with the pastor, Rev. C. E. Herring, to take up the study of "The Christian Conquest of India." The first Sunday night in each month for eight months will be devoted to this study and Mr. Herring will take charge of the meetings which will be held at the usual hour, 7 o'clock, preceding the preaching service.

Lenten Service at Grace Church.

Rev. E. J. Knight of Christ church, Trenton, was the special preacher at Grace church last night. This was the third mid-week Lenten service held at the church and like the preceding two was largely attended by worshippers. On Wednesday night, March 6, Rev. Albert Longley, of Trinity church, Bayonne, will preach.

Carpenter Breaks His Arm.

Joseph Mills, of Summit avenue, received a broken arm a few days ago by being knocked from a scaffold on which he was working. A fellow carpenter shoved a bale of shingles to him but it came with too much force and carried him off his foothold to the ground. He was assisted home and a physician set the break.

Visiting High School Departments.

C. H. Howe, principal of the High School at Wakefield, Mass., is spending the day visiting the various departments in the Plainfield High School. Mr. Howe has been delegated to watch the work at various high schools in New Jersey and the one in this city was among the first to be selected by him.

Westfield Annexation.

Assemblyman Randolph Perkins introduced a bill in the House yesterday to annex to the town of Westfield, Union county, the portion of the territory from the borough of Mountainside. It was referred to the committee on boroughs.

MUIR'S MINSTRELS IS NOW "EN TOUR"

GOLD MEDAL TROUP WINS FAVOR AT SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

"Tom" Muir's Gold Medal minstrel troupe, of this city, continued its tour of the suburbs, last night, by appearing at Washington hall, South Plainfield, and presenting one of its popular black-face entertainments. It was given under the auspices of the South Plainfield school for the benefit of the piano fund and standing room only was on sale before the curtain rose.

The programme was similar to

those the Gold Medals have been giving at Scotch Plains, New Market and other places and the audience was quick to show appreciation of the artists' efforts by frequent and enthusiastic applause. Several local jokes and an original song relative to the South Plainfield borough matter "brought down the house."

The Four H. Quartette, which has become a widely known organization, presented its singing and talking act, "Twenty Minutes of Harmony and Fun," and made one of the biggest hits of the evening. The quartette is composed of Harry Roberts, first tenor; Horace J. Martin, Jr., second tenor; Hugh Ricketts, baritone, and Harry Blimm, bass. During the act the members introduced several new songs that took well. As usual Mr. Muir was enthusiastically applauded.

Following the show an informal dance was held, the troupe having been accompanied from Plainfield by a large delegation of friends.

The company will continue in nearby places and has already arranged for a show at Bound Brook on March 12 and another at Mount Bethel on March 19.

SECOND REGIMENT MEN RESENT THIRD'S CLAIM

QUESTION OF RELATIVE EFFICIENCY MAINTAINS BRIGADE DEADLOCK.

Officers and men of the Second Regiment, of Trenton, strongly resent the claims of the officers and men of the Third Regiment, of Camden, that the latter is the more efficient military organization of the two, and that on that account Colonel John A. Mather, and not Colonel Dennis F. Collins, should be elevated to the command of the brigade, over which position a deadlock is now existing.

The Camden men base their claim on the report of the War Secretary of the United States, which gives them a percentage of 98.18 at inspection as against the Second Regiment's 90.69.

The Second Regiment men claim that the general average of the National Guard work for the past year shows them to be in advance of the Camden men in every line of military work.

Entertained National Officers.

National Commander Brown, of the G. A. R., accompanied by his staff, was entertained at a banquet at Roselle Inn, Roselle, last night, Department Commander Atkinson, of that place, being the host. There were about 150 veterans present, including several past officers from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, of this city. Commander Brown left today for Atlantic City, where it is proposed to hold the National Encampment this year.

Vincent Miner Receiving Teller.

Owing to the marked increase in business, the Plainfield Trust Company inaugurated a new method yesterday for handling it more expeditiously. Heretofore, Albert Steiner has acted as paying and receiving teller and there were many times when he was unable to do this work quickly. Vincent Miner has now been made receiving teller and Mr. Steiner will devote his time to the work of paying teller.

—Neuman Brothers have a large display of fresh fruits and vegetables at all times of the year. They are featuring Florida strawberries at present.

PUPIL'S HEAD CUT IN FIGHT WITH TEACHER

Young Saverd Alleges South Plainfield School Principal Used Bell as Weapon.

BOY WAS DISOBEDIENT

Lad Refused To Go Home When Ordered—Frank Meskill Will Not Talk—Complaint Is Made.

After just recovering from a school episode that furnished lots of material for discussion at the village grocery store and other social clearing places, South Plainfield has again been upset by an occurrence from the same source. It happened yesterday with Principal Frank Meskill and fourteen-year-old Michael Saverd, a pupil, as the principals and from stories that are circulating it closely approached the old-time district school rough-and-tumble act.

Principal Meskill would not discuss the matter today but young Saverd readily told his version. He was driving home from Plainfield in a sleigh, Tuesday afternoon, with John Geary and Allen Morgan, he told a reporter today, when they encountered Mr. Meskill walking on Park avenue near Avon Park. The latter resides on East Second street, this city, and generally makes the trip to and from the school on foot. Savered claims he did not see the principal until almost directly upon him and then pulled into a drift to escape running him down. According to the report, Meskill believed that the boy had deliberately crowded him off the road and that he and his companions had jeered and hooted at him.

At any rate, when Saverd appeared at school yesterday morning, the boy alleges, he was instructed by the principal to go home and when informed it was because of the occurrence of the day before he refused. Meskill allowed him to remain for the morning but when he appeared again after the noon recess, it is said, he repeated his command and when met by a second refusal, shoved him outdoors. Savered swung around through another entrance and it is alleged as he came in Meskill started toward him. The boy grabbed up a book and threw it at the principal and the latter according to the lad's story, retaliated by striking back with a hand-bell which he had been ringing. The edge caught Saverd on the head and inflicted a bad gash, at the same time putting a stop to hostilities.

The boy hurried home with a bad headache and the bleeding cut and his parents sent him to Dr. Nelson. The physician fixed him up but the head ached all night. This morning the boy and his father, Thomas Saverd, visited Justice R. P. F. Von Minden, at his office in this city, and preferred a formal charge of assault against Meskill. The father says he will also have the matter brought to the attention of the school board.

Only a few weeks ago, the village was wrought up by the sudden leaving of a teacher, brought about, it was said, by indignities heaped upon her by the pupils. The trustees declared there was no more than the ordinary unruliness at the school but there have been rumors since then that there have been sharp clashes between the instructors and children. Several times local lawyers were consulted by parents.

A. C. E. Mass Meeting.

The local Christian Endeavor Union will hold a public mass meeting at the Seventh-Day Baptist church on Tuesday night, March 5, for the purpose of considering the proposition of continuing the mission work at the Hunter Avenue Tabernacle in the West End. The mission work was started several months ago. Up to the present time it has been carried on by a few Endeavorers, who are now anxious that all of the Endeavor societies of the city and borough become interested. The subject will be fully presented Tuesday night, and a vote will be taken to decide the question as to whether the union will support the work.

JOURNALISTIC OPINIONS

FRELINGHUYSEN AND TILLMAN.

Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen, of Somerset county, is an announced candidate for Governor, to succeed Governor Stokes. He is about thirty-eight years old, a fire insurance manager, is wealthy enough to have a reported income of $150,000 a year and bears a name that is among the most honored in New Jersey history. He is possessed of a degree of ability, is ambitious and persistent. The first time he ran for Senator in his own county he was defeated by Senator Childs, but the second time he ran he defeated the man who had defeated him. He is the father of the State laws governing automobiles.

Senator Frelinghuysen is an organization man, but he is something more; he is a machine man. This was made manifest by his vacillating conduct in the matter of the Senatorial re-election. He seemed at first to be of the same independent opinion as his colleague Assemblyman Smalley; viz., that Senator Dryden had made himself the issue and had failed at the polls on election day. Later, he became Senator Dryden's champion, was in several conferences with him and worked hand in glove with the machines to secure Mr. Dryden's re-election. He told his fellow Senators that it required great courage to oppose Mr. Dryden, but it required a great deal more to favor him and he was going to do the latter. Undoubtedly, Mr. Frelinghuysen would have behind him all the forces that he represented when he showed the supreme, the superlative courage necessary to stand by the machine, and later by the slate made by the "Big Five." It remains to be seen whether this support will prove helpful or detrimental, but whichever it may be Mr. Frelinghuysen will have it. That is, unless he vacillates once more and comes out on the side of the independent Republicans. Several months must elapse before the next Gubernatorial election; time enough to afford opportunity for a thorough study of the situation and a change of political heart.

As for the candidacy of Assemblyman Peter Tillman, of Union county, it will startle a good many people of New Jersey. Tillman is a candidate for Governor, beyond any doubt. He has said so himself to a News representative. Everybody in every county in the State, excepting Union, will at once inquire, "Who's Tillman?" and this is perhaps his greatest strength. Mr. Tillman is one of the Union county men who signed a paper saying he would not go into the Republican caucus, and then went in the caucus. He resides in Rahway, and though well-to-do is not very wealthy. He is about as near to the Governor's chair as Rahway is to the moon. The latter is within sight, but not within reach. In the meantime the candidacy of William M. Johnson, of Bergen, is not languishing, though Tillman and Frelinghuysen are in the field. Mr. Johnson served very acceptably in the Senate from 1896 to 1900, was President of the Senate in the latter year and was afterward First Assistant Postmaster-General under President McKinley. He is wealthy and is a philanthropist, having given to Hackensack a splendid public library. What he and his friends will do to head off the Frelinghuysen candidacy remains to be seen. Mr. Johnson is an organization man, and has also been known to give aid and comfort to his county machine, but not so aggressively as Frelinghuysen. The latter can never be acceptable to the independent Republicans; whether they can favor Mr. Johnson or not only the future will tell.

It is not impossible, however, for the Colby Republicans to name a candidate of their own, and to elect him. —Newark News.

JAMES E. MARTINE.

Our good and much esteemed contemporary, the Hackensack Record, seems to think that there was some corporation taint in the Democrats going to James Martine.

It evidently does not know Martine.

Why, there is not in the broad confines of the nation a better Democrat or radical in the fullest sense of the word than James Martine. He has always been a Democrat and from his very constitution must always be a Democrat in the strictest and truest sense. He is a Democrat 365 days in the year, and when it is leap year you can add another Democratic day for James Martine.

He carries his Democracy into every rule of his life. He is a true Democrat because he tries to treat other people as he would be treated and only those who take the golden rule for their guide through life can be called real Democrats. Being a Democrat means a great deal more than voting the Democratic ticket on election day. It means a regard for the rights of others as vigilant as for one's own. A true Democrat recoils from tresspassing on the rights of others as he would resent an encroaching on his own.

That is the kind of a Democrat James Martine is.

He is a Democrat in the general, radical sense, from the top of his head to the ground and several feet into the ground.

There is no more corporation or any other taint on James Martine than there is on the heaven sent snow of yesterday. He never knew what it was to seek or have a lick at any corporation ladle.

Martine is worthy of any honor. The Herald was for Stevens on account of coming before the people for United States Senator. But it has as high a regard for Martine as a Democrat as it has for any Democrat in the State.

Martine's life is one of pure serenity. He doesn't smoke, chew, nor drink, he loves God, hates the devil, and religiously votes the Democratic ticket. This last sad rite he performs whether he is running on it or not, which shows his Democracy to be a different brand from some more pretentious Democrats not a thousand miles from Passaic.

The Elizabeth Times says that Martine will never again be an candidate for office. Mr. Martine has certainly done his share of running and has always preached Democracy pure and undefiled every time he did run. He seemed to look on his candidacy rather as an opportunity to preach the gospel of Democracy than a chance to get an office. He knows people will always listen to a candidate when they will not come to hear a lecturer. But whether Martine runs or does not run his life will be to teach and live Democracy.

Success to Martine. May his tribe increase.—Passaic Herald.

ERNEST R. ACKERMAN.

Union county, usually fortunate in the choice of its representative in the Upper House of the State Legislature, is especially so in the present instance. Senator Ackerman's course last winter gave promise of much merit, and his course this year in the choice of United States Senator, and later, in the choice of State Treasurer, has demonstrated that he is one who listens only to the voice of his constituents, and is controlled only by the highest principles of right. He is, first of all, a party man, and is controlled by the will of the organization to which he belongs, in the truest sense of that term. When the election of United States Senator produced a situation somewhat embarrassing to him, he did not hesitate. First of all, he ascertained the will of the individual members of the party and of the county of which he was the chosen representative, and this done, he did not hesitate to incur the odium of selfish individuals who posed, because of their prominence in the party organization, as bosses and dictators of his action. He did not bolt the party caucs. He only bolted the caucus of the pseudo leaders who assumed to control his action. He obeyed the true will of his party organization. Later, when Senator Dryden had withdrawn, he cordially announced his willingness to abide by the decision of the caucus which would name Senator Dryden's successor. But when certain over-zealous friends of Senator Dryden unwisely assumed that Briggs stood for all that Dryden had stood for, and that they themselves had brought about the change from Dryden to Briggs, he simply asked for time to investigate the statements and find out whether or not these assumptions were true. This time could not be allowed, and he accordingly refrained from going into the caucus, until he could make such investigation. Had the time for investigation been given, he could have found the falsity of the claims and charges and there would have been no trouble. Later, when the question of the State Treasurership, which involved the same claims and charges, was presented, he did investigate and found that there was not only no truth in them, but that they were entirely he work of unwise, and in some insances, false friends of the Morris county gentleman. Upon ascertaining these facts, he did not hesitate to place himself squarely on record as in favor of Mr. Voorhees' election. And in every other case where Senator Ackerman has been called upon to act, he has consulted only the interests of right and of his constituents. He is in the highest and best sense a party organization man.—Warren Tidings.

"AND THE CAT CAME BACK."

Husband Used to Sing This to Her, Declares Hoboken Woman, Who Is Seeking Divorce.

Hoboken, Feb. 28.—The suit of Mrs. Christina Schultze, of Fourth street and Park avenue, Hoboken, for a divorce from John Henry Schultze, was heard yesterday before Vice Chancellor Lindley M. Garrison in the Chancery chambers.

Mrs. Schultze alleged cruelty. She is fifty years old. Schultze is forty, and lives at 502 Bloomfield street, Hoboken. Mrs. Schultze was a widow when she married Schultze in September, 1899.

Mrs. Schultze wept now and then while she told the vice chancellor of beatings, insults and threats she says she suffered from her husband. They moved many times about Hoboken and once they went to California, but returned from the West in a few months.

After a stormy quarrel she left him in May, 1905, but soon returned to him, she says, and then she got into a habit of leaving and returning. He used to sing "And the Cat Came Back" after their reunions, she says.

Very High Finance.

New York, Feb. 28.—New light on the celebrated "readjustment of securities" of the Chicago and Alton, by which E. H. Harriman and his associates made millions, was furnished just before the close of yesterday's hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission, when the present controller of the Alton testified that the readjusters had mortgaged a railroad line which was never built and for which no funds had been provided. He testified further that the books of the company authorized the payment to one Lewis L. Stanton of $13,000,000 for preferred stock in the Alton and a short line of railroad, and that no such payment had ever been made. On the other hand the issue of bonds intended to reimburse Mr. Stanton was turned over to the syndicate which delivered the stock and the road. Mr. Stanton was referred to as a dummy who was used to conceal the identity of the real owners of the preferred stock and the short line of railway. Mr. Harriman in his testimony on Tuesday practically admitted as much and the assumption of counsel was that he represented the reorganization syndicate. This unusual testimony was given by Charles M. Hillard, who was made controller last October by the Rock Island interests under the system for alternate control of the Alton made with Mr. Harriman. He was an almost eager witness for the government. Lawyers for the Harriman interests declared that Mr. Hillard had encountered some bookkeeping methods which, while regular, were not understood by him, and added that investigation would show that there are no irregularities in the transactions referred to.

Statistics of Disease.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 28.—Out of only two-fifths of the popoulation of the United States more than half a million lives were offered up in 1905 as a sacrifice to disease. Startling as this death rate may seem it was less than that for the preceding year, but was in excess of the number of deaths registered for any other year. The death rate from nephritis and Bright's disease, apoplexy, cancer, diabetes and appendicitis is increasing, while that from old age, bronchitis, convulsions, peritonitis and scarlet fever is decreasing. The greatest death rate recorded for any one disease in 1905 was that from pulmonary tuberculosis, amounting to 56,770, while pneumonia follows closely with a death rate of 39,068, exclusive of broncho-pneumonia. The much dreaded cancer shows a steadily growing death rate, the figures being 24,330.

Saved Two But Lost His Life.

Piqua, Ohio, Feb. 28.—In trying to save a woman with a baby in her arms from death Aaron Alexander was killed yesterday by a Cincinnati, Hamilton and Dayton passenger train. The woman and child were uninjured.

GOTHAM'S AMUSEMENTS

Last night's audience in the Savoy theatre to see "The Man of the Hour" had a good laugh not provided in the lines of the author, George H. Broadhurst. In the second act, the scene of which is laid in the Mayor's office, Frank MacVickers, who plays the role of Richard Horrigan, supposed to represent Charles Murphy, walks up to Frederick Perry, who essays the role popularly supposed to represent Mayor McClellan, and says: "A fine figure you cut posing as you do. Why, your father before you was one of us. He was a grafter and I have the facts to prove it." Before Mr. Perry could go on with the lines denouncing the supposed Tammany boss a man sitting down near the stage jumped up and yelled "You're a liar." Then, realizing that his emotions had carried him away the interrupter slid back into his seat, while the audience joined the actors on the stage in a hearty laugh.

One of the latest favorite among the singers in Oscar Hammerstein's new Manhattan Grand Opera House, is Mlle. Regine Arta. She is a dramatic soprano of rare merit, and has an appearance and a personality which instantly appeal to her auditors. Mlle. Arta is a native of Pittsburg, and went abroad six years ago to finish the cultivation of her voice and to study under the best masters in Europe for grand opera. Hher chief instructor was the celebrated M. Artaud, of Paris, under whose able tutelage Mlle. Arta fitted herself for the brilliant operatic career which she has been enjoying for several years in France and Belgium. Arta has been heard several times this season at the Waldorf-Astoria, and at the homes of the "400" in New York. Mlle. Arta has the advantage of being young and beautiful, as well as talented and accomplished.

A cruel joke was perpetrated on Miss Julia Sanderson, the clever little vaudeville singer and dancer. When Miss Sanderson was rehearsing for her new song, "Bessie and Her Little Brown Bear," her little nephew, a boy of fourteen, was visiting the charming young actress at her New York home. Spying the brown "Teddy Bear" that she uses in her act, lying on the sofa, the young hopeful took it into an adjoining room, ripped it open, and substituted Miss Sanderson's pet bull terrier for the sawdust interior. When Miss Sanderson resumed rehearsals, her nephew handed her the hybrid terrier, "Teddy." Hher fright can be imagined when the supposedly inanimate bear began to wriggle and growl. It was several hours before she recovered from the shock.

Telharmonic Hall, at 39th street and Broadway, New York, the mammoth electrical plant of the Cahill Telharmonic System, continues to draw thousands of visitors weekly. The "new music for an old world" ac McClure's Magazine styled it, is heard and the wonders of its production fully explained, with a view of the hundreds of dynamos. The musical staff, under the direction of Elliott Schenck, renders at this week's recitals a programme including Schumann, Rossini, Gounod, Boch, Grieg and Chopin. All the elements of orchestral tone are illustrated. The musical arc lamp continues to excite amazement, while a new feature is the biographic representation of distant audience of the music, which may be heard in thousands of distant audiences at once. Daniel Gregory Mason in the current Outlook says of it: "It is not a substitute for an orchestra; it is something better." Galbrilowitsch, Caruso, Melba, Bonci, Puccini, Hertz and other great musicians have been recent enthusiastic visitors to Telharmonic Hall, where recitals and demonstrations are given every afternoon and evening.

William R. Codington, of Sandford avenue, has returned from a few days' visit at Atlantic City.

Edward Mundy, son of Clark Mundy, of Stone street, the borough, is quite ill at his home with pneumonia.

Mrs. T. B. Titsworth, of the Babcock building, left yesterday for Washington, where she will visit relatives for a few weeks.

Miss Margaret Smith, an operator at the local telephone office, who has been substituting in the Elizabeth office for a week, has returned to Plainfield.

The man with the blue pencil has been browsing in the Furniture Store, and here and there, just as though for spite, he has marked down the prices on odd pieces which he thought ought to take their departure without delay. Of course there is a reason for selling odds and ends, because often patterns are discontinued and it is to our advantage to sell off the pieces on hand. But there really seems no reason for such emphatic reductions as have been made. Just look over the pricings and then come quickly if you want to pick up any of these plums:

A PRIMARY BILL HAS SPECIAL ORDER.

Senator Colby's Measure Will Be Taken Up Next Tuesday Morning.

Trenton, Feb. 28.—The session of the Senate yesterday, like all preceeding ones for several weeks, opened with the presentation of numerous petitions protesting against a repeal of the "bishops' law" and the attempt to legalize the sale of liquor on Sunday in any form. This was followed by a petition from Hunterdon county, urging the abolition of voting machines.

Included in several bills favorably reported was the Colby direct primary bill, Senate 65. The Senator from Essex asked that, in order to save time and avoid a recurrence of the action on the civil service bill which, after being passed on second reading, was sent back to committee, the measure be made a special order for next Tuesday morning. That order was made.

Accompanying the direct primary bill, in the report made by the Committee on Elections, was an adverse report on the Hinchliffe bill requiring municipalities, instead of county governments, to bear the cost of municipal primary elections.

President Minch called the bill up for second reading in the usual manner, when Senator Avis remarked that under the rules the consent of the Senate was necessary to secure action on any bill adversely reported. This led Senator Gebhardt to audibly remark that such a practise was "worse than killing a bill in committee," which caused a vigorous protest from Senators Bradley and Colby, the two members of the committee.

The Senators declared the bill had received most careful consideration and the introducer of the measure had been informed of the intended adverse report.

Senator Avis said that his remark had been misunderstood by the Senator from Hunterdon, but at the same time he (Avis) maintained an adverse report was the advice of the committee, and unless it was accepted committees might as well be dispensed with.

Mr. Hinchliffe succeeded in having further debate suspended by asking that further consideration of the measure be dispensed with.

The Hinchliffe bill, vesting Boards of Freeholders with power to prohibit any person or persons from tearing up county roads for the laying of pipes or conduits, or for any other purpose, was passed by a vote of 13 to 3, after the most ceremonious debate which has ensued this session.

Mr. Robbins led the attack on the bill, which, he said, conferred too much power on the Boards of Freeholders. Senator Hinchliffe said the sole object of the bill was to give the Passaic Board of Freeholders, which has constructed more than 2,000 miles of stone roads, or more than any single county in the United States, the right to protect these roads.

PREACHES 38 YEARS; DECLINES HIS SALARY.

The Rev. S. M. Loose, of Fremont, Ohio, Supports Himself By Operating a Farm.

There is one minister who believes that if religion is touched with the taint of grasping commercialism—at least for him—it is not religion. "Freely receive and freely give" is the utilitarian doctrine to which the Rev. S. M. Loose, of the Brethren church, faithfully subscribes, and his strict adherence to it has made his life one of practical spiritual worth, says a Fremont, Ohio, newspaper.

For thirty-eight years this man has labored as a minister and has never accepted a cent of salary. Never considering his work as a feature to exploit before the public, he has modestly and quietly sought to do good; in fact, he has been so retired that but few persons outside his congregation are aware that he is giving his life to the saving of souls, and that in this work he neither asks nor expects any pecuniary reward.

He is merely doing what he thinks is right.

He owns a farm a few miles from Fremont, which is well known all over this section of the country as being a home where the gate is always open to the visitor, the needy, and even the stranger finds there a hospitable welcome. The life of the Rev. Mr. Loose has been the real "simple life;" not the one of the faddist, who adopts it for some particular fancy, or that of the ascetic, who deserts the world for rigid seclusion."

PUBLIC HEARING WILL BE GIVEN BREUNIG BILL.

"Bishops' Law" Repealer and Several Other Excise Measures to Be Taken Up Next Monday.

Trenton, Feb. 28.—With a show of virtue calculated to provoke a smile on the part of those who are conversant with the stormy scenes which marked the Democratic joint caucus Tuesday afternoon in discussing the excise question, the caucus decided to give a public hearing next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock on the Breunig bill to repeal the "bishops' law;" the Blohm bill, which is designed to legalize the sale of liquor on Sunday, and the Buck local option bill, after which the present intention is to report all three in the Assembly and force them to a vote, which will be an adverse one. After that a compromise measure will be introduced, and there is a possibility that it may be passed.

Only twenty-eight Democratic Assemblymen will vote for the Blohm bill, not more than twenty for the Breunig repealer and only thirty are sure for the compromise bill prepared by Mr. Silzer for the conference. Assemblyman Morris refused to attend the conference Tuesday, and other members and Senators left when the debate became acrimonious.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac L. Brown, of Brooklyn, have returned after a visit of several days here with relatives.

John A. Wearren, of Rock avenue, formerly employed by A. H. Enander, the plumber, has enlisted in the U. S. Navy and is now on the Battleship Kansas. He has secured a leave of absence for three days and is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Wearren, of Rock avenue.

OPPOSE TINKERING WITH JERSEY COURTS.

Proposed Judiciary Amendments Like Those Once Defeated at the Polls.

Trenton, Feb. 28.—In the absence of any public demand, the proposed amendments to the judiciary article of the State Constitution are not likely to meet with favor at the hands of the present Legislature.

An examination of these amendments shows a striking similarity to those submitted to the people in 1903 and which were defeated at the polls. The citizens of New Jersey, always jealous of any tinkering with the courts, then emphatically expressed a desire that no change should be made.

For several years the upper courts fell back in their work to such an extent that the Legislature, at its last session, made three important changes in the method of administration: the first authorized Supreme Court Justices to refer all issues to Circuit Judges for trial; the second authorized two or more Circuit Judges to sit in the same county at one time, and the third authorized the appointment of two additional Circuit Judges.

Under this legislation an additional Judge was appointed. Two Judges are now sitting in Essex and Hudson counties, respectively, and the Justices of the Supreme Court are devoting themselves exclusively to prerogative and review work. So well has this plan, inaugurated and put in force by the Legislature itself, worked out, that the Court of Errors and Supreme Court have caught up with accumulated business and the trial Judges are keeping pace with the litigation in the counties. Following this policy, and maintaining the present system, Circuit Judges may be added as the legal business incident to the growth of the State increases.

The proposed amendments of the Supreme Court is conferred upon the legal branch of a tri-bodied court, the chancery powers upon the equity branch of this body, and the review work upon the appeal division. County courts are to continue under that name, with slight modification of jurisdiction. The change is in name rather than substance. The total number of trial Judges is reduced to fourteen, instead of twenty-three. How this can result in anything other than a further clogging of the wheels of justice is not apparent to the lay mind.

CLARK CLUB TO BE CHANGED.

Famous Non-sectarian Pleasure House Now for Episcopalians.

Elizabeth, Feb. 28.—Much to the surprise of many members of the Clark Club, announcement was made yesterday afternoon that at a special meeting of the rector, wardens and vestrymen of Grace church, it was decided to assume control of the organization and make it a church club instead of a general club, as at present.

At present Clark Club is composed of a large number of Catholics and members of Protestant faiths other than the Episcopalian. The change is made to strengthen both Grace church and the Clark Club. Their action was taken upon the recommendation of the wife of Bishop Potter by whom Clark Club was endowed.

Sub-Treasury Shortage.

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 28.—The United States Sub-Treasury in this city is short $173,000. That the money could have been mislaid or sent out by mistake is declared by Secret Service officers to be almost impossible. That the Sub-Treasury has been cleverly robbed of the amount mentioned and that more than one man is implicated are the theory on which the government detectives and Sub-Treasury officials are proceeding. And yet not an arrest has been made, although the shortage was discovered last Tuesday evening when the books were being balanced for that day. George W. Fitzgerald, an assorting clerk, frankly admitted last night that the deficiency occurred in his cage. So far as the public knows suspicion is not directed toward Fitzgerald more than to any other of the employees who may have had access to the money. Fitzgerald says he reported the shortage to William Boldenweck, the sub-treasurer, as soon as he discovered it. Mr. Boldenweck corroborated the story that Fitzgerald frankly told him the money was missing.

Will Not Bury His Wife.

Asheville, N. C., Feb. 28.—Superintendent of Health Reynolds says that the neighbors of W. C. Gray, of Edgartown, Mass., who has been shut up in his house here for two weeks with the body of his wife, have no right to interfere with him. Dr. Reynolds agrees with the stricken husband, who says that it is nobody's business but his own, and he has a right to keep his wife's body in his house if he wants to. Mrs. Gray's body was embalmed the day she died, which was on February 11. Night and day her husband has remained beside the body, refusing all efforts at comfort and admittance to callers. A son and daughter-in-law remain in the house with him and have brought to bear all their efforts upon him to give up the body. He says that the body will be taken back to their home in Massachusetts, but not until the winter has passed in the North, and that he will not allow it to be buried until the frost is out of the ground.

ENTITLED TO PROMOTION.

Not only is Col. Dennis F. Collins entitled to promotion to the brigadier generalship by reason of the fact that he is senior colonel of the State's National Guard but on the ground that his regiment shows a higher degree of efficiency. According to the annual report of Brigadier General Congdon as the Inspector General of the New Jersey National Guards for 1906 the Second regiment was ahead of the Third in the general efficiency averages. It received 84.8 per cent. while the Third was given 84.1. These general averages represent military duty performed during the year. So far as general duty is concerned, the report shows that the Second regiment was the highest, it having had a percentage of 83.54 men at Sea Girt while the Third had 81.70.

LEGISLATURE'S SESSIONS WILL END ON MARCH 22.

Legislature Under Pressure Rushing to Complete Work In Four Weeks.

From the way the Republican leaders in the Senate and the Democratic leaders in the House talk, it seems likely that the present Legislature will adjourn in four weeks.

Speaker Edgar E. Lethbridge and Majority Leader Abram Klenert have advised the chairmen of committees to get busy. Last week was one of activity in legislative matters as a result of this advice.

It is planned to have the whole calendar of bills considered and all work completed March 22, the week before Holy Week.

It is confidently expected that all matters can be cleared up on scheduled time.

President Minch, of the Senate, and Majority Leader Hillery said yesterday that they could see no reason why the present session should not be finished before April 1.

NO UNION SAYS RECORD.

New Idea Men Won't Join With Dickinson Followers.

At the meeting of the Central Republican Committee, in Jersey City last night, Corporation Counsel Geo. L. Record made a speech in which he poured cold water on the proposition of Mayor Fagan's followers harmonizing with the followers of Colonel Samuel D. Dickinson. This has been publicly hinted for several weeks.

"We are asked to accept a lot of promises in return for harmonizing with the regular Republicans," said Record, "but where is the surety company that will stand back of any such promises? I think it will be hard to find. We are fighting for principles which the regulars will not stand for. This idea of picking out candidates regardless of party choice is one thing the regulars stick to and against which we are fighting for. We believe in giving everybody a voice. It is foolish to talk of settling with the regulars, because they stand for one thing and we another."

He took occasion to praise Governor Hughes of New York for breaking up corruption in politics and alluded to him as the kind of man the Central Republican Committee members liked.

EMBALMED PET POODLE.

Dog in Satin Casket Will Rest in Family Plot.

Long Branch, Feb. 28.—"Tannie," a pet boodle belonging to Edgar L. Morris, was shot yesterday to end its misery. The dog had been a pet in the family for twelve years. Edgar, who is a son of an undertaker, embalmed the body and placed the canine in a satin-lined casket.

Mr. Morris said last night that the dog would be interred in the family cemetery and that he would place an engraved slab at the head of his grave.

By Tom Muir.

The most enterprising chorus girl in the world has been discovered at the New York Hippodrome. She is Miss Mildred Bernhardt—commonly called "Sarah" Bernhardt—and in addition to appearing twice a day at the Hippodrome, she has opened a retaurant across the street from that institution, and serves two meals a day to over 150 chorus girls and men employed at the Hippodrome. Miss Bernhardt's restaurant is located in the basement of No. 135 West Forty-fourth street, and caters exclusively to employees of the Hippodrome. Outsiders who try to eat there are very likely to be told by Miss Bernhardt herself that all tables are reserved. She has all she can do to feed the Hippodrome chorus girls and the chorus men, and her restaurant is so popular that any afternoon after the matinee a line of from thirty to fifty chorus girls can be seen in front of her restaurant, waiting an opportunity to get places at the tables. Miss Bernhardt opened her restaurant two weeks ago, and at the conclusion of her first week's business she figured that her profits amounted to $71.89. Her salary as a chorus girl is only $18 a week, but she will not resign from the Hippodrome to run the restaurant.

THE FORUM.

W. C. T. U.'s Excise Remonstrance.

Editor, The Daily Press:

Will you kindly allow me to state through the columns of your paper that the Women's Christian Temperance Union send every year a protest to the Common Ccuncil against the granting of licenses to sell intoxicating liquor. A protest was sent this year as usual, in care of the city clerk. Why it was not read does not appear. Also in regard to the article in last night's Daily Press concerning a communication to the Jr. O. U. A. M. That communication was not a personal one but was from the Women's Christian Temperance Union through its correspondent.

Thanking your in advance for publishing this, I am,

Yours very truly,

SHE HAS GONE TO MARRY HER INJURED SWEETHEART.

Wallower Badly Hurt Saving An Employe from Explosion of Mining Cartridge.

Miss Marie Russert, daughter of Mrs. J. B. Russert, of New Brunswick, has gone to Joplin, Mo., where she will be married early in March to Frank Wallower, a mining engineer and operator of that city, to whom her engagement was announced some time ago.

The wedding was to have taken place in June and the honeymoon journey was to have been to Europe, where a tour of Switzerland and France was to be made by automobile.

A short time ago Mr. Wallower had his hands terribly injured by the premature explosion of a dynamite cartridge in one of his mines. He tried to rescue a careless workman and seized the cartridge to throw it away just as it exploded. One hand was torn off completely and the other terribly injured. He is now convalescing after lingering between life and death, and his fiancee has gone to join him. They will be married in Joplin.

NO EXCISE LEGISLATION.

Senator Minturn Doubts if There Will Be Any This Session.

Trenton, Feb. 28.—Senator Minturn, the Democratic leader in the Senate and chairman of the joint caucus, yesterday afternoon gave out a statement of his views on the situation regarding excise legislation. Mr. Minturn said:

"It is doubtful if there will be any excise legislation at this session. The Democrats in the House cannot get together. Seven or eight of them will not stand with the majority. The thing to do is to put the Blohm bill before the House and let its opponents defeat it. The members who favor excise legislation and who come from metropolitan counties were elected on that issue and are in fact pledged to it.

"Now, in honor, they are bound to make good their pledges by putting up the Blohm bill and voting for it. They can then go home and point to the fact that they did all they could to make good." Senator Minturn was at the two Democratic caucusses held to consider the excise question and advised the action which he mentions in his statement.

Typhoid on Battleship.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 28.—The battleship Connecticut, which is running a race with death to get those of her crew among whom an epidemic of typhoid fever has broken out, to the New York Navy Hospital, passed the Virginia Capes today. She reported by wireless to this station that fifteen of the ill are in a critical condition and may not live to reach New York. Another case developed today.

Gas Kills One, 20 Ill.

New York, Feb. 28.—Robert Engelman, who had a tailor shop at No. 219 West Sixty-eighth street and lived at No. 172 West 135th street, was found dead yesterday in his shop, which was filled with gas from a leaking pipe in the basement. He died sitting in a chair. Coroner Harburger announced that Engleman's death appeared to be accidential. Sixteen hundred feet of gas had escaped from the pipe during the night. The lives of a dozen families in the building were endangered by the escaping gas, and at least twenty persons, mostly women and children, were made ill and were in danger of asphxiation. The coroner said the man's death was apparently due to negligence, and at the inquest on March 5 a strict investigation will be made to fix the responsibility.

Sun Spotted Yet.

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 28.—John A. Brashear, an Allegheny astronomer, says another big sunspot is due about Friday. He observed five smal spots on Monday. There is a possibility the large one coming will disintegrate but present indications are it will be at hand. Its full effect will not be perceived on the earth until the middle of next week, when there may be electrical disturbances caused by the great solar phenomenon. Mr. Brashear says the spot should make its appearance in the western part of the sun on Friday. It will gradually move toward the central meridian, arriving in five or six days.

"UP THE NILE FROM CAIRO TO THEBES"

DR. CHARLES MOLDENKE GIVES ILLUSTRATED LECTURE.

Dr. Charles Moldenke, of New York, gave an instructive and interesting illustrated lecture at St. Peter's German Lutheran church, on Grove street, last night, on the subject, "Up the Nile from Cairo to Thebes." The lecture was given for the benefit of the church and was attended by an audience that filled the edifice. Dr. Moldenke has taken this trip two or three times, his last visit to Egypt being just ten years ago this month. He being an egyptologist he made a special study of the ancient temples, devoting much time to the inscriptions to be found therein, as well as in the noted tombs.

The views shown last night are probably among the finest ever taken in Egypt and Dr. Moldenke gave lucid description of his journey which covererd about 400 miles up the Nile. He told in detail of the conditions to be found in that ancient land, explaining the method of raising crops, the natural fertilization caused by the overflowing of the Nile, and mentioned the fact that one section is so fertile that three crops are raised in one year.

For the Bible student and those who have made a study of Egyptian writings, the views of the temples and tombs were probably the most interesting and being so well versed in his subject the doctor was able to explain them in a way that was easily understood by all. Interpersing his reference to the more serious features of the trip, he related many amusing incidents which helped to make it a real pleasure for all. The lantern was operated by the speaker's brother, Dr. Richard Moldenke, of Watchung.

INSURANCE REPORT HELD UP.

The Special Senate Committee Promise It In a Week or Two.

Trenton, Feb. 28.—The special Senate committee appointed last year to investigate insurance affairs in New Jersey has not yet completed its labors.

Senators Thomas J. Hillery, James F. Minturn and Edmund W. Wakelee are understood to be busy framing bills for presentation to the Legislature, which are destined to remedy evils the committee is said to have found. A meeting of the committee will be held next week, at which, it is expected, the work will be completed.

If that is found impossible, it was said by a member of the committee, the bills will be completed the following week, and the report will then be submitted to Governor Edward C. Stokes.

Work of Ammonia Fumes.

New York, Feb. 28.—Harry F. Baker, of engine company No. 26, died at Bellevue Hospital, yesterday morning, from ammonia fumes, which killed Adam Damm, of the same company, shortly after midnight, in the fire in the Volunteer Market, at No. 573 Eighth avenue. Three others are in a precarious condition. With two of its members dead and the others ill, the entile batallion was in bad shape yesterday. Many of the men will have to have sick leave, whether they want it or not, after their suffering from the fumes at the blaze, at which Chief Langford had given his men one of the hardest fights he had ever seen. He was loud in his praise of the heroic work of the men.

James Nash, of the New Madison, has returned from a visit with friends at Perth Amboy.

Henry Brose, of the borough, has been detained at home with an attack of the grip.

BOTH COULD NOT WEAR TROUSERS.

Court Refuses to Separate Couple Who Quarrelled Over Home Control.

Vice-Chancellor Bergen, at Newark, dismissed yesterday a bill for limited divorce brought by Mrs. Nellie Fugle against Frederick W. Fugle, of No. 528 Kearny avenue, Kearny.

It appeared from the testimony that the couple disagreed over the question as to which was to dominate in the affairs of the household. Mrs. Fugle averred that her husband was a "poor provider, that he constantly nagged her and was frequently abusive to her."

In his defense, Fugle declared that as his wife was a vocalist of high merit and a musician of much ability, she had established an earning capacity greater than his. This fact, Fugle claimed, was at the bottom of their domestic troubles, and his wife taunted him with receiving a smaller income as manager of a New York fur concern than she obtained from her professional work. "She insists on being boss of the house," Fugle declared.

The Vice-Chancellor could not find a very serious side to the family complications. He advised the Fugles to go home and adjust their differences.

"If I should grant a divorce on the grounds alleged in this bill," said the Vice-Chancellor, "it would be an admission that the ordinary quarrels of every married couple in the State constituted ground for a legal separation."

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

March 3: "The Duty of Testimony."
By REV. WALTER J. YATES, D. D.
Acts i. 8; Ps. cvii. 2-8; Matt. x. 32, 33; Rom. x. 9, 10; Rev. xii. 11.

If it is a truth that man as a race is lost and that all men by practice are sinners and that Jesus Christ came to save all from their sins and that some of us are conscious that He has saved us, then one of the most binding duties on us is to tell as widely and convincingly as possible the facts of our salvation and bear witness for Christ.

However severely the burdens of our everyday existence may press upon us and the struggle for a living may tax time and energies, there is no one who needs or can afford to let the bread and butter problem absorb the best of his effort and interest. Our needs are more pressing than those merely of the stomach. We must have bread, but we more urgently need Him who is our life as well as the giver of every good thing. Our lives get stunted and mean when we keep them too close down to the merely earthly. We need God and the constant refreshing of His presence to live anyway satisfactorily. The fullness and richness of our life do not consist even a little in the abundance of the things we have or the prominence of the place we occupy. The quality of a life depends on the extent to which it is God filled.

So our duty and ability to witness for Christ do not depend on the amount of talent we have or the position in which we are placed.

What is it to witness for Christ?

Many seem to act as if it is making a formal speech or "testimony in meeting" for ordinary folks and preaching a sermon or giving an address by ministers and such like people.

We would not in the least underrate the value of sermons and the more formal varieties of Christian testimony, but there is a vast world of other witnessing which is immensely important and which is too much neglected.

Let every one cultivate the habit of regularly speaking in the services of the church to be sure. There is great gain by such systematic methods to personal growth in the religious life. But this should be only the beginning of the work of witnessing. By far the more important is the unconscious testimony which breathes at all times from us as the perfume exhales from the rose because it is a rose.

So we are to be so thoroughly Christian at all times and in every place that the Christ light just naturally shines through the face, and the Christ tones speak through the voice, and the Christ presence is felt in the grip of the fingers, the flash of the eye, the spring of the step and every line of the countenance and curve of the body.

Is this fancy, do you say? It is our business to make it very fact—practical everyday fact. And shame on us also if we have not already begun it in right good earnest. We say we love Him and want to show that love. Then begin to do it by making your tones of voice sound like His. Ah, no imitation now! Be the thing you want to appear to be. The lips must speak from the heart. Fill the mind and heart with Jesus, live all the time with Him, and we shall talk like Him and look and act like Him. This is the best kind of witnessing possible.

Let us have fellowship in spirit, and we shall also have fellowship with Him in work.

Love's Due.

It is often said that a service rendered another loses all its moral worth to the doer and becomes ignoble as soon as any return is expected, even that of appreciation or gratitude. Is that quite true? It is not the highest or most generous spirit that will measure its benefactions by the thanks returned or cease bestowing them where they are needed even though gratitude should utterly fail, but nevertheless love has a right to look for love's reward. Earth holds no sweeter pleasure than that of bestowing gifts and blessings upon those whom we love—the surrounding of dear lives with comforts and enjoyments at the expense of our toil and sacrifice. It sanctifies labor and robs all hardship of its sting to know that through it our hand can pour out largess, our care infold some dependent one like a protecting garment, but we long to see the face beam, the eyes brighten. It is love's due recompense. It would be neither human nor natural not to long for and expect it.

God expects it. He pours out the treasures of His goodness and beneficence, He guards us through the careless days and thoughtless nights, He is patient with the patience of the Most High, but still the heart of love that is above all human love longs for recognition. He sends His rain upon the just and the unjust, indeed, and is kind to the unthankful, but it is upon those who know and rejoice in His love that He bends the smile of the Father.—Forward.

To Claim God For Our Own.

The Lord is my Shepherd; He maketh me to lie down; He leadeth me; He restoreth my soul. Lay your attention upon the little word. Ask yourself if, since it was first put upon your lips, you have ever used it with anything more than the lips; if you have any right to use it; if you have ever taken any steps toward winning the right to use it. To claim God for our own, to have and enjoy Him as ours, means—as Christ, our Master, said over and over again—that we give ourselves to Him and take Him to our hearts. Sheep do not choose their shepherd, but man has to choose, else the peace and the fullness of life which are here figured remain a dream and become no experience for Him.—Professor George Adam Smith.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning March 3.
By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

Topic.—Being honest with yourself and God.—Luke xii. 1-3; Josh. xxiv. 14.

Dishonesty toward God, or, as it is more commonly called, hypocrisy, has prevailed throughout all time. It began with Cain, who made an offering to God, but not a sincere and honest one. In the days of Joshua there were those among the children of Israel who professed to believe in God, yet worshiped idols, and therefore he was called upon to exhort them to "fear the Lord and serve Him in sincerity and in truth and put away the gods which your fathers served on the other side of the flood and in Egypt and serve ye the Lord." In the time of Christ the Pharisees were the personification of hypocrisy, and the Master often denounced them for their false professions and warned His disciples against their example. And how much hypocrisy there is in the religious world today! How many profess religion, yet do not possess it! How many have the form of godliness, but not its power! All such are dishonest with themselves and with God. Many of them are deceiving even themselves while they are trying to deceive God. No doubt many Pharisees in Christ's day really believed themselves to be all they professed. They were blind, and, while ever ready to pick flaws in others, they could see no faults in themselves. No more pitiable condition can be imagined than for a man to be hypocritical in his religion and yet to think that he is honest and sincere. His case is almost hopeless, for if we do not realize our sinfulness it will be impossible for us to seek pardon for it. Let us therefore examine our hearts thoroughly and see whether we are really what we profess to be—whether we are honest in our religious lives.

There is every reason why we should be sincere and honest in religion, and no argument can be advanced in favor of hypocrisy. Hypocrisy avails nothing with God. We may deceive men for a time by pretense, but God cannot be deceived. Insincere religion is no religion. "God is a spirit, and they that worship Him must worship Him in spirit and in truth." Otherwise it is not worship, but mockery. The hypocrite may repeat prayers, but he never prays. God sees the heart, and no religious forms, however numerous or elaborate, can make up for insincerity in the heart. Moreover, hypocrisy is soon detected. Job declares that hypocrisy is like the spider's web. How apt the illustration! The spider's web is wonderfully woven, but what is weaker? And, though we may most carefully weave a false life, sooner or later its true character will be known. We may deceive men for a time, but not for all time. We may even deceive ourselves, but in the day of judgment, if not before, the scales will fall from our own eyes, and, with shame and remorse, we will call upon the hills and mountains to fall upon us and cover us. And in that day Christ tells us that "there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed, neither hid that shall not be known." Those who avoid detection in this life will then have their true character made known.

Why should any one be satisfied with mere religious pretense? It is just as easy, even more so, to have religion itself. God will give any one who wants it a new heart and help him to lead a sincere life. So why should we be satisfied with mere profession? If religion is worth imitating, is not its possession infinitely more valuable? Let us therefore love and serve God, but let us be sure that we do it "in sincerity and in truth."

BIBLE READINGS.

Ps. i. 1-6; v. 1, 10; Eccl. xii. 13, 14; Matt. vi. 1-11; John iv. 19-24; Acts v. 1-11; Rom. xiv. 11, 12; Gal. vi. 7, 8; Eph. iv. 25-32; Phil. iv. 8, 9; Rev. xxi. 10, 22-27.

His Farewell.

The closing paragraphs of Mr. Vogt's farewell letter when resigning the general secretaryship of the United Society of Christian Endeavor are significant: "I wish that you would make Christian Endeavor your chief private concern this year. Study it from all sides. Interest in it all the especially influential people you can. Make it thoroughly successful in your church. There was never a day when it had so large possibilities as today. I have probably seen more of its failures than you have and more of its successes, and I know those possibilities. And most heartily I wish you great personal blessing, as little suffering as possible and as many of the glad things of life as may come. Already I begin to think how short the time for accomplishment is. Truly I hope you may have the great delight of laying your hand to something that will help to bring in His day of justice and righteousness and love."

A Russian Convention.

In the Evans tea house, in Wenden, a number of delegates from the Baltic provinces and Lithuania met to hold the second session of the Baltic provinces. An excursion was made to the house of prayer of the Brotherhood of Weissmanhof, and the Christian Endeavor convention proceeded by train, on invitation of their highnesses the Princesses Marie and Sophie Lwen, to Castle Kremon. There a chapel service was held and a society founded, their highnesses being elected as active members.

CHAPTER XVII.

Golden Butterflies.

If you are one of those captious people who must verify by the calendar every new moon you read of in a book, and if you are pained to discover the historian lifting anchor and spreading sail contrary to the reckonings of the nautical almanac, I beg to call your attention to these items from the time-table of the Mid-Western and Southern Railway for December, 1901: The southbound express passed Annandale at exactly 53 minutes after four p. m. It was scheduled to reach Cincinnati at 11 o'clock sharp. This, I trust, is sufficiently explicit.

To the student of morals and motives I will say a further word. I had resolved to practice deception in running away from Glenarm House to keep my promise to Marian Devereux. By leaving I should forfeit my right to any part of my grandfather's estate; but of more immediate importance was my absence from Glenarm House at this juncture, when the attacks of Morgan and the strange ways of Bates made it clearly my duty to remain. Pickering and I were engaged in a sharp contest, and I was beginning to enjoy it to the full, but I did not falter in my determination to visit Cincinnati, hoping to return without my absence being discovered; so the next afternoon I began preparing for my journey.

"Bates, I fear that I'm taking a severe cold and I'm going to dose myself with whisky and quinine and go to bed. I shan't want any dinner—nothing until you see me again."

I yawned and stretched myself with a groan.

"I'm very sorry, sir. Shan't I call a doctor?"

"Not a bit of it. I'll sleep it off and be as lively as a cricket in the morning."

At four o'clock I told him to carry some hot water and lemons to my rooms; bade him an emphatic good-night and locked the door as he left. Then I packed my evening clothes in a suit-case. I threw the bag and heavy sister from a window, swung myself out upon the limb of a big maple and let it bend me to its sharpest and then dropped lightly to the ground.

I passed the gate and struck off toward the village with a joyful sense of freedom. I reached the station without incident and waited in the freight shed to keep out of sight of the station loafers until my train drew up, then quietly jumped aboard. I bought a seat in the Washington sleeper and after supper in the dining car made myself comfortable and dozed and dreamed as the train plunged through the dark. The through passengers about me went to bed, and I was left sprawled out in my open section, lurking on the shadowy frontier between the known world and dreamland.

"We're runnning into Cincinnati ten minutes late," said the porter's voice, and in a moment I was in the vestibule and out, hurrying to a hotel. At the St. Botolph I ordered a carriage and broke all records changing my clothes. The time-table informed me that the Chicago express left at half-past one. There was no reason why I should not be safe at Glenarm House by my usual breakfast hour in the morning if all went well. To avoid loss of time in returning to the station I paid the hotel charge and carried my bag away with me.

"Doctor Armstrong's residence? Yes, sir; I've already taken two loads there."

The carriage was soon climbing what semed to be a mountain to the heights above Cincinnati. To this day I associate Ohio's most interesting city with a lonely carriage ride that was as strange to me as a trackless jungle in the wilds of Africa. And my heart began to perform strange tattoos on my ribs. I was going to the house of a gentleman who did not know of my existence, to see a girl who was his guest, to whom I had never, as the conventions go, been presented. It did not seem half so easy, now that I was well launched upon the adventure.

I stopped the cabman just as he was about to enter an iron gateway whose posts bore two great lamps.

"That's all right, sir. I can drive right in."

"But you needn't," I said, jumping out. "Wait right here."

Doctor Armstrong's residence was brilliantly lighted, and the strains of a waltz stole across the lawn cheerily. I made a detour and studied the house, seeking a door by which I could enter without passing the unfriendly Gibraltar of a host and hostess on guard to welcome belated guests.

A long conservatory filled with tropical plants gave me an opportunity. Promenaders were passing idly through it and out into another part of the house by an exit I could not see. A handsome, spectacled gentleman opened a glass door within a yard of where I stood, sniffed the air and said to his companion as he turned back with a shrug into the conservatory:

"There's no sign of snow. It isn't Christmas weather at all."

He strolled away through the palms and I instantly threw off my duster and cap, cast them behind some bushes and boldly opened the door and entered.

The ball room was on the third floor but the guests were straggling down to supper and I took my stand at the foot of the broad stairway and glanced up carelessly as though waiting for some one. It was a large and brilliant company and many a lovely face passed me as I stood waiting. The very size of the gathering gave me security, and I smoothed my gloves complacently.

The spectacled gentleman whose interest in the weather had given me a valued hint of the open conservatory door, came now and stood beside me. He even put his hand on my arm with intimate friendliness.

There was a sound of mirth and scampering feet in the hall above and then down the steps, between the line of guests arrested in their descent, came a dark laughing girl in the garb of Little Red Riding Hood, amid general applause and laughter.

"It's Olivia! She won the wager!" exclaimed the spectacled gentleman, and the girl, whose dark curls were sheken about her face, ran up to us and threw her arms about him and kissed him. It was a charming picture—the figures on the stairway, the pretty, graceful child, the eager, happy faces all about. I was too interested in the scene to be uncomfortable.

Then, at the top of the stair, her height accentuated by her gown of white, stood Marian Devereux, hesitating an instant, as a bird pauses before taking wing, and then laughingly running between the lines to where Olivia faced her in mock abjection. To the charm of the girl in the woodland was added now the dignity of beautiful womanhood, and my heart leaped at the thought that I had ever spoken to her, that I was there because she had taunted me with the risk of coming.

LOCAL AMUSEMENTS

The announced attraction at the New Plainfield theatre this afternoon and tonight is the ever popular production of the musical farce comedy, "Happy Hooligan's Trip Around the World," which comes to us this season as an entirely new production, embellished with new and tasteful scenery, and costumes of richness and value that are entirely beyond anything ever before seen in musical comedy. As the costumes and scenery are new, so are also the specialties, music, dances and ensembles. The entire production has been made by the management a glittering and gorgeous spectacle, and no expense has been spared to have everything of the very highest class. There is a cheerfulness and gaiety about Mr. Opper's genial hobo which, when put into dramatic form, makes his influence well nigh irresistible. When the curtain goes up the most chronic case of dejection gives way to good feeling, and the misanthrope becomes at once a creature who views life with rays of the sun shining in his mind. There are no dumps, blue devils, vapours, megrims or hypochondriasis in "Hooligan's Trip Around the World." Instead there is life, alacrity of spirit and pure hilarity, which never fails to smooth the ruffled brow or care and palliate melancholy. "Happy Hooligan's Trip Around the World" should be taken at frequent intervals, as the price is within reach of all.

Kerker Morton, who has written a goodly number of farce comedies and who bids fair to fill the place left vacant in the hearts of millions of amusement goers by the lamented demise of Charles H. Hoyt, is the author of the musical comedy, "Hans and Nix," in which those past masters of wit, Gordon and Gilbert, are starring this season. "Hans and Nix," from all accounts, is a clean, up-to-date entertainment, full of vim and dash, and with special scenic stage settings and costumes that are in keeping with the demands of present day audiences. The piece was one of the big hits of last season in the east, and the new version, the music of which was written by Harry Von Tilzer, will in all probability duplicate its popularity of last season in the west on its present tour. It will be seen at the New Plainfield theatre tomorrow night.

"A Woman of Fire," which will be the attraction at the New Plainfield theatre Saturday afternoon and night, can boast of more surprises, stirring situations, thrilling and exciting climaxes and scenic effects to the square inch than any play of its kind written in the past decade. From the rise of the curtain to the finish of the play, action is intense. There is no attempt at exaggerations. Every scene and every incident in this absorbing play is true to life and a faithful reproduction of the places they are supposed to represent. The plot is a novel yet plausible one. The characters move and act like real human beings. When a thing is said or done, there is reason for it, and there is no necessity to bore the auditor with baseless explanations. If you care to be amused, surprised, entertained or thrilled then you certainly will like "A Woman of Fire," for it contains all these ingredients and a great deal more. The play is in four acts, and nine sensational scenes. It was written by Theodore Kremer, who considers this play his very best work.

Test Piano Tone By 'Phone.

Winsted, Conn., Feb. 28.—William G. Ward, a local merchant, while driving through North Hartland, a farming village fifteen miles distant, stopped at the home of E. J. Barnes to get warm. He said he sold pianos. Barnes became interested and said he wanted to hear the tone of the instrument before he made a bargain. Stepping into the telephone Ward called up his store here, had a $350 instrument rolled up close to the telephone transmitter and then ordered Miss Elizabeth Hartnett, a saleswoman, to play a few selections. The music over the wire enthralled the Barnes family, the deal was closed and the piano was shipped to the Barnes farm today.

John Gaub, of Duer street, who has been detained at home by illness, is able to be out again.

George E. Hall, of Belvidere avenue, has recovered from a recent illness and returned to business.

Mrs. H. C. Compton, of West Front street, is much improved from an illness that has detained her at home for some time.

When widows, unmarried women and others not accustomed to business, place their affairs in the hands of a trust company, they receive an assured income without the risk and anxiety that would come with an attempt to look after them in person.

PLANS FOR THE MAKING OF LAKAWANNA TEAM

NAT STRONG APPOINTED DAVE DRISCOLL IN HANDLING FRANCHISES.

Nat Strong, whom Plainfield fans will remember as an ex-officio attache of the Daab nine in the Westfield campaign, is associated with Dave Driscoll in handling the Elizabeth and Plainfield franchises in the Lackawanna League. Strong will manage the Elizabeth combination and Driscoll will steer the Plainfield team.

As in past seasons, Strong will manage the Murray Hill team. Most of that team may play in Elizabeth in the league. Billy Gilbert, the ex-Giant, who has refused to play with Newark, has signed with the Murray Hills, and the one-time world's champ may be seen in harness here. John Dunham, of this city, is an uncle of Gilbert's, and the second baseman will get a family greeting if he comes here.

Driscoll's plans for the formation of a team here include the signing of five or six local players. He will have a semi-professional battery and a fast infielder and a leftfielder of the same caliber. Phil. Smith will probably pitch. The other end of the battery is still a matter of speculation.

DIAMOND DUST.

Jack O'Neil, who caught for the Plainfield nine in the last Westfield series and in the short-lived P. B. A. season, was among the athletes who haunted the Hotel Victoria lobby yesterday. Jack was seen talking with deep earnestness to Manager Joe Bean, of the Jersey City Club. Jack caught a bit for Jersey City two years ago, as a substitute.

Jack hailed a Daily Press man who was in the lobby with joy.

"Always glad to see a Plainfielder," declared Jack. "Plainfield is the finest town to play ball in I ever struck. The fans there are the real thing. That dinner they gave us was the finest I ever ran into. We won a pennant for Red Bank last summer and the people never even said goodbye. Plainfield is the gem town."

Jack said he was going to move out of the Bronx.

"There are too many saloons up there," he sighed. "They spoil the prospect.

He is thinking of a nice little place on Prospect Park West, Brooklyn.

Nat Strong is booking Sunday dates for the Chatham Lackawanna League team.

Billy Gilbert, the ex-Giant, likes Plainfield because his uncle, John Dunham, lives here. Billy says he would like to play here and he probably wil because he will not consider Newark's offer and intends to go in for independent ball.

"I can play as fast as any of the big leaguers yet," he said Tuesday afternoon to a reporter. "Why, I'm only 32 years old. Ask Uncle John Dunham if I'm not."

The Philadelphia Giants have bumped into the color line in the New England league. The Worcester team will not take them on, although all the other clubs have given them dates.

Hugh Duffy, owner of the Providence team and last year's steersman of the Quakers, is interested in Plainfield.

"I have always wanted to see Plainfield," he told a local fan who met him at the Victoria Hotel, New York, yesterday. "I've heard a lot about the town, both as a show place and the home of wise fans. Some day soon I am going to pay Plainfield a visit. I hear an old team-mate of mine, Billy Nash, visits Plainfield a lot. I met him in Boston two weeks ago, but he didn't mention Plainfield. I am going to write him and have him meet me in Plainfield and show me the town."

Nat Strong's Murray Hills will play on Olympic field this season. The team will be stronger than ever.

BASKETBALL.

The Y. M. C. A. boys' five will play the Leal's '09 team this afternoon.

COLLECTOR'S BONDSMEN WIN IN UPPER COURT.

Suit to Recover for Official's Shortage Must Be Brought by Freeholders.

Chief Justice Gummere, of the Supreme Court, handed down a decision yesterday in the case of Alexander B. Allen against Edward Humphrey and Jacob Sharp, sustaining the contention of the defense that the suit was improperly brought and that the plaintiff had no legal standing in court. The defense was represented by Codington & Swackhamer.

The action was brought by the plaintiff, acting for the Board of Freeholders of Hunterdon county, to recover $5,000, alleged to have been unlawfully collected and retained by H. E. Park, late county clerk of Hunterdon county. Messrs. Huhphrey and Sharp were sureties on the official bond. When the suit was commenced against the sureties, Codington & Swackhamer were associated with Senators Large and Gebhardt, of Hunterdon county in the defense.

A demurrer to the plaintiff's declaration was promptly filed, alleging that the suit was improperly brought and that the plaintiff had no standing in court. From the opinion it seems doubtful whether the plaintiff can bring an action again with any prospect of success.

His Busy Day.

Waterbury, Conn., Feb. 28.—Errico Salvatine, twenty-four years old, who holds a job as "first broom" in a coal yard here, made a unique twenty minute record yesterday. While he was at work a runaway horse tore down the street, bowling him over and knocking off his hat. When he jumped up Salvatine found that his pocketbook and $8 were gone. He sprinted for home, taking a short cut across a railroad trestle. A wildcat engine caught him midway of the bridge and hurled him through three inches of ice into a shallow river. He was dragged out and twenty minutes from the time the runaway saw him he was being thawed out at his home. Last night he led an impromptu harmonica orchestra at a christening.

VARIED PROGRAMME AT WARREN CHAPEL

UNDER AUSPICES OF MISSIONARY AND AID SOCIETY.

Under the auspices of the Missionary and Aid Society, one of the most delightful entertainments that has ever been given in Warren chapel was conducted last night. It was for the benefit of the furnishing fund of the new chapel and was witnessed by a large gathering.

The programme opened with mandolin selections by Theodore Gavett and LeRoy Long, accompanied by Miss Long, and was followed by an original offering by Miss Elsie Goddord, called "An Old Fashioned Album." A huge album that resembled in every way the familiar family photo-holder stood on the platform and Miss Goddard was beside it dressed as an old lady. In an entertaining way she told all about the members of her family and the familiar folks in the village where she lived. As she mentioned each character, the cover of the album was turned over and they were revealed as if in a photograph. They were posed for by various young people and as Miss Goddard related facts about them there were accompanying songs appropriate to each, sung by Mrs. A. J. Stiglitz and William Holmes.

Those who represented characters were the Misses Kampman, Jewitt, Brown, Honeyman, Alice and Ella Osborne, Ferry and Pope; and Messrs. William and Lester Glenney, J. Whitney Baker, LeRoy Long, Joseph Gavett and Charles Monfort. The final "picture" was given by Miss Goddard and Rev. W. E. Honeyman.

Miss Nora Schenck and Mr. Holmes sang a duett and Mr. Holmes contributed a solo after which another original number was given by Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman and was styled her "Musical Notes." A large sheet was stretched across the platform and on it was a musical staff, but the faces of young men and women appeared where the notes should have been. Mrs. Honeyman was supposed to have collected the "notes" while on a European trip and they assisted her in telling the audience about it. The audience enjoyed it very much and showed its appreciation by frequent applause.

The entertainment was given by a committee from the Missionary and Aid Society and an offering was taken that netted a substantial amount. Mrs. J. O. McKelvey acted as accompanist during the evening.

LECTURE ON PERU.

All who are interested in South America should avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing Harriet Chalmers Adams' travel and talk on "Peru" tomorrow night at the Y. M. C. A. hall. By story and picture, Mrs. Adams takes her audience on a journey through this most attractive land. The trail she followed led across the desert and the highlands down into the enchanting forest country. The New York Herald says: "It is not to be wondered at then that little Mrs. Adams has marvelous tales to tell of strange lands and strange people, of hairbreadth escapes in the forest's depths and terrible hardships endured on the bleak highlands and far off the beaten track where led by the call of the wild which comes to those of us who listen she had, in spite of fatigue, danger and hunger, her hours of exaltation in realizing that she alone of civilized women had reached these border lands." Seats are now being reserved at Hodge's drug store.

DIRECT NOMINATIONS BILL UP ON TUESDAY

SENATE MAKES SENATOR COLBY'S MEASURE SPECIAL ORDER.

While the meeting of the State Senate at Trenton yesterday was comparatively brief it was an exceedingly busy one while it lasted. After Senator Hutchinson had presented a petition favoring the recommendations of the immigration commission, Senator Gebhardt, of Hunterdon presented petitions against voting machines and against the repeal of the Bishops' laws. Anti-repeal petitions regarding the same act were also presented by Senators Ackerman and Avis.

Senate bill 65, providing for direct nominations at the primaries, was made a special order for next Tuesday morning on second reading. This was done at the suggestion of Senator Colby, its introducer, who made the request, he explained, in order to save time and avoid a recurrence of the action on his civil service bill which, after being passed on second reading, was sent back to committee.

The committee on elections reported adversely on the Hinchcliffe measure requiring municipalities, instead of counties, to bear the expense of municipal primary elections. When President Minch called the bill up for a second reading Senator Avis declared that under the rules the consent of the Senate was requisite to secure action on any bill reported. Senator Gebhardt took exception to this, declaring that he was opposed to any rule requiring a motion to place a bill on second reading after an adverse committee report.

Senators Colby and Bradley, the members of the committee to which the bill had been referred, stated that it had received most careful consideration and that Senator Hinchliffe had been notified that the committee intended to make an adverse report. Senator Avis held that it was the province of a committee to report a measure as it believed was right, whether this report was favorable or unfavorable, and he declared that unless committee reports were accepted they might as well be abolished.

The discussion was brought to a close when Senator Hinchliffe asked that further consideration of the bill be dispensed with.

Another measure up on second reading was a joint resolution for the election of Senators and Assemblymen by districts, which is a companion to the resolution already passed by the Senate establishing assembly districts.

The only bill passed yesterday was Senator Hinchliffe's measure giving boards of freeholders the power to regulate or prohibit the tearing up of county roads, and it was not without a vigorous fight that it was finally sanctioned by a vote of 13 to 3.

CITY JOTTINGS.

—Florida strawberries and fresh-picked mushrooms are features of Neuman Brothers' fruit and vegetable display. Lots of others every day.

—One of George Voehl's large baker wakons broke down on West Front street at an early hour this morning, a rear axle snapping off as the wagon passed over the trolley tracks.

—Leslie Cobb, of this city, who was to have been sentenced in the Union County Court, yesterday, on a charge of assault and battery, was excused for a week owing to the death of his wife. He will be arraigned next week.

RHODES SCHOLARSHIPS.

Eight Jerseymen Are Among the Lucky Ones.

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 28.—Dr. G. R. Parkin, administrator of the Rhodes scholarships here, announced Tuesday night the l ist of American candidates who have passed the examination of the University of Oxford held throughout the United States. Out of 215 candidates 138 passed, a lager proportion than ever before. Of the forty-eight States all produced candidates but three. Candidates who have passed the examination in previous years are eligible for election in competition with those whose names are n ow given, provided they fulfil the other conditions as stated in the regulations.

The election is to be completed in each State, and the names of the successful competitors forwarded before the first of April. Elected scholars enter into residence at Oxford in October next. Of the 138, forty-five will be chosen to go there, they comprising the most prominent educationalists of the States. The scholarships are worth $1,500 per year.

The successful candidates from New Jersey are S. A. Devan, W. Elsing, R. H. Hanel, D. G. Erring, J. A. Muller, P. K. Rogers, P. L. Urban, E. W. Walker.

The Ladies' Sewing Circle of the Christian church will hold an important meeting in the church tonight.

The Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church will meet in regular monthly session tomorrow afternoon in the parlors of the church.

The Christian and Missionary Alliance Society will meet Friday afternoon at 2:30 at the W. C. T. U. rooms. Miss Cromwell, of Cranford, will lead, and the subject will be, "Divine Healing." All are invited.

Are you the son of a minister, or are some of your boy friends minister's sons? It is a common saying that ministers' sons turn out badly. Well, don't you believe it. There is a noted French scientist who has studied into the subject, and he has a long list of names to prove that the sons of ministers make up the larger number of the world's great men. Here, for instance, are some of the names: Agassiz, Hallam, Jonathan Edwards, Whateley, Parkman, Bancroft, the Wesleys, Beechers and Spurgeons, Cowper, Coleridge, Tennyson, Lowell, Holmes, Emerson, Charles Kingsley, Matthew Arnold, Dean Stanley, Macauley, Thackeray, Sir Christopher Wren, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Swift, Sterne, Hazlitt, Presidents Cleveland and Arthur, Peter Stuyvesant, Adoniram Judson, Timothy Dwight, Henry Clay, Fritz Green Halleck, Morse, the inventor; Justices Field and Brewer, Senator Dolliver, Governor Robert E. Pattison and Governor Hughes.—American Boy.

W. H. Combs, the Linden avenue grocer, was taken suddenly ill on Sunday with a complication of troubles, is much better today and his recovery is expected within a short time.
